Kidney Foundation begins its annual drive for funds

To support its program of assistance to persons with kidney disease, the Kidney Foundation of Thief River Falls will again be conducting its annual fund drive during the month of August.

Members of the Foundation's board of directors are conducting a raffle during the month with a drawing to be held September 1. Persons buying tickets will have a choice from among three prizes if their name is drawn as a winner.

Prizes include a hand-painted porcelain doll from Victoria House, a fishing trip for four on Lake of the Woods, donated by Duane Glass, or $100 in cash.

Currently the local Foundation assists seven area people with funds for travel to Grand Forks, ND, for dialysis treatments and other expenses connected with kidney disease.

Since the local Kidney Foundation was organized, it has donated more than $100,000 to assist area people who have kidney disease. This is a local foundation and all funds are used in Pennington, Marshall, Kittson, Roseau, Red Lake and Lake of the Woods counties.

For a number of years funds were raised through a community auction, but that was discontinued some years ago for a variety of reasons. In its place, the raffle is conducted and an appeal is made for donations from businesses and organizations. Letters inviting donations went in the mail this week.

Some donors have also considered the Foundation an appropriate recipient of memorial funds.

To make a contribution, contact Marilyn Winters at 681-7268 or send a check to Kidney Foundation of Thief River Falls, P.O. Box 222, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Raffle tickets are also available from Mrs. Winters or any other members of the foundation board, including Bob Bergan, Ruth Nepper, Rick Erickson, Cheryl Hinschberger and Duane Glass.

There are no paid positions on the board and a great deal of time is donated to the effort which has "People Helping People" as its theme. Persons with kidney disease who are in need of assistance are invited to contact any of the board members.

NWRDC moves to Warren

being built. Heath stressed that Arteo was very understanding about NWRDC needing to stay one more year. He said that everyone involved in the selection process conducted themselves well and there seemed to be no hurt feelings once the choice was made.

The brand new facility is very nice with a spacious reception/commons area, 10 smaller offices and two meeting rooms with a flexible wall dividing them. The rest of the building contains a small area to be used by the Warren police department and some commercial rental space.

Of course the commission still took time to work on many other issues throughout the last year. One recent project has been the wetland bill. Heath describes the commission's role as looking at trying to find solutions that won't harm the environment and will benefit people in the region. He said that most people seem to agree that wetlands should be locally controlled, but no one has a solid definition of what "locally controlled" means. The commission will be working to define just what that does mean.

Over the last few years, a focus of NWRDC has been job creation. Job creation efforts have been successful in the area, now the problem they are trying to deal with is a shortage of mid-range housing. This is a problem in both big and small towns in the region, and one that the NWRDC will be helping communities to tackle.

Another area of concern for the NWRDC is funding from the federal government. Most of the moneys that the commission helps distribute and allocate are federal funds. Funds that support economic, art and aging programs are under scrutiny by the federal government and may be cut or distributed differently.

Block grant proposals could change the way funds are distributed. Instead of federal moneys going straight to agencies, they would be given to the state for distribution. Right now Minnesota is considering letting people decide how to divide funds on a local level. This would be easier for the NWRDC, says Heath, because those on the commission would not feel "sandwiched" between the decision makers and the local people. No one knows for sure what the fate of the funding is, so no one knows for sure what the future role of the NWRDC will be.

Current staff members are Arlys Konynta, Secretary/Receptionist, Rose Carriere, Aging Program Assistant, Danica Robson, Aging Program Director, Mara Lund, Arts Council Director, Linda Nelson, Loan Fund Manager, Carol Sorensen, Financial Director, Jim Strandh, Flood Program Coordinator, Kathy Thunem, Economic Development Planner and Steve Lorch, Transportation Planner.

Heath pointed out that he and the other planners, directors and coordinators work for the commission board which is made up of people from the area, not state employees. In other words, the commission exists to help people, not government.

Heath emphasizes, "The more we can be responsible to them (people from this region), the better."

Carol Soransan is tha financial officear at NWRDC. She kaeps track of the monay coming in from fadaral, stata and other sources and going out to local areas.

Mara Lunde works with the regional arts council to distribute grants and develop programs that enhance tha arts in this region.

Stave Lorch is tha Transportation Plannar of NWROC. His job is to help assess local needs and communicata thom to Mn DOT.

Men charged with assault

Jeremy Berg of Strandquist and Lorrin Leader of Newfolden face charges of second and third degree assault in Marshall County.

Berg turned himself in to Marshall county authorities on Tuesday. He was arraigned in a Marshall county court on the charges Tuesday and is free on a $1,000 bond.

Leader appeared in court Monday on the charges and is free on his own personal recognizance.

The charges against the two men stem from an incident in Middle River on July 4, in which the victim sustained severe bodily injury.

Demo Derby winner

Fosston — Byron Iverson of Winger won the championship heat of the Fosston/Lengby Lions demolition derby. The second-place winner is Brad Werpy of Gary. Over 300 people attended the afternoon and evening events, and the derby had 45 entries. Half of the proceeds go to the Fosston Fair Association and the other half is given to other Lions Club charities.

Advice from hero

Roseau — Neal Broten, Roseau's golden boy, returned home for the Centennial Classic Hockey Game and had some advice for kids today: turn off the Nintendo and get on the ice. He stressed that to build skills and make improvements, kids need to practice. He estimates that he spent an average of three hours skating each night from fall to spring.

While in town, Broten and his brother Aaron signed autographs and visited with family and friends. And he even played a little hockey.

Construction begins

Warren — Hard Drives, Inc. of St. Cloud has started the construction project on TH 75 between Warren and Stephen. The $3.6 million contract calls for the widening of the 20-foot road to 28 feet and adding four and one-half inches of bituminous.

Right now work is being done on the shoulders between Argyle and Stephen, but next week the paving plant will arrive and the works gets very serious. There will be many traffic delays, warns project manager Max Schriock. There will be meetings for the public each Monday at 11 a.m. at the Argyle Mall. The meetings will provide information on the project and answer questions people may have.

Four new EMT's

Middle River — Four women recently became Emergency Medical Technicians for the Middle River ambulance squad. The new members had to take classes in Middle River, Karlstad and Greenbush for five months which adds up to about 130 hours of practical and lecture instruction. The new EMT's have already answered their first call. They said it was scary, but they found they work as a team so everything goes smoothly.

Teen Center

Red Lake Falls — Many teen from the Red Lake Falls area have been spending time at The Spot, a bar in town. However some people are worried about under age youths hanging around a bar. Many adults and teens in Red Lake Falls agree that teens need their own "hang out."

Several meetings have been held to discuss issues involved in starting a teen recreation center. Concerns were raised regarding noise, entertainment and who will be in charge when the center is open. Someone has already donated a pool table, and the committee is looking for another pool table, some arcade games, a snack bar and tables for cards or just sitting and visiting.

Middle River plans meeting on community development

Community development meeting for all residents of the city of Middle River and the rural area making up the Middle River community has been planned for Wednesday, August 9, at 7 p.m. in the Middle River school.

Making arrangements for the meeting are members of the housing committee and business committee recently established by the Middle River Community Club.

The committees were appointed at a meeting held June 21 when heads of community organizations and business owners gathered to do some "brainstorming" on community needs and find means to help the community grow and develop. Topics of discussion at that meeting included housing, business climate, and attracting other businesses.

Since that meeting the committees have met independently, then met in combined session at the Middle River community center Wednesday evening, July 26, for further discussion and planning for the public meeting.

Everyone's Input Requested

"We're appealing to the entire community, rural as well as city, to help provide ideas, guidance and direction as we look to the future of Middle River and the eastern Marshall county area," stated Clayton Troskey, a member of the business committee who chaired the Wednesday meeting.

"We want the people of the area to take a look at what Middle River is now and what they want it to be a year from now and 10 years from now. There are a number of positive aspects of living in a small community, and we want input on how we can best utilize and promote those advantages for community growth and development," added Gary Toren, president of the community club.

Free Residential Lots

One of the advantages for a potential resident is the fact that the community club owns approximately 20 residential building lots (25x150 feet) which are available free to persons who will place permanent housing on them. Most are in the area of Royal Manor apartments and others are scattered throughout the city.

"There are lots that have access to city sewer and water and to electrical service provided by Otter Tail Power Company," added Sally Gentry, former mayor, presently city clerk and a member of the housing committee. "There are also several large tracts of land in the city which are privately owned that would be good development property."

Middle River has a population of about 300 people. In addition to business owners and self-employed people, about 50 employees have jobs in the community. A survey a year ago showed that the population of the eastern Marshall county area encompassed by highway 89 on the east, Roseau county line on the north, highway 59 on the west and Pennington county line on the south contained 3,540 people.

'95 Farm Bill topic of Farmers Union meet

Proposals for the 1995 Farm Bill and their potential impact on the people and economy of Minnesota will be the subject of a meeting Tuesday, August 8, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Best Western Inn.

Moderating the meeting will be David Frederickson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union.

"This meeting will be an opportunity for people to get a close-up look at the farm bill proposals now on the table and see how these proposals might affect them," Frederickson said.

Points of discussion during the meeting will include the following:

- The amount of federal budget savings projected for each proposal;
- An explanation of how farm programs would change under the proposals;
- A look at the economic impact on farmers and how the programs they use would change; and
- An explanation of farm bill provisions that directly impact people who don't farm and the cost of those programs.

"People don't have to be farmers to attend this meeting," Frederickson said. "Farmers Union's desire in sponsoring this meeting is to inform rural people about a major piece of federal legislation that will have an impact on all Minnesotans—whether or not they farm or whether or not they live in greater Minnesota or the Twin Cities area."

The August 8 meeting will be one of four farm bill informational meetings conducted in August throughout Minnesota by the state Farmers Union.

Kristin Dahlen to teach English at Chinese "U"

Kristin Dahlen of Goodridge is prepared for a bit of culture shock when she starts her new job this fall. Not only will she be going from a city of about 150 residents to one of about five million, it will be half way around the world in the People's Republic of China.

Kristin is a 1991 graduate of Goodridge high school, 1993 graduate of Northland Community College in Thief River Falls and a 1995 graduate of Moorhead State University with a bachelor of arts degree in speech communications.

In January she made application through the Division for Global Missions of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America for its foreign teaching program. After a few rounds of filling out forms and completing other paperwork, she was provided with a two-year assignment to China.

"I'll be teaching English to Chinese-medical students at Sun Yat Sen Medical University in Guangzhou, a city of about five million people about 80 miles from Hong Kong," she said.

"Most of the students will probably be intermediate to advanced students in English who need to learn more to have better use of medical journals and other publications. Their average age will be about 25 to 30."

Kristin said she will live in a foreign student dormitory and that she will receive a salary. Another teacher will make the trip with her. She has met him briefly but they are not well acquainted.

The ELCA teaching group at Guangzhou includes a total of four people with two changing each year, providing continuity in the program and experienced people on hand to assist the new arrivals.

Her teaching assignment calls for teaching two classes during the

TRF superintendent chosen

Mark Hinckley has been offered the position of superintendent of schools in School District 564, and Jim Sims the position of athletic director.

After conducting interviews of the final three candidates for superintendent, the board of directors for School District 564 in Thief River Falls, offered the position of superintendent of schools to Hinckley. Hinckley will succeed Dr. Robert Duncan, who resigned earlier this year to accept the superintendency at Fergus Falls.

The board of directors settled on its decision Tuesday night after interviews with Hinckley, Vigil Likness of Plattsmouth, NE, and Dorothy Suomala of Karlstad.

Hinckley is expected to officially take over as the superintendent on Monday, August 14.

Hinckley holds a specialist degree in general school administration from St. Cloud State University and a master's degree in education from Wisconsin State University at Superior.

He has served as superintendent of schools in Nicollet for the past 19 years as well as supervising superintendent of the Minnesota Valley Education District in 1989-90. His teaching experience has been in elementary education.

Board of Directors Chairman, Dennis Kiesow, said everybody who met Hinckley thought he was very visionary and an assertive type of person. Kiesow said he seems to like to see things move ahead and improve as long as it is for the kids.

From conversations with other board members, Kiesow said the board went into the process looking for someone who wouldn't be satisfied with the status quo. They wanted someone with different ideas on finances, technology, and curriculum. They wanted someone who could bring new ideas and put them in place.

Board of directors for School District 564 has also offered the position of athletic director to Jim Sims of Crookston. Sims will replace Lee Alger, who resigned earlier this year to accept another

Beth Natvik will study in England

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

In a continually shrinking world made immediately accessible by high speed air travel and satellite communications, the once uncommon associations between nations have become commonplace.

It is this situation which makes it possible for Beth Natvik of rural Thief River Falls to take a year off from classes at Moorhead State University to study at the University of Portsmouth in England, pay a relatively modest difference in total costs and receive full credit toward her MSU degree.

The daughter of Joe and Barb Natvik, Beth is a 1993 graduate of Lincoln high school. She was involved in a number of school activities and was extremely active in 4-H club activities as a member of the New Solum 4-H club.

Having now completed half of her junior year at Moorhead State University, she is one of 11 MSU students who will take advantage of an exchange program with the University of Portsmouth during the coming school year. Students from England will also come to the United States to study at MSU.

University of Portsmouth is divided into four colleges. Beth, who is an international business major, will attend the business and economics college. She will live at a self-catered dormitory where there is a commons area for each eight rooms and the students can do their own cooking. Meals are provided at catered dorms, she said, but previous students there advised her to make her own meals.

Beth will be enrolled in five classes in her major field. She has been advised that the professors

Farmers expand business with smaller crops

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

A couple in the Fisher area are taking a different approach towards expanding their farming business. Instead of growing bigger crops, they are growing smaller crops, lots of smaller crops. Ron and Kristy Wentzel are growing garden vegetables for sale at grocery stores and farmers markets.

They first started growing vegetables through a project with the AURI Northwest Experiemental Station in which farmers in northwest Minnesota grow vegetables that are commonly grown in and shipped from California. Ron says he decided to participate in the project because he has always enjoyed gardening and because he was looking for alternative crops to the small grains he and his brother grow. After three years of scab, his family needed a boost to their income and he though the crop diversity would help. He is continuing to grow more vegetables because it is a nice sideline to farming and he feels the business has potential.

They started producing broccoli, cauliflower and cabbage, but have expanded the types of vegetables they grow. This is the first year of full-scale production, with crops of sweet corn, broccoli, melons, potatoes, tomatoes, cucumbers, green beans, cauliflower, cabbage, peas, pumpkin, squash, asparagus and other smaller crops, such as carrots, green peppers and banana peppers. Last year Ron and Kristi did marketing through a greenhouse in Crookston and the response was positive. They also sold to wholesale markets and did okay, according to Ron. He said they felt the need to grow a bigger variety of vegetables because people kept asking for different types of vegetables.

This year the bulk of the Wentzel crops is green beans. Not only are the beans sold at the farmer's markets and to grocers, but many of them are sold to a specialty canning company which cans them with jalapeno peppers and sells them as "Jalabeanos."

One of the reasons Ron says that these kinds of crops aren't commonly grown in this region except for in the family garden, is that it is extremely labor-intensive work. It

Fixing the sewer line and storm drains

Williams — After having the ground ripped up around town, Williams will soon have a water-tight sewer line and better storm drainage.

The city council decided to take advantage of the road being torn apart for the sewer project by repairing the storm system. In recent years Williams streets and avenues would become almost impassable after a rain storm. City maintenance man John Williams found the trouble spots and the city council appropriated money to install culverts in the appropriate places.

Nuns note jubilees

Crookston — Three sisters from Mount St. Benedict renewed their vows at the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception in recognition of their Golden Jubilees. The sisters have worked in many towns around the state and the region.

Sister Olivia Herman has been involved in music ministry in Crookston, East Grand Forks, Osseo, Barnesville, Red Lake Falls and Moorhead. Sister Regina Honsmann has been involved in education at various schools in East Grand Forks, Bemidji, Moorhead, Detroit Lakes, Mahnomen, Benson and Red Lake Falls. Sister Dominca Gerszewski was a primary teacher for many years and later taught piano. She taught in Bemidji, Barnesville, Benson, Osseo, Slayton and Detroit Lakes.

All three sisters are still very active in the community today.

How Fast Were You Going?

Warroad — Over the past few weeks, people traveling near Warroad and Roseau had a big reminder of how fast they were traveling. A trailer which posts how fast approaching vehicles are moving was parked near highways in Roseau county.

The Minnesota State Highway patrol has 11 of these special trailers. They are not used for ticketing people, but to make them aware of their speed.

The signs are used in conjunction with other events and where speeding is common.

Immunization clinics planned in Marshall Co.

The immunization clinics will be held Tuesday, August 1 at the Newfolden Community Center from 9 to 11 a.m.; Tuesday, August 1 at Stephen Clinic Building, Stephen from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.; Thursday, August 10 at Grygla Civic building from 9 to 11 a.m.; Monday, August 21 at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.; Saturday, August 12 from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. at Marshall County Nursing Service; and Saturday, August 12 at Living At Home Block Nurse Program in the Argyle Mall from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Clinics are open to the public and anyone who needs immunizations is encouraged to attend. The vaccine used is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community-based clinics.

There will be a $5 fee for administering the vaccine, but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

The clinic also wants to state that immunization services given at the public clinics should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician. Bring the child's immunization record each time the child is brought for a shot. Immunizations will not be given unless the immunization record is presented, unless it is the first shot.

For more information contact Nancy Maurstad, RN, at the Marshall County Nursing Service at 218-745-5154 or 1-800-950-6986.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCourniere

A few more crock pot recipes again this week. If you don't want to use them now, save them for some other day.

I bet this recipe could use other partially cooked meats in place of the bratwurst, but try the brat recipe first before doing any experimenting:

BRATWURST IN SAUCE

2-3 pounds uncooked bratwurst sausages
1 (6 ounce) can tomato paste
1/2 cup ketchup
1 (12 ounce) can beer
1/2 small onion, finely chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced

Place bratwurst in saucepan and barely cover with water. Bring to a boil and cook 5-10 minutes, draining well. Cut into bite-sized pieces.

Combine all other ingredients and place in crock pot. Add bratwurst, cover and cook on low for 6-10 hours.

Bet you never thought you could make this in your crock pot:

PARTY MIX

2 cups oat cereal (O-shaped)
3 cups rice cereal (bite-sized)
2 cups shredded wheat (bite-sized)
2 cup peanuts, pecans or cashews
1 cup thin pretzel sticks
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
4 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
Dash of Tobasco sauce
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon onion salt

Combine cereals, nuts and pretzels in crock pot.

Mix melted butter with rest of ingredients and pour over cereal mixture. Toss lightly to coat.

DO NOT COVER CROCK POT. Cook on high for 2 hours, stirring well every 30 minutes, then turn to low setting for 2 to 6 hours.

Bet this would be good for a camping meal:

CHILI DOGS

1 pound hot dogs
1 large onion, finely chopped (or 3 tablespoons dried onion)
2 (15 ounces each) can chili with beans
2 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 pound Cheddar cheese, cubed or grated
Hot dog buns

Combine all ingredients except cheese and buns in crock pot, stirring well. Cover and cook on low for 5 to 10 hours (or high for 2 to 3 hours)

Add cheese just before serving and allow it to melt slightly.

Place each hot dog in a bun and spoon sauce over.

How to fix a ham the easy way — with no hot oven:

HAM 'N' COLA

1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon horseradish
1/4 cup cola
3 to 4 pound precooked ham

Combine brown sugar, mustard and horseradish. Moisten with enough cola to make a smooth paste, reserving rest of cola.

Rub entire ham with mixture and place in crock pot. Add remaining cola, cover and cook on high for 1 hour, then on low for 6 to 7 hours.

Dahlen will teach in China

morning from 8 a.m. to noon, another at 2:30 p.m. and a night class two nights a week. She will also teach a class in American culture one Saturday a month.

The program has been in operation since 1987 when China opened its borders to foreign involvement. Although the ELCA arranges for the teachers, there is no missionary work involved since China does not accept missionaries.

While Kristin has had no exposure to the Chinese language at this point and will not need it for her work there, she will have the opportunity to be tutored in Chinese for the first year of her work there. She believes it will be helpful to learn as much of the language as she can.

Although she has received basic information on what her work will entail and living conditions in China, she said she still really doesn't know what to expect.

"I know there are American style fast food restaurants within walking distance," she said, "and that it is about a three-hour train ride to get to Hong Kong. Other than that, I will just have to learn as I go along."

Kristin will leave on August 22 to fly to Seattle, WA, then catch a flight which has Hong Kong as its destination. After five days there she will go by train to Guangzhou. Her transportation by plane and train is provided—once each way. She expects that her two-year stay in China will be a continuous one, given the cost of air fare.

At the end of her two-year commitment, Kristin would like to go to graduate school and earn her master's degree in speech communication, then teach at the college level.

The daughter of Rev. Robert and Sheila Dahlen, Kristin has four brothers and a sister. Aaron is married, serves in the Coast Guard, and is in the process of moving from Alaska to La Moure, ND. Andy and Martin live in Bemidji and will both be students at Bemidji State University this fall. Carl, 16 and Marie, 7, are at home.

Sims has been an instructor of health, physical education and recreation at the University of Minnesota at Crookston. He has a master of science degree in health, physical education and recreation from Moorhead State University. He also received a bachelor of science degree in health, physical education and recreation from Moorhead State University. Sims is expected to begin work as the new athletic director for School District 564 on August 1.

For more information about the new athletics director refer to the Sports Section in this edition.

Wednesday, Kiesow said the school board is quite excited about the new faces, new ideas and leadership.

Kiesow said the positions were offered to Hinckley and Sims pending approval by the school board. A special school board meeting will be held on Monday, July 31.

Beth Natvik to attend university in England will assign a list of books for each class, which are available on loan from the university's library. Class sessions are held for an hour twice a week. Testing is entirely in the form of essay questions with grading based on the ability of the student to support the answers given.

Because of the exchange agreement between the universities, Beth will pay her tuition to MSU and students from Portsmouth enrolling at MSU will pay their tuition to Portsmouth. Dorm fees are paid to the university being attended. The year of study at Portsmouth, including air travel and spending money of $200 a month is projected at $11,000, compared with about $8,000 to attend MSU.

"I won't be able to work over there," explained Beth, who has worked at a bank and an insurance agency while attending school at MSU and is employed this summer at Northern State Bank. "But I won't have a car to pay for, either."

As a student in England for more than six months, she will be covered by the country's health care program, thereby eliminating that coverage cost.

Beth will leave for England September 25 and attend five days of foreign student orientation prior to the start of classes on October 2. About a third of the 15,000-member Portsmouth student body is from outside England itself. She will return to the U.S. some time in June of 1996.

"And I won't lose a year of credit by attending a university overseas," she said. "My study program [illegible] in my major field and I will receive at least as many credits as I would have had by attending MSU for the year."

Beth said that when she returns from England she will have about a year remaining on her international business degree and a year and a half on a speech communications major.

The year in Europe will not be without the opportunity to travel. Beth plans on purchasing a rail pass as soon as she arrives in London. It is available to students at about a third of the regular rate.

During the two week Christmas holidays her boyfriend [illegible], an architecture major at MSU, will come for a visit and they plan to tour in England. During her three week spring break she plans to tour other European countries.

"I'm really looking forward to it," Beth said. "I think it is a great opportunity that I would be sorry for missing later if I didn't take advantage of it."

LETTERS

Thief River Falls Mayor Robert Reeve asked that this letter be shared with residents of Thief River Falls. Reeve also added his thanks to the utilities department and the employees mentioned. As a brief note of explanation, two employees from the city utilities department went to Hawley to provide assistance after a storm knocked out power to many residents.

Dear Bob,

Thank you and the City of Thief River Falls for being such good and caring neighbors. The arrival of Dale Narlock and Brian Grondahl with the bucket truck was God sent.

Thief River Falls can be especially proud of these two staff members. Not only did they jump in and assist our people in a very professional and untiring manner, they also were willing to share their knowledge from similar situations. The work they did helped restore electrical power to many Hawley residents and saved our crew many more days of work.

I visited and worked with them a considerable amount of time and I found them to be very conscientious workers and compassionate gentlemen.

On behalf of the residents, staff, and council of Hawley, thank you.

Sincerely,
John Young Jr.,
Mayor of Hawley

Agriculture In Minnesota —Issues And Choices

GUEST EDITORIAL
by Paul Olson
President, Blandin Foundation

Agriculture is changing and Minnesota's position as a major livestock producer is being challenged. Will Minnesota be able to compete in this new environment? Does it matter?

Even though the number of farmers has decreased in the past 50 years, agriculture remains important to Minnesota's economy. In fact, the value of Minnesota agricultural production is enhanced by the size of the state's food processing sector, with products sold primarily in other states or abroad. These exports contribute vital new dollars to the economy of the state.

But new trends in farming are stirring complex emotions in Minnesota. Minnesotans take pride in innovation and national leadership, but with agriculture, they are bound by deeply held values. The changes underway in hog and dairy farming are testing these traditional values and creating conflict in parts of rural Minnesota.

The changes are also producing new challenges for Minnesota agriculture. Never before has the state faced the possibility of losing its position as a major producer of hogs and milk.

The reality is that Minnesota is in a race for competitive advantage in agriculture. What appears necessary to remain economically competitive is in conflict with deeply held social values.

Change is inevitable, but we do have choices.

Are these agricultural industries valuable to us? Are we willing to compete for them? If we are, we need to think about our economic policy toward agriculture as well as our social and environmental policies.

Some choices can be made by individuals; others must be made collectively through the legislative process. Farmers may have the largest personal stake. They must choose the form and scale of production that best meets their needs and desires within an environment of external pressures and regulations that are out of their control.

Farming communities also have much at stake. Today, they have the power to encourage or discourage new forms of agriculture.

The state sets the "climate" for agriculture. If it imposes different burdens, such as stringent ownership laws and environmental regulations, commercial livestock producers could move to other states. On the other hand, the state can play a critical role in removing the barriers that hinder Minnesota farmers from competing nationally.

Finally, all Minnesotans have a stake. Agriculture continues to represent one of the most powerful economic engines in the state. If Minnesota agriculture is able to grow and compete, everyone will benefit. If other states win the race for competitive advantage, all Minnesotans stand to lose.

We need to conduct a civil dialog on the issues and choices that confront us. And then, we need to make decisions that will require courage and steadfastness to implement.

Lincoln Envirothon Team Headin' West

Summer "vacation" has been a time for more study for the Lincoln high school Envirothon team which left early this morning (Saturday, July 29) for Idaho. The Minnesota state champions have been preparing for the national competition which will take place next week.

This was the first year that Lincoln high school fielded a team in the Envirothon competition. It is coached by Patti Johnson, science instructor who migrated west to teach at Lincoln after a number of years at Goodridge high school. Her commitment to that task has been extensive.

Lincoln's first year entry walked through the regional competition held at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, then amassed the top score at state competition in the Twin Cities to earn its way into the national event. Not content with simply getting there, Patti and her team members have been meeting once or twice a week in addition to conducting independent study in preparation for the tough national competition.

This is a team of graduated seniors. All of the members, with the exception of alternate Kyle Nelson, graduated with the Class of 1995. All are on their way to college this fall, three in biology, one in agronomy and the other in engineering. They are bright young people, but they are more than that. They are competitors. They expect to have a great time on their trip west, but they believe it will be more fun if they perform well. We think that is a healthy attitude.

We wish the best for Patti's crew—Adam Henney, Sarah Huschle, Sarah Leach, Philip Nelson and Justin Phillips—as they represent Lincoln high school and Minnesota. It should be an experience they won't soon forget.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

TRF Archery Club 3-D tournament is set for August 5-6

Thief River Falls Archery Club will host its 44th annual fall 3-D tournament Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 5 and 6.

The event will be held on the club's outdoor range located south and west of the Thief River Falls Regional Airport. The 42-target tournament will be held rain or shine.

Registration will be at the site from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday. Awards and door prizes will be presented at 5 p.m. Sunday.

The event offers archers the opportunity prepare for the upcoming fall hunting season by shooting at life-like 3-D foam animal targets set up at distances ranging from 15 to 50 yards.

For additional information call Thief River Falls Archery Club President Darrel Janisch at 681-2106.

Jim Sims addressed the Thief River Falls media during a Wednesday press conference after it was announced that he had accepted the position of School District 564 Activities Director. The former Thief River Falls coach and teacher has been the head football coach at the University of Minnesota-Crookston the past 19 years.

Former coach named School District 564 Activities Director

Jim Sims returning to TRF

He's back. After a 19-year absence, Jim Sims returned to Thief River Falls this week when he accepted the position as School District 564 Activities Director.

Sims was a Lincoln High School physical education instructor and the Prowlers' head football coach from 1966 through the 1975 season, putting together a 59-27-1 record. That included a 25-2 run from 1970 through the 1972 season. Five of Sims' ten football teams were Northwest Conference champions.

Coaching success also carried over into the spring as Sims led Thief River Falls to five District 31 titles and two Region 8 crowns as the Prowlers' track coach from 1968 through 1973.

Sims left Thief River Falls to accept the job as the University of Minnesota-Crookston head football coach, a position he has held since the 1976 season. His 19-year record with the Trojans was 93-66-1, including divisions titles in 1976, 1978 and 1982. He also coached track and served as an instructor in the UMC health, physical education and recreation department.

Stepping in for Lee Alger, who resigned from the position this spring to become athletic director and community education director at Hudson, Wisconsin, Sims will officially be on the job Aug. 1.

Sims accepted the job offer late Tuesday night, and met with the Thief River Falls media Wednesday afternoon. "It's nice to be home," he said. "Our kids were born here, and we still have a lot of friends here."

Leaving UMC without a head football coach just weeks before the start of the pre-season practice, and taking over a job that will require the immediate attention of filling numerous coaching positions on the eve of the 1995-96 school year was a less-than-ideal situation, acknowledged Sims. "Timing is not good for any of us," he said. "You hate to leave people hanging out to dry, but it was an opportunity to move into administration – which has been one of my goals. It had nothing to do with being tired of coaching, but I didn't know how many more years I was going to coach, and an opportunity like this might not come around again."

The recent University of Minnesota-Crookston change from a two-year to a four-year school created additional demands Sims' time, and may have influenced his decision to leave coaching after 33 years, he confessed. "It was a very demanding transition in both athletics and academics," noted Sims in talking about the UMC conversion, now in its second year. "I'm not trying to dodge responsibilities, but I had to make a decision that I felt was right for Jim Sims. Being a four-year school involves a lot of time recruiting – you're on the road 12 months of the year."

Sims will oversee a Thief River Falls program in grades K-through-12 that includes not only athletics, but fine arts and other student organizations.

"My job is to promote the entire Thief River Falls activities program," said Sims. "Fine arts and organizations are important. They are similar to athletics in that you're offering young men and women the opportunity to participate in activities. You have an outstanding program in Thief River Falls. I hope to be able to assist them and expand upon the good things you have."

Filling coaching vacancies will be a priority item when he steps into his new office next week, according to Sims. The Prowlers are currently in need of head coaches for boys and girls cross country, girls swimming and girls tennis this fall, boys swimming and wrestling in the winter; girls golf, softball and boys tennis in the spring. Assistant coaches and coaches at the freshman and middle school levels will also have to be found.

"Filling those positions will certainly be a challenge," admitted Sims. "It's late. But I don't think it's a situation that is unique to Thief River Falls. We will work with administration, and hopefully try to fill positions with people who can help us in the athletic programs. There is a lot of hard work to be done. We need the support of the community and the parents, and a commitment from the kids. You'll just have to have a little patience with me while I try to get things rolling."

Sims was one of six finalists from the original list of applicants for the position that also included Jeff Mumm, Thief River Falls; Dennis Dinius, Langdon, North Dakota; David Cherry, Ellis, Kansas; James Nunn, Edina; and Craig Christensen, Sturgis, South Dakota. The group was then narrowed to Sims, Mumm and Dinius, but Mumm withdrew his name from consideration on the eve of the final selection when it was decided that a dual role of activities director and head football coach, a position he currently holds with the Prowlers, was not compatible. He elected to remain as coach.

A Moorhead State University graduate, Sims began his coaching career as head football coach, head track coach and assistant basketball coach at Eagle Bend in 1963 and 1964. He served as a grad assistant with the MSU football team in 1965 before arriving in Thief River Falls for the 1966 season.

He is also well-known in the area as a high school basketball official.

Sims and his wife Sharon will move to Thief River Falls upon the sale of their home in Crookston. Daughter Sue is a teacher/coach in the Crookston school system, and son Steve is a student at Mankato State University.

VFW team starts district playoffs

Fifth-seeded Thief River Falls drew No. 3 Fergus Falls at 10:30 a.m. Friday (July 28) in the first round of the Ninth District VFW baseball tournament being played in Fergus Falls.

The Thief River Falls 16-year-olds finished a 6-27-1 regular season with a pair of losses to Perham Monday at Irv Wilson Field.

Game 1 was tied at 2-2 with two out in the top of the sixth when a batch of Thief River Falls errors opened the doors for a 9-2 Perham win. The Perham defense handled hard-hit Thief River Falls drives in the nightcap to win 11-0.

Thieves claim crown

A doubleheader sweep over Roseau Tuesday clinched a second straight regular season Northwest Border League amateur baseball title for Thief River Falls.

The Thieves won 6-4, 16-2 to earn the home field edge for the regional-qualifying post-season Northwest Border League playoffs, which begins with a 2-out-of-3 Roseau vs. Warroad series. That winner will face Thief River Falls in the finals, tentatively scheduled to start Monday at 7 p.m. at Irv Wilson Field. The Thieves' second game would be on the road, with a third game, if needed, back at Irv Wilson Field.

Designated hitter Rick Ostby had a double, triple and five RBI in four at-bats to lead the Thieves in the Game 1 win over the Royals. Marc Haugen and Corey Poole were also 2-for-4. Winning pitcher Mike Steen gave way to Mike Swanson in the sixth inning.

Haugen hit a three-run home run, Poole had a solo shot and Nathan Knutson was 2-for-3 as Thief River Falls completed the sweep with a second big offensive show.

Both of the Thieves' home runs came in the second inning that also included a run-scoring triple by Carter Royalli.

The Thieves turned a 5-2 game into a blow-out by scoring 11 runs in their final two at bats when they mixed six hits with six walks off Todd and Tracey Wensloff of the Royals.

Anderson is headed to Select 17 hockey camp

Keith Anderson of Thief River Falls advanced another step in the hockey development ladder when he was picked to attend to the 1995 USA Hockey Select 17 Festival Camp in Colorado Springs, Colorado, that begins Monday and runs through Aug. 7.

Anderson was originally one of 38 players from Minnesota and North Dakota named to attend the USA Hockey National 17 Camp at Lake Placid, New York in June. From that pool of 17-year-olds, 68 players were invited to Colorado Springs.

Other area players joining Anderson at the Olympic Training Center next week will be Jeff Panzer and Jeremy Hangsleben, Grand Forks; Troy Bagne and Mark Cullen, Moorhead; Trevor Hammer, Roseau, and Justin Paul, Crookston.

At the completion of the Festival Camp, a 20-player squad will be chosen to remain in Colorado Springs to train and compete in a series of games against the USA National 16 team.

Anderson, who will be a high school senior this fall, led the Prowlers scoring last winter with 25 goals and 25 assists for 50 points in 24 games. He also quarterbacked the Prowlers to the 1994 Section 8A football finals and played No. 1 singles or No. 1 doubles in tennis in the spring.

GARRY INGLIS

JEFF TUNBERG

Kristi and Ron Wentzel are growing small amounts of tomatoes outside as well as green bell peppers and banana peppers. Eventually they would like to grow all the ingredients for salsa so people can make America's leading condiment at home.

Farmers experiment growing vegetables takes a lot of time out in the fields, weeding and working by hand. With the exception of one or two machines, most of the work is done by humans.

Another reason most people don't grow these vegetables for a living, is the climate. Northern Minnesota does not always get a long enough growing season. To remedy this problem, the Wentzels have enlisted the help and knowledge of their partner Bonnie Spenst, formerly of All Seasons Garden Center in East Grand Forks.

Bonnie manages the greenhouse that the Wentzels recently purchased. Bonnie gets a head start on the season by growing tomatoes in the greenhouse. The greenhouse allows her to plant tomatoes sooner than usual and the heat pushes the tomatoes to grow faster. Bonnie also grows smaller crops such as carrots and peppers. In the coming years, they plan to start experimenting with other greenhouse vegetables. Where local production and marketing are concerned, most of the crops are in the experimental stage, but the Wentzels and Spenst are interested in providing a well-rounded supply of fresh vegetables.

Another reason for growing so many different kinds of vegetables is to spread out the risk. Weather that might hurt one crop may boost another. For example, this year many of the bean plants were lost due to the wet weather, but Ron says it has been a great year for corn, melons and tomatoes.

The consumer response to the produce has been good. People say there is just no comparison between tomatoes grown locally and those shipped in from California. Locally grow vegetables don't spend days on trucks and in warehouses before they get to the grocery store, so they are fresher and better tasting than vegetables grown in other states, according to the Wentzels and their customers. (Most people who garden would probably agree with them.) Another marketing angle that the Wentzels and Spenst are planning to explore is specialty ordering for those who want specific fresh vegetables for canning. They are also looking into growing herbs and have discussed the idea others in the herb business.

Ron says one of the reasons the vegetables they grow are so popular, is that most people love the taste of fresh vegetables but do not have the time or space to plant and care for a garden. So they do the next best thing to growing their own and shop at farmers market or try to buy Minnesota-grown vegetables at the store.

Farmers that mass produce vegetables in Califonia keep their costs down with low-cost labor but make most of their money because of the large volumes of vegetables they produce. The costs that get added on the vegetables are usually from shipping, brokers and warehouses. Wentzels avoid most of these costs by selling directly to grocery stores and farmers' markets, so they feel that they will be able to stay competative in spite of the fact that most farmers make money from volume, not variety.

In any event they are committed to these crops. They had to purchase a smaller tractor for the vegetable gardens because big grain tractors would go too fast for this kind of work. They also invested in a beanpicker, but mostly they have invested time and energy. Kristi, who works full-time as a business consultant, also works out in the field with Ron.

Ron credits AURI with helping them get started growing and producing, even though they didn't continue processing crops. He also said they received a lot of help from Terry Ninnech of Clearwater Extension Office in Bagley. Ninnech, said Ron, knows quite a lot about growing vegetables and was extremely helpful.

The Wentzels sold asparagus in June and early July, and have already started to sell broccoli, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and some sweet corn that they have grown in southern Minnesota. Next week they plan to start selling cucumbers, cauliflower, green beans and peas, and in two weeks the melons and sweet corn will be ready to sell.

Middle River plans community meeting

There is no vacant residential housing in the city and the 14-lot mobile home park is filled. One of the suggestions made at Wednesday night's meeting was that a "package" be prepared to let prospective residents of the community know the costs and contacts for acquiring a two-bedroom modular home, pouring a concrete base, utilities connections and related expenses.

Another suggestion was that an invitation should be extended to former residents who have become tired of urban living and its problems of crowding, crime and traffic to return to the more relaxed living of the small home community.

"Any and all suggestions from the public will be appreciated," Troskey said. "They can be presented orally and discussed at the August 9 meeting or written and placed in an idea box that will be available that night."

Emphasis To Be On "We"

Gentry added that the emphasis at the meeting will be on the word "we" rather than "they" or "someone."

"This is our community and we all share an interest in having it remain viable," she said. "Because a community that believes it can stand still moves backward, we all have to be concerned about continued development. Involvement of young people is important as we look for leadership today and tomorrow."

Recognizing that business growth in most communities comes from local business starts and expansions, Middle River is also actively seeking new business or industry. Available facilities for sale include a 60x120-foot insulated steel building three miles west of Middle River. The building has 12-foot sidewalls and its own well and septic system.

"We're counting on everyone who is concerned about the future of Middle River to attend the August 9 meeting," Gentry said. "We hope that they will talk about it among themselves and be ready to bring their best and most sincere suggestions with them."

Members of the business committee in addition to Troskey are Dean Ornquist, Dan Rantanen, Barb Geer, Ray Juhl, Willard Sorter and Darrin Grain.

Serving with Gentry on the housing committee are Jo Walton, Melissa Nelson and Lorrie Stromsodt.

Man survives crash

Oklee — Ronald Syverson of McIntosh was spraying crop south of Oklee when his plane crash landed. The plane was destroyed by fire, but Syverson survived. Ray Swenson, who lives near the crash site, heard the plane and thought the plane sounded like it was having problems. When he went out to take a look, he saw the plane had crashed and was on fire. The Red Lake county sheriff's department received his 911 at 8 a.m., and both Oklee and Plummer fire departments and the Oklee ambulance service answered the call.

Syverson walked away from the crash before authorities and emergency personnel arrived. He was treated at the Fosston hospital for minor bumps and bruises.

Sisters win at the fair

Fosston — Lindsey, 11, and Allyson, 9, daughters of Patti and Craig Steen, brought one ewe and one wether lamb to the Big Valley Cluster Fair, and both girls won top awards. Allyson won two blue ribbons and Lindsey was awarded Champion Ewe Lamb and Reserve Champion Wether Lamb. Each girl puts in many hours training her lambs to stand still, follow her lead and brake on command. They also use a halter to walk each lamb, which Lindsey says, builds muscle and gets the lambs used to the girls.

The girls don't mind all the work because they think it's fun and they love lambs. The girls' younger sister Cayley, 4, has been waiting two years to show her own lamb, says her mother. When Cayley was asked if she would bring a lamb to the fair next year, she replied, "I'm bringing a pig."

Conservation tillage

Stephen — The Americorps National Service Program Members will be hosting a conservation tillage demonstration in cooperation with the Natural Resources Conservation Service offices in northern Minnesota. The demonstration will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. on Thursday, August 17 east of Stephen on land owned by Tim Hvidsten.

Topics which will be covered are "Practicality of Minimum Tillage in the Northwest," "Making It Work," "High Residue and Disease." Activities begin with coffee and donuts at 8:30 a.m. Information sessions begin at 9 a.m. A free lunch will be served following equipment demonstrations.

A different class

Mahnomen — The Mahnomen football team is changing class . . . again. After declining enrollment, the football team switched from class B to Class C. During that time the Indians fared well and won several state championships. This year the Minnesota State High School League has decided that Indians will move back to Class B.

The decision is based on the number of students in grades 10 through 12. This year's projected enrollment is 218, three students over the deciding number. Head coach Ken Baumann says that the numbers vary from year to year so next year, they could very well be in Class C again.

SwisPennCo. takes over Pennington Co. waste facility

Red Lake Nation is a partner

Tuesday, August 1, SwisPennCo officially took over the operation of Pennington county's solid waste facility, formally known as Future Fuel. As its name suggests, the new company is a partnership among several companies and includes in this partnership the Red Lake Nation.

With a new building and equipment at SwisPennCo, the plant will be able to handle at least 100 tons of garbage or more per day and annually handle 50,000 tons.

Bob Kruse, one of the partners in this new enterprise, said he wasn't ready to reveal the kind of equipment being used at the plant because he doesn't want the company to lose its competitive advantage. He said the equipment is bigger and and able to handle waste without the kind of breakdowns that plagued Future Fuel. He said the company will hit full stride in two weeks. He explained that means getting all of the new equipment calibrated. With the new equipment Kruse said less garbage will be taken to landfills.

Right now, the plant is able to handle garbage from the city of Thief River Falls and Pennington county. Kruse said they will have new clients and of course the list will include the Red Lake Nation and White Earth Indian reservation.

Rick Nordhagen, who was president of Future Fuel, has been named president of SwisPennCo. In fact, all of the employees from Future Fuel have been employed with the new company. There are about 20 employees at SwisPennCo.

Nordhagen said Wednesday they were doing some fine tuning to the new machinery and were "excited as heck about getting going here". Nordhagen said it's all coming to a head and was all possible because of a lot of work and cooperation by everyone involved.

Very little will change for residents of Thief River Falls and Pennington county. Separation remains voluntary, though residents are being asked to remove the caps off of high density plastic. Nordhagen said plastic, such as that used for milk containers will have a number 2 somewhere on the container. All residents have to do is remove the cap and put it all in the garbage. Nordhagen added that it would be helpful if residents separated their wet and dry garbage.

Remove docks and boats for reservoir drawdown in TRF

Thief River Falls will be conducting a drawdown of the Red Lake River Reservoir beginning on Monday, August 14, in accordance with permits received from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and Army Corps of Engineers. A 60-day continuation of the drawdown until October 15 will depend upon the amount of upstream rainfall and monitored success of the project.

The purpose of the project is to attempt to consolidate river bottom sediments and control the future growth of aquatic weeds. Property owners planning on water front improvements during the drawdown should contact the DNR at 681-0947 to see if individual permits are required.

The first step in the drawdown process will be to excavate a 30-foot wide channel in the river adjacent to the remnants of the old dam. This will allow possible reduction of upstream surface water levels to eight or nine feet below normal and three to four feet below the drawdown levels achieved in October of 1994.

Residents potentially affected by the low water levels are asked to remove docks and watercraft prior to August 14.

Questions about the project should be directed to the Red Lake Watershed engineer, Brent Johnson, at 681-5800 or Director of Utilities, Arlo Rude, at 681-5816.

Last Thursday, individuals from the Inter-County Community Council began delivering 1,000 copies of Shore Line Best Management Practices to river-front property owners in Thief River Falls.

The handbook provides information about shoreland management practices on everything from septic systems to how to access more information about protecting water quality. It was sponsored by the Pennington County Comprehensive Water Planning Commission, Red-Thief River Association, Pennington County board of commissioners, Minnesota Extension Service, Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources, Northwest Regional Development Commission, and Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District.

Maggy Leach of Soil Water Conservation District, and project coordinator explained that the booklets were printed about two years ago, and until a representative of the Inter-County Community Council came up with grant funding to provide a way of delivering the manual, they sat in boxes in a room. So it is just a coincidence that the manuals are being distributed just before the planned draw-

Agassiz Refuge open house set for Aug. 13

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will hold a special program on American Bitterns during an open house on Sunday, August 13, from 1 to 7 p.m. Refuge staff will be available to answer questions and discuss wildlife issues.

Wayne Brininger, graduate student from St. Cloud State University, will be presenting a program on his two year study on American bitterns being completed at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge. The program will begin at 3 p.m. in the five stall building behind the office.

One road normally not accessible to the public will be open to provide additional wildlife viewing, weather permitting. Visitors need to check with personnel at the refuge office for designation of the open road.

Two wildlife viewing blinds are also available on the east side of the refuge Monday through Friday. They can be reserved for daylight use by contacting the office at (218) 449-4115.

For a close up view of gray wolves a wolf howling cassette tape and wildlife caller may be checked out at the office. These wildlife viewing opportunities are part of the National Watchable Wildlife program.

Franklin's gulls have already left the refuge and are slowly making their way south. Swallows and blackbirds have started forming flocks. Although, there is still a good amount of time left for summer, fewer and fewer birds will be around for observation. Before more birds start making their journey south you are encouraged to visit the refuge to see nature at its finest.

Refuge Manager Margaret Anderson will be available. She has 22 years of experience in the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service having been employed in various positions and locations throughout the United States.

Wayne Brininger, graduate student from St. Cloud State University, will be presenting a program on his two year study on American bitterns 3 p.m. Sunday, August 13, at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge.

Theatre gives old building a new purpose

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

Reuse and recycle...it's a catch phrase among environmently concious people. It's also an idea that people in Middle River have taken to heart. They took an old building and gave it a new purpose. They turned the Great Northern Depot into Ye Olde Depot Theatre.

In 1988 a small group of theater buffs decided that Middle River could and should support a community theater. They formed a board and presented their idea to the Middle River Community Club. The community club agreed to give the board a small loan and in the summer of 1988 the Middle River Community Theatre produced their first play, Our Town. At that time their was no theater building, so the show was performed in the old Hardware Hank building on Main street.

As the years passed, the theater grew little by little. They began to perform at the school and obtained grants for lighting and other equipment. But it became clear to the group that they needed a home of their own. In 1989, they bought the Great Northern Depot from Mrs. Mae Geer. The depot was built in 1927 and shipped in from Plum Coulee, Canada on two gondola cars. It replaced the box car which had served as a depot after the original was struck by lightening and burned to the ground. The building closed in 1970 and was later sold to [illegible]

The board members and others in the community helped raise money to buy the depot and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Peterson donated the land where it sits today. First the group had to make a foundation, then they moved the depot to its new location. The building had been used as a storage shed for many years and was in need of cleaning, so the city let the MRTC borrow the fire truck hoses which were used to spray down and wash out the entire interior of the building.

"The city was good to us," said Pat Hanson, theatre board secretary.

Professional painter Doug Henning, cousin to board member KayDell Super, helped to scrape

The Middle River Community Theatre has turned an old train depot into Ye Olde Depot Theatre. The building was acquired in 1990 and has served the group well. The theater continues to produce quality shows and is preparing for the fall play "The Cemetery Club."

Languaga camp is out of this world

Crookston — Humans and Klingons alike gathered for Klingon language camp at the Country Club Motel in Crookston. While Klingons are known as a decidedly violent race, the gathering was peaceful. Camp organizer Glen Proechel of Red Lake Falls helped students to learn and perfect Klingon language skills. The language was created in 1984 by Dr. Marc Okrand for Klingons in Star Trek III.

"Trekkers" at the camp say that learning Klingon helps people trying to learn other languages. Students admit that is is not an easy language to learn, but they also point out that not many people can eavesdrop on those speaking Klingon.

It's been a bad year for blueberrias

Williams — The hot dry weather in early June was bad for the blueberry crops in Lake of the Woods county, according to Gretchen Mehmel, Manager of Red Lake Wildlife Management Area, at Norris Camp. The plants were doing well in May. In early June, when the berries were just beginning to form the extreme heat and low moisture damaged the berries.

Kathy Bailey, owner of a u-pick berry farm, says that everywhere she goes, people ask about the berries. It seems no one has had much luck. Bailey says she is not yet sure if she will be able to let people pick berries at all.

Funaral homes hava naw director

Oklee — The Petterson Funeral Homes of Oklee and Red Lake Falls are under new ownership. On the first of July, Morrie Byron retired and Eric Johnson took over as director. Johnson, whose father also has a mortuary business, has been filling in for Byron for over three years. He graduated from a four year mortuary science program in 1987, and has many years experience in the field.

Byron, who has been a co-owner since March 1, 1979, is looking forward to relaxing and doing some fishing and hunting and spending more time with his family.

Horticultural Society annual show

Under the theme of "North Country Gardens", the 13th District Horticultural Society will hold its annual horticultural show on August 5 at the Warroad Community Center. Entries will be accepted at 9 a.m., and judging begins at 12:30 p.m. Public viewing of the display will be from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Host clubs will serve tea around 3 p.m.

Exhibits will include flower arrangements, cut flowers of annuals, perennials, roses, dahlias and gladiolas, corsages, potted plants, vegetables, herbs and fruits.

Only garden club members are eligible to enter exhibits for competition. The public is invited to come and enjoy the show. This year's host clubs include Green Thumb, Williams Gardeners and North Star.

Parish worship service and picnic

A joint parish worship service will be held on Sunday, August 13 at 10:30 a.m. at the Goodridge Community Center. Art Rimmereid, Bishop of the Northwest Minnesota Synod, will be the guest speaker. There will also be a Missionary Commissioning Service for Kristin Dahlen. The commissioning service will be conducted by Arvela Lang, former missionary to Madagascar and a member of the Global Mission committee of the Northwestern Minnesota Synod.

A pig roast dinner will be served following the service. A free-will offering will be taken to help pay for the expense of the dinner. An afternoon of games are also being planned. Everyone is welcome.

Farm Bill meeting on August 8th

An objective look at proposals for the 1995 Farm Bill and how those proposals potentially impact Minnesota's people and economy will be the focus of a meeting August 8 in Thief River Falls.

The meeting, sponsored by the Minnesota Farmers Union, will be from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in room B of the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

"This meeting will be an opportunity for people to get a close-up look at the farm bill proposals now on the table and see how these proposals might affect them" said Minnesota Farmers Union President David Frederickson.

Diamond D's fire still suspicious

Marshall County sheriff's department released the following information recently:

"In the continuing investigation of the fire that burned the Diamond Bar in Grygla on May 28, 1995, the following is reported by Marshall County Sheriff Dennis Brekke.

"The owners of Diamond Bar cooperated with the State Fire Marshal and the Marshall County sheriff's department. A polygraph test was administered and negative results came from the test. The fire is still ruled suspicious and at this time law enforcement still is unable to state how the fire started."

NW Community Action meeting

Northwest Community Action, Inc. board of directors will hold their regular board meeting on August 17 at 7 p.m. in the Badger office. This meeting is open to the public.

Vitamins and You

Your body is like a busy laboratory, constantly performing thousands of different chemical reactions. Each of these reactions is controlled by enzymes and coenzymes, with certain coenzymes containing vitamins. Without these vitamins, thousands of chemical reactions essential for life would not occur.

The human body does not create vitamins, so we must obtain them from what we eat. Unfortunately, with the advent of fast food, extensive food processing and dieting, many of our diets today are lacking in vitamins. An estimated 25 percent of U.S. households do not have nutritionally balanced diets.

The Food & Drug Administration created the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) to help determine the amount of vitamins and minerals needed to meet daily requirements for nutrients. If you feel you're not receiving the proper amount of vitamins through your diet, check with your doctor or pharmacist about vitamin supplements.

Good things for those of you who can't do without some chocolate, even in the summer time.

Serve this yummy treat hot or cold — it is a great summer cake because it has no frosting to get melted — serve with whipped cream or ice cream for a special treat:

CHOCOLATE CRUMB CAKE

2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter, softened
1 egg
3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup (5 1/2 ounce can) chocolate syrup

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 9 inch square baking pan. In large mixer bowl, stir flour and sugar together. Remove 1/2 cup of this mixture and reserve for topping.

Stir soda, baking powder and salt into remaining flour mixture. Add butter, egg, milk and syrup and heat until well blended. Pour into prepared pan.

Sprinkle reserved flour and sugar mixture over top. Bake 30-35 minutes.

Try this spicy chocolate treat tonight:

COCOA MARDLE GINGERBREAD

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup light molasses
2 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup boiling water
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup cocoa
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 9x13 inch baking pan.

In large mixing bowl, beat shortening, sugar and molasses until blended. Blend in eggs.

Stir soda into boiling water to dissolve and add to above mixture alternately with combination of flour and salt.

Remove 2 cups of batter to medium sized bowl. Add cocoa and blend well. Add spices to batter in large bowl.

Alternately spoon batters into prepared pan and swirl with narrow spatula or knife to marble.

Bake 40-45 minutes. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream, if desired.

Make this cool, creamy dessert next time you need a quick chocolate fix:

QUICK CREAMY CHOCOLATE PUDDING

2/3 cup sugar
1/4 cup cocoa
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 1/4 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

In medium saucepan, stir together sugar, cocoa, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Boil and stir for one minute. Remove from heat and stir in butter and vanilla.

Pour into serving dishes and refrigerate.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutters" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew, saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is a most unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates at your job at no obligation to you.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

Congressman Collin Peterson and Senator Paul Wellstone have officially informed the City of Fergus Falls that the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs will be awarding a grant of $5.2 million for the construction of a Veterans Nursing Home to be located in Fergus Falls.

I was delighted to hear this good news for all veterans in Northwestern Minnesota. This is very much a regional project that many veterans have been working hard to attain over the years. With the other veterans nursing homes being located in LuVerne, Hastings, Minneapolis, and Silver Bay, this 86-bed facility will serve our area of the State. The veteran population in northwestern Minnesota is estimated at 44,000!

The voters of Otter Tail County overwhelmingly supported bonding of $1,500,000 and the City of Fergus Falls has committed $1,000,000 for this facility.

We have received donations from many individuals as well as organizations representing many other communities. The local American Legion and VFW have been very generous and have pledging continued funding. Donations have been received from the surrounding communities of Perham, Detroit Lakes, New York Mills, Underwood, Battle Lake, East Grand Forks, and also Wilkin county. Donations are still needed and would be appreciated.

We thank Representative Collin Peterson and Senator Paul Wellstone (who is a member of the Veterans Affairs Committee) for working so hard on this issue. Thanks go to Representative Bob Anderson for his leadership role in the House of Representatives and to Senator Cal Larson for his participation on the Veterans Affairs Committee. Thanks also to Governor Carlson for his support of the bill to fund the nursing home.

I apologize if I have missed thanking anyone. It is a difficult task because so many individuals and organizations have worked long and hard for a Veterans Nursing Home in northwestern Minnesota.

Sincerely,
Kelly Felber, Mayor
City of Fergus Falls

Drawdown uncovers mistakes made in past

by David Hill
Associate Editor

They say hindsight is 20/20. For that reason I hate to criticize decisions made long ago. Sometimes we can learn from those mistakes, and in the following instance, the importance of local decisions is emphasized.

The instance I am referring to has to do with the Red Lake reservoir dam in Thief River Falls and the proposed river drawdown. Why, so many have asked, is it taking so long? One look at government regulations regarding waterways and most of the questions are answered. However, two problems were created when the old dam was abandoned long ago and the "new" one built.

First, the decision in the past to not demolish the old dam, now prevents a drawdown without costly digging and demolition. Secondly, because parts of the old dam could still be observed, permits had to be obtained from the State Historical Preservation Office. Yes, believe it or not, that old dam, which is mostly submerged under water could be considered a historic site. Last week, the state historical preservation office approved the city's request, thus eliminating a major concern.

The decision not to demolish the old dam, however, created problems for the future. The fact that these mistakes were made should teach current leaders that by cutting corners they may be creating problems for future generations. Despite a lack of foresight by the people involved in the decision so long ago, a decision by the state historical preservation office to deny the permit would have compounded the problem. It underscores issues raised by grass-roots organizations for the last several years — too much government regulation creates more problems than it solves. Local governmental autonomy needs to be preserved because local government is closest to the issue.

Stay the course and out of Bosnian conflict

by David Hill
Associate Editor

The United Nations peacekeeping mission in Bosnia has failed. United National peace keepers are merely human shields. They have no authority to arrest and detain. They hardly have the right to defend themselves. They have been given an impossible task, so how could it succeed.

I don't believe lifting the arms embargo, however, will make it safer for civilians or put food on their table. It does, however, threaten to drag the United States into a war it cannot win, will alienate its allies, and into a war it has no national security interest in winning.

Frustrations at the peace table or with a failed United Nations mission should not translate into lifting the arms embargo. Lifting the arms embargo would only heighten tensions and would certainly threaten to expand the war beyond its current boundaries.

Justice? The issue of justice in Bosnia is a moot issue until the guns are silenced. Arming Bosnians in an effort to "even up the score" would not bring the parties to the bargaining table any faster. It would only add to the misery.

Lifting the arms embargo would be a moral outrage, just as outrageous as ethnic cleansing. It is naive to believe that the ethnic cleansing will subside once the Bosnians are armed.

Allies to the United States recently reiterated their threats of withdrawing from the United Nations mission in Bosnia if the arms embargo is lifted unilaterally by the United States. Is the United States really ready to guarantee the safety of Bosnian civilians, and provide food and shelter for refugees all on its own? Is it really ready to send its sons and daughters into a war it cannot win?

Guess who's picking your pocket?

(Editor's note. Many communities in northwestern Minnesota are served by Western Area Power Administration.)

National Rural Electric Cooperative Association

Every day it seems we run across another story in the newspaper about government waste, fraud, or abuse. Rare is the case when we see stories about a government program that actually makes the taxpayers a profit. What's frustrating is that just when you think you've found something the government is doing that you can be proud of, someone comes along and throws a wrench in the works.

The nation's hydroelectric Power Marketing Administrations (PMAs) are indeed one of these stories about government getting it right and succeeding at its work. The PMAs sell electricity generated by a system of federally owned hydroelectric plants like Grand Coulee Dam in Washington State to consumer-owned electric utilities that, in turn, sell the electricity to their customers — you and me.

At the heart of this system is something called the "preference principle." This principle is a lifeline issue for the nearly 25 million Americans served by rural electric cooperatives. Regarding the PMAs, preference preserves the principle of broad use of our country's water resources for the public good rather than for private gain. It means that federally generated hydroelectric power is to be made available first to rural electric systems and other public and non-profit utilities at cost-based rates. As non-profit utilities, we then re-sell that electricity at cost to our consumers.

For-profit utilities still have access to PMA power, but since they re-sell the hydropower with a profit margin added, they are not given the same preference to the power produced with public resources.

What will amaze you is that President Clinton wants to get rid of the PMAs. He actually wants to get rid of something that is making the government money — nearly $1.3 billion next year alone! But hang on, it gets worse.

The President's idea to get rid of the PMAs won't end just with cutting off this long-term source of money for the government. Here's where it gets worse. Putting the PMAs on the auction block will also force your monthly electric bill to go up. It would be nothing more than a hidden tax increase. Some families — depending on where they live — could see their monthly bills go up 30 or 40 per cent.

Be careful. Somebody's trying to pick your pocket.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Groundbreakings for SummerField place apartments

Groundbreaking ceremonies for housing projects similar to those held in Thief River Falls recently, will be held in Roseau, Baudette, and Badger. The projects are similar in that each was financed through Northwest Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority and each will be managed by Great Lakes Management.

The groundbreaking event for the new SummerField Place apartments of Roseau will be held at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, August 8. The apartment is a 41-unit market-rate multi-family apartment building. It is scheduled for occupancy in April of 1996.

The groundbreaking event for SummerField Place Senior apartments of Baudette will be held 10 a.m. Wednesday, August 9. This apartment will include 12 units of market rate multi-family townhomes, which will be ready for occupancy in February of 1996. It also includes a 30-unit senior building, which will be ready for occupancy in June 1996.

A groundbreaking event for the SummerField Place apartments of Badger will be held at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, August 8. The project includes 8 units of market rate cottage style apartments, which is expected to be open for occupancy in January of 1996.

Crossroads holds Coffee Break programs Thur.

Crossroads Displaced Homemakers Program announces special Thursday programs for persons seeking self-improvement. Each Thursday between August 10 and August 31, from 3 to 4 p.m., Crossroads will sponsor special discussions.

Topics for the discussions will focus on relationships on August 10, stress on August 17, problem solving on August 24, and decision making on August 31. The discussions are of interest to persons in personal and/or professional transition. Each month, a schedule of topics will be posted on the Crossroads door at 403 North LaBree (U.S. West building), and announced at each Coffee Break.

Pre-registration is not necessary. For more information call Crossroads at 681-8158 or 1-800-450-8158

Verna Knaack on honors list

Verna M. Knaack, daughter of Vern and Vi Knaack of Red Lake Falls, has been named to the President's academic honors list at the Northwest Technical College in East Grand Forks during the spring quarter. To qualify, a student must maintain a grade point average of 3.5 to 4.0, which is equivalent to an "A". She is majoring in the medical laboratory technician field.

Union, Lake Sarah meeting

The annual Union and Lake Sarah Association summer picnic and meeting will be held Friday, August 11, at 7 p.m., at St. Michael's park on Lake Sarah.

The association will provide the food and beverages. Members are asked to bring a dessert to share.

The meeting will be short and the visiting time long. Mr. Gagner will explain the petition on hand for those who want to sign. This petition is for an improvement district and supported by taxes. It is important that everyone have a say in it, so please try to attend.

Heidi Johnson

Heidi Johnson in Women's All-State Choir

Heidi Johnson has been selected for membership in the Minnesota Music Educators Association All-State Women's Choir for the 1995-1996 school year.

Johnson, a student of Darcy Reese at Lincoln high school, was one of 500 students selected from over 2,400 who auditioned this spring for a position in one of the six MMEA All-State organizations. The students will attend a summer camp which this summer are being held at Bemidji State University, St. Cloud State University, and Winona State University. The students participating will have the opportunity to work with some of the finest conductors and music educators in the country as well as meeting outstanding music students from all across the state of Minnesota.

The students will also gather again in February in Minneapolis where they will be a major performing group at Orchestra Hall during the Minnesota Music Educators Association Clinic. The All-state program is an on-going activity of the MMEA which works to promote music education through the state at all educational levels.

New pastor to be installed at Our Savior's Church

Reverend Arlen Lloyd will be installed as the pastor of United Lutheran Church in Gatzke and Our Savior's Lutheran Church of Thief Lake on Sunday, August 6 at Our Savior's Lutheran Church at a 4 p.m. joint service with Susan Tjornehoj, assistant to Bishop Arthur Rimmereid of Northwest Minnesota ELCA, presiding. The service will be followed by a pot luck dinner, and all are welcome to attend.

This is Rev. Lloyd's first call. He is a second career pastor who formerly worked in sales and management. He graduated from Wartburg Theological Seminary on May 11 and was ordained by Bishop Rimmereid on July 30.

He has been working in the two parishes from since July 5. He lives in Gatzke with his wife Dawn and two daughters, Kylene, 15, and Kelsey, 12.

AmeriCorps to host tillage demonstration

AmeriCorps National Service program members working in northwestern Minnesota in cooperation with the Natural Resources Conservation Service offices in Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, and Roseau counties will host a conservation tillage demonstration near Stephen on Thursday, August 17 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Events for the day will include informational sessions presented from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. Presentation topics will cover "Practicality of Minimum Tillage in the Northwest" by Ray Thompson, University of Minnesota Extension Service; "Making it Work" by Dwight Peterson, area farmer; and "High Residue and Disease" by Dr. Jochum Wiersma, UMC Agriculture Research Center.

High residue tillage equipment will be shown and demonstrated following the information sessions. Implements from eight equipment manufacturers will be shown.

Activities will begin with arrival from 8:30 to 9 a.m. and coffee and donuts will be provided by Monsanto Corp. Information sessions will begin at 9 a.m. sharp. A free lunch will be served following the equipment demonstrations during which time those attending the demonstration will be invited to inspect equipment and visit with manufacturer representatives and dealers.

All area farmers, agribusiness personnel, and interested individuals are cordially invited to attend the conservation tillage demonstration on August 17.

Three area hospitals receive grants in state program

Three northwestern Minnesota hospitals have received grants through the Minnesota Sole Community Hospital Financial Assistance Grant Program, designed to preserve access to health care in rural areas of the state.

Kittson Memorial Hospital in Hallock received $20,994, Ada Municipal Hospital received $39,227 and Mahnomen County and Village Hospital received $[illegible]254.

Grants are available to hospitals that:

- Are classified as a sole community hospital or are located in a community with less than 5,000 people and located more than 25 miles from another hospital that provides acute short-term services.
- Have experienced net income losses in the two most recent fiscal years.
- Have 40 or fewer licensed beds; and
- Demonstrate local support for the hospital.

Also receiving grants from the $200,000 allocation in the program are the Cook Community Hospital and Spring Valley's Community Memorial Hospital.

TRF earns Region 12 berth...

Thieves complete title series sweep

Three-team, Class C state amateur baseball tournament-qualifying Region 12 playoffs start today (Saturday) in Crookston, where the host Reds will be joined by Thief River Falls and Glyndon in a round-robin format.

Thief River Falls advanced to the regional level with a 12-2 Tuesday win at Roseau that completed a Northwest Border League championship series sweep for the Thieves.

First-day regional match-ups include Thief River Falls vs. Glyndon at 12-noon; Crookston vs. the Thief River Falls-Glyndon winner at 3 p.m.; and Crookston vs. the Thief River Falls-Glyndon loser at 6.

Sunday games are scheduled at 1 and 5 p.m., if needed. Two of the three teams will advance to state tournament play.

Thief River Falls was a 7-6 winner over Roseau in their 2-out-of-3 league championship series opener Monday at Irv Wilson Field. The rematch wasn't that close, with the 10-run rule ending the scheduled nine-inning game in the seventh.

Jason Svir and Mike Swanson were both 3-for-3 to account for six of the Thieves' nine hits. Svir homered, tripled and singled. Swanson drove in three runs as Thief River Falls erased an early 1-0 deficit with four third inning runs.

The Thieves clinched it with three-run innings in both the fifth and sixth, highlighted by a pinch hit bases-loaded double by Rick Ostby that drove in all three sixth inning runs.

Todd Wensloff had a solo first inning home run for the Royals.

The win improved the Thieves' overall record to 11-5.

Thieves vs. Royals

Thief River Falls	004	133	1	12	9	3
Roseau	101	000	0	2	6	3

TRF - Jeremy Olson (WP). Jason Svir 3-3 with a home run and triple. Mike Swanson 3-3 with a double and 3 RBI. Rick Ostby 3-run double.

Roseau - Tracey Wensloff (LP). Dave McDonald (6). Todd Wensloff had a home run.

Opening dates set for TRF fall sports teams

High school fall sports will begin Monday, Aug. 14, with the start of preseason practice for football, boys and girls cross country, girls tennis, and girls swimming.

Volleyball practice will get underway Monday, Aug. 21. Opening dates are set by the Minnesota State High School League.

In Thief River Falls, student-athletes are reminded to have the required forms completed and fees paid before the start of practice. Those forms are available from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday in the Lincoln High School activities office.

It was also noted that athletes are required to have a physical exam every three years, and those appointments should be made in advance of the start of practice.

Thief River Falls activities fees have been set at $45 for Lincoln High School and $30 for Franklin Middle School.

Completed registration forms and physicals, along with the fees, should be brought to the Lincoln activities office before the first day of practice.

The Prowlers will open their 1995 fall sports schedule with a Wednesday, Aug. 23, girls tennis match at home vs. Grand Rapids.

Thief River Falls football and girls swimming both have Thursday, Aug. 31, openers – football at home vs. Detroit Lakes and swimming at Fergus Falls.

The Prowlers will make their '95 volleyball debut Tuesday, Sept. 5, vs. Crookston, and will start the cross country season Thursday, Sept. 7, at the Roseau Invitational.

Newly-appointed Thief River Falls School District 564 activities director Jim Sims is continuing the head coach search for the Prowlers swimming, cross country and tennis programs.

TRF tennis girls are meeting on Tuesday

Organizational meeting for the Thief River Falls girls high school and middle school tennis programs will be held Tuesday, Aug. 8, at 10 a.m. in the Lincoln High School cafeteria.

All girls in grades 6-12 who plan to play tennis this fall should attend the meeting.

Mike Swanson and the Thief River Falls Thieves are in Crookston today (Saturday) for the start of the three-team, round-robin Region 12 baseball tournament. Thief River Falls, Crookston and Glyndon are competing for two Class C state amateur baseball tournament spots. Swanson came on in relief to pick up a save here in a 7-6 Monday win over Roseau to start the 2-out-of-3 game Northwest Border League championship series. The Thieves added a 12-2 win Tuesday to wrap up the regional-qualifying title.

Pioneers will report Aug. 25

Physicals will be given to football and volleyball players at Northland Community and Technical College Friday, Aug. 25, it was reported by athletic director Rick Nelson.

Volleyball players should report to the school at 8 a.m. Football players will report in groups, and have been given individual reporting times.

Anyone planning to play football or volleyball for the Pioneers this fall who have not been contacted by the coaches are asked to call football coach Gene Klinke at 681-0866 or volleyball coach Shari Olson at 681-0788.

Both programs will begin preseason practice Saturday, Aug. 26.

Northland volleyball team will open its 1995 season Friday, Sept. 8, with the NCTC Pepsi Triangular featuring the Pioneers, UND-Lake Region and Concordia College junior varsity. Play starts at 4:30 p.m.

The Northland football team will kick off its schedule Saturday, Sept. 9, with a 12-noon Pepsi Bowl match-up against Worthington at Prowler Field.

Invitation extended to student trainers program at Lincoln

A new group of Lincoln High School student trainers are being sought for the 1995-96 school year by George Judd, Thief River Falls' athletic trainer who began the student program last year.

Anyone in grades 9-through-12 interested in becoming a student trainer should contact Judd by calling him at 681-6714, or by reporting to the Lincoln training room following the start of fall sports practices Aug. 14.

Six underclassmen who took part in the program last year are expected to be back for the upcoming season. The program is a letter-winning activity at Lincoln.

Post 117 pulls off a Ninth District upset

■ TRF Legion knocks off Lakers

Thief River Falls pulled off the first surprise of the 1995 Ninth District Division I American Legion baseball tournament Thursday by knocking off Detroit Lakes 5-2 in the first round of six-team, double-elimination event at Roseau.

But Post 117 was bumped into the loser's bracket later that same day following an 8-4 setback at the hands of No. 1-seeded Moorhead.

Officials have been forced to alter the tournament schedule twice – after Crookston dropped out earlier in the week due to a lack of players, and after rain moved the Thief River Falls vs. Detroit Lakes game from Wednesday night to Thursday afternoon.

Thief River Falls	5
Detroit Lakes	2

Detroit Lakes finished a four-game regular season sweep over Thief River Falls with 9-4 and 11-1 doubleheader wins Friday, but the tournament encounter went to Post 117 Thursday, 5-2.

Relief pitching by Chris Vanyo sparked the winners. Eric Bjorgaard took a one-hit shutout into the fifth inning, but suddenly ran into control trouble – hitting the lead-off batter, then and issuing four consecutive walks to turn a 3-0 Thief River Falls lead into a 3-2 game.

Vanyo came on in relief and got out of the bases-loaded, no-out jam, thanks in part to a double play line drive hit to Bjorgaard, who had swapped positions with Vanyo on the pitching change.

Post 117 wrapped up the win with two runs in the seventh on a double by Ryan Bendickson and RBI singles by Greg Wik and Curt Edwards.

Thief River Falls' earlier runs came in the top of the fourth when Vanyo had an RBI double and Derrick McFarlane followed with a two-run single.

Together, Bjorgaard and Vanyo limited Detroit Lakes to just two hits as the Lakers fell to 20-19.

Scoring/Innings

Thief River Falls	000	300	2	5	9	0
Detroit Lakes	000	020	0	0	2	1

TRF - Eric Bjorgaard (WP). Chris Vanyo (S-save).

DL - Corey Johnson (LP). Jim Huberty (5). Nate Amben (7).

Moorhead	7
Thief River Falls	2

Moorhead Blues collected 10 of their 11 hits in the first three innings while building a 7-2 lead that wound up as an 8-4 win over Thief River Falls.

The two-time Ninth District Division I defending champion Blues, who were 4-0 against Thief River Falls during the regular season, improved their record to 38-13. Post 117 went to 9-23.

Curt Edwards had a two-run second inning single as Thief River Falls tried to overcome a 3-0 Moorhead first inning head start. But the hard-hitting Blues got those two runs back in the bottom of the inning and added two more in the third.

Thief River Falls	020	101	0	4	4	2
Moorhead	322	001	x	8	11	3

TRF - Courtney Skjerven (LP). Nathan LaRoque (6).

Moorhead - Chris Grossman (WP). Casey Conner 3/3 with 2 RBI. Scott Kienzel 2/3 with 2 RBI.

Ninth District Results

Women's Softball

Final night of play in the 1995 Thief River Falls Women's Slow Pitch Softball League Wednesday featured a 2-0 B&E/Terrys win over the Best Western Inn Ridgerunners that left both teams at 17-5 in Division I.

Julie Stennes and Diane Klemetson both went 3-for-4, while Shannon Olson was 2-for-3 as the Best Western Inn Ridgerunners bounced back from the first-game loss to B&E/Terry's with a 13-5 victory over Baker's Acres.

The Swingers closed out a 19-3 Division II-winning campaign with a 12-3 win Best Western Inn and a 9-5 loss to the Musherettes. In the first-game win, Jodi Wahl hit two home runs, while Diane Walton and Laurie Hamness both went 3-for-4.

Dee Thompson was 3-for-4 with a home run in the Musherettes' win over the Swingers. She hit three homers in a 19-9 first-game win over Digi-Key when Lisa Nelson was 3-for-3 with a home run and both Sheila Honson and Karen Schmitz were 3-for-4.

Banners advertising each production are kept and hung inside the depot theater. A small platform in the back corner serves as the sound and light "booth" The rustic little building seats 75 people, so board secretary Pat Hanson urges people to attend early shows, as the shows later in the run tend to sell out fast. Over the past nine years, the Middle River Community Theater has produced over 20 plays, including several children's productions.

and paint the entire exterior of the depot. Almost everyone else who helped was an amatuer painter, and everyone was a volunteer. The building still has its original floor boards, which the board doesn't intend to change or cover. Pat said they are trying to keep the building as close to the original state as possible. For instance, the old ticket window is used for the consession stand and the big sliding door for loading freight still has the original pad lock. The first production in the depot was June 24 and 25, 1990. It was a children's production of Hansel and Gretel.

The Middle River Community Theater has produced over 20 plays including Harvey, Charlotte's Web and its latest play, a children's production of Pinocchio which ran from July 12 throught the 16. Pat stressed the wonderful experience that theater can be for children. She says she has seen so many children "come out of their shell" because of their experience. She has seen a lot of kids involved in the theater, too! No child was turned down for a part in Pinocchio, if they needed another part, the director created a part. As a result, the play had a rather large cast of 37 kids ranging in age from four to 16.

Not only does the theater encourage kids to join, but adults as well. Hanson said getting involved with theater gives people confidence and pulls people together. Folks from outside of Middle River have become a part of the theater, too. They have had actors, directors and accompanists from Newfolden, Thief River Falls, Warroad and Karlstad.

Putting on plays is not all fun and games, it takes work and commitment from a lot of willing volunteers.

"Board members work really hard for productions," said Hanson. "It takes a lot of teamwork."

Hanson said they have a good board and that the community is supportive as well.

"If we ask for help, they're willing to give it."

Many of the board members have been with MRCT for several years. Hanson said Jerome Henning has been with the board since its very early days. She says that he and all the other board members are very dedicated to theater. The Super family helps out by mowing the theater lawn. Board members build the sets and find the costumes and help the actors with make-up as well. Although the theater has a good stock of costumes stored in the "make believe room" at the Henning house, there are also ladies in town who sew costumes when needed.

"We've been lucky that way," said Hanson. Still, she adds, they are always willing to accept donations. One man's junk is another man's prop.

The theater has purchased some items for the building and production like the cushioned theater seats that they bought from a church in Thief River Falls and the ceiling fan they bought from the Meadowbrook Ballroom. They also had to purchase a sound system, because the old one was stolen. The group gets grants from the McKnight Foundation and NWRDC, but they also depend on contributions from individuals, business and organizations. The Middle River American Legion and the Jaycees have both contributed to the MRCT. The group also holds fund raisers to support the theater. They hold bingo at the Goose Festival, sell Depot Tacos at the Legion and sometimes serve consessions at the Goose Festival dance. The Hee Haw players have been asked to do a benefit for the depot, but they are always looking for ideas, said Hanson.

The theater still needs some work. It needs to be insulated and the porch needs some repairs and the board has talked about adding more space in the back, but for now the focus is on other projects. The exterior will be repainted this summer and auditions for the fall production are coming up soon. The fall production is The Cemetery Club directed by Mike Coppock of Thief River Falls. Auditions are August 10 at 8 p.m. It will show September 27-30 and October 1 at Ye Olde Depot Theatre.

Mike Coppock, of Thief River Falls, will hold auditions for The Cemetery Club on August 10 at 8 p.m. at Ye Olde Depot Theatre in Middle River.

Barstad-Grinde family reunion

The Barstad-Grinde family reunion will be held in Thief River Falls August 9-11. All friends and family are invited to gather at the Skylite Apartments community room Wednesday evening, August 9 at 7 p.m.

Pat Hanson holds one of the sweetshirts that the Middle River Community Theatre sells. This one features a picture of the depot and a locomotive, but others have been made to correspond with each play. The concession window she stands in front of, is the old ticket window. The old passenger waiting area is now used as the dressing and make-up rooms.

Remove docks and boats

down of the reservoir in Thief River Falls.

A snag in the planned drawdown of the reservoir, was averted when the State Historical Preservation Office gave its approval for the project. Ron Lindberg, city engineering services director, said the city had received a permit from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources for the drawdown, but not the Army Corp of Engineers yet. The delay has to do with the remnants of the old dam.

Because the old dam was not removed when the new one was built a permit from the State Historical Preservation Office was required. Last year, the city conducted an exploratory drawdown to determine if the water level could be dropped to a level that would be of any affect on sediment. City officials discovered that part of the old dam was preventing a successful drawdown. It was decided that to achieve a successful drawdown, a contractor would have to be hired to dig through some of the debris on the east side of the old dam to create a channel for water. The debris (mostly rock, concrete and mud) would be placed further up the river bank as rip rap. The DNR has given its approval for this plan, but a determination on the historical value of the old dam from the State Historical Preservation Office was required because parts of the old dam can still be observed above the level of the water.

This is not the first time that the old dam has created problems for the city. Last year, for example, a metal beam from the old dam got jammed in one of the gates on the current dam now in use.

At this point, the drawdown is expected to begin on August 14 and remain at low levels until October 15; although, the drawdown permit doesn't expire until November 1. Local officials are hoping there won't be a delay.

Residents are encouraged to make plans and obtain permits if they intend to do any work on the river banks, as soon as possible. It can take 30 to 45 days to obtain a permit.

The Shore Line Best Management Practices handbook, which was recently distributed, provides information about what can be done, but for more information contact Dan Thul, hydrologist for the department of natural resources, at 681-0947.

Gardeners win at 13th District show

13th District Horticultural Society holds its annual show at the Warroad community center August 5

"You would have been amazed to have seen all the beautiful flowers and vegetables that north country gardens can produce," noted Beattie Mickelson of Thief River Falls, reporter for the 13th District Horticultural Society which held its annual show Saturday, August 5, at the Warroad community center.

"They filled the community center at the show hosted by the Green Thumb, North Star and Williams garden clubs."

"They filled the community center at the show hosted by the Green Thumb, North Star and Williams garden clubs."

"North Country Gardens" was the general theme of the show and flower arrangement categories carried out the show theme with such titles as "The North Star," "Northern Lights," "Singing in the Rain," "Harvest Time," "Broken Wagon Wheel," "Wind in the Willows," "Summer Gardens," "Winter Wonderland," "Nostalgia," "Green Harmony," "Northland Splendor" and "Rustic Charm."

Blue, red and white ribbons and three, two or one point were awarded in each lot and a grand champion selected in each division. In arrangement and corsage divisions, blue ribbon winners received 10 points, red ribbons seven points and white ribbons four points.

Points were tallied for each exhibitor for the day and the person with the most points in each division received an award. The top two point total winners for the entire show also received awards, as well as the garden club whose members accumulated the most total points.

Gro-Rite Garden Club of Badger received the club award with 521 points. Shirley Aandol of the Gro-Rite club had 142 points to be the top individual exhibitor, followed by Joan Baker of the Moccasin Garden Club of Thief River Falls with 135 points.

In the novice division of the flower arrangements category, Arlene Thune of the Moccasin Garden Club of Thief River Falls won first place with her vertical arrangement entitled "North Star." Yvonne Green of the Gro-Rite Garden Club of Badger earned the award for most points.

In the advanced division of the flower arrangement category, Lew Wallace of the Gro-Rite Garden Club of Middle River won first place with his vertical "North Star" arrangement and Helen Erickson of the Gro-Rite Garden Club of Badger earned the award for total points.

Flower arrangement category for exhibitors age 65 and older was won by Shirley Andol of the Gro-Rite Garden Club of Badger with her predominantly blue arrangement entitled "Singing in the Rain". She also received the total points award.

Potted plants champion was Cora Ravndalen of the Green Thumb Garden Club of Warroad with a Chinese evergreen. Joan Baker of the Moccasin Garden Club of Thief River Falls earned the most points.

Joan Baker also swept the division for roses by winning the individual and total points awards.

In the gladiolus category, Bernice Grindstrand of the Viking Town and Country Garden Club won first place and Shirley Andol of Badger had the most points.

Shirley Andel of the Gro-Rite Garden Club of Badger won the award for most total points at the 13th District Horticultural Society annual show Saturday, August 5, in Warroad. She is shown with her champion arrangement in the division for exhibitors age 65 and older. She had the most points in that division as well as gladiolas and finished with 142 total points.

Grand Champions

Joan Baker of the Moccasin Garden Club of Thief River Falls shows her champion rose from the 13th District Horticultural Society annual show held in Warroad Saturday, August 5. Joan also had the champion dahlia, new perennial and new annual and finished second in total points for the show with 135

LaVonne Knudson of the Green Thumb Garden Club of Warroad had the grand champion vegetable and fruit division entry at the 13th District Horticultural annual show in Warroad August 5 with her entry of kohlrabi.

Bears were a sight to see

Mahnomen — A young bear and three cubs wandered into town on August 8, but didn't seem to cause any problems.

When the authories found the bears, one bear was standing with its paws up against a tree. People began to stop to look at the bears and the yearling and three cubs climbed a tree. As more people arrived, the bears slowly climbed higher. They made no attempt to climb down while people were around.

Authorities were not sure whehter or not the yearling bear was the mother of the cubs. No one is sure why the bears came into town. There are no records of bears in town in recent years.

New full-time superintendent

Oklee — The Oklee school has a full-time superintendent once again. Galen Clow has taught in Stephen, Lancaster and Goodridge. He has also been a high school principal in Erskine and McIntosh. This is his first time as a superintendent.

He lives in Thief River Falls with his wife Cindy and daughter Erin. He also has a son Jeremy who lives in New Jersey.

As superintendent, his main focus is the financial and legal end of things. However, he intends to get to know the students and parents and be active in the community.

Movie "extra" has local ties

Grygla — Scotty Torgerson's son Josh spent part of his summer with the rest of the cast of "Mighty Ducks Three." The sequel to the popular Disney movie was filmed this summer in Fridley.

Josh, who lives in Litchfield, first tried out for the movie in early May. In late May he was called back, and was eventually offered a part. He is one of 15 hockey players on the rival team known as the Warriors. He wears jersey number 68 in the movie.

Josh's mom is Clarice Olson of Litchfield, formerly of Thief River Falls.

District gets OK from state agency

Red Lake Falls — An eight-year issue finally came to a close for the Red Lake Falls school district. The petrolium tank at Hughes Elementary School passed inspection by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, and the agency closed the file on this matter.

According to superintendent Russ Sethre, the problem started about eight years ago when a new fuel tank was placed undergound. There were disputes between the district and contractor over responsiblity for the leak. Once the contractor fixed the mess and put in new soil, there were struggles over getting the soil tested.

Last year soil testing was completed and registered with the MPCA and the sight was declared OK.

19-year-old TRF resident confesses to sticker hoax

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Thief River Falls Police Chief Ken Froschheiser announced Tuesday afternoon that a 19-year-old Thief River Falls man had admitted responsibility for putting stickers on downtown businesses, and a ceramic cow on Pizza Hut last weekend.

Police in Thief River Falls began receiving reports of stickers on downtown businesses early Saturday morning. In all, 57 businesses had one-inch address label stickers on them which read: "A dreadful thing for this small town . . . Beware August 11th when it all goes down!"

Chief Froschheiser tried to keep people calm but informed at the same time. By Tuesday, however, he was receiving one telephone call about the subject every five minutes.

The answer as to who was putting the stickers on businesses was answered Tuesday afternoon, which was shortly after the Wednesday edition of The Times was put on counters for sale Tuesday afternoon.

Chief Froschheiser informed the Thief River Falls City Council Tuesday night that he had received a telephone call from a woman at about 3 p.m. Tuesday. She inquired into what would happen to the person responsible for putting the stickers on downtown businesses. She asked whether he would be granted immunity from prosecution if he turned himself in.

Chief Froschheiser told the city council that after discussing the matter with the mayor and other individuals, he decided to grant the individual immunity if he admitted to the hoax. He explained that he had been prepared to place extra police officers on duty Thursday and Friday, and had received calls from businesses wondering whether to close. He also received telephone calls from people outside the community wondering whether to visit Thief River Falls over the weekend. He also didn't know what law had been violated. He said that if they had prosecuted the young man, they probably would have charged him with disorderly conduct, a misdemeanor.

At about 4 p.m. he said he interviewed a very remorseful 19-year-old male who admitted to the hoax in Thief River Falls and Crookston. He said the man asked the chief to apologize to the community for him. He later provided the chief with a letter of apology to be printed in the newspaper.

Chief Froschheiser added that the ceramic cow that appeared on the roof of the Pizza Hut was returned to its owner undamaged.

Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin said he was not contacted about granting immunity or even asked for a comment. He said he believed only the prosecutor and judge have authority to grant immunity from prosecution.

Crookston police also had reports of a sticker bearing the same message being placed on downtown businesses. Chief Paul Monteen said he knew of two reports. The reaction to the stickers in Crookston, however, was quite the opposite of the reaction in Thief

TRF Stampede set for Labor Day weekend

Some of the world's best rodeo professionals are once again expected for the TRF Stampede to take place indoors Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 1, 2 and 3 at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center on the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls.

The Stampede is sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) and offers competition for cash and points in six rodeo events—bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, bull riding and Womens Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) barrel racing.

Additional entertainment at the rodeo will include kids' sheep riding and calf scramble, adults' wild saddle cow race and the clowning of one of the PRCA's top funnymen, Steve Tomac of St. Anthony, ND, who will be barrelman for the bull fighting event. Bullfighter will be Shane Anderson of Lennox, SD.

In addition to the prize money, contestants will be competing for points in an effort to qualify for their circuit finals and the National Finals Rodeo (NFR) in Las Vegas, NV. The cowboys and cowgirls earn one point for each dollar of prize money won at PRCA sanctioned rodeos.

"With the kind of money that is added at the Stampede, especially in bull riding, we are going to see some of the best competitors in the world right here in Thief River Falls," states Randy Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions, producer of the annual Stampede.

Announcer Wayne Wise of Loveland, CO, who is returning to the Stampede for the second year, notes that "Thief River Falls has become one of the Labor Day rodeos that cowboys have penciled into their books as the place to stop. And since the Canadian border is so close, I expect to see those great cowboys that work both Canada and the United States at the Stampede."

He has observed that "the fans at Thief River Falls are really into professional rodeo, and that makes my job more interesting." And he adds that, "I like the golf course up there. They have a cool course."

There are 13 PRCA sanctioned rodeos in Minnesota and the Stampede is the only one to have won the PRCA's "Best New Rodeo" award. The effort has been to live up to that recognition each succeeding year, Jokela said.

Top cowboys are attracted by top quality livestock, Jokela noted, and the Stampede this year will have the best animals from the string of three different rodeo contractors Aber Rodeo Company of Beach, ND, Brookman Rodeo Company of Wolf Point, MT, and Dakota West of Minnesota all have stock which qualified for the NFR as among the toughest in the country.

Bob Aber has been in the business since 1963, is known for the style and fitness of his bucking horses and is the primary stock contractor for the rodeo at the North Dakota Winter Show at Valley City. Brookman has been a stock contractor since 1936 and annually furnishes livestock for some of the largest western U.S. rodeos, including the Home of Champions Rodeo in Red Lodge, MT. He also supplies the Calgary Stampede in Alberta, Canada. Dakota West runs bulls out of Piedmont, SD and Ft. Collins, CO, and was one of the featured contractors at last year's TRF Stampede.

A special gift

Karlstad — Many who attended WE Fest this year are left with special memories of the weekend. Some are left with a little more. Eight-year-old Ashley Bogestad received a guitar from artist Sammy Kershaw. She was sitting in the front row of the VIP section, dancing and singing along. Towards the end of his performance Sammy said he spotted a young girl in the audience and wanted her to join him on stage. He said something was wrong with his guitar and he wanted to give it to her. Ashley said the guitar seemed fine. Sammy played one more song on the guitar and gave it to Ashley. He signed it "God Bless, Sammy Kershaw."

City receives grant

Argyle — The Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund awarded the city of Argyle a $30,000 grant to study the feasability of establishing a vegetable dehydrating facility in Argyle. The study is being conducted for Snowflake Products, a cooperative group of farmers. Evidence presented by AURI and the University of Minnesota Experiment station in Crookston shows the region to be a potential producer of vegetables for marketing. Research also shows that the vegetables would be higher quality and produced at a lower cost than vegetables from California. Research into potential businesses is one of the NWMIF's priorities. "Snowflake Products is a good example of the type of project the Initiative Fund supports," states executive director Ruth Edevold.

Tearing up the track

Holt — Auto racing has been a dream of Amber Holtan for many years. Now that dream is a reality. At age 16, Amber is one of the youngest girls to race at the Greenbush Race Track. Amber and her family have watched the races in Grand Forks every Friday for the past seven years. Racing is a family affair. Both her father and uncle race as well. This year Amber is racing in the Sportman's Class and doing pretty well. She usually manages to qualify for the featured races. Her future plans are to move on to a more involved class of cars. For now though, she is focused on gaining experience and finishing the season.

Wasn't born yesterday

Clearbrook — Lulu Norley, a resident at the Good Samaritan Center celebrated her birthday on August 7. She turned 103. She participates in group activities at the center such as baking, crafts, story hour, current events and bingo. She also crochets and makes quilts. This year she spent about nine months making a quilt from over 4000 little pieces that she sewed together. Lulu is a big Twins fan and watches all their games. Sometimes she doesn't get to hear the end of games because they run too late for her.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCourslere

Oh pooh, the hot days are back, but here are some simply delicious recipes for the hot weather to perk you up.

Something cool and refreshing for the whole family on that next hot day:

SUNNY SHERBET SLUSH

1 (6 ounce) can frozen orange juice concentrate
1 (6 ounce) can frozen lemonade concentrate [illegible] cups unsweetened pineapple juice
[illegible] cups orange sherbet
2 (33.8 ounce) bottles (8 cups) ginger ale, chilled

Ahead of time, allow frozen juices to stand until slightly thawed and soften orange sherbet.

In nonmetal container, combine all ingredients except ginger ale and mix until well blended. Cover and freeze.

Before serving, let stand at room temperature 15-20 minutes to thaw slightly.

Scoop slush into punch bowl in large spoonfuls and then gently add ginger ale, stirring gently to combine. (Makes 29 1/2 cup servings.)

And this is a cool, refreshing, alcoholic drink for the adults:

MINT JULEP SLUSH

6 cups water
1/2 cup lightly packed fresh mint leaves
1/3 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups bourbon

In blender or food processor, combine 1 cup of the water, mint and sugar. Blend until mint leaves are finely chopped and then allow mixture to sit for 30 minutes.

Mint leaves can be strained out after sitting, if desired. Pour mixture into 3-quart (nonmetal) container and stir in remaining water and bourbon. Cover and freeze over night.

Before serving, allow mixture to stand at room temperature for 15-30 minutes, until slushy. Spoon into glasses and garnish with additional fresh mint. (Recipe makes 13 1/2 cup servings.)

You can't make a dessert much easier than this one and it will be perfect on a hot day — use your favorite flavor sherbet:

SHERBET AND ANGEL CAKE

1 loaf angel or sponge cake (12x15 inches, approximately)
1 quart (4 cups) any flavor, slightly softened

Slice cake in half horizontally to form 2 layers.

Place 1 layer on serving tray and spread evenly with half of the sherbet. Top with remaining cake and then remaining sherbet.

Freeze 2-3 hours or overnight.

To serve, let stand at room temperature for 10 minutes, then cut into slices. Use your imagination to garnish with fresh fruits, thinly sliced sweet chocolate, or anything else.

This is a tart, tasty treat any time, but especially on a hot day:

SUNSHINE PASTA SALAD

12 ounces (4 cups) uncooked rotini or spiral pasta
2 cups frozen sweet peas, thawed and drained
2 cups thinly sliced celery
2 cups shredded carrots
1 1/2 cups diced cooked ham
Lettuce, if desired

Dressing

1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup plain lowfat yogurt
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds*
3 tablespoons packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cook pasta to desired doneness as directed on package. Drain and rinse with cold water.

In large bowl, combine all salad ingredients except lettuce, tossing gently.

In small bowl, combine dressing ingredients, blending well. Pour over salad, tossing gently to combine.

Spoon salad into lettuce-lined bowl to serve. (Recipe serves 12.)

*To toast sesame seeds, spread on cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 3-5 minutes, stirring occasionally, or spread in small skillet and heat and stir over medium heat for 10-12 minutes until golden brown.

Old Mill Park Grinding Day September 3

Sunday, September 3, has been selected as the annual "Grinding Day" at the Old Mill State Park west of Newfolden. Grinding of flour will take place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. under sponsorship of the Marshall County Historical Society.

Powering the mill stones will be the restored Case No. A359 steam engine. Fresh ground wheat flour and bran may be purchased at the site and pioneer life exhibits will be available for viewing.

Visitors to the park can participate in picnicking, hiking, swimming and camping from spring through fall, according to Mary Benten, park manager. During the winter the park is open for cross country skiing, sliding and snowmobiling with a shelter building available where a fire can be built.

I'm Sure A Whiff Of Fall Was In The Air

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Thursday, August 10, 1995.

There it was, as unexpected as a personal visit from Publishers Clearinghouse but as clear and unmistakable as McDonald's golden arches. As I stepped out of the door to leave for work this morning I was immediately enveloped by the slight chill, the clean smell, the invigorating clarity of air that fairly shouted out "FALL IS HERE!"

Although I have lived in this part of northwest Minnesota all my life and had no doubt it was coming, I was totally unprepared for it. This summer, for the most part, has been a sickly succession of wet, cold, rainy and then hot, humid, muggy days that start without much promise, progress accordingly and end with a similar relative refusal of fulfillment. Summer in northwest Minnesota is for the tolerant—much like winter, only shorter.

If I could adjust the four seasons in this area to my liking, we would have a couple months of winter to temper our optimism, remind us of our mortality, observe a white Christmas and sell a bunch of snowmobiles; a couple days of spring to wade in the mud and acclimate to wood ticks and mosquitoes; 58 days of summer as a concession to farmers and gardeners so they can plant crops and allow them to grow; and the remainder of the year would be fall. Harvest takes place in the fall, anyway.

There are those who might be cynical enough to say that this affinity for autumn has something to do with the hunting seasons which are conducted each fall. Let me assure those who scoff that the hunting seasons don't have*something* to do with it.......they have everything to do with it!

It's not that I would like to hunt every day for six months. That would be impractical. I would settle for having six months available during which I could take time to hunt. There would be the likelihood during six months of fall of more days to start out like today, when that first breath of outdoor air stops you in your tracks and compels you, almost against your will, to deeply draw in another and hold and savor it before slowly exhaling to make room for yet another.

Fall air has some body to it. It isn't like summer air which seems devoid of oxygen, or winter air which sears your nostrils when you dare to inhale more than a sniff, or even like spring air which always seems tainted with the aroma of rotting stuff lying around from winter. You breathe that air because it is necessary for life. Fall air is totally breathable, deep breath after deep breath, often enhanced with the pungent perfume of damp leaves, wet dogs, boot oil and spent shotgun shells. You inhale fall air because you are alive.

In six months of fall there possibly could be a few less than perfect days, although it would be difficult to imagine any. Fall offers those bright, pleasantly cool, warming to temperate days that most people of any persuasion would consider perfect. But brisk, windy days with leaden skies and needle-sharp pellets of sleet are a duck hunter's idea of perfection. And frosty nights when the call of geese rings like a spoon tapped on fine crystal stemware chill the body but warm the soul of upland game hunters as well as waterfowlers.

Fall has something for everyone who is truly alive in the northern climes of Minnesota and other central states along the southern rim of Canada. And this morning's whiff tells me that if it isn't already here, fall must be as close as a cuddled black Lab puppy.

Rodeo Time Is Coming Around Again

Thoughts of fall remind us that the Labor Day weekend is coming up in just another three weeks and that means time for the annual TRF Stampede—the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association sanctioned full rodeo to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 1, 2 and 3, in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls.

The Stampede has introduced top quality professional rodeo to people from a wide area of northwest Minnesota and made rodeo fans of people who previously had only a passing interest in the sport.

Quality is a key word regarding the TRF Stampede and it applies to both the professional cowboys entering and the livestock with which they will perform. For the first time this year, the Stampede will be without the stock supplied by David Bailey Rodeo Company of Tahlequah, OK. Bailey's animals, particularly his bulls, are high caliber throughout the line and have been impressive at the Stampede.

This year producers Randy and Denese Jokela of Park Rapids have opted for a change in stock and contracted with three different rodeo companies to provide livestock for the Stampede. Some of the best bucking stock from the Aber Rodeo Company of Beach, ND, the Brookman Rodeo Company of Wolf Point, MT and Dakota West, a Minnesota company which provided some of the bulls for Bullride '95 at the Pennington County Fair, will show their stuff at the 1995 Stampede

Randy Jokela said one contractor could provide the number of animals to supply the needs of the Stampede, but he is working with the three contractors to get the best stock from each one. He said that TRF Stampede fans and contestants are accustomed to stock that can challenge the best cowboys and provide high point rides and he wants to maintain that standard.

In addition to the bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding events, the Stampede will feature timed events of calf roping, steer wrestling and Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) barrel racing to provide a total rodeo package.

All of the stock contractors supplying animals for the Stampede have National Finals Rodeo-qualifying stock. We're looking forward to some real western excitement in town September 1, 2 and 3.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.

Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew—saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates at your [illegible] at no obligation to you.

You Can Help Raise Milk Prices!

The May 31, 1995 storage figures show the following:

Butter	281,407,000 lbs	82,756,000 lbs
Natural American Cheese	351,225,000 lbs	344,355,000 lbs

Divide those numbers by the 1990 U.S. population (219 million). That is 1/3 lb of butter and 1.1 lbs of cheese per person. If every person would purchase an extra 1/3 lb of butter and 1.4 lbs of cheese there would be no production in storage. If 10% of the population participated, each person would need to purchase about 3 lbs of butter and 14 lbs of cheese to deplete storage supplies.

We urge every dairy producer to buy some extra butter and cheese, and donate it to the local food pantry or homeless shelter. Also they should encourage their urban friends to do the same. Let's make that product disappear and put upward pressure on milk prices!

Two teams tied for trap lead

Johnson Quik Set edged former league-leader Northern State Bank 120-119 and Tony Dorn Inc. beat The Times 112-106 to move into a tie for the lead in the Thief River Falls Trap League with 10 points each after the sixth week of shooting in the second half of the season.

The loss dropped Northern State Bank from the lead into a four-way tie with Nelson Implement, Amoco 24 and Bridgeman's, all of which won their matches and have nine points each.

Rick Sovde and Karl Bjorkman recorded perfect 25-straight scores for Johnson Quik Set while Fran Johnson was 24-0-24, Luke Novacek was 23-1-24 and Al Steinhauer was 22-0-22.

Howard Thorson fired a 25-straight for Northern State Bank and other scorers were Tom Greelis, 24-0-24; Dennis Zulawski, 24-0-24; John Zak, 23-1-24; and Duane Hallund, 19-3-22.

For the winning Tony Dorn Inc. team, Dick Sculthorp had a 24-0-24, Al Broughton 23-1-24, Tony Dorn Sr. 23-0-23, Tony Dorn Jr. 22-0-22 and and Russ Bollesen 19-0-19.

The Times had only four shooters on the board—Marty Johnson, 22-1-23; Lee Prinkkila, 19-4-23; Roger DeLap, 15-8-23; and Fred Olson, 20-2-22—and had to use a dummy score of 15 to round out the team total.

Nelson Implement moved up in the standings by posting a 119-114 win over Mattracks/National Transmission. Ron Kjelland fired a 24-1-24, Steve Klaven 23-1-24, Dan Lerol and Jim Dagg 24-4-24 and Troy Hoglo 20-3-23.

For Mattracks/National Transmission, Andy Tri had 24-1-24, Paul Kasprick 20-8-24, Keith Moen 19-4-23, Cory Moen 15-7-22 and Shane Skiem 13-8-21.

Amoco 24 was led by a 24-1-24 by Tony Brenna and 24-2-24 by Pat Molstad as it advanced in the standings with a 115-113 win over Woodmen Construction. Cao Ho had a [illegible]-23, Howard Stowe a 19-3-22 and Jim Counter a 14-8-22 to complete the scoring.

Al Newton had 22-4-24, Jim Geatz 17-6-23, Steve Kruta 22-0-22, Wes Skibicki and Lynn Skibicki 21-1-22 for Woodmen.

Bridgeman's posted the top team score of the night in dropping the Eagles team from its previous second place tie. The score was 121-119. Bridgeman's was led by a 25-straight from Rick Anderson. Dave Jube had 22-8-24, Barry Rhineberger 21-3-24, Ray Derouin 21-6-24 and Jeff Boe 20-5-24.

The Eagles received a 25-straight from Peter Tri, 24-0-24 from Dick Lambert, 24-2-24 from Joel Nelson, 23-1-24 from Roger Hible and 22-0-22 from Kurt Dupree.

In other matches Monday night, Lock & Load Shooting Preserve defeated Westside Motors 118-106, Bakke Insurance shaded Sjoberg's Cable TV 117-116, St. Hilaire Ag Service beat Main Street Standard 119-115, St. Hilaire Elevator topped Evergreen Implement Company 115-107 and Narverud Cleaners picked up two points on a bye.

Scoring by those teams included the following:

Lock & Load Shooting Preserve—Walt Leach Jr., 24-1-24; Dan Rantanen, 22-3-24; Mark Abercrombie, 19-5-24; Mike Ratzlaff, 20-3-23; and Vince Greelis, 15-8-23.

Westside Motors—Laura Toren, 17-8-24; Ryan Hible, 16-4-20; Kevin Jenkins, 18-1-19; Katie Toren, 11-8-19; and Tommy Greelis, 8-6-14.

Bakke Insurance—Bob Beaudry, 24-1-24; Warren Hanestad, 23-1-24; Gary Lane, 22-2-24; George Hanestad, 17-6-23; and Roger Meunier, 22-0-22.

Sjoberg's Cable TV—Dick Sjoberg, 25-2-25; Dave Grovum, 22-4-24; Dale Barth, 22-2-24; Marv Carlson, 18-4-22; and Stan Sjoberg, 20-1-21.

St. Hilaire Ag Service—Jim Holm, 21-4-24; David Geatz, 20-8-24; Glenn Kalsnes, 19-6-24; Ben Bjerken, 19-8-24; and Perry Smith, 20-3-23.

Main Street Standard—Bruce Dukken, 24-0-24; Gordie Anderson, 23-3-24; Bob Bollesen, 23-3-24; Spike Johnson, 22-0-22; and Pat Fischer, 21-0-21.

St. Hilaire Elevator—Kurt Nelson, 23-3-24; Randy Hurren, 23-2-24; Dean Bruggeman, 22-2-24; Randy Jorde, 20-2-22; and Jed Nelson, 19-2-21.

Evergreen Implement—Larry Kaiser, 21-5-24; Marland Johnson, 19-6-24; Kevin Johnson, 18-4-22; Brent Lunke, 16-4-20; and Becky Fischer, 16-1-17;

TRF man confesses

River Falls. Chief Monteen said there was no reaction at all.

Polk County Attorney Wayne Swanson said he had not received any reports on the incidents, did not know what law had been violated, and wasn't sure if it was in his jurisdiction.

A poll of eight downtown businesses located on LaBree Avenue provided an interesting mix of opinions. (Reporter's note: one business — not one of the eight — had no comment. Also, the reporter actually ran into two people who hadn't heard or read anything about the sticker hoax.)

Representatives of seven of the eight businesses said their first impression was that it was a prank and didn't get excited. Four said they should not prosecute, one said authorities should prosecute, one said leave it to the authorities, one had mixed feelings, and one said he didn't know. To the issue of punishment, three said he should complete some kind of community service, one said he should seek counseling. To the issue of the roll of the media, two said the media blew it out of proportion, two said the public has a right to know and the name should be published, although almost all of those interviewed thought they already knew who it was. Two said they didn't want to know who it was.

One business person said she thought the young man didn't think of the consequences and was probably bored. She said, however, she was more surprised at the reaction from the community than the note.

While her first reaction was that it was a prank, she later wondered if someone would take advantage of the hysteria created and actually do something and whether there will be copy cats because of all the attention this incident got.

Another business person thought it was a prank at first, and he threw away the sticker. He said he couldn't understand the reaction in the community. After thinking about it, thought he could understand the hysteria it created, especially in the wake of the Oklahoma bombing. He added that as a parent, he was thankful it wasn't his kid who perpetrated this hoax.

Another business owner said he didn't think anything of the sticker. He thought it was just a prank and it didn't make him too nervous. However, he thought something should have happened to the young man in the way of prosecution because it scared a lot of people and when you scare a lot of people that's wrong.

Of the eight businesses interviewed for this story, only Midwest Vision Center said they planned to close the store. A company representative said that as a larger corporation they have had things happen, and do not take these things lightly. An employee said they shouldn't have to work in an environment of fear. One employee said they had mixed feelings about not prosecuting the individual, but thought he needed psychological help because it's not a game.

A business owner said they were bothered by the fact that he's 19 and is being treated as a juvenile. She said he should stand liable for his actions. Maybe the next time it won't be a little thing, she said.

She said her first reaction was that it was a prank, but later began to think it could be a bomb or many other things, like a computer virus. Who knows, she said.

Another person at the store questioned what influences caused this person to act this way, and added that people should not have to work in an environment of fear.

"Unlike unsanctioned and amateur events where the same ranch cowboys may compete each day, the Stampede will have new contestants driving or flying in for each performance," adds Don Hight of Dakota West. "We want them on fresh, proven stock each day—and we really want to buck them all off!"

Jokela said he first saw the kids' "mutton bustin'" event when he was assisting with the Home of Champions Rodeo at Red Lodge, MT, in the early 1970s.

"It had never been done before in Minnesota, but I really thought the kids—and especially the parents and grandparents—would love it, so I brought it back to Park Rapids in 1978 and it has become a real hit. Now we do it at all of our events and it is a crowd favorite."

Performances September 1 and 2 are at 7 p.m. with children ages 11 and under being admitted free with an adult to the Family Night performance Friday, September 1. Sunday, September 3, is Kid's Day with children admitted for $4 and receiving a free Wrangler bandanna (while they last).

A discount of $2 on the general admission price is available to adults for all three days and children for Saturday, September 2, when purchased by Thursday, August 31. For reserved seats available close to the bucking chutes in the prime section, call 1-800-565-3521.

Less than 1/4 of spring wheat good to excellent

Spring wheat in Minnesota is rated only 24 per cent good to excellent by the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service this week, a drop of 11 percentage points in the past week.

Barley condition increased one percentage point to 26 per cent while oats dropped four percentage points to 29 per cent good to excellent.

Corn, however, is rated 76 per cent good to excellent, a gain of three points from a week ago, and soybeans are rated 63 per cent good to excellent, down one percentage point from last week.

NOTICE OF BIDS

The City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, will accept sealed bids for the sale of a 24' x 48' Metal Garage presently located at 310 North Atlantic, City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

All bids must be received in the office of the City Clerk of Thief River Falls, located in the City Auditorium, 123 North Main Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on or before 2:00 p.m., August 21, 1995.

Bids will be opened at 2:00 p.m. on August 21, 1995, in the Council Chambers, located in the City Auditorium, Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Additional information concerning the bidding process is available from the City Clerk. All bids must be submitted on bid forms provided by the City Clerk and all bids must be accompanied by a 15% cashier's check or bid bond/performance bond made payable to the City of Thief River Falls. The City reserves the right to hold any bid for 30 days during which it may accept said bid

It is required that the 24' x 48' metal garage be removed by October 20, 1995.

The City of Thief River Falls reserves the right to reject any and all bids, to waive any irregularities, and to award the contract in a manner that they deem to be in the best interests of the City.

Celebrate 60 Years With Us!!!

Congratulations Northern State Bank!

On AUG. 24, 1935, NORTHERN STATE BANK opened its doors for business under the ownership of GEORGE A. BEITO. Over 1,200 citizens showed up to welcome the staff that day, with cigars for the gentlemen and carnations for the ladies. George A. Beito also had controlling interests in the Northern State Bank of Gonvick, First National Bank of McIntosh, and American State Bank of Erskine, which all survived the banking crisis of 1933. Beito's banking philosophy was evident when he said of his new bank, "...the policy of the management will be conservative and the interests of the depositors will always be the first consideration."

Information highway to run through high school

Fosston — The school board voted last week to extend cable service from the main computer modem at the high school to every classroom. Students at Fosston will soon be traveling the information highway.

According to Russ Bly, who is overseeing the project, the district plans to have the local area network (LAN) in place before school starts. They plan to hook into Internet later this fall. Students will then have access to limitless information.

"Teaching students how to access information on Internet provides them with a tremendous tool," said Bly. There is no regulating body for Internet, but students will receive supervision.

Henry Boucha named to the Hall of Fame

Warroad — On September 16 Henry Boucha will be named to the U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame. Boucha grew up in Warroad and played hockey all his life.

He was on the All-State Hockey Team three years running. He played junior majors in Canada. As a member of the 1972 U. S. Olympic hockey team, he helped win a silver medal. In 1973 Boucha set an NHL record for scoring the fastest goal at the start of the game.

Boucha now works on the Hockey Diversity Task Force which works to get more minority kids involved in hockey. He also sells real estate and is the Indian Education Director for the school district.

Firefighters set practice fires

Red Lake Falls — Firefighters usually try to prevent and put out fires, but last week they started some.

The Red Lake Falls fire department invited fighters from Plummer and Oklee to participate in a fire fighting practice exercise. They burned a house at 401 Third Street in Red Lake Falls. Before the house was set on fire, smaller fires were set in the house, so fire fighters could practice putting out small fires.

Fire Chief Dan Geller said that the instructors were very good, maybe the best in the state, and the fire fighters learned a lot.

New scoreboard dedicated at Gilbertson Field

Roseau — Mayor Bernie Burggraf and American Legion member Clayton Brandt dedicated the new electronic scoreboard that was installed at Gilbertson Field.

The board was donated by the families of and in memory of the late Willie Johnson and Leonard Hedlund. Both men were known as supportive fans of youth baseball. Players, parents, fans and opposing teams knew Johnson and Hedlund as the "Grandpas."

Representing the families were Gladys (Mrs. Willie) Johnson and Lorraine (Mrs. Leonard) Hedlund.

NSB observes 60th anniversary

Chartered by founder George A. Beito in 1985, Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls observed its 60th anniversary Thursday with a community picnic at the parking lot of its walk-in teller branch.

George Beito was a northwestern Minnesota financier whose banks in Gonvick, McIntosh and Erskine survived the national stock market crash and banking crisis of 1933. In 1935, he and his partners acquired the former First National Bank in Thief River Falls and chartered Northern State Bank.

From the date of chartering, George Beito and his board of directors guaranteed that "the interests of depositors will always come first," with investors from the Thief River Falls area given "special consideration."

Gene Beito

David Beito

George Beito continued as president of Northern State until his death in 1965. His son, George A. "Gene" Beito Jr., who joined the bank as a director and vice president in 1960, was elected president. His son David was elected president in 1994 and Gene continues as chairman of the board of Northern State in Thief River Falls and president of Northern State Bank of Gonvick, Security State Bank of Oklee, First National Bank of McIntosh and the Marshall County State Bank of Newfolden.

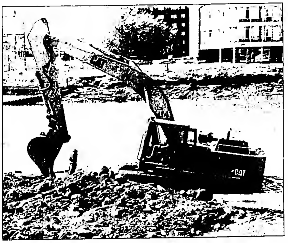
Since 1983 the assets of the bank have nearly doubled from $65 million to $125 million. While technology is continually changing the role of banking, David Beito says the personal attention his grandfather felt was so important continues to be a tradition.

"Our attention is not impersonally focused on 'customers,'" he said. "We pay attention to individuals and families and we care about the services we provide and how those services affect individual lives."

Beito says his grandfather's vision of community service also continues. "Northern State has always considered itself a community partner and we will continue to use the resources of the bank and staff to support the community in every way we can," he said.

The celebration Thursday was considered an opportunity to "bring everyone together and to demonstrate our appreciation for the confidence and community support which has been shown to Northern State Bank over the past 60 years," Beito added.

At the time of its 60th anniversary Northern State Bank is among the top 100 banks in Minnesota in terms of assets and is rated as one of the safest banks in the United States.



Water and mud nearly reached the cab of a backhoe owned by Hedeen Construction Tuesday. The backhoe was used to expertly clear out debris from next to the remnents of the old dam at the Red Lake reservoir in Thief River Falls. With the debris removed the water level of the reservoir could be lowered even further. The work was completed within one day. The water level, was brought back up because it dropped below the raw water intake. A pump is being brought in next week to pump water to the water treatment plant. Once the pump is operational, the water level will be dropped another two to three feet. The purpose of the drawdown is to consolidate sediment on the river bank and hopefully reduce the weed problem.

Soo Depot on National List of Historic Places

Thief River Falls has received confirmation that the Soo Line Railroad Depot has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places. The announcement from Nina M. Archabal, State Historic Preservation officer for the Minnesota Historic Society, was in the form of a letter to Mayor Bob Reeve, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners and Bill Dee, president of the Pennington County Historical Society.

The nomination to the National Register of Historic Places, which is administered by the National Park Service of the United States Department of Interior, was prepared by the Minnesota State Historical Society early this past winter when the property was still owned by C.P. Rail Systems. Since then, the City of Thief River Falls has acquired the property.

Since taking possession of the property, debris furnishings not removed by the railroad have been removed by Sentence To Serve personnel through the cooperation of the local Law Enforcement Center. Lynn Lammer, a certified asbestos inspector-designer from Fargo, is in the process of putting together bidding documents for asbestos and lead-based paint removal. It is expected that the City will authorize advertisement for bids sometime during the next three weeks.

The City has also engaged the services of Michael J. Burns Architects of Moorhead, a professional design firm which specializes in historical preservation. In late July the architectural firm delivered a preliminary estimate of costs for renovation of the Depot, including a new addition on the west side of the baggage express wing, which would serve as the main entrance to the building and house an elevator, a stairway to the second floor, new rest rooms, and archival storage space, and to make site improvements to provide 40 parking spaces on the site, a total preliminary estimated cost of $1 million. The Burns firm is presently in the schematic design phase of the project to analyze and assist the City

Canadian cyclist stops at Plummer

by Murvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Keith Weber of Red Deer, Alberta, Canada, made an overnight stop at the Harold and Marian Vatthauer farm northwest of Plummer on August 10 during a cross-country bicycle trip from Canada's east to west coast.

The Vatthauers noticed Weber riding his bicycle along highway 2 while making a trip to Fosston. On their return they caught up with him near Plummer, stopped and invited him to spend the night at their farm.

"We told him we had a camper trailer he could use so he could have his privacy," Marian said. "And we said we were going to have pizza for supper, and he said that sounded just great."

The 25-year-old Weber, who plans to be married next year and decided to make the trip before then, is a student at the University of Alberta. He started his trip at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and plans to arrive at Vancouver, British Columbia in early September.

Weber said he dropped down into the United States to take advantage of better roads. He carries about 50 pounds of gear on his bicycle, averages about 100 miles a day and was a little over half way through his trip when he made the overnight stop at the Vatthauer farm.

"I'm a mom," Marian Vatthauer says of her invitation to Weber to stay at the farm. "If that was my son, I would want someone to help him out. I asked for his clothes and laundered them for him. He said that if our bathroom scale was accurate, he had lost 15 pounds since he left Halifax."

Engineer serves at Grygla

Jim Hest, a professional engineer hired as area engineer for the Northwestern Minnesota Joint Powers Board, will have his office in the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District office in Grygla.

The Joint Powers Board is made up of eight conservation districts (Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Marshall-Beltrami, Pennington, Red Lake, East Polk and West Polk) which have joined to provide additional technical staff for the area.

Priority for Hest will be engineering assistance for the State Revolving Fund on such projects as agricultural waste systems, streambank stabilization and non-point pollution problems. Other duties may include assisting soil and water conservation districts with state cost-share projects, streambank, lakeshore and roadside projects or other special projects.

Hest has an education degree in social studies from Moorhead State University and his engineering degree from Montana State University at Bozeman. His wife, Terry, is an elementary teacher. They have a son, Benjamin, who is in fifth grade.

Hest worked for an engineering consultant firm in Seattle, WA, before accepting the JPB engineering position in northwestern Minnesota.

Student to present project in London

Who was Jesus of Nazareth? What do we know about Him and what don't we know? These are some of the questions that a group of three students and one professor at Augustana College have been asking. They are designing a computer program to aid in the study of Jesus Christ. One of these students is Andrea Campbell of Newfolden. Andrea said that her involvement in the project began her freshman year of college.

In the beginning

Andrea, the daughter of Robert and Katherine Campbell of Newfolden, took a freshman religion class her first year at Augustana. The class's teacher Dr. Richard Swanson has students who have taken the class help lead small-group discussions. Andrea was a discussion leader her sophomore year of school. In order to earn credit for helping with the class, students are required to complete a project related to class. Dr. Swanson, who has taught at religious seminars regarding computers in religious education, suggested that Andrea and her classmate Steven Stokes do a project involving hypertext.

Hypertext is difficult to describe. It is a way of finding information in a non-linear matrix programed into a computer, and it is ideal for exploration of ideas. For example, in chemistry, certain reactions occur in a specific order under specific conditions. However, in religion people make connections in different ways. Hypertext allows people to move from idea to idea in a fashion that works for the individual, not in the direction someone says they must move. The individual displays of information and options on the screen are called "cards." Each card can be arrived at through a variety of routes. The students use a Macintosh computer to fill in the information about Jesus and put the "flow chart" of cards together.

Questions and statements that the group write are placed on the cards. They started by writing their own questions. They later thought about questions that confirmation students might have and questions

Clearbrook girl assisted Helen Keller on train

Eleanor Erich Millette, a former Clearbrook community resident now living in northeastern Minnesota, provided assistance to a noted personality more than 60 years ago.

An item written by Mrs. Millette appeared in a column by Louan Hendrickson in The Leader Record at Clearbrook.

"Did you know that an important lady—Helen Keller—was at the Lewis Hotel in 1934?" the item states.

"My father drove me to the hotel to wait for the Soo train in Thief River Falls, where I attended junior high school. Mr. Lewis asked me if I would help a blind lady get to and on the train. I did this. The lady was Helen Keller.

"I sat next to her on the train. She was a very pleasant, intelligent person. We talked all the while. She said she was 54 years old. She was going to Thief River Falls to give a speech. I asked her if she needed help to where she would be going there. She said someone was to meet her at the depot. She thanked me for being so thoughtful."

Class of 1966 to plan reunion

Lincoln high school graduating class of 1966 will make initial plans for a 30-year reunion in 1966 at a meeting Monday, August 21, at 7 p.m. at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls. All classmates are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Not guilty plea

Crookston — Dennis Amie, 25, of Mentor pled not guilty to one count of third degree burglary and two counts of felony theft.

According to the complaint, Donald Berg of Badger township near Erskine notified authorities on April 13 that he had been burglarized. Terry Finn later told authorities that he, Amie, Scott Emmer and Emmett Ashley walked through an abandoned farmstead and later loaded motorcycles and boat motors into Amie's pickup. The said property was later identified as Berg's. The men made three separate trips to the property.

After questioning by the authorities, the other men identified in the complaint admitted being involved in the burglaries. Amie is scheduled for trial September 17.

Child dies in accident

Fourtown — A three-year-old girl died following an accident on Saturday August 12. According to the Beltrami County Sheriff's department, Amy Lynn Raincloud of Red Lake was a passenger on the all terrain vehicle her mother, Roxanne Raincloud was driving. The ATV rolled over near Fourtown and Amy was crushed underneath.

The Grygla Rescue Squad was called to the scene. Authorities believe the girl was killed instantly. Her mother was taken to Red Lake Hospital. She was treated for minor injuries and released.

The accident is under investigation by the Beltrami County Sheriff's Department.

Renovating the water

Middle River — The water and sewer system is under going some improvements. The paperwork for the project, which included pre-application and environmental studies, started in 1993. The physical work should take much less time.

An important improvement will be the addition of shut-off valves and loops for re-routing water. The water tower is also getting new paint. The old lead-based paint must be removed and disposed of according to strick regulations. Most of the cost of the entire water and sewer project is due to the cost of removing the old paint.

The project should be completed in time for the Goose Festival or by the first of October.

Hearing set

Karlstad — Concerned parents voiced their thoughts and feelings about the proposed closing of the elementary school in Strandquist. The closure was proposed due to demography, time and duplication of costs.

Many parents said they did not want their children to attend school in Karlstad. Others said they want to see the facts and figures on cost before they decide. The three important issues are Population, needs of the students and how the students can be taught more effectively.

A public hearing has been set for October 9 at 8 p.m. at the Tri County School gymnasium in Karlstad.

Portion of road must be removed

Detroit Lakes — An administrative law judge has ruled that WE Fest must remove a portion of the road between its Blue Ox and Eagle campgrounds.

Judge Allen E. Giles said the company must remove all fill material that was placed without a permit by Slough Lake. He also denied WE Fest's application for a permit to lay fill at the site.

WE Fest President Jeff Krueger said the materials will be taken out within a few weeks. He also said that a farm road once existed there, making a permit unnecessary.

The DNR said the road was built through a wetland area without approval which violates wetlands policy.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes are from the stuck-together pages of my very own, well-worn, very used cookbook. Most of my best recipes are from someone else, so if you see yours in here, yes, I probably stole it from you.

These are great hot weather treats (no frosting to get yucky):

MAGGIE'S SURPRISE CUPCAKES

3 cups flour
2 cups white sugar
1/2 cup cocoa
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda
2/3 cup oil
2 cups water
2 tablespoon vinegar

Mix ingredients together and fill cups half full.

Surprise

1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 egg
1/3 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
6 ounces chocolate chips

Mix until fluffy. Drop 1 heaping teaspoonful into middle of each cupcake and then top with more batter.

Bake 25 minutes or less (keep an eye on them so they don't burn) at 350 degrees.

This is the best (and easiest) old-fashioned fudge I've ever made — I make it every Christmas and try to control myself and not make it any other time:

MONSIEUR BON-BON'S FUDGE

2 1/4 cups sugar
1 small can evaporated milk
1/2 cup butter
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon white syrup
4 tablespoons cocoa
1/8 teaspoon salt

Melt slowly together over low heat until mixture thickens and is smooth. Turn up heat and cook to soft ball stage.

Remove from heat and beat well with wooden spoon (while watching TV). Pour into greased pan and let set before cutting.

This is my great-aunt Emma's recipe...she has been gone several years, but her recipe continues to make tasty toast in our family:

EMMA'S RHUBARB CONSERVE

5 pounds rhubarb
5 pounds sugar (12 1/2 cups)
Small can crushed pineapple
2 1/2 oranges
1 1/2 lemons
Raisins (may grind up, if desired)
1 cup walnuts

Let rhubarb and sugar stand overnight. Add other ingredients and let boil slowly until thick. Put into prepared jars and process as directed in canning manual.

Make this the next cool day for a simply delicious, quick chili:

KAY'S QUICK AND E-Z CHILI

1 cup celery
1 cup onion
1 pound hamburger, browned
1 tablespoon chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
1 can tomato soup
2 cans kidney beans
1 can tomatoes

Brown hamburger, onion and celery. Drain.

Place all ingredients, along with meat mixture, in large kettle and cook at least 30 minutes before serving.

Pre-school screening at Goodridge

Early childhood screening will be held at the kindergarten room in the Goodridge school Monday, August 21.

Children in the Goodridge school district who were born between Sept. 1, 1991 and Feb. 29, 1992 should be receiving a prescheduled appointment in the mail. Parents in the district who have a child born prior to Sept. 1, 1991 who has not been screened are asked to contact Deb Davidson at 874-6961 to schedule an appointment.

The 1991 Minnesota Legislature adopted legislation requiring that all children be screened prior to entering kindergarten. The screening will include a family interview, developmental screening, vision and hearing tests, review of dental and health status and a simple physical inspection.

Early detection of children's health and developmental problems can reduce the later need for costly care, Davidson said, and such difficulties can be addressed prior to kindergarten entrance.

Swedish folk group to dance at Roseau

As part of the Roseau county centennial celebration, the Mora Dala Folk Dancers will perform Sunday, August 27, beginning at 2 p.m. at the Roseau County Pioneer Farm west of Roseau on highway 11.

It is expected that 19 members of the group which was formed in [illegible] at Mora, MN will present the program of folk dances [illegible] but have developed over time in the rural areas of the Scandinavian countries. One of the group will also perform on Swedish horn.

Sponsoring the dance group are the Pioneer Farm and the Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society. The group was formed by interested persons following visits by several folk dance groups to the Mora area. About 20 to 30 people meet and dance on a weekly basis. They have performed throughout Minnesota, were invited to attend the 1992 Falkoping Sweden Music and Dance Festival and performed in Warren for a Maypole festival a few years ago.

Arrangements for the performance are being made by Frances Karlsson of Roseau along with centennial chairman A. J. Kramer and the Pioneer Farm board.

There is no set charge for the dance exhibition or the lunch to follow but freewill donations will be accepted.

Marshall County Historical Society active at fair

Many participated in the Marshall County Historical Society's Settlers' Square at the Marshall County Fair. Those participating were Margaret Harrington, Joan Harrington, Stacy Johnson, Annette Benson, Joan McGregor, Jennifer McDonough, Ethel Thorlacius, Roberta Schmitz, Colette Baker, Katie Benki, Roger Schmitz, Emily Moehring and Bev Johnson.

The actors portrayed characters living in Marshall county in the 1800's, such as a teacher at Cook School and a dentist. Matilda (a.k.a. Bev. Johnson) demonstrated basket weaving and Avis Mattson wove rugs on her loom.

Ice cream, lefse and root beer floats were served for all to enjoy.

Clayton Bruten, Argyle, won the historical society one-half log raffle. Winners of the rugs made by Avis Mattson are LaVonne Miller of Thief River Falls, Sharon Bubb, Alvarado and Janet St. Germain, Argyle.

You Pay Again For Government Blunder

In an agreement announced earlier this week, the U.S. Justice Department has agreed to pay $3.1 million to the family of Randy Weaver to settle claims over the killing of Weaver's son and wife by federal agents at Ruby Ridge, Idaho, in 1992. And since the federal government has no money that it doesn't first take from the American people, all taxpayers will share in paying that settlement.

The Weaver family had filed civil lawsuits against the government seeking a totally unrealistic $200 million in damages. The settlement accepted is proof of the unreality of the original amount requested. Each of the three surviving Weaver children is to receive $1 million and Randy Weaver is to receive $100,000 under the settlement terms.

Weaver's son was killed in a confrontation with government agents near the Weaver cabin. An agent reportedly shot the family's dog. The 14-year-old boy fired his rifle at the agent, then was shot in the back and arm when he obeyed his father's order to return to the cabin.

Vicki Weaver was killed when hit in the neck by a bullet the FBI claims was fired at a family friend who was seeking shelter in the cabin. She was holding the door open for him and family members while also holding their 10-month-old child. Her body remained in the cabin for seven days while her husband, their three surviving children and the friend were under siege by the agents in the cabin. The son's body lay in a nearby shed.

Like the Waco, TX, incident involving the government-caused deaths of Branch Davidian members, the Ruby Ridge tragedy was the cause of unnecessary force inappropriately used by federal agents. These were not situations where individual agents were faced with self-defense and instantaneous decisions. They were government initiated confrontations which escalated as a result of siege tactics and involved planned and intentional applications of force.

Law enforcement at all levels must certainly be able to provide a proper defense and individual officers faced with making instant decisions in life-and-death situations can often be excused for making the wrong one. Most people in law enforcement, especially local law enforcement, hope they never have to be in a position to make that kind of decision.

We wonder, however, if federal agents don't have a little different mentality. Like military personnel, they train and train and train for combative situations. If they never use their training, it seems to be wasted.

We recall the words of a local serviceman who was involved in the Desert Storm operation. He said he couldn't believe the number of people in his unit who were eager for a ground offensive so they could shoot at someone. We believe some of that same mentality extends to federal agents trained in using deadly force. Training isn't enough; they want a taste of the action.

Americans should not have to fear attacks from their government. Agents of that government must be held accountable for their actions and should be on notice that they will be held responsible for harm they cause.

Paying for the mistakes of agents through monetary settlements is one thing. Paying through loss of life is quite another. Congress should make sure the $3.1 million settlement comes out of the existing budget of the Justice Department and that no additional appropriation is made to pay it. And those responsible for the deaths of Weaver's wife and son should face criminal prosecution. Justice demands it.

The Price Of A Cow

A beef farmer had been scrimping and saving for some time to buy a new pickup truck and finally made the deal. In the course of conversation while working out details of the pickup purchase, the auto dealer asked about buying one of his customer's prime Hereford steers. The farmer said he would be happy to oblige.

Upon arriving home, the farmer sat for a couple minutes in his new truck and pondered the sales information he had been given. That night he priced out the steer that the auto dealer had offered to buy and the farmer would be delivering the next morning:

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Polaris posts record sales

Polaris Industries, Inc., had record sales of $285,357,000 and earnings of $12,535,000 for the second quarter ended June 30. Sales were up 58 per cent and earnings 71 per cent over the second quarter a year ago.

For the first half of 1995, sales totaled $540,150,000—a 66 per cent increase over the 1994 year-to-date period. Net income for the six months was $25,475,000 or $1.38 per share, an increase of 89 per cent over the same period in 1994.

Addition of an assembly plant in Spirit Lake, IA, enhanced production capacity, enabling the company to manufacture more units in each of its product lines and ship 1996 model snowmobiles earlier.

W. Hall Wendel, chairman and chief executive officer, said that change in shipping timing and negative impact of the Japanese yen lead to expectations that second half sales will be comparable to last year but earnings could be slightly lower.

Polaris ended the quarter with no debt and had cash and equivalents of $18,130,000, compared to $23,595,000 a year ago.

Forms needed for day care bus

Parents of children who need to ride buses to or from day care in the 1995-96 school year are reminded by School District 564 transportation director Fred Mykleby to fill out day care transportation forms as soon as possible.

Forms are available at the transportation office in the school district service center and at the office of Challenger Elementary and Preschool. Rural and city transportation routes and schedules will be published in the August 25 edition of the Northern Watch.

LaFave park beach closed

Thief River Falls parks and recreation department has officially announced that the LaFave park swimming beach will be closed for the remainder of the season. Closing is due to the lowering of the river level which has reduced the available water in the beach area.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Hats off to editor Marv Lundin, associate editor Dave Hill and The Times for all the great coverage on Bullride '95.

The articles provided wonderful details and interesting background information on the Bullride '95 participants. Thanks for the excellent coverage.

Bullride '95 chairman Roger Shaffer commented that photos you took and published were, "Some of the best bull riding pictures I've ever seen in a newspaper!" Thanks for all the extra effort!

Sincerely,
Bob Bergan

Literacy centers get guidebooks

Adult literacy centers in more than 700 cities and towns across 14 states are receiving free copies of a new adult education teacher guidebook, developed by U S West Direct, that uses the telephone book as its basic teaching tool.

Area centers scheduled to receive two copies of the guidebooks include those located at Baudette, Grygla, Bagley, Gonvick, Thief River Falls, Warroad, Roseau, Stephen and Strandquist.

Unemployment insurance notes 60-year history

Sixty years of providing assistance to people who are unemployed has been observed the week of August 14, according to Lee Helgenset, reemployment insurance specialist with the Minnesota Department of Economic Security office in Thief River Falls. The program has been in effect since the Great Depression.

The 60th anniversary is being noted by the U.S. Department of Labor which administers what is currently a $26 billion annual program. Helgenset said that 44 of the 1,700 unemployment insurance offices in the United States are located in Minnesota. Minnesota Department of Economic Security has chosen to use the term "reemployment" instead of "unemployment in reference to the program.

"In our area, four offices located in Thief River Falls, Roseau, East Grand Forks and Crookston handle the reemployment claims for Pennington, Kittson, Red Lake, Marshall, Roseau, Norman and Polk counties," she said. "The report forms which we call certifications for all of these counties are processed in Thief River Falls."

Although employment seems to be high in the seven-county area of Economic Development Region 1 and a number of employers in this area of Minnesota are seeking to hire qualified workers, hundreds of people in the northwestern seven counties claimed reemployment benefits totaling over $14.5 million since January of 1994, Helgenset said.

The payments, which totaled $14,570,507, included $2,501,958 in Pennington county, $744,685 in Kittson, $2,252,2167 in Marshall, $2,096,629 in Roseau, $4,920,966 in Polk, $1,190,554 in Red Lake and $863,499 in Norman.

"In about the past 20 months the reemployment insurance system has been responsible for putting $14.5 million dollars into the economy of the seven-county region," Helgenset said. "Seasonal employers benefit from reemployment insurance by the ability to retain their skilled workers during periods of layoff."

Despite its 60-year history, the unemployment insurance system is constantly subject to change. In Minnesota, for example, the change in name to "reemployment" insurance program was made to more accurately reflect the department's efforts toward employment stability, earlier reemployment and therefore shorter duration of reemployment benefits.

Other changes now in use include a voice response unit at the Thief River Falls office to permit reopening of an existing reemployment claim by telephone, and a profiling system that identifies individuals who are claiming benefits—and who are likely to exhaust their benefits soon after the initial claims process—and providing those claimants with services to become employed as soon as possible.

Another effort is the creation of "one stop shops" where people seeking jobs, or businesses looking to hire, may find reference materials and the personnel necessary to help meet their needs all in one location. This system has been put into effect at the Roseau, Crookston and Thief River Falls Job Service offices and will continue for Thief River Falls at the Job Service office soon to be located on the campus of Northland Community and Technical College.

Additional possibilities under investigation or development are a direct access computer system which workers can use to supply their own information to start a reemployment claim and a telephone reporting system for benefits. Several states have already initiated these processes, Helgenset said.

"Minnesota's anniversary gift to the unemployment insurance system is its dedication to improve the program to benefit both employees and employers," she added.

Cities share government aid

Area cities recently received certification notices of local government aid, according to the League of Minnesota Cities. All of the cities in this region received an increase over last year's local government aid. The most recent population estimates, as prepared by the state demographer, were also included in those figures.

In theory, local government aid is paid to (1) equalize a community's ability to provide basic services, and (2) to generally reduce property tax levies. According to "State Government Spending: A Taxpayer's Guide to State Government Spending in Minnesota," prepared by the Minnesota Taxpayer's Association, the local government aid formula distributes aid based on the age of housing, the percentage of commercial and industrial property value (relative to all property), population, and extent of population decline, if any.

The following information, except that in parenthesis, was provided by the League of Minnesota Cities.

Brooks, with a population of 153 received $8,785 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $8,942 in local government aid in 1996, an increase of 1.8 per cent. ($58.44 per resident)

Crookston, with a population of 8,163, received $1,861,859 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $1,905,743 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 2.4 per cent. ($233.46 per resident)

East Grand Forks, with a population of 8,947, received $1,495,413 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $1,519,972 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 1.6 per cent. ($169.89 per resident)

Goodridge, with a population of 105, received $22,290 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $22,699 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 1.8 per cent. ($216.18 per resident)

Greenbush, with a population of 808, received $139,717 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $142,513 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 2.0 per cent. ($176.38 per resident)

Grygla, with a population of 221, received $35,164 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $35,525 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 1.0 per cent. ($160.75 per resident)

Hallock, with a population of 1,300, received $272,163 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $281,166 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 3.3 per cent. ($216.28 per resident)

Karlstad, with a population of 873, received $126,839 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $131,412 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 3.6 per cent. ($150.53 per resident)

Middle River, with a population of 283, received $26,801 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $27,756 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 3.6 per cent. ($98.07 per resident)

Newfolden, with a population of 342, received $57,522 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $58,688 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 2.0 per cent. ($171.60 per resident)

Oklee, with a population of 429, received $88,628 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $90,343 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 1.9 per cent. ($210.59 per resident)

Plummer, with a population of 277, received $47,684 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $48,683 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 2.1 per cent. ($175.75 per resident)

Red Lake Falls, with a population of 1,481, received $335,438 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $344,877 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 2.8 per cent. ($232.87 per resident)

Roseau, with a population of 2,578, received $245,120 in 1995 local government aid, but will receive $251,383 in 1996 local government aid, an increase of 2.6 per cent. ($97.51 per resident)

St. Hilaire, with a population of 302, received $20,568 in local government aid, but will receive $21,412 in 1996 local government

Former Prowler basketball standout wins bronze medal in team handball...

Jodi Kruta participates in Olympic Festival

Jodi Kruta, the all-time leading scorer in Lincoln High School basketball history and a fourth-year starter on the Montana State-Northern women's basketball team, expanded her athletic resume this summer as a member of the bronze medal winning West Team in the team handball portion of the 1995 U.S. Olympic Festival in Colorado.

Kruta scored 1,771 points for the Prowlers before graduating in 1992, and promptly stepped into the lineup for the NCAA Division II title-winning Skylights out of Havre. Montana State-Northern moved up to Division I in 1993-94, qualifying for the NCAA playoffs the past two years.

But Kruta put basketball on hold briefly this summer when she took up a new sport — team handball, which combines the skills of basketball, soccer and water polo as players attempt to rifle a ball slightly smaller than a volleyball into a goal similar to a hockey net. Most team handball players are former basketball players.

Kruta was selected for the U.S. Olympic Festival West Team upon a recommendation from Montana State-Northern basketball coach Sherry Winn, who herself was a team handball standout.

"Team handball uses speed and vertical jumping strength," Winn told Boots Gifford of the Daily News in Havre. "Those are characteristics Jodi has."

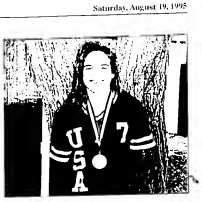
Although you can use your hands, team handball is similar to soccer and hockey. The offense and defense philosophies are similar. Teams play two 30-minute periods with no time-outs and no stalling. Players pass the ball up the court in an attempt to score. Like in hockey and soccer, the net is guarded by a goalie. Physical contact, much like checking in hockey, is routine.

"You have to be in super shape to play," said Winn. "It's a very fast, very physical game."

Team handball, which originated in Denmark, starts at a youth level in European countries. Americans usually begin playing team handball in their 20s after their collegiate basketball, volleyball or football eligibility expires.

The Olympic Festival is like a miniature Olympic games, featuring the best athletes in the United States competing on East, West, North and South teams. Over 3,600 athletes took part in the 10-day event completed July 30. Opening ceremonies were held at Mile High Stadium in Denver. Competition took place at sites in Denver, Boulder and Colorado Springs.

Kruta, who would like to continue playing team handball when her college basketball career is completed, hopes to train with the U.S. National team in an attempt to land a spot in the 2000 Olympics.



Lincoln High School graduate Jodi Kruta was a member of the West Team in the team handball competition at the 1995 U.S. Olympic Festival earlier this summer in Denver, Colorado Springs and Boulder, Colorado. Kruta will be a senior at Montana State University-Northern this year, where she is a starting guard on the women's basketball team.

Bergland continues pro career

■ NHL veteran ready for second year in IHL

by Sports Editor Mike Lundgren

Tim Bergland's professional hockey career is alive and well. But after spending parts of several years with the Washington Capitals and Tampa Bay Lightning in the National Hockey League, the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association product and Lincoln High School graduate is gearing up for his second year with Chicago in the International League.

Bergland would, of course, rather be playing in the National Hockey League. But the 30-year-old forward has no qualms about playing minor league hockey. Especially when it finally means stability after racking up frequent flyer miles in bouncing between the NHL clubs owning his rights and their farm teams. And the pay isn't bad, either, he said.

A year ago at this time Bergland wasn't sure where he would be spending the 1994-95 season. Having finished the previous year with the Capitals following a late-season waiver acquisition from Tampa Bay, Bergland was testing the water as an NHL free agent.

Pending labor trouble between the National Hockey League and the NHL Players Association slowed player movement. An offer from the new IHL team in Chicago served as a security blanket, but Bergland did eventually receive an invitation to attend the New York Islanders training camp.

The Chicago offer — a three-year deal — was still on the table while Bergland was skating with the Islanders, who had not yet offered him a contract. Late in camp, Chicago wanted an answer from Bergland, who then went to New York management to see if a deal was in the offing.

There was no immediate response from the Islanders, so Bergland returned the call to Chicago accepting their offer. Later that same night New York presented him with a contract sheet. But it was a two-way deal - calling for minor league or NHL salary, depending on where you are playing. And it was for just one year.

Bergland told New York about his Chicago offer, and asked if the Islanders would be willing to sweeten the pot. They were going to spend the night thinking about it, but the next day the NHL players went on strike. To sign with New York at that point would have meant a trip to the Islanders' IHL team in Denver.

The Chicago offer was better.

And Bergland was happy with his decision. Chicago, like the rest of the IHL, benefitted from the lengthy NHL work stoppage, averaging over 12,000 people per game while finishing 34-33 in the Eastern Division, where they lost a first round playoff series to Kalamazoo.

"I think it went well," said Bergland in a conversion from his off-season home near Ottertail Lake in central Minnesota. "It was a perfect situation for the team – being located in a large metropolitan area whose NHL team was on strike. Personally, it went okay. I guess (38 points). It was satisfactory, but it was kind of frustrating, too. I thought I could have done a little better. I'm not the kind of guy who is going to be an 80-point scorer, but I could have picked up a few more points. It was just one of those years where the puck just didn't bounce my way."

There is no losing face in playing in the International League after having been at the National Hockey League level. It was commonplace to see NHL veterans on IHL rosters. Increased fan interest and a big jump in the salary level made it an attractive alternative.

"In 1987-88, my first year of professional hockey, the minor leagues were pretty rough," noted Bergland. "But it's gotten a lot better than it was five-six years ago. It's the NHL game now, in my opinon. There are a lot of talented players in the IHL who could be playing in the NHL if they are in the right situations. The biggest difference between the two leagues is depth."

While Chicago and the IHL is a nice fit for Bergland, the former University of Minnesota hockey captain would still jump at the opportunity to get back to the major league level. He could accept any NHL offer any time during the year up until March 1, when he would be committed to finishing the season with the IHL club.

"My current situation is good," said Bergland, "but if the opportunity arises, yea, I'd like to be back in the NHL."

It doesn't matter if the end result is the International League or the National Hockey League, Bergland's off-season work-outs remain the same – a routine that includes five to six days of weight room or road work per week. He will be in Bloomington for two weeks of skating later this month before heading to the Chicago training camp, which opens Sept. 7. The IHL starts play in early October.

School District 564 filling vacancies in coaching positions

Latest School District 564 coaching assignments for the upcoming 1995-96 school year, announced this week by director of student activities Jim Sims, pending board approval, include Kyle Jordet, junior varsity tennis; Steve Philipp, middle school tennis; Lynette Derouin, freshman volleyball; Connie Dorn, fine line dance head coach; and Jennifer Halling, fine line dance assistant.

Sims said the fine line dance is no longer part of Community Education, but instead has been incorporated into the School District 564 activities program.

The fine line dance varsity will participate in competitive meets, and will also perform at halftime shows and school functions.

Girls in grades 7-12 interested in fine line dance participation on a non-competitive basis can be part of

Large turnout for TRF football

Jeff Mumm started his 11th year as Thief River Falls head high school football coach Monday by welcoming 110 players in grades 9 through 12 in preseason workouts - the biggest turnout ever for the Prowlers during Mumm's tenure.

The numbers were so large that Mumm and his staff broke the team into two groups for the early drills – juniors and seniors from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m.; freshmen and sophomores from 10:15 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

Recent success has helped fuel the increasing interest in the sport, including two Section 8A playoff championship game appearances in the past three years. The Prowlers were 7-4 a year ago when they lost a 28-13 Section 8A title game decision to Detroit Lakes at the Fargodome.

Twenty senior lettermen were lost to graduation off that squad, including most of the huge linemen that turned heads throughout northwestern Minnesota.

However, 27 lettermen are back, including many who played extensively in the Prowlers' rotation system.

Graduation took size and talent, acknowledged Mumm, but he is confident that the program is at a point where it simply rebuilds itself each year.

"We're not as big as we were last year, but we're probably just as strong, and we're quicker," said Mumm. "We don't have the intimidating size we had last year – we looked good in uniform. But our kids work hard in the weight room, and they're strong."

The Prowlers have skilled people returning in the offensive backfield in quarterback Keith Anderson and halfback Nick Chiodo. Anderson passed for 1,006 yards last fall and threw for 10 touchdowns. Chiodo's quickness netted him 563 yards and complemented the hard running straight-ahead style employed by Tony Halsa (854 yards) and Brian Howe (741).

Halsa and Howe are both gone, but Mumm is looking for the Prowlers' inside game to remain productive behind 6-4, 190-pound fullback Aaron Ehrenstrom.

Robby Farbo, a 6-4, 205 pound center, and Matt Lawrence, a 6-1, 265-pound tackle, are returning starters in the offensive line.

Defensively, there is experience returning at linebacker, defensive end and defensive back – the result of the share-the-time rotation system. The Prowlers are short, however, on veterans in the defensive line, where only 5-10, 235-pound Peter Johnson returns.

Others in grades 10-11 reporting for the start of practice include juniors Adam Kuck, Chad Nordhagen, Dallas Germundson, Courtney Skjerven, Ryan Stengrim, Nathan LaRoque, Luke Davis, Billy Lubitz, Mike Walker, Jeremy Jensen, Josh Clark, Curt Edwards, Jon Blomker, Karl Anderson, Richard Vaughan, Rick Donarski, Ben Furuseth, Bryan Cleven, Kyle Nelson, and Jared Brandt; plus sophomores Jay Radniecki, Chad Skeim, Mike Morris, Mike Rose, Adam Nordin, Robert Spry, Matt Larson, Kyle Rokke, Nick Swanson, Troy Brandon, Dachan Wolff, Mark Nissen, Paul Frank, Kyle Waterworth, Anthony Hendricks, Chris Mumm, Andy Harbott, Trevor Lee, Eric Thayer, Kyle Anderson, Tony Fletcher, Bret Newton, Matt Bitzegaio, Cody Huschle, Brent Ruhl, Travis Forsberg, Eric Rouland, and Jeremy Burns.

Annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Pigskin Preview scrimmages will be held Saturday, Aug. 26, followed by the 1995 season opener Thursday, Aug. 31, vs. Detroit Lakes at Prowler Field.

Tentative waterfowl dates are set

Duck populations have increased dramatically for a second consecutive year throughout key breeding areas, prompting the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to allow states to select a 50-day duck season with a five-duck daily bag limit for 1995, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

"In major duck breeding areas, mallard breeding populations were at the highest level in 23 years, and the fall flight will increase from 71 million last year to 80 million this year," said Tim Bremicker, chief of the DNR Section of Wildlife. "Additionally, canvasbacks, redheads and gadwalls increased to record levels, and the number of all breeding ducks is at the highest level in 16 years. The eastern Dakotas have the largest duck breeding populations since the breeding surveys began in 1955. This is a testament to the importance of good habitat and water conditions – record rainfall and the Conservation Reserve Program.

"Fall weather and food availability will be the dominant factors determining waterfowl distribution in Minnesota this fall," added Bremicker. "Just because there are high duck populations doesn't necessarily mean that hunting will be consistently good across the state. Last year, many Minnesota waterfowlers were disappointed. Duck numbers during migration were not what people expected in some areas of the state due to better habitat conditions in southern Minnesota and to the mild fall weather. We cannot predict the weather for this fall, but many ducks may again migrate to the west of Minnesota this year because of the excellent habitat conditions in the Dakotas."

Breeding blue-winged teal and mallard numbers were down in Minnesota compared to last year, but Minnesota mallards were at the third highest level since 1968, Bremicker said. There also appears to be good duckling production in much of the state. In addition, wetland conditions and duck numbers in Manitoba improved dramatically compared to last year and may benefit Minnesota hunters.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service hunting season proposal would allow Mississippi Flyway states, including Minnesota, to have a 50-day duck season and a five-duck daily bag limit, with appropriate species restrictions. The duck and goose season opening date will be Saturday, Sept. 30.

Minnesota's proposed dates for the 1995 duck hunting season will be noon Saturday, Sept. 30, through sunset Saturday, Nov. 18. Except for opening day, when shooting hours are noon to 4 p.m., shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m. daily through Oct. 20, and from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset beginning Oct. 21 through the close of the season.

Proposed daily bag limit of ducks is five, and may include no more than four mallards (only one of which may be a female), two wood ducks, one black duck, one pintail, one redhead, and one canvasback. Possession limit is double the daily bag limit.

"Comments we have received from some waterfowl hunters indicate that they like the longer season, but believe it too soon to have a five-duck daily bag," Bremicker said. "Actually, the additional days of the season have more of an impact on total harvest than the larger bag limit since most duck hunters do not achieve the daily bag. This proposal has been reviewed by biologists from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, all four flyway councils, and many states, and there is solid biological justification for this season and bag limit given current waterfowl populations and harvest levels.

Meanwhile, goose season lengths, bag limits, and zones in Minnesota will be the same as last year. All regular seasons will open with ducks on Saturday, Sept. 30. "The Eastern Prairie Population of Canada geese, which nests in northern Manitoba and stops at Roseau River, Thief Lake, Lac qui Parle, and Talcot Lake wildlife managements areas on its migration, declined below the 300,000 breeding population objective this year," said Bremicker. "It was also a late hatch, so we expect the number of young in the fall flight to be down. Therefore, we will continue the more restrictive seasons and bag limits in western and northwestern Minnesota."

Seasons in west and northwest goose zones will be 40 days long. In the Lac qui Parle and west-central goose zones, where there will be split segments, the season will be 30 days. The daily bag limit will be one Canada goose in these zones.

Elsewhere, the Canada goose season will be 70 days in the southeast zone and 50 days in the remainder of the state. The daily bag limit will be two Canada geese in the latter zones.

The Minnesota DNR will announce final season selections in early September.

Trap League

Two weeks of regular season shooting remain in the 1995 Thief River Falls Trap League, with the Monday, Aug. 28, round also counting as part of the annual 50-bird city individual class shoot.

Andrea Campbell takes idea to London, England

that aren't addressed by religion teachers. They worked together to define and re-write questions and statements. Now that they have questions, they need to come up with some answers.

"A lot of the questions don't have answers, maybe," said Andrea.

The group has been working on the project for a year. They met weekly all last school year and throughout the summer.

More than a class project

The students originally planned to submit the program as an interactive learning tool that would accompany Swanson's confirmation series. When they missed the due date for the confirmation series, they decided to keep working on the project. They later decided to submit the project to a conference on computers and teaching in the humanities. The project was accepted so the group will travel to London to present it. The conference is organized by Oxford and the University of London.

This summer, the group has been focusing on how to present their project to the participants at the conference. The focus will be on what it is like to write in hypertext and what it is like to grade it. The group feels that hypertext can be a viable alternate assignment to a standard essay.

Andrea explains that hypertext is an excellent tool for adventure in learning. Today life seems to move at such a rapid pace that students quickly lose interest in learning, so finding a way to keep kids attention is important when designing a teaching tool.

"Not everything is tied up in a nice neat ball," said Andrea. Hypertext has frayed edges into which people can continue to weave information. It works well for exploring the soft sciences, where things don't always occur in a linear fashion.

Once the program is finished, it will be placed in the Library at Augustana for use by students in the introductory religion class. Andrea explained that it will give students an opportunity to study what is known about Jesus, what is not known and what is known but commonly omitted. For example, she says, many people forget or don't realize that Jesus was a Jew.

Working as a team

Andrea is quick to point out that no one did this project by him or herself. It was a group effort. The students all came from different majors and brought different strengths to the group. Andrea is a religion and psychology major. Steven Stokes is a business communications major with a minor in religion. Susan Dahlman, who is not doing the project for credit, is an education major. Their differences keep them from getting on each other's nerves, said Andrea.

"We all work great together," she said.

Different people brought different perspectives on Jesus, too.

"I see the questions that the others came up with and say 'I never thought of that,'" said Andrea. "It definately made me think a lot more.. about what we do know and what we have created that we want to know."

She points out that our culture has some familiar images of Jesus as a human, but there is little or no evidence to prove what Jesus looked like. Many familiar paintings and pictures of Jesus portray Him as a tall, pale-skinned man with long, brown hair, but nobody really knows what Jesus looked like.

A journey to England

Andrea, Susan, Steven and Dr. Swanson leave for England on August 30. They will stay at the Royal Holloway University of London. The university is within walking distance of where the Magna Carta was signed, so they will visit the historical site. They will also visit Arundel, Oxford and Salisbury. The group also plans to visit Stonehenge, at least one castle and one cathedral.

"None of us would be going, if it wasn't for the other three," Andrea stated. "If any of the four was missing, we wouldn't have a project.

"It's turned into far more than I ever expected. That's probably true for everybody."

Cyclist hosted at Plummer

Harold and Marian said they enjoyed visiting with their guest and learning about his background and experiences. He told them he wasn't ordinarily a cyclist and that a friend who worked at a cycle shop helped him select clothing for the trip. Except for having a billfold stolen, he hadn't had any major problems on his trip.

Over a breakfast of pancakes the following morning, Weber said that he appreciated having use of the camper where he could stretch out. The small tent he carries with him does not allow for that.

He also said that his normal morning meal is instant oatmeal that he prepares over a tiny stove because it seems to stick with him. He also tries to eat fruit and vegetables as much as possible. He checks in with his father or his girl friend quite regularly to keep them advised of his progress.

"He said flat tires can be a problem because of broken glass and other debris along the shoulder of the road," Harold recalled. "Liners for the inside of the tires are available but are quite heavy. So he put two layers of duct tape inside the tires and hasn't had any problem since then."

Whatever other memories Keith has of his cross-country trip, the one of the family at Plummer that stopped on the highway and invited him in is sure to be a pleasant one.

Keith Weber of Red Deer, Alberta, Canada was hosted August 10 by Harold and Marian Vatthauer of Plummer during his cross-country bicycle trip from Halifax, Nova Scotia to Vancouver, British Columbia.

A total of approximately $525,000 have been raised from private donations and State and Federal Grants. City Administrator Roger DeLap is exploring alternate sources of financing for the balance of the project costs. The City is also soliciting technical assistance to assist in moving and reorienting Steam Locomotive No. 1024 on the site to provide space for the development of parking.

In a conversation with Community Development Director Don Stewart this week, Susan Roth, National Register Historian for the State Historical Society, indicated that, "The State Historical Society is extremely pleased that the City of Thief River Falls has acquired this property and is proceeding with plans for its renovation. We have had our eyes on this property for well over 10 years. Spinal Cord Injury:

Progress made, much more needed

Edited by
Dr. Charles [illegible]

In the wake of actor Christopher Reeve's horseback riding accident, the country is chilled by the thought of spinal cord injury. It sounds like an endless nightmare.

Spinal cord injuries can be devastating. Depending on the severity of the injury, people who were completely mobile beforehand may have to dramatically alter the way in which they function. However, intensive rehabilitation therapy coupled with advances in supportive technologies such as pneumatic wheelchairs and computers, can allow even the most severely paralyzed patients to lead fulfilling lives.

"People with spinal cord injuries have a future," stresses Susan Bergman, MD, clinical director of the spinal cord injury unit at Boston University Medical Center. "These injuries are catastrophic. My father became a quadriplegic 29 years ago but he is still a practicing lawyer, an involved father and a grandfather. These people's lives aren't over, even when the damage is irreversible."

The spinal cord is the rope-like sheaf of nerves that stretches from the base of the brain to the base of the tailbone within a protective bony encasement made up of interlocking vertebrae drawn together by ligaments. The brain uses these nerves, really an extension of the organ itself, to communicate all messages of feeling and movement to the rest of the body. The signals communicated by nerves are conducted through the spinal cord, which is delineated by segments that control the different bodily functions, from respiration and arm movement to bowel and leg motion. When vertebrae are damaged, the communication highway within the column may also be damaged, resulting in a complete or partial roadblock at the site of injury, below which no signals from the brain can be received.

Injury to the spinal cord in the neck region results in quadriplegia, or loss of feeling and function from the neck down. Damage to the chest level leads to paraplegia, allowing use of the arms and hands. Injury to the lumbar and lower back allows some control over legs and feet and the patient generally can learn to walk with leg braces.

Spinal cord injuries vary in severity. In some cases the cord is severed, in others vertebrae are crushed, in still others there is only extensive swelling and a build up of inflammation fluid. The extent and permanency of a given injury depends on the degree of damage to the highly specialized nerve cells that make up the nerves. In some cases the nerve cells have been killed, in others they have only been stunned by the trauma of swelling and inflammation fluid. It can take weeks following an accident — during which time some swelling may subside — to evaluate the damage.

When the cells have only been stunned by the pressure of swelling and inflammation, time and physical therapy can re-stimulate the nerves. Such was the case with football player Dennis Byrd, who underwent three years of physical therapy to regain full motion following spinal cord injury.

Some 45 percent of spinal cord patients experience "incomplete" paralysis, as opposed to "complete," meaning they retain or regain some sensation and possibly, movement below the point of injury. Physical therapy, including the use of an electrical stimulation device, can enable such patients to exercise muscles and to stand up and even walk.

The reason spinal cord injuries are difficult to treat is that the highly specialized nerve cells of the spinal cord do not regenerate once they have been killed. Researchers are working aggressively to try to manipulate the cells to rejuvenate, but as of yet there is no clinical therapy.

A synthetic steroid developed in the late 1980s to reduce swelling around the spinal cord is now a critical, standard component of immediate treatment for spinal cord patients. The drug, methylprednisolone, if given within the first few hours of injury, may reduce swelling and thus further damage to the spinal cord, lessening the eventual paralysis in some cases.

Intensive efforts are under way to develop other therapies to reduce swelling, and also to reverse paralysis that has existed for years. This relatively new line of research, an attempt to regenerate dead nerve cells, focuses on drugs, molecular transplants and gene therapy. Research done in animals has demonstrated promising results.

In the meantime, current therapy involves maximizing remaining sensation and coaxing stunned nerves to rejuvenate.

Pneumatic wheelchairs and computers, in which patients blow through an instrument to control the machines, are now used widely by quadriplegics. Quadriplegics who rely on a ventilator to breathe can now use environmental control units and pneumatic switches to run a computer, close a door and answer a phone.

Dr. Jeannine Fortin to Join Medical Staff

The Dakota Clinic-Thief River Falls and Northwest Medical Center are pleased to announce the addition of Dr. Jeannine Fortin to the medical staff. Dr. Fortin will provide additional coverage in the field of women's health, family practice and obstetrics. She began practicing with the clinic on July 18, 1995. Dr. Fortin and her 9 year old daughter, Emily, will be moving to Thief River Falls from Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Dr. Fortin received her medical education at the University of Manitoba. She then completed specialty training in Family Practice at the Kildonan Medical Center, Winnipeg, Manitoba in 1988. Since that time she has been in private practice in Winnipeg.

Dr. Fortin is Board certified in Family Practice and holds membership in many professional organizations.

Dakota Clinic-Thief River Falls and Northwest Medical Center are pleased to present a physician with Dr. Fortin's experience to our service area. Appointments can be made by calling 218-681-4747.

Some 10,000 cases of spinal cord injury occur each year in the United States, and 80 percent are incurred by males between the ages of 16 and 28. The principal causes are vehicular accidents (40 percent), violence resulting from such trauma as gunshot and stab wounds (25 percent), falls (19 percent) and work related sports-related accidents (16 percent). A full 2 percent result from diving accidents, making diving the most likely form of sport related spinal cord injury.

"A lot of the questions don't have answers... maybe," said Andrea.

The group has been working on the project for a year. They met weekly all last school year and throughout the summer.

Nutrition News

Determine Your Nutritional Health

A nutrition screening tool is used to identify individuals who may be at risk for malnutrition. The following check list was developed through a grant from Ross Laboratories, and Abbott Laboratories and is part of the Nutrition Screening Initiative. The Nutrition Screening Initiative is a project of the American Academy of Family Physicians, The American Dietetic Association, and the National Council on the Aging, Inc. The following is a nutrition screening form entitled, "Determine Your Nutritional Health."

The Warning Signs of poor nutritional health are often overlooked. Use this checklist to find out if you or someone you know is at nutritional risk.

Read the statements below. Circle the number in the yes column for those that apply to you or someone you know. For each yes answer, score the number in the box. Total your nutritional score.

	YES
I have an illness or condition that made me change the kind and/or amount of food I eat.	2
I eat fewer than 2 meals per day.	3
I eat few fruits or vegetables, or milk products.	2
I have 3 or more drinks of beer, liquor or wine almost every day.	2
I have tooth or mouth problems that make it hard for me to eat.	2
I don't always have enough money to buy the food I need.	4
I eat alone most of the time.	1
I take 3 or more different prescribed or over-the-counter drugs a day.	1
Without wanting to, I have lost or gained 10 pounds in the last 6 months.	2
I am not always physically able to shop, cook and/or feed myself.	2
Total	.

Total Your Nutritional Score. If it's . . .

0-2 Good! Recheck your nutritional score in 6 months.

3-5 You are at moderate nutritional risk.

See what can be done to improve your eating habits and life-style. Your office on aging, senior nutritional program, senior citizens center or health department can help. Recheck your nutritional score in 3 months.

6 or more

You are at high nutritional risk.

Bring this checklist the next time you see your doctor, dietitian or other qualified health or social service professional. Talk with them about any problems you may have. Ask for help to improve your nutritional health.

Remember that warning signs suggest risk, but do not represent diagnosis of any condition.

This material developed by the Nutrition Screening Initiative, a project of the American Academy of Family Physicians, The American Dietetic Association and The National Council on the Aging, Inc.

The Nutrition Checklist is based on the Warning Signs described as follows. Use the word DETERMINE to remind you of the Warning Signs.

Disease - Any disease, illness or chronic condition which causes you to change the way you eat, or makes it hard for you to eat, puts your nutritional health at risk. Four out of five adults have chronic diseases that are affected by diet. Confusion or memory loss that keeps getting worse is estimated to affect one out of five or more of older adults. This can make it hard to remember what, when or if you've eaten. Feeling sad or depressed, which happens to about one in eight older adults, can cause big changes in appetite, digestion, energy level, weight and well-being.

Eating Poorly - Eating too little and eating too much both lead to poor health. Eating the same foods day after day or not eating fruit, vegetables, and milk products daily will also cause poor nutritional health. One in five adults skip meals daily. Only 13% of adults eat the minimum amount of fruit and vegetables needed. One in four older adults drink too much alcohol. Many health problems become worse if you drink more than one or two alcoholic beverages per day.

Tooth Loss/Mouth Pain - A healthy mouth, teeth and gums are needed to eat. Missing, loose or rotten teeth or dentures which don't fit well or cause mouth sores make it hard to eat.

Economic Hardship - As many as 40% of older Americans have incomes of less than $6,000 per year. Having less - or choosing to spend less - than $25 - 30 per week for food makes it very hard to get the foods you need to stay healthy.

Reduced Social Contact - One-third of all older people live alone. Being with people daily has a positive effect on morale, well-being and eating.

Multiple Medicines - Many older Americans must take medicines for health problems. Almost half of older Americans take multiple medicines daily. Growing old may change the way we respond to drugs. The more medicines you take, the greater the chance for side effects such as increased or decreased appetite, change in taste, constipation, weakness, drowsiness, diarrhea, nausea, and others. Vitamins or minerals when taken in large doses act like drugs and can cause harm. Alert your doctor to everything you take.

Involuntary Weight Loss/Gain - Losing or gaining a lot of weight when you are not trying to do so is an important warning sign that must not be ignored. Being overweight or underweight also increases your chance of poor health.

Needs Assistance in Self Care - Although most older people are able to eat, one of every five have trouble walking, shopping, buying and cooking food, especially as they get older.

Elder Years Above Age 80 - Most older people lead full productive lives. But as age increases, risk of frailty and health problems increase. Checking your nutritional health regularly makes good sense.

Poverty, physical dependencies and poor living environments can all place older people at nutritional risk. Older people who have functional impairments due to an illness or chronic disability may not have the strength to shop, buy, or fix a meal. For those older Americans living on a limited, fixed income it can be difficult to pay for nutritious foods. If a person is living on an income of $6,000 per year it's a tough choice to pay for medication, food, or housing. Another factor contributing to poor nutritional health is poor living environment, i.e., a home with inadequate heating or cooling, no stove, or refrigeration.

Individuals who are socially isolated may be at high risk also, for poor nutritional health. People who live alone will often state "it's too much work to fix a meal for one person," or "it seems like such a waste".

There are agencies available to assist people dealing with poverty, social isolation and disabilities to ensure they receive proper nutrition. Many communities serve home delivered meals for the homebound and have congregate meal programs designed to provide companionship as well as well-balanced meals. County social services, home health nursing and homemaker services are other agencies that may provide assistance to eligible individuals. Contact your area agency on aging for a listing of available services in your community. By calling the Minnesota Senior Linkage Line, 1-800-333-2433, a listing of area service agencies will also, be provided.

A Parents Guide to Buying Athletic Shoes

By: George Juhl ATC

School will soon be starting and with it comes the annual shopping trips for pencils, papers, crayons clothes and of course, new shoes. Speaking from experience, this has to be one of the most enjoyable periods parents go through, right there with having impacted wisdom teeth. The time, expense and hassle of buying shoes should not have to cause so much stress. This article is intended to give you a little more information about what to look for when purchasing shoes.

Every year a number of various foot ailments come through the training room, some of which might be avoided with a little education right now, before you buy the shoes. With so many new styles and designs it is hard for Mom and Dad to stay on top of what your young athlete might need. Your children will tell you what type of athletic shoe they want, which colors, autographs or endorsements by big name pros, or even new gimmicks in footwear. Remember, you need to know what they need.

First of all, look at your athletes foot. The size is not the only factor. Shape structure is every bit as important. Feet are as different from one person to another as their faces. Siblings feet can even vary immensely. If you have difficulty with seeing the difference, consult your doctor, physical therapist or athletic trainer. Many reputable shoe sales professionals can also be helpful. Look at the foot from three different perspectives. First the arch, is it high, "normal" or flat? Be certain to look at the arch both weight bearing and non weight bearing. Secondly, check the curve of the foot, from the heel to the toes, is this a straight line or is the foot curved? Finally check the laxity (refers to how tightly the ligaments hold the bones together) of the foot. Does it twist and bend quite readily or is it a rigid foot? Often these factors are combined in common groupings but can be missed, so check all three when deciding which shoe best matches your needs. If the foot is flat (pes planus), you will need to make certain there is an arch support in the shoe. This support should be of a yielding yet firm material to help keep the navicular bone from bearing all the weight. High arches (pes cavus) may also call for a support. A more rigid material might be needed to help maintain the arch and not put strain on the plantar fascia and ligaments.

If the foot is curved from front to back then you need a shoe that is curve lasted. If the foot is straight, a straight lasted shoe will be required. Many feet are "in-between" and the shoe manufacturers put out many different designs to accommodate these variances. The sole pattern usually makes this an easy or obvious call before you try them on. Radical differences will be noticed when the shoe is laced on. There should be a comfortable feel.

The suppleness of the foot is probably the hardest call for you to make. Manually manipulating the relaxed foot may give you an idea as to the degree of laxity or lack of it. Your check for arches and the difference between WB (Weight Bearing) and NWB (Non-Weight Bearing) also testify to this concern. Feet that are more easily moved require more help and support. A board lasted shoe, one with a hard cardboard material under the insole, will be preferred. Rigid feet like shoes that do the moving for them, so a slip lasted or sewn slipper like upper is better. Again, many feet are in the middle and there are shoes where the rear foot is boarded and the forefoot is slipped. Combination lasted shoes are available. If you cannot easily remove the insole to check the lasting, assume it is probably board lasted. This will be true on many of the less expensive shoes on the market.

Another way to determine your needs is to look at the wear patterns on their old shoes. If they have worn evenly and the youngster did not complain of discomfort with them, you probably had the right combination, buy that style again. Remember, that feet can change with growth and the needs might also. If last years shoes were uncomfortable, rundown one side or the other, or had badly worn spots on the sole, you will more than likely need to check the feet and change the style.

In closing, there are a couple of other hints worth mentioning. First of all, is the issue of "growing room". Every parent gets tired of buying new shoes all the time. It is acceptable to allow approximately a thumbs width of space beyond the toes, but more than that is excessive and could change the way your child moves, could allow excessive slippage causing blisters or could lead to other injury. If you are buying shoes with room, try an insole to remove some of the slippage during the early wearing. If the child grows out of the shoe before wearing out the shoe, perhaps a sibling or neighbor might use the shoe rather than buying them too big.

Secondly, is the question of name brand vs. more generic footwear. For the purpose of warranty, consistent fit and quality of construction, it might be advisable to remember that you sometimes get what you pay for. If your feet hurt, everything hurts. Athletic shoes is one area where you need to invest rather than just buy. You don't always need the most expensive shoes in the store, just be sure it is a quality shoe.

The issue of cleats, screw on, screw in or molded is also a question often asked. Personal preference and the maintenance issue will have to be your guide. Last is the concern of high tops, middies or low cuts. Ask your coach due to sport specifics, position played or surfaces played on. The only input here would be if the athlete has a history of sprained ankles, the high tops properly laced and worn, may provide some degree of extra support, but are by no means a guaranteed form of protection. Have those athletes evaluated by a health professional as to the need for taping or bracing.

Good luck and remember, something done wrong the first time is something that has to be done twice.

Northwest Medical Center Sponsors 2nd Annual Conference on Aging Issues

Northwest Medical Center is sponsoring their 2nd annual conference on aging issues entitled "Leave No Stone Unturned: New Perspectives on Dementia, Depression and Other Issues Concerning Older Adults. The conference will be held at the Best Western in Thief River Falls on September 26, 1995 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. A variety of topics of interest to senior citizens, community members and professionals will be offered including information on Alzheimer's disease, depression, and other illnesses associated with aging, medication and other treatments, family caregiver stress, legal concerns, financial planning and the therapeutic value of music.

The workshop fee includes refreshments, the noon meal, and materials. Space is limited, so please register by September 12, 1995.

Northwest Medical Center operates a federally funded Geriatric Behavioral Health Program which offers a variety of services designed to address the mental health needs of older adults. For more information about the program or the conference, call 1-800-587-4240 or (218) 681-4240, extension 389 and ask for Julie Osmondson.

Northland Community Hospice Serves Area Better Through Merger

When Northland Community Hospice merged with the Hospice of the Red River Valley in April this year, the staff and board of directors were certain that teaming up in this way could only benefit the residents of Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake Counties.

The larger and experienced hospice provided the type of structure needed to support Northland Community Hospice in its efforts to serve such a wide radius and care for such ill individuals. For this type of health care service a hospice needs a response time that will allow quality hospice care to work efficiently and with care. This means pain control drugs available to the individual fast and inexpensively. It means nurses who can stay at the bedside to provide pain relief and comfort to families. It also means a system to provide ongoing counseling, emotional support and spiritual care to all those struggling with the anticipation of loss.

This has now been accomplished. Northland Community Hospice has "grown up in the health care field" so to speak. Our services meet the expectations of doctors, hospitals and nursing homes and most importantly of those whom we serve.

We are also proud to announce that Dr. Ashok Patel has joined us as our Medical Director along with Dr. James Langland and Dr. John Harris. The Medical Director for a Hospice is a tremendous support to the team by providing the special added skills of palliative care (comfort care) for our nursing staff and offering invaluable information to the medical community when needed.

But some people have asked me quite frankly, what difference did this merger and medicare certification bring our community? They see the new desks and the numbers of staff and I am certain that some may think that all this change is in fact wasting money on bureaucratic forms and red tape. I thought it may help to share with you my own impressions after nearly three months of our new medicare certified hospice. We have been able to see our patients more often than in the past, we have a minister on staff who is available to our community spiritual caregivers for support and counsel if needed, there are trained bereavement counselors available with specialties for young children. There may well be a repeat of a very successful first time summer program for children who are grieving. So the quality of care has improved along with the scope of service and I am proud to be affiliated with such a fine organization committed to non profit services, and committed to high quality patient care.

Donation to the county museum

Roseau — The Roseau county museum received an unusual donation. Exactly 50 years after the end of World War II Melvin and Gordon Hanson donated the mess kit used by their brother Alfred.

The mess kit was found by Lt. Col. Ron G. Benton last fall on the beach of the Island of Tinian. During the war Alfred carved "Alfred A. Hanson, R-1, Roosevelt, Minnesota, Co-B, Mabel Solien, Velma." The last two names were girls back home. Mabel is now Mrs. Svitak of Graceton.

Said Gordon of the donation, "Being Alfred was from Roseau county, it would be better if it would go to the Roseau County Museum."

Kendrick Fincher dies in Arkansas from heat stroke

Thirteen-year-old Kendrick Fincher, son of former Newfolden area residents Mike and Rhonda Fincher, died this morning in a Little Rock, Arkansas hospital after admission August 7 for complications of heat stroke.

(Editor's Note: The following article had been prepared for publication in this issue of the Northern Watch which was almost ready to go to press when word of the boy's death was received here. It has been changed to reflect the current situation but is being published because of the warning message it contains.)

An eighth grader this fall, Kendrick was six feet, two inches tall and weighs 240 pounds. He was admitted August 7 to Arkansas Children's Hospital where he was taken after participating in the first football practice of the year, reportedly a four-hour practice in 95 degree heat and high humidity.

Kendrick's father Mike is the son of Bob Fincher, formerly of Viking and now living in the East Grand Forks area. His mother Rhonda is the daughter of John and Darlene Roseland of Newfolden. Mike and Rhonda are graduates of Marshall County Central high school in Newfolden.

Kendrick Fincher

Rhonda also has two sisters in Thief River Falls—Robin Langevin and Rochelle Pederson.

According to information received by relatives in this area, Kendrick's body temperature reached 110 degrees and at one point his family was summoned to his room when he was failing and it appeared he would not live much longer.

"There were a number of prayer chains for him going in this area," Robin Langevin said, "and while the family was with him in the room he rallied. We were all hopeful for his recovery since brain damage seemed to be limited and, although he was heavily sedated, he had been able to show physical response to questions. The entire family appreciates all the prayers and concern."

At the request of Mike and Rhonda, Arkansas Children's Hospital released the following statement on their behalf on August 21:

"Our 13-year-old son was recently admitted to Arkansas Children's Hospital for complications associated with a condition commonly known as heat stroke. We wish to use this opportunity to address the seriousness of this condition, in the hope that the public will better understand what heat stroke can do to a healthy young body or even worse, an older per-

Larson to direct NWECSU office

by Elizabeth Relsbus
Northern Watch Reporter

Bob Larson knows what a great opportunity his new job is.

"Being director of the service co-op gives me a great oppportunity to help improve teaching and learning and also gives me an opportunity to meet or exceed the needs of the consumers, which are the students."

Larson is the new director for the Northwest Educational Cooperative Service Unit (ECSU) which provides a variety of services to local school districts. Larson's job is to coordinate the activities in the office and make sure all of the individual projects are running smoothly.

"With money in tight supply, co-op programming is important, said Larson.

By pooling resources, small schools can put on a better program than if they worked individually. Introducing new courses can be costly because the teachers often need to be trained to teach new curriculum. ECSU helps with teacher inservice for programs such as drug and alcohol prevention, math and science and using the internet. Another service provided by the ECSU is group purchasing. Purchasing large quantities of materials helps keep prices down. Another way that the ECSU saves districts money is by offering a large media library from which to borrow materials.

They also have a large health and safety program which has been dealing with issues like asbestos in school buildings.

Larson said he is very interested in the recent legislation that directs cooperative efforts to be working with municipalities, not just schools. He would like to see the juvenile corrections system, social services, the courts and schools all work closer "in providing the best net for all kids and especially those at risk."

This interest in a cooperative effort between school districts and municipalities may stem from his vast experience in and out of the field of education. Larson spent 13 years as a high school biology/family life teacher. He later worked for the MEA for six years and in special education for another year and a half. After that, he took some time out from teaching to raise feeder pigs and worked as the deputy sheriff of Clearwater county. Before starting his job at the Northwest ECSU, he was a representative of the MEA teachers' union.

Larson has only been working at the ECSU office in Thief River Falls for two weeks. He said he sees no fundamental difference between being a teacher and an administrator. Establishing trust, openness and honesty are "expected of all the parties" on either side of the fence said Larson.

His outlook for the coming school year is possitive.

"We've gotten off to a good start," stated Larson.

The service unit is looking at the possibility of internet in the classrooms of northern Minnesota. Several task forces will be set up to explore, hardware, programming and training costs and options and practical applications of internet. What are the practical applications of internet for classroom teaching and how can they be provided are two more issues that need to be explored.

Northwest ECSU will also expand their wellness programs. They will first implement new programs for staff and later expand the programs to students.

"Good, quality education is in northern Minnesota, despite what some politicians say," asserts Larson. He also said schools in northern Minnesota are "progressive and do an overall good job."

Thief River Falls utilities department and water department employees have installed a water pump near the raw water intake below the water treatment plant. During the drawdown of the Red Lake River reservoir in Thief River Falls, water levels dropped below the effective operating level of the raw water intake. As the pump becomes operational, water levels in the reservoir will be dropped another two to three feet. The city is renting the pump for the period of the drawdown at a cost of $10,000 to $11,000.

Rodeo contractor expects Stampede to be explosive

Dakota West Rodeo Company is bringing some top stock to TRF

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

"I think it will be a good show up there with good cowboys and some top bulls and horses to test 'em. I expect it to be explosive and good entertainment for rodeo fans."

Joe Simon, owner of Dakota West Rodeo Company of Webster (that's the Webster in Minnesota), was commenting from the Benny Binion Ranch in Jordan, MT, where I caught up with him by phone Thursday evening.

Simon was talking about the fourth annual TRF Stampede scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 1, 2 and 3, at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. As one of the contractors for the Stampede, Simon will be providing about 20 head of bucking horses, about 15 bulls and the calves and steers for calf roping and steer wrestling.

The TRF Stampede is sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) and will have six rodeo events—bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, cowgirls barrel racing and bull riding. In addition to the prize money, points toward qualifying for the National Finals Rodeo (NFR) in Las Vegas, NV, will be on the line at the Stampede.

Labor Day weekend is an active one for the PRCA with a large number of rodeos being held throughout the country. For Dakota West Rodeo Company, it means providing stock for three other rodeos from South Dakota to Ohio in addition to the Stampede.

Not that Thief River Falls will be shorted in the quality of bucking stock from Simon's string of over 200 bucking horses and more than 90 bulls. Some of the "cream of the crop" will test the mettle of cowboys at the Stampede.

"We're bringing a red and white bull called 'Tombstone' that was voted third best bull at the NFR in 1994," Simon said. "He could have placed even higher than that, but it was his first year in rodeo competition and rookies usually don't get the MVP award."

"Tombstone" is 15/16 Brahma and 1/16 Longhorn and is now five years old. Last year he was ridden only once, by six-time world champion all-around cowboy and 1993 world champion bull rider Ty Murray at the Canada-U.S. Showdown rodeo in Scottsdale, AZ. Murray scored 86 points and won the go-round.

"They got matched up again at the NFR and 'Tombstone' threw him and chased him up the fence," Simon said. "He also tossed Chris Littlejohn at the NFR. This year he's been out 37 times so far and nobody has stayed on him for eight seconds yet."

Simon is also bringing another five-year-old bull called "Shotgun Red" which is headed for the NFR this year. He provided an 89-point winning ride at the Professional Bull Riders (PBR) finals in Las Vegas prior to the NFR and has been ridden only once in 32 outings this year.

One of the top saddle broncs will be "Annie Oakley," a 10-year-old brown mare which has been bucking in rodeos for seven years. Any cowboy who stays with "Annie" for eight seconds usually scores enough points to go down the road with a check in his pocket.

Also at the Stampede will be "Copenhagen High Dollar," a nine-year-old gelding which has been to the NFR as a bareback horse and is likely to be there this year as a saddle bronc. He has been used in both events this year and Simon isn't sure yet which string he will be in at the Stampede.

Simon has been in the rodeo business for 15 years, recently bought out his partner, Don Hight, and is now headquartering at Webster. He started when a rodeo contractor friend died and the friend's widow asked if he would put on the six rodeos that had been contracted. This year he put on 29 rodeos himself—about half of them PRCA rodeos—and has supplied stock for many others. He is in the business year around, leasing out his stock during the winter months.

"I'll also be bringing opening ceremony horses to Thief River Falls," Simon said. "I've got eight American Paint horses with girls to ride 'em and we put on an opening pageant we call the 'Salute to America.' It adds a lot of color and excitement to the rodeo."

When Simon was reached at the Binion ranch in Montana he had just completed purchasing over 200 head of bucking horse stock of all ages from weanlings to brood mares. The Binion family owns the Horseshoe Club Casino in Las Vegas and the 198,000 acre Binion ranch included over 600 head of horses—mostly bucking stock—and 2,400 head of Texas Longhorn cattle.

Simon said that to become a PRCA stock contractor and supply livestock for PRCA sanctioned rodeos, "you have to have the right

Two of the bulls which will be in Thief River Falls for the fourth annual TRF Stampede September 1, 2 and 3 are shown in action in the above photos taken by Tim Kjos of Detroit Lakes at the Guts 'N' Glory rodeo held there this year. In the top photo, Kevin Fischer of Ft. Pierre, SD, leaves "One For The Road" in a phantom riding position. In the bottom photo, Dan Johnson of Weever, IA, withstood the first jump but took a "no score" on "Tombstone," Dakota West Rodeo Company's pride and joy which has been ridden only once in two years.

Donation to the county museum

Roseau — The Roseau county museum received an unusual donation. Exactly 50 years after the end of World War II Melvin and Gordon Hanson donated the mess kit used by their brother Alfred.

The mess kit was found by Lt. Col. Ron G. Benton last fall on the beach of the island of Tinian. During the war Alfred carved "Alfred A. Hanson, R. 1, Roosevelt, Minnesota, Co-B, Mabel Solien, Velma." The last two names were girls back home. Mabel is now Mrs. Svitak of Greeton.

Said Gordon of the donation, "Being Alfred was from Roseau county, it would be better if it would go to the Roseau County Museum."

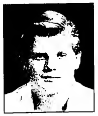
Kendrick Fincher dies in Arkansas from heat stroke

Thirteen-year-old Kendrick Fincher, son of former Newfolden area residents Mike and Rhonda Fincher, died this morning in a Little Rock, Arkansas hospital after admission August 7 for complications of heat stroke.

(Editor's Note: The following article had been prepared for publication in this issue of the Northern Watch which was almost ready to go to press when word of the boy's death was received here. It has been changed to reflect the current situation but is being published because of the warning message it contains.)

An eighth grader this fall, Kendrick was six feet, two inches tall and weighs 240 pounds. He was admitted August 7 to Arkansas Children's Hospital where he was taken after participating in the first football practice of the year, reportedly a four-hour practice in 95 degree heat and high humidity.

Kendrick's father Mike is the son of Bob Fincher, formerly of Viking and now living in the East Grand Forks area. His mother Rhonda is the daughter of John and Darlene Roseland of Newfolden. Mike and Rhonda are graduates of Marshall County Central high school in Newfolden.



Kendrick Fincher

Rhonda also has two sisters in Thief River Falls—Robin Langevin and Rochelle Pederson.

According to information received by relatives in this area, Kendrick's body temperature reached 110 degrees and at one point his family was summoned to his room when he was failing and it appeared he would not live much longer.

"There were a number of prayer chains for him going in this area," Robin Langevin said, "and while the family was with him in the room he rallied. We were all hopeful for his recovery since brain damage seemed to be limited and, although he was heavily sedated, he had been able to show physical response to questions. The entire family appreciates all the prayers and concern."

At the request of Mike and Rhonda, Arkansas Children's Hospital released the following statement on their behalf on August 21:

"Our 13-year-old son was recently admitted to Arkansas Children's Hospital for complications associated with a condition commonly known as heat stroke. We wish to use this opportunity to address the seriousness of this condition, in the hope that the public will better understand what heat stroke can do to a healthy young body or even worse, an older per-

Larson to direct NWECSU office

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

Bob Larson knows what a great opportunity his new job is.

"Being director of the service co-op gives me a great oppportunity to help improve teaching and learning and also gives me an opportunity to meet or exceed the needs of the consumers, which are the students."

Larson is the new director for the Northwest Educational Cooperative Service Unit (ECSU) which provides a variety of services to local school districts. Larson's job is to coordinate the activities in the office and make sure all of the individual projects are running smoothly.

"With money in tight supply, co-op programming is important, said Larson.

By pooling resources, small schools can put on a better program than if they worked individually. Introducing new courses can be costly becouse the teachers often need to be trained to teach new curriculum. ECSU helps with teacher inservice for programs such as drug and alcohol prevention, math and science and using the internet. Another service provided by the ECSU is group purchasing. Purchasing large quantities of materials helps keep prices down. Another way that the ECSU saves districts money is by offering a large media library from which to borrow materials.

They also have a large health and safety program which has been dealing with issues like asbestos in school buildings.

Larson said he is very interested in the recent legislation that directs cooperative efforts to be working with municipalities, not just schools. He would like to see the juvenile corrections system, social services, the courts and schools all work closer "in providing the best net for all kids and especially those at risk."

This interest in a cooperative effort between school districts and municipalities may stem from his vast experience in and out of the field of education. Larson spent 13 years as a high school biology/family life teacher. He later worked for the MEA for six years and in special education for another year and a half. After that, he took some time out from teaching to raise feeder pigs and worked as the deputy sheriff of Clearwater county. Before starting his job at the Northwest ECSU, he was a representative of the MEA teachers' union.

Larson has only been working at the ECSU office in Thief River Falls for two weeks. He said he sees no fundamental difference between being a teacher and an administrator. Establishing trust, openness and honesty are "expected of all the parties" on either side of the fence said Larson.

His outlook for the coming school year is possitive.

"We've gotten off to a good start," stated Larson.

The service unit is looking at the possibility of internet in the classrooms of northern Minnesota. Several task forces will be set up to explore, hardware, programming and training costs and options and practical applications of internet. What are the practical applications of internet for classroom teaching and how can they be provided are two more issues that need to be explored.

Northwest ECSU will also expand their wellness programs. They will first implement new programs for staff and later expand the programs to students.

"Good, quality education is in northern Minnesota, despite what some politicinns say," asserts Larson. He also said schools in northern Minnesota are "progressive and do an overall good job."

Thief River Falls utilities department and water department employees have installed a water pump near the raw water intake below the water treatment plant. During the drawdown of the Red Lake River reservoir in Thief River Falls, water levels dropped below the effective operating level of the raw water intake. As the pump becomes operational, water levels in the reservoir will be dropped another two to three feet. The city is renting the pump for the period of the drawdown at a cost of $10,000 to $11,000.

Rodeo contractor expects Stampede to be explosive

Dakota West Rodeo Company is bringing some top stock to TRF

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

"I think it will be a good show up there with good cowboys and some top bulls and horses to test 'em. I expect it to be explosive and good entertainment for rodeo fans."

Joe Simon, owner of Dakota West Rodeo Company of Webster (that's the Webster in Minnesota), was commenting from the Benny Binion Ranch in Jordan, MT, where I caught up with him by phone Thursday evening.

Simon was talking about the fourth annual TRF Stampede scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 1, 2 and 3, at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. As one of the contractors for the Stampede, Simon will be providing about 20 head of bucking horses, about 15 bulls and the calves and steers for calf roping and steer wrestling.

The TRF Stampede is sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) and will have six rodeo events—bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, cowgirls barrel racing and bull riding. In addition to the prize money, points toward qualifying for the National Finals Rodeo (NFR) in Las Vegas, NV, will be on the line at the Stampede.

Labor Day weekend is an active one for the PRCA with a large number of rodeos being held throughout the country. For Dakota West Rodeo Company, it means providing stock for three other rodeos from South Dakota to Ohio in addition to the Stampede.

Not that Thief River Falls will be shorted in the quality of bucking stock from Simon's string of over 200 bucking horses and more than 90 bulls. Some of the "cream of the crop" will test the mettle of cowboys at the Stampede.

"We're bringing a red and white bull called 'Tombstone' that was voted third best bull at the NFR in 1994," Simon said. "He could have placed even higher than that, but it was his first year in rodeo competition and rookies usually don't get the MVP award."

"Tombstone" is 15/16 Brahma and 1/16 Longhorn and is now five years old. Last year he was ridden only once, by six-time world champion all-around cowboy and 1993 world champion bull rider Ty Murray at the Canada-U.S. Showdown rodeo in Scottsdale, AZ. Murray scored 86 points and won the go-round.

"They got matched up again at the NFR and 'Tombstone' threw him and chased him up the fence," Simon said. "He also tossed Chris Littlejohn at the NFR. This year he's been out 37 times so far and nobody has stayed on him for eight seconds yet."

Simon is also bringing another five-year-old bull called 'Shotgun Red' which is headed for the NFR this year. He provided an 89-point winning ride at the Professional Bull Riders (PBR) finals in Las Vegas prior to the NFR and has been ridden only once in 32 outings this year.

One of the top saddle broncs will be "Annie Oakley," a 10-year-old brown mare which has been bucking in rodeos for seven years. Any cowboy who stays with "Annie" for eight seconds usually scores enough points to go down the road with a check in his pocket.

Also at the Stampede will be "Copenhagen High Dollar," a nine-year-old gelding which has been to the NFR as a bareback horse and is likely to be there this year as a saddle bronc. He has been used in both events this year and Simon isn't sure yet which string he will be in at the Stampede.

Simon has been in the rodeo business for 15 years, recently bought out his partner, Don Hight, and is now headquartering at Webster. He started when a rodeo contractor friend died and the friend's widow asked if he would put on the six rodeos that had been contracted. This year he put on 29 rodeos himself—about half of them PRCA rodeos—and has supplied stock for many others. He is in the business year around, leasing out his stock during the winter months.

"I'll also be bringing opening ceremony horses to Thief River Falls," Simon said. "I've got eight American Paint horses with girls to ride 'em and we put on an opening pageant we call the 'Salute to America.' It adds a lot of color and excitement to the rodeo."

When Simon was reached at the Binion ranch in Montana he had just completed purchasing over 200 head of bucking horse stock of all ages from weanlings to brood mares. The Binion family owns the Horseshoe Club Casino in Las Vegas and the 198,000 acre Binion ranch included over 600 head of horses—mostly bucking stock—and 2,400 head of Texas Longhorn cattle.

Simon said that to become a PRCA stock contractor and supply livestock for PRCA sanctioned rodeos, "you have to have the right

Two of the bulls which will be in Thief River Falls for the fourth annual TRF Stampede September 1, 2 and 3 are shown in action in the above photos taken by Tim Kjos of Detroit Lakes at the Guts 'N' Glory rodeo held there this year. In the top photo, Kevin Fischer of Ft. Pierre, SD, leaves "One For The Road" in a phantom riding position. In the bottom photo, Dan Johnson of Weever, IA, withstood the first jump but took a "no score" on "Tombstone," Dakota West Rodeo Company's pride and joy which has been ridden only once in two years.

Canola harvesting beginnning

Grygla — Many Grygla-Gatzke area farmers are harvesting canola for the first time. For the first time, hundreds of acres in Marshall and Beltrami counties were planted with the tame mustard, producing beautiful yellow-gold fields.

Farmers switched from growing wheat to growing canola, in part because of scab and other dieases affecting wheat crops. Farmer Todd Stanley said canola has several advantages over other crops. It doesn't deteriorate in swaths and won't be hurt by rain, unlike other grains. It also requires no special machinery or cultivating. A disadvantage of canola is that the recommended planting is only once every four years. Another disadvantage is that many of the weed control chemicals used with canola in Canada are not yet approved for use in the U.S.

Students assist in project

McIntosh — Students from Win-E-Mac and other area senior high schools are assisting in a pilot project that monitors the chemical characteristics of the Sand Hill River. The project is a two-year program established by the Mississippi Headwaters Board.

The board has given $10,000 of laboratory equipment to be used for gathering information from the Sand Hill River basin. The results of the project will be used to form a baseline from which to compare region environmental values and future monitoring results.

Student volunteers tested the water for chemicals and properties such as nitrates, dissolved phosphates, oxygen, conductivity and turbidity. Over the years, the project will monitor the water quality of the river using chemical, physical and biological indicators of river health.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Since we all know fall is coming, and I love it, here are some fall recipes for you. These are also out of my supply of stolen recipes.

Apples are abundant in the fall and wouldn't these make a good breakfast treat for that first day of school:

APPLE MUFFINS
1 1/2 cups flour
1/3 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup shortening
1 egg
1 cup chopped, peeled apple
Topping
1/3 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup nuts
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and cinnamon in bowl. Mix milk, shortening and egg and add to flour mixture. Fold in apple.

Place in muffin cups. Mix together topping ingredients and sprinkle over muffins. Bake at 375 degrees for about 20 minutes.

Oh yes, pumpkin bread not only tastes good, but makes the whole house smell like fall:

GLADYS' PUMPKIN BREAD
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/3 cup water
2 eggs
1 cup pumpkin
1 1/3 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/3 cup water
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup dates or raisins

Cream shortening and sugar. Add water, eggs and pumpkin.

Mix dry ingredients and add to pumpkin mixture. Add dates and nuts. Bake at 350 degrees for about an hour.

Beef stew tastes like a cold fall day!

OVEN BEEF STEW
2 pounds stew meat
6 small, cut up carrots
1 can tomatoes
1 onion
3 ribs celery
2 potatoes, cut up
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 bay leaf (remove before serving)
Pinch of thyme, rosemary, marjoram
1/2 cup red wine

Put raw beef and all ingredients in large baking dish. Stir well, then cover tightly and bake 5 to 6 hours at 250 degrees.

And this tasty dish is even named after the season:

FALL LAYER CASSEROLE
Sliced raw onions
1 large potato
1 1/2 pounds hamburger, browned
Salt and pepper
2 stalks celery
1/2 cup Minute Rice
1 can kidney beans
1 can tomato soup
1 can water

Place ingredients in casserole in order given, salting and peppering each layer to taste. Bake 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees. Cover when it begins to bubble.

Voyageurs National Park Controversy Continues

Legislation proposed by Rep. James Oberstar to liberalize use of Voyageurs National Park is meeting with strong national opposition as well as having strong local support in that area of Minnesota. Controversy over how public lands and waters along the Canadian border in northeastern Minnesota should be used has continued since well before the park was established and is not likely to end soon.

It is the only "water based" park in the national park system and thus is unique from a national standpoint. All of the national parks were created on the basis of meeting some preservation, protection or recreational need. And while all are different to a large degree, there are some rules that apply to all.

The newly-appointed director of Voyageurs park pointed out recently in a Minneapolis Tribune article that there are certain things that aren't done in a national park. "You don't harvest timber in a national park, you don't trap in a national park and you don't hunt in a national park," she said. In some parts of Minnesota, and elsewhere, that statement might give rise to the question, "Then what is it good for, anyhow?"

Former Minnesota Governor Elmer L. Andersen, publisher of the ABC Newspapers, writes in the Anoka Union that national parks have two main missions. One is to preserve and protect a distinctive national recreational natural resource so it can be enjoyed by future generations and another is to manage the park so it is available to present generations to use and enjoy.

"The two parts of the mission are sometimes in conflict," Andersen writes. "Some people want the major emphasis on protection and others are more concerned with current use."

We believe that government ownership—or more properly public ownership—of a reasonable amount of land which can be used by those who do not hold title to land of their own is a responsible action. For the most part, regarding the national parks which are scenic in their natural state or protect unique geology or plant or animal life, activities should be restricted which are likely to permanently alter that natural state or harm that unique geology or plant or animal life.

That goal, however, should not be so rigid that common sense human intervention is not permitted. Not to harvest and utilize mature timber seems to us to be a tragic waste, whether in a national park or not. To protect species of wildlife to the point where they proliferate and deplete their own food supply or fall victim to crowding and disease rather than to control numbers by hunting or trapping seems similarly ridiculous.

"It was not until 1987 that (Voyageurs park) was thoroughly established and equipped to properly accommodate visitors," Andersen writes. "It is coming along. Millions of dollars, the contributions of taxpayers from throughout the country, have been invested in it. It is in an early stage of development. It is appropriate to review rules and regulations but it should be in a widely available setting, bipartisan non-political spirit and in an atmosphere of mutual respect and civic dialogue."

We have not visited the park, but we understand its attraction is solitude and quiet and a wilderness atmosphere. How that experience equates with hundreds of thousands of visitors we are not sure, but it would seem not very well. As it is "developed" with additional millions of dollars and visited by more thousands of people, the experience of a wilderness park must certainly be diminished.

We believe in conservation of resources, but by that we mean a wise use of those resources—especially renewable resources like trees, fish and wildlife. To not use our resources is to abuse them through waste. And surrounding resources with a national park boundary doesn't change that waste factor.

Safety—A Boring Topic Until It Isn't Practiced

There is a tragic story in today's issue of the Northern Watch about young Kendrick Fincher, a strapping 13-year-old who should be joining his seventh grade classmates for the first days of school. Instead, he is fighting for his life in an Arkansas hospital.

The six-foot one-inch, 230-pound son of Marshall County Central high school graduates Mike and Rhonda Fincher, Kendrick was invited to try out for the football team. At the first day of practice, conducted in 95 degree heat, he suffered heat stroke, the complications of which have decimated major organs of his body and nearly cost him his life. At this writing he is still on life support and the outcome is beyond medical prediction.

Especially sad is the fact that such a situation could have been prevented. Causes of and protection from heat stroke should be recognized and understood by persons in charge of strenuous activity. Adjustments should have been made in plans because of the high temperatures and humidity. Safety wasn't practiced and tragedy resulted.

Opening of the school year is only a couple of weeks away in Minnesota and drivers are being reminded that there will be increased activity involving children in traffic areas once again. Often these children are young and inexperienced, lacking in the ability to make split-second decisions when walking or riding bicycle in traffic situations.

Because children can't always be counted on to do the safe thing, vehicle drivers must take on themselves the responsibility for children's safety. Fifty-one per cent of pedestrian deaths and injuries among children five to nine years of age occur in attempts to cross or enter streets between intersections. Drivers should be alert for children darting into traffic from between parked cars or from behind other obstructions and be particularly aware of school buses.

Vehicles sometimes are built with flaws that can result in death or injury. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), an agency within the U. S. Department of Transportation, investigates alleged safety defects in motor vehicles and equipment and can order recalls when necessary. Manufacturers generally conduct recalls voluntarily. The agency has ordered only seven recalls in its history.

The NHTSA hotline is operated as a convenience for consumers who want information or to report a safety problem. In 1994 hotline received 534,000 calls or more than 1,500 a day.

A few months ago this writer broke basic safety rules with a table saw and paid the consequences in the cost, discomfort and permanent physical damage resulting from an injury.

What it all boils down to is that safety is pretty boring stuff until the rules are broken, chances taken and someone is hurt or killed. Those victims of safety violations who are fortunate to escape death or serious permanent injury can learn from their own mistakes. But everyone can learn from the mistakes of others.

If you think there is a possibility what you are doing could be dangerous, err on the side of safety. The little time spent to shut down machinery, put a shield or guard in place or pause to give a second thought to what might happen if you attempt what you plan to do is nothing compared to time spent in a hospital or worse. You can never undo an act once it has been done and regret is one of the most helpless and hopeless feelings a person can have.

Open house at Franklin on Tuesday

Annual open house for students at Franklin middle school and their parents will take place Tuesday, August 29, beginning at 7 p.m., according to Bill Hahne, principal.

Interruption in the annual open house programs took place last year when the Franklin building was in the final throes of remodeling as the start of classes approached.

Parents and their children who will be attending Franklin in grades six, seven and eight this year are to report to the central office area when arriving at the school. There they will be provided with a schedule of the student's classes.

From the office area they will go to the child's home room for the start of an abbreviated school day. The schedule has been arranged so that each "class period" is seven minutes in length with three minutes allowed between classes.

During the child's noon lunch period, coffee, orange drink and cookies will be served in the school cafeteria.

Thief River Falls football captains selected for 1995

Seniors Keith Anderson, Nick Chiodo and Paul Gonsorowski have been named captains of the 1995 Thief River Falls high school football team, it was announced Tuesday during the Prowlers' parent team meeting.

Winners in the team's annual practice-opening Ironman Contest were also named.

Leading point-producers among backs and linemen for each grade in the six conditioning drills were seniors Nick Chiodo (backs) and Adam Fulton (linemen); juniors Adam Kuck (backs) and Kyle Nelson (linemen); along with sophomores Andy Harbott (backs) and Adam Nordin (linemen).

The Prowlers, who host the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club Pigskin Preview today (Saturday) beginning at 12-noon at Prowler Field, will open the 1995 regular season schedule at home Thursday, Aug. 31, against defending Section 8A championship Detroit Lakes.

Paul Gonsorowski (41), Keith Anderson (15) and Nick Chiodo (29) have been named captains of the 1995 Thief River Falls high school football team. The announcement was made this week.

Invitational rained out...

Prowlers start tennis season with a 5-2 win

A sweep in singles led Thief River Falls to a season-opening 5-2 dual meet girls high school tennis win over visiting Grand Rapids Wednesday.

Kamie Twomey, Kelly Natvik and Beth Goddard won in straight sets for the Prowlers at No. 1, 3 and 4 singles, respectively, and Bobbi Dahlstrom turned things around in a 2-6, 6-4, 6-0 comeback at No. 2.

The Prowlers also won at No. 2 doubles with Kate Ihle and Elizabeth Odette.

"They played some pretty good tennis," said Sylvia Sjoberg, who made her debut as the Prowlers' tennis coach.

Early morning rains washed out Thursday's scheduled Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational. The Prowlers will be at East Grand Forks Tuesday for an 11 a.m. dual. They will be involved in the Lake Hubert Invitational near Brainerd Friday and Saturday. Next scheduled home match won't occur until a Thursday, Sept. 28 quadrangular involving the Prowlers, East Grand Forks, Roseau, and Park Rapids.

Eight letter winners part of large turnout for volleyball...

TRF finds strength in numbers

Number-wise, Thief River Falls should be a hit this year in high school volleyball. The Prowlers lost only three seniors to graduation off last year's 14-13 team, return eight letter winners and had 50 girls in grades 9-through-12 report for the start of practice Monday.

"We've got the numbers, and we've got a lot of talent throughout the program," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson.

The Prowlers may not have a dominant player at any one position, acknowledged Anderson, but they do have people who can get the job done. "I think we'll have a balanced team," she explained.

Returning letter winners include seniors Kendra Dimleh, Heather Holthusen, Sarah Koland, Carrie Rud, and Maren Thorson; along with juniors Kim Hook, Michelle Mathson and Erica Owen.

Rest of the squad features senior Shelley Koland; juniors Alissa Austad, Katie Kraemer, Angie Erickson, Jenni Ericksen, Erika Altepeter, Danielle Goulet, Angie Judd, Melissa Hains, Amber Troy, Amy Wessel, and Kelly Clark; sophomores Kim Haugen, Breann Fugelberg, Sarah Hagen, Monica Schroeder, Beth Olson, Erica McGeary, Amber Klinker, Desirae Alberg, Kelly Almquist, Holly Bjorgaard, and Jami Philipp; plus freshmen Shelli Eriksen, Lindsay Drury, Ruthie Balmer, Julie Martell, Laura Follett, Cassie Stevenson, Andrea Olson, Katie Furuseth, Annie Engelstad, Tiffany Hermanson, Taya Hunt, Melissa Hoard, Rachel Greelis, Kelli Murzy, Lacey Huschle, Kim Carlson, Carolyn Walrath, Stephanie Wiseth, and Leah Kenner.

The Prowlers will host two jamborees next week before beginning regular season play Sept. 5.

kind of livestock that consistently performs at a high level and show that they are well cared for."

He said that the PRCA provides periodic inspections to assure compliance with its high standards. The advantage to the contractor, he said, in addition to being able to supply stock for more rodeos, is the chance to gain recognition and promotion by supplying animals for the NFR.

"When you've got stock that tests the best cowboys in the world and either throws 'em or gives a high scoring ride, you can stick your chest out a little bit," he said.

son. We want to save lives by our efforts.

"Kendrick's body has been affected by heat stroke in ways we were not aware were possible. He has experienced seizures, kidney failure requiring renal dialysis, muscle breakdown with poisons being released into his system, liver failure and cardio-vascular collapse with fluid collection in his lungs. His previously healthy body is currently on several life-supporting machines.

"Heat stroke is a complex condition that occurs when the body is unable to use its natural cooling mechanisms. Without water or liquids, sweating, the process which helps our body temperature remain cool, is impossible. Excessive dilation of the blood vessels takes place.

"The first symptoms of heat stroke are dizziness, tiredness and a feeling of confusion—all of which happen very quickly. Once the body temperature reaches that danger point, cells and proteins begin to break down. When the cells break down, they release toxins which cause failure of all major organs in the body.

"We know that heat stroke can be avoided and do not wish to see other children or adults suffer as Kendrick has. Arkansas Children's Hospital physicians have provided us with guidelines to avoid heat stroke. Please follow them during these increased temperatures. They are: remain in as cool an environment as possible; avoid unnecessary activity during high temperatures, drink plenty of water and wear light-weight and colored clothing. Above all, use good common sense—if you can avoid the heat, do so!"

Orientation day for new NCTC students Sept. 1

Orientation day for new students attending Northland Community and Technical College has been scheduled for Friday, September 1. Registration will run from 8:30 until 9 a.m. in the theater lobby. Coffee and rolls will be provided courtesy of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Students will have the opportunity to meet new people, ask questions, learn the location of offices, as well as, campus policies and procedures.

Student information presentation will begin at 9 a.m. in the NCTC gymnasium. Parents and family members are invited to attend a special information session at this time in the NCTC theater. This newly added session is designed to help answers some of those questions parents may have regarding their son's or daughter's college experience at Northland.

Campus tours of the college and the new student housing complex will be given at 11 a.m. Clubs on campus will have booths set up enabling students to visit with club advisors and information on how to join will also be distributed.

A noon picnic-style lunch will be provided courtesy of the student senate. From 1 to 4 p.m. students will have the opportunity to meet with instructors, receive transfer and student loan information, and locate their classrooms.

This informative day is also planned to be fun-filled. Many local businesses have donated door prizes to be given away throughout the day. Studies have shown that students who attend orientation day are less stressed and feel more confident about the first day of class. For more information on orientation day for new students contact Activities Director Rick Nelson at (218) 681-0701 or 1-800-959-6282.

Trinity Lutheran Church announces new schedule for fall

New fall schedule beginning Sunday, September 3, will be observed by Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, according to Rev. John Wollenzien and Rev. Timothy Bauer, pastors.

First worship service of the day will be moved from 8:30 to 8 a.m. When Sunday school starts September 10 it will be conducted from 9:10 to 10:20 a.m. The second service will continue to be at 10:30 a.m. and will continue to be broadcast on KTRF radio and local cable Channel 3. A nursery is available for the 10:30 service.

"The change in schedule is being implemented to resolve a time overlap between the first worship service and Sunday school and to provide an expanded music and worship time for all Sunday school students," Rev. Wollenzien said.

September 10 has been designated as "Rally Day" at Trinity when Sunday school classes resume for children who are three years old by Sept. 1, 1995, through adult. For more information or to pre-register children for Sunday school call Carol DeLap, superintendent, at the Trinity church office (681-1310).

Woman struck by lightning

Warroad — While working in a patients' home last Sunday, home health aide Janine Peterson was struck by lightning. Apparently the lightning struck a tree then entered the house via an electrical line.

"I remember seeing a blue ball, and the next thing I knew, I was on the floor," said Peterson.

Peterson finished working and went on to her next patient. There she became ill and went to the emergency room to be checked. She was found to be fine.

When she filed the incident report at the office, her story was met with some disbelief at first. Although lightning can kill people, Peterson prefers to look on the bright side and not dwell on the negative.

Barstad returns as deputy sheriff

Red Lake Falls — Scott Barstad has returned to Red Lake county as a full-time deputy sheriff.

He has spent the last two and one-half years with the Paul Bunyan Task Force, an organization that works with drugs in a 14-county area. While Barstad worked on the task force, he was on the Red Lake county payroll, but the county was reimbursed for most of his expenses.

The sheriff would like to have Scott work with the schools on drug education, but county commissioner Kevin Amiot is wondering how to pay for the new services.

Cafe owner retires after nearly 20 years

Fosston — Since 1976 Louise Manecke has been balancing running a cafe and raising eight children along with help from her husband Merle. In 1983 she sold the cafe, but bought it back a year later.

An additional smoking section was built in 1986 and the no smoking section was built on in 1990.

"The hardest thing was to always wear a smile no matter what was happening," said Manecke. "Trying to please people was the hardest. You learn to accept criticism. You try hard. It hurts. But you become stronger."

Rumors of school closure

Erskine — Concerned residents of Erskine attended the Win-E-Mac school board meeting on August 22 to voice concerns about rumors that the board was planning to close the Erskine school.

People were most concerned because discussion of the proposal was not in the minutes published in the paper. Board chair Geraldine Olson explained that the discussion was minimal and not worth noting. She also said there were no plans to close the building completely because the district needs the gym.

People were assured that the board will hold public meetings to hear citizens' input on major changes.

Hanson recognized for involvement in agriculture

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

It had been a short night. Linda Hanson and her husband Mike had been up late with a cow that was calving. That morning, as most mornings, Linda was back to work before most people are out of bed. Such is the life of a dairy farmer.

With all the modern inventions that help make farming easier, someone still has to get up at 5 a.m. to milk the cows and do the other chores. Linda Hanson is one of those dedicated people. She recently gained some recognition for her work in the world of agriculture. She has been named Pennington County Farm Woman of the Year and is now a candidate for the Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year.

Linda grew up in Long Grove, IA and graduated from Eldridge high school. She holds a degree in dairy science from Iowa State University in Ames, IA and has worked in various areas of agriculture and related business. She spent three years as an ag-loan officer and seven years as a herdsman on a dairy farm. She also worked for Landmark Genetics artificial insemination business as product specialist and sire analyst. She went to elite herds and bought bulls to breed and produce calves of the highest quality possible. If asked, she would consult with farmers on which specific bulls to breed with specific cows in order to produce the best calves.

While working for the artificial insemination company, Linda attended a Ayrshire breeders convention in Rochester. There she met Michael Hanson, whom she later married. After marrying Mike, Linda decided to quit her job and go back to work on the farm.

"He and I are very much full partners in this business," said Linda.

She and Mike are still actively involved with the National Ayrshire Breeders Association and several other agriculture organizations. The Ayrshire association has been working for several years to promote the breed outside of the country. In 1992, Linda and Mike traveled to Sweden to represent the organization. In 1994 they made a similar trip to Australia. The Australians are interested in Ayrshires, but getting through the red tape of Commonwealth countries takes time. Ayrshire breeders have sent three herds to Ecuador and others to Columbia. Linda said that part of what she enjoys about farming is getting involved in promoting the breed they raise. She is chairman of the Breeding Committee and serves on other committee within the National Ayrshire Breeders Association.

Linda also enjoys judging cattle shows. In fact just last weekend she was at the Minnesota State Fair as a judge. She started judging as a girl and later judged in college. When she moved to Pennington county, she told the extension office that she was interested in judging. She has judged shows from small county fairs to national competitions, looking for utters that are structurally correct, good feet and legs and ideal dairy form. After judging shows with both dairy cattle and dairy goats, she was asked to judge dairy goats exclusively. According to Linda the criteria for showing does not change from cows to goats.

Linda is not boastful about her judging skills and her expertise in cattle breeding.

"You get more than fifty miles from home and they call you an expert," she says with a laugh.

Perhaps she doesn't see her skills as anything special because she has been developing them for so long. She grew up on a dairy and corn farm and was active in 4-H since age 10. Dairy was always her emphasis. Her brothers and sister were involved in 4-H, too. The friends and acquaintances Linda made in 4-H are people with whom she still keeps in touch. The experiences in 4-H must have made a big impression on her siblings, too. Today her sister is a agri-journalist for the American Dairy Association and her brother works on the family farm.

Farming takes a lot of time and work, but Linda, Mike and their sons still have time to be a family. Linda is greatful that their business is self-sustaining enough she does not have to work off the farm. She helps with milking and office work, but she does not work with machinery much any more. It is too dangerous to be working with machinery with two small children around. Farming allows the Hansons to eat together three times a day, something few families get to do these days. Some days Linda takes their sons David and Matthew out to the field to see daddy.

Dairy farmers don't often get to take time off work. However, Linda and Mike do enjoy going snowmobiling together. Last year they rode their snowmobiles to International Falls and back. Still, most of the things Linda enjoys involve spending time with others in the dairy field. Going to dairy shows is fun not just because she enjoys the cattle, but because it is a time to see old friends in the business. Since Linda's family lives 600 miles away from her, many "family get togethers" take place at dairy conventions and shows.

Why does Linda continue to work in the agribusiness?

Announcing is another test of skills at rodeo

Wayne Wise approaches his profession with "bull rider mentality"

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Thief River Falls Stampede fans can marvel at the skills of the professional cowboys they see perform in the arena this weekend, but they should also be aware that professionalism in PRCA rodeo is not only an eight second ride, a securely tied calf, a quickly tossed steer or a clean turn on the barrels. It is also at the end of a microphone cord.

There is an old adage which claims that "a word to the wise is sufficient." At the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday, words from the Wise will suffice. Wayne Wise of Loveland, CO, will be the voice of the Stampede in the announcer's booth for the second straight year.

Folks who attended the third annual Stampede last year may not remember Wise, but that's not bad. Like a good basketball referee or baseball umpire, the less a part of the action he seems to be, the better job he is doing.

Building The Comfort Factor

Wise would probably call it the "comfort factor"—the ability to keep the crowd informed as to what is happening without theatrics, to calm fears when reassurance is needed, to educate without lecturing and to communicate an atmosphere of fun and excitement without being frivolous.

Wayne arrived in Thief River Falls late Thursday evening after a flight from Denver. In an interview in his motel room, we asked if he felt the public had any misconceptions about rodeo announcing.

"People probably think it's a lot easier than it really is," he replied, the inflection in his voice at the end of the statement making it sound almost like another question.

"They hear the voice introducing the events and the riders and bantering with the clown or barrelman and there doesn't seem to be much effort. They don't see the number of hours that go into studying the PRCA media guide to learn about the cowboys or getting familiar with the rodeo's sponsors or its special features.

Every Rodeo Is Unique

"Every rodeo is unique and every crowd is different so the approach to every announcing job has to be varied. You have to recognize those differences and adjust your announcing accordingly."

Wise points to the city of Oakley, Utah, where he has been announcer for the rodeo for the past several years on the Fourth of July weekend—affectionately known in the rodeo game as the "Cowboys' Christmas" because of the number of rodeos being held at that time. The town of 532 people puts on a four-day rodeo and fills 6,000 seats every night.

"They don't have any sponsors!" Wise said. "The gate admissions cover all the costs. Most rodeos depend on sponsorships and it's part of my job to see that this support is recognized."

It is also his job to serve as straight man to whoever the rodeo clown might be. Often he has never met the individual before and most of the time he has only limited opportunity to review routines or jokes. Most of what transpires during the rodeo is spontaneous. If a chemistry can be developed, it is more fun for the announcer, the clown and the crowd.

Wise Has Rodeo Experience

Wise has the advantage of knowing rodeo from the standpoint of participation. He started riding bulls when he was 12 years old, rode professionally (if unsuccessfully) for five years and eventually earned his PRCA card by winning $1,000 as a permit holder at PRCA rodeos. The year he earned his card he quit riding bulls.

In 1985 he went to Florida with a couple of buddies and his rigging bag so see if he couldn't ride a few bulls and make some money. At one of the rodeos the announcer didn't show up and one of Wayne's buddies, who knew some of the rodeo people in Florida, asked him if he thought he could do it. Wayne said he thought he could. He did, and he says a light came on in his head.

"I remembered this verse from the Bible somewhere that says you should remain in the station of life to which you were called," he said. "I started thinking back to the public speaking awards I won in FFA (Future Farmers of America) in high school and it just seemed like announcing was something I could do fairly well—at least well enough to earn the money I needed to pay entry fees for riding bulls."

He did that very thing for most

Yes, Virginia, cowboys really do wear their hats in bed. At least rodeo announcer Wayne Wise does. He is shown at his motel room in Thief River Falls following his arrival late Thursday night, already beginning his preparation for announcing the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday. "It's not as easy as a lot of people think it is," he said. "If it looks easy, then I'm probably doing a pretty good job."

Grant for fire department

Middle River — The Middle River Volunteer Fire Department recently received a $5,000 grant thanks to the efforts of Fire Chief Keith Gram, his wife Gaylo and fire department secretary Terry Nelson. The grant is for protective clothing and communication equipment.

The department of 21 men and women needs protective clothing for some of its new volunteers. After some research, the department will order pagers for volunteers.

Study results show consolidation is recommended

Argyle — An extensive study by the management Assistance Center of the Department of Education recommends that the Argyle and Stephen school districts begin the transition towards consolidation in July of 1996.

The study also concluded that grades 10-12 should be in the Stephen building and grades 7-9 in the Argyle building. Grades K-6 should attend school in their home districts.

The conclusions are based on interviews with school district residents, facilities, curriculum, enrollment, populations and finances as well as the assumption that both districts desire the highest quality education for their students. Both schools were found to be "very compatible in land area, population, student enrollment, facilities, curriculum and excess levy referendum amount," according to Project Coordinator Glenn Matejka.

Crop damage caused by hail

Erskine — Storms on Sunday evening caused damage to many crops in the area. The rains started at about 5:30 p.m. on August 27 and quickly increased intensity.

Reports of hail ranging from pea size to one and one half inches in diameter. Damage to small grains, corn and soybeans was reported. Buildings and vehicles in the storms pathway were damaged as well.

Adjusters have responded to all reports by local residents, but it will take time to calculate the dollar value of the losses.

Arctic Lites gymnastics club to begin

Arctic Lites gymnastics club will begin its sixth season on September 11. Classes run in eight week blocks beginning in September and completing in June. Boys and girls, ages 3 and one-half to 18 years of age, are encouraged and welcomed to attend.

Registration for the first session will be held on September 7 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Arctic Lites Gymnasium located next to the district service center on Zeh and LaBree Avenue. Fees are dependent on the class level and amount of gym and instruction time.

Individuals interested in learning more about the club are asked to contact the director, Dan Huber, at (218) 681-8461 or 8200.

The club was established in 1990 and employs a full-time director and several assistant coaches. The club will again practice on a mat newly purchased last spring with help from the Hartz Foundation.

Activities for the year also include Halloween and Christmas parties, show team exhibitions and the annual spring show.

UMC receives North Central accreditation

University of Minnesota at Crookston has received continued accreditation as a baccalaureate institution by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools (NCA) at its August meeting. The next comprehensive NCA visit is scheduled for the years 2004-05.

The NCA team commended UMC for: the understanding and endorsement of UMC's mission by the faculty, staff and community; a long range plan which includes measurement for success; dedicated and hard working faculty and staff; positive attitude to technology, academic assistance for under-prepared students; collaboration and articulation with other institutions and industry; and administration and faculty which assess students' outcomes.

An NCA team will visit UMC in 1999-2000 to focus on the transition to a baccalaureate institution, documenting maintenance of quality and reporting on developments which have helped or hindered these efforts.

SCOTT HEPPER OF THE JEWEL BOX

Prior to becoming the manager of The Jewel Box, Scott was general manager of Silverman's, Inc., in Grand Forks. He had previously managed Riddle's Jewelry for four years. A native of Gettysburg, SD, he has a BS degree in business administration from Northern State University in Aberdeen, SD.

Scott and his wife Melanie lived in Grand Forks since 1989. They have two children—four-year-old Megan and two-year-old Alec—all are excited to be in Thief River Falls. The next time you are in the store, say hello to Scott. He is looking forward to meeting you.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Back to school means cookie jars filled with cookies for after school snacks.

Here's an old-fashioned favorite that everyone loves:

VERY BEST GINGERSNAPS

3/4 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1/4 cup light molasses
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon each cinnamon, ginger and cloves

Roll into balls about the size of a walnut. Roll in sugar and place 2 inches apart on cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for about 12 minutes. (For a crazy top, dip each ball in water before dipping in sugar.)

These will fill up that cookie jar, and tummies too.

CRACKER JACK COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups quick-cooking oatmeal
1 cup coconut
2 cups crispy rice cereal

Cream shortening and sugars. Add eggs and vanilla and beat well.

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda and add to above. Add oatmeal, coconut and cereal.

Roll into small balls (no need to flatten) and bake 10 minutes at 375 degrees, until lightly browned.

Good things in these cookies, as well as chocolate chips for the kids:

APPLESAUCE COOKIES

1 3/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/4 cup milk
1 1/2 cups oats
1 cup applesauce
1 egg
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup chocolate chips

Sift flour, baking powder and soda.

In another bowl, mix milk and oats and then mix in applesauce. Add egg, sugar, spices, salt and shortening.

Pour over dry ingredients and mix well. Add chips.

Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for about 15 minutes.

Make these for a special treat:

M&M PARTY COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 eggs
2 1/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups M&M candies

Blend shortening and sugars. Beat in eggs and vanilla.

Sift dry ingredients together and add to egg mixture, mixing well.

Stir in 1/2 cup of M&Ms, saving the rest for decorating.

Drop on ungreased cookie sheet, decorate tops with candies and bake at 375 degrees for 10-12 minutes.

Local resident at geothermal training session

Darryl Tveitbakk of Thief River Falls, represented Northern Municipal Power Agency, at a Ground Source Heat Pump Training and Research session at South Dakota State University at Brookings, SD.

The heating and cooling of buildings with geothermal (ground source) heat pumps is expanding rapidly, requiring the training of more and more people to sell, design and install those systems.

South Dakota State University's Ground Source Heat Pump Training and Research Laboratory hosted a training session August 15-17 in Brookings. SDSU is one of only four such training centers in the nation.

Geothermal systems use the relatively constant earth temperature to heat and cool buildings. They are becoming more important because of the National Earth Comfort program, an initiative between the electric utility industry, the geothermal heat pump industry and the federal government to increase the number of these heat pumps sold in the United States.

Dog obedience classes slated in Newfolden

Initiative Fund seeks applicants for workshop

Applications are now being accepted for the Northwest Initiative Fund's fall leadership workshop to be held October 9-13 at the Vacationaire Resort north of Park Rapids. The Initiative Fund covers all expenses for the workshop.

The four and one-half day workshop is designed to develop individual leadership skills and offers participants new ways to identify and fulfill leadership roles in their communities.

Personnel Decisions, Inc., a nationally-recognized management and leadership training firm, conducts the sessions which reflect northwest Minnesota's lifestyle and economy.

Since 1988 more than 400 people from northwest Minnesota have attended this highly-rated program. Application forms are available by calling Diane Backer at the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund office in Bemidji at 218-759-2057 or 1-800-659-7859. Applications must be received by September 5.

Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund is a charitable foundation committed to improving the quality of life for residents of northwest Minnesota. To achieve this mission, the fund focuses activities toward two principal goals: increased economic growth and business development, and increased capacity of individuals and organizations to shape the region's future.

MCCL to meet in Fosston on September 4th

The Fosston and area chapter of the MCCL (Minnesota Citizens Concerned for Life) will hold its September meeting on Monday evening, September 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center at the corner of 3rd and North Eaton Avenue in Fosston.

The group will review summer events such as the poster contest for area youth and the booth/display at the fair. Planning for the months ahead and discussion on the proposed radio informational series will all be a part of the evening's meeting. This meeting is of extreme importance for those who have a real concern for life at all ages and stages.

The area chapter that will meet on Labor Day night covers the communities of Fosston, Lengby, McIntosh, Winger, Erskine, Mentor, Gully and Trail. For chapter information contact the groups leader Mrs. Richard (Gloria) Illies at 435-6393 or Mrs. Douglas (Linda) Hand at 435-6255.

Opinions

Marvin Lundin
Editor

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed by the editor are his own and not necessarily those of other staff members. Opinions expressed in items from other publications may be contradictory to the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

An Open Letter To Chancellor Judith Eaton

Dear Chancellor Eaton:

Thank you for favoring Thief River Falls with a visit so early in your tenure as Chancellor of Minnesota State Colleges and Universities (MnSCU). Since we are geographically separated from the metropolitan area to the extent that, to us, St. Paul is "outstate," we are doubly impressed by your presence here only 15 days into your new job.

As you undoubtedly learned during your visit, we are immensely proud of our post high school facilities. Consolidation of Northland Community College and our local campus of Northwest Technical College into the single entity of Northwest Community and Technical College is not without its difficulties—as may well be imagined—given the diversity of the two programs over the years. That it has been accomplished and is functioning is a tribute to the quality of the people involved, from those who cut the deals to those who cut the grass. To some extent, our local merger is a microcosm of the megamerger which created your position.

By virtue of your appointment as Chancellor, you are now a part of Northland Community and Technical College. As such, you are a part of our community....one of the family, so to speak. You are entitled to share our pride in Northland and its students and staff as well as obligated to address its concerns and assist in the maintenance of its well-being. Those are privileges and responsibilities which we, and now you, should never take lightly.

And since you are a member of the family, we feel we can speak to you frankly and freely and respect your right to do the same with us.

You should know, for instance, that I have been an outspoken opponent of the amalgamation of the state's colleges and universities into the conglomerate you now direct. This opinion in no way detracts from my view of your involvement in or dedication to the system nor your abilities to make it work. If you were not capable, you would not have been selected.

Let me also say I am not a proponent of the "bigger is better" theory, nor do I believe that cooperation in higher education can be achieved by creating a mutual need for conformance in order to survive. A belief that "love will find a way" to work out differences after the marriage that could not be resolved during the courtship has led to a good deal of marital strife and a staggering number of early divorces.

If I understood the answer to one of my questions at your news conference Wednesday, I feel you should also be aware we have a philosophical difference regarding the role of higher education. Relating to the expressed importance of higher education, I asked if the goal of students, the end result of formal education, should be employability. You said that education for work was important, but that it was not everything; that students should learn about history, how to make judgments for life, gain insight on the quality of life in society. You espoused the view that "liberal arts is vocational."

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf then interjected that there is a concern that growth in employment has been in low-paying, service type jobs and that there has long been a perception that "getting an education" will lead to a higher individual economic standard than would have been achieved without one.

I do wish you would have said that a part of your experience background included a few years as a secretary, factory worker, small business owner or welfare recipient. It's not that you demonstrate any lack of understanding or compassion for such areas, but it would have enforced the validity of your philosophy of higher education as having been formed in a sphere of influence beyond college walls.

I would submit that the ability to take economic advantage of an education lies in the acquiring of skills to perform marketable work, either to an employer or to clients or customers. I have seen many "Help Wanted" signs and read a great number of job opportunity advertisements. None has listed an astute historical perspective or a depth of social conscience as a requisite for employment. And there are more than a few holders of four-year degrees who are working the jobs Senator Stumpf referred to because they did not acquire more saleable knowledge during their higher education experience.

For that matter, someone has to perform the service jobs being spoken of so disparagingly. Today's educated couples with both man and woman (or both men and both women, depending on your orientation) in the workforce don't have time (or haven't learned how) to cook and they have to eat somewhere. It's the minimum wage people who feed them.

It has been our observation over the years that education is experimentation. Students have struggled with modern math, cycled in and out and back into phonics and soon face outcome-based standards for high school graduation. We fully expect that 20 years from now—or 30 or 50—someone will come up with the new idea that higher education would better serve the needs of students if there were separate systems for training in specific areas and MnSCU should be divided. The educational wheel will be invented all over again. Although I don't expect to be around to say "I told you so," I'm telling you so.

If you will pardon the somewhat rural and possibly indelicate analogy, Judy (remember, we're family here), we look at the synthesis of MnSCU as we look at the manipulated production of livestock. In cattle, the crossing of established breeds is believed to produce offspring with hybrid vigor. In dogs, the result of similar cross-breeding is usually accentuation of the least desirable characteristics of both parents. In the mating of colleges, universities and technical schools, the progeny of the experiment is unpredictable. I fervently hope for the vigorous calf but honestly expect the cur.

I appreciate your coming "home" so soon after getting your new job and giving me the opportunity to have this fatherly chat. You will have an idea of how at least one old man looks at the fire to which both of your feet will be held. Yours is an awesome opportunity to make us all proud of you. If you are like most children, you will ignore most of what I have said here and probably be better off for that decision. But I feel better for having said it and I hope you will not be discouraged from coming to see us again and again. You know you will be welcome, and I promise not to preach on every visit.

Sincerely,
Marvin Lundin

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Lightning causes fire that destroys St. Hilaire barn

Fire destroyed an original wood-frame barn on the Blair Gustafson farm nine miles south of St. Hilaire. St. Hilaire Fire Chief Dave Hoefer said lightning caused the fire.

Shortly after a severe storm at 9 p.m. Sunday, the St. Hilaire fire department received a report of a fire at the farm by the owner. The owner chased out cattle and animals out of the barn prior to the arrival of the fire department and no animals were injured.

Hoefer said they were not able to save the barn, but they were able to save an addition to the barn. Hoefer said 15 firefighters from St. Hilaire and 15 firefighters from Plummer responded to the fire. Pennington county sheriff's deputies and Red Lake county sheriff's deputies also responded to the fire.

Conservation office says crop residue helps prevent erosion on fields

It is getting to be that time of year when the wheels are turning, and the small grain crops are being harvested. Fall tillage practices remain to be a popular choice for many producers.

If you have highly erodible land on your farm remember to check your conservation compliance plan for crop residue amounts needed for next spring's planting. Crop residue is used as an erosion reduction agent.

Some helpful hints to maintain crop residue are: leaving crop stubble as high as possible, slower tillage speeds, shallower tillage depths, and adjusting tillage equipment by using different points and sweeps.

A good way to check your ground cover is to make a crop residue counter. To make a crop residue counter, take a 50 foot rope and put a marker every six inches. Lay the crop residue counter across your field and count the residue underneath each of the markers. [illegible] under the marker. When you get to the end of the rope, the number you come up with is the per cent of crop residue you have remaining on your field.

If you have any questions on crop residue or your conservation compliance plan on your highly erodible land, please contact the Natural Resource Conservation Service in Thief River Falls at 681-3348.

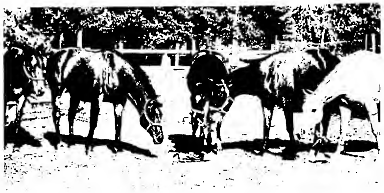
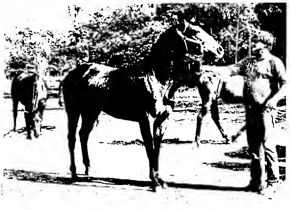
[illegible] TRACKER [illegible] August 29th thru Saturday, Septem[illegible]



Five of the six horses kept at their stable by Rick and Kathy Nelson of Thief River Falls enjoy a rare treat of sweet corn tossed into their corral. The palomino at the right placed fifth in the world at the 1991 World Palomino Show in Tulsa, OK. The Nelsons have been raising horses for about the past 10 years and recently had one of their horses do well at Canterbury Park.

Nelson horse wins at Canterbury



Rick Nelson of Thief River Falls is shown with his three-year-old quarterhorse "Olympic Adequator" which recently won a $2,000 purse at Canterbury Park in Minneapolis and showed a strong third place in the Minnesota Quarterhorse Derby.

Rick and Kathy Nelson of Thief River Falls had reason to be proud of their horse breeding efforts recently when their three-year-old gelding "Olympic Adequator" burned up the Canterbury Park track in Minneapolis for three high place finishes.

In his first time out on the quarterhorse track at Canterbury this season, "Adequator" placed a strong fourth in a 350-yard sprint. The second time out, on July 13, he finished first in a 350-yard race in 18.74 seconds and won a $2,000 purse. Jockey was Laura Paynter.

And in the 400-yard Minnesota Quarterhorse Derby "Adequator" finished third in a three-horse finish where the margin of victory from first to third totaled less than half a length.

Rick (who owns and operates Nelson Dental Lab in Thief River Falls) and Kathy own both the sire and dam of "Adequator." The sire is "Olympic Win," which the Nelsons purchased as a weanling in 1985 from a breeder who brought his horses to Canterbury Downs from Oklahoma. The dam is "Mati Adequate," a 13-year-old mare, which also originally came from Oklahoma.

The Nelsons purchased their first thoroughbred in 1984 from Art Linder of Strathcona. A daughter of that horse named "Phar Breeze" was raced by the Nelsons as a two-year-old and continued racing at Canterbury until the track closed in 1991. She is now a hunt seat jumper.

A daughter of "Phar Breeze," now a four-year-old, earned one first and four second places in five times out this season at Canterbury.

When the Canterbury track closed the Nelsons were among many in Minnesota who quit breeding thoroughbreds. They continued their interest in horses and maintained their ownership of "Olympic Win" which they say is proving to be a good quality sire.

They have had up to 13 horses at a time but the number has now been reduced to seven, six of which are kept at the Nelson stable. Among them is a sharp-looking two-year-old which is one of only 35 thoroughbred race horses born in Minnesota two years ago.

Also among the group is an eight-year-old palomino quarterhorse which stood fifth in the world in Western Riding at the World Palomino Show in 1991 in Tulsa, OK. While the horses in most divisions of the show were divided according to age, all horses were grouped in Western Riding and the Nelson horse beat all of the entries of its age in the class, finishing behind only older horses.

In qualifying for the national show, the palomino was the Minnesota champion based on points won at quarterhorse shows throughout the state and area.

The racing season for quarterhorses has now been completed at Canterbury Park and the Nelsons have "Adequator" back home. They are giving consideration to taking him to Assiniboia Downs in Winnipeg to race there.

Longtime supporters of horse racing in Minnesota and the race track at Canterbury, Rick and Kathy are pleased about its reopening. They have learned a great deal about horses and horse racing in their decade of involvement in the sport and know the difficulty in producing top quality race horses.

A hint of success, such as "Adequator" provided this past month, is worth savoring.

This photo from Canterbury Park in Minneapolis shows Rick and Kathy Nelson's horse "Olympic Adequator" winning a 350-yard quarterhorse race on July 13 that paid off in a $2,000 purse. Frank McKinley is the trainer and jockey Laura Paynter rode "Olympic Adequator" to victory.

Support group for divorced and widowed persons

Crookston B. E. (Beginning Experience) will be starting Level I on Thursday, September 21 at 7 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church, 510 N. Broadway. Please arrive 15 minutes earlier to register. This nine-week session is a non-denominational support group for divorced, separated or widowed persons. No one admitted after the third session on October 5.

B.E. is a program designed to help divorced, separated and widowed persons make a new beginning in life. The goal is to create a space where we can come together to re-evaluate oneself and ones life, and to move on to the future with renewed hope. This program offers support and direction. Meetings are confidential.

TAYLOR® Outdoor Woodstove

TAYLOR® did not become the largest manufacturer of outdoor woodstoves by deceiving the public to make sales. Rather, we built our reputation by producing the most thermal efficient, best designed and longest lasting woodstove on the market. One of our competitors chose to use our name in their advertising as one of their attempts to mislead customers. They claim to be the cleanest burning stove with a 92.5% combustion efficiency. To clarify what this figure of combustion efficiency actually means is that 92.5% of the wood you put in their firebox will burn up; that's it. A good bonfire could achieve this meaningless number. Thermal efficiency is the percent of heat energy or BTU's that is successfully transferred from the wood to the water. TAYLOR® stoves have always had the highest proven thermal efficiency of all woodstoves tested, 81%. This is due to the double pass flue design and separate secondary burn chamber that reburns gases all other stoves put up in the clouds. Please check out TAYLOR® and you will see we clearly have a superior outdoor wood heating system.

School District 564 School Nurse Vickie Jensen works in the elementary nurse's station at Challenger Elementary school. Jensen will coordinate medical needs and work with staff on health issues in all school buildings throughout the district.

Jensen takes over as school district nurse

Vickey Jensen, with Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls, has been hired to assist staff in three buildings as the "school nurse" in District 564.

Jensen is a native of Grand Forks, ND, with a degree in nursing from the University of North Dakota. Her background includes occupational nursing with American Crystal Sugar Company, and work as a registered nurse at Northwest Medical Center and Oakland Park Nursing Home, where she also served as education coordinator.

Jensen will be responsible for vision and hearing screening, immunizations, staff education, medical records, and administration of medications at Lincoln high school, Franklin Middle school, and Challenger Elementary school. She says her goal is to "work very closely with the staff to make health issues more a part of the inter-disciplinary team." She says she's also looking forward to a program focused on families, and preventing health problems through education.

Jim Sims, the new activities director for School District 564, Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire, says his goal is to continue to make the activities office "as effective as possible for the students, staff and community."

Sims takes over helm

The activities office at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls is winding up for another year, with a new director and a host of new coaches and advisors. Jim Sims took the helm August 1, replacing Lee Alger, who resigned to take a similar position in Hudson, WI.

Sims is a native of Mahnomen. He holds a masters degree in education, with degrees in health and physical education and a minor in English from Moorhead State University. His background includes teaching at Eagle Bend, MN, work as a graduate assistant at Moorhead State, 10 years as a coach and teacher in Thief River Falls, and 19 years at the University of Minnesota Crookston.

Sims says he's wanted to be a coach and teacher since his second year of elementary school. He says his sports heroes were always on the sideline. "I admired the coaches, I've always wanted to be a part of what works, making things better. That's why I like coaching and teaching. A teacher learns — methods change, technology changes, sometimes you come back to basics — you're always learning."

Sims says his goals in Thief River Falls are to continue to make the activities office "as effective as possible for the students, the staff, and the community. This is a year of assessment. I want to see where we are and how we can build on our strengths to create the best opportunities, activities wise, that can be made available in the district."

Jeff Loe replaces Ed Krystosek on the staff at Lincoln high school. Loe will be teaching freshman and sophomore social studies and coaching junior varsity boy's basketball.

Loe replaces Krystosek in social studies at LHS

A McVille, ND, native will join the staff at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls this year. Jeff Loe will replace Ed Krystosek in the Social Studies department. Krystosek retired last spring.

Loe is a graduate of the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, with 10 years experience as a teacher in Stanley, ND. Jeff and his wife Cathy moved to Thief River Falls in 1992. They have three children.

In addition to freshman and sophomore social studies, Loe will also coach junior varsity boys basketball and assist the track program. Loe says he enjoys working with kids. His special field of interest is American history and says the program at Lincoln high school is very well developed.

"I like what we're doing and I'd like to work into more multi-media projects, including computer and video work to give kids some hands-on learning that they can relate to history and social studies."

Loe says his family enjoys living in Thief River Falls and says he appreciates the opportunity to become part of the school staff. Loe says his family moved to the area so Cathy could pursue her career as an x-ray technician at Northwest Medical Center.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.

Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Punt return for touchdown sparks Detroit Lakes win...

Lakers beat Prowlers 34-15

Detroit Lakes' Steve Skarie scored on an 86-yard punt return with 1:22 left in the first half to wipe out an early Thief River Falls lead, and the visiting Lakers went on to claim a season-opening 34-15 high school football win over the Prowlers.

It was a rematch of the 1994 Section 8A playoff finals – a game in which a Detroit Lakes touchdown on the final play of the first half loomed large in a 28-13 win. The Lakers also scored in the final seconds of the first half in last year's season opener between the two rivals and wound up winning 21-8.

"That's the third game in a row where they scored on us late in the first half," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "That kills you. You're ahead, playing pretty well, then all of a sudden you give up a punt return for a touchdown. That has to take the wind out of your sail."

Thief River Falls scored first and stayed on top until Skarie fielded an Aaron Ehrenstrom punt at the Detroit Lakes 14 and raced down the right sidelines to put the Lakers ahead 18-13 with 82 seconds left in the first half.

The five-time defending Section 8A champion Lakers then dominated the second half with two long, time consuming touchdown drives the first two times they got their hands on the ball.

"They definitely took over the line of scrimmage in the second half," acknowledged Mumm. "That's typical for them. You don't want to fall behind."

Thief River Falls, expected to be one of the prime challengers to the long Detroit Lakes Section 8A title reign, struck first when a 48-yard burst off left tackle by Nick Chiodo ignited a second-possession 14-play, 86-yard scoring drive. Keith Anderson hit Steve Rambeck over the middle for a 13-yard touchdown pass on a fourth-and-11 play, and Chane Keefe added the conversion kick for a 7-0 lead with 2:11 left in the first quarter.

Detroit Lakes took the ensuing kickoff and put together a 16-play, 80-yard scoring drive that culminated on a 7-yard Todd Steinmetz touchdown pass to Justin Wood with 8:15 to play in the first half. But the kick was off the mark, leaving the Prowlers ahead 7-6.

And Thief River Falls promptly made it 13-6 when Chiodo, on a key block by Josh Harris, got to the outside and sprinted 44 yards for a touchdown. The kick was blocked.

It took the Lakers only 1:32 to answer the second Thief River Falls touchdown as Steinmetz turned the corner on a quarterback keeper and went 42 yards for a touchdown. An errant snap on the kick left it 13-12, Thief River Falls.

The Skarie punt return put the Lakers up five at halftime and the Lakers' first two possession of the second half produced twin scoring drives covering 72 yards in 14 plays and 75 yards in 15 plays. Both ended on 1-yard touchdown runs – by Steinmetz with 6:35 left in the third quarter and by Josh Keyes with 1:23 gone in the final period.

Detroit Lakes gave Thief River Falls the final two points of the game on an intentional safety with 5:52 to play.

"We did some good things early," noted Mumm. But Detroit Lakes adjusted. Chiodo, after netting 135 yards on 11 first half carries, was stopped for a minus one yard on just two second half attempts.

The Prowlers will be at Fergus Falls Friday.

Wolverines to feature solid volleyball roster

Second-year Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Tina Rode says the Wolverines won't be spectacular in any one area, but they shouldn't have a real weakness, either, as they head into the 1995 high school volleyball season.

"It looks like we should have a pretty well-rounded team," said Rode. "We've got some hitters, and our defense looks pretty good. I'm pretty optimistic."

Nine graduated from last year's 3-16 team, but seniors Shaunna Thomas, Deanna Kotrba, Melissa Bernstein, and Rachel Rychlock are returning starters. Rychlock, Bernstein and junior Jacyln Haack figure to be the Wolverines' top hitters.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke will open the 1995 season Tuesday vs. Marshall County Central in Newfolden.

Blue Devils win 27-0 in football debut Thursday

Trevor Kiesow rushed for 145 yards on just nine carries and scored two touchdowns Thursday afternoon to lead Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke past Ulen-Hitterdal 27-0 in season-opening nine-man high school football at Grygla.

A 1-yard Jamie Lunsetter touchdown run and a Shaun Verbout conversion kick with 5:06 left in the first quarter gave the Blue Devils an early 7-0 lead, and they broke it open when Kiesow got away on touchdown runs of 51 and 43 yards in the second quarter.

"Things pretty much went our way in the second quarter," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Darwin Hagen. "They (Ulen-Hitterdal) had trouble holding on to the ball, and Trevor had some nice runs."

The winners netted 250 yards on 40 running plays. That was the extent of an offensive effort that included an 0-for-1 passing day.

"I thought the kids did well," said Hagen. "Our first unit played pretty well, and we had a chance to work on our depth in the second half.

The Blue Devils will play Tri-County Friday in Karlstad.

TRF wins 4-3 tennis match

Thief River Falls girls improved their dual meet record to 2-0 Tuesday with a 4-3 high school tennis win at East Grand Forks.

A win by Bobbi Dahlstrom at No. 2 singles, and a sweep in doubles by Anne Padilla-Shari Evenson, Kate Ihle-Elizabeth Odette and Katie Harbott-Lesley Ihle produced the victory.

"Some of the girls played well," said Thief River Falls coach Sylvia Sjoberg.

Swim team starts year with win

Winning 10 of the 11 events, the Thief River Falls girls opened their 1995 high school swimming schedule Tuesday with a 60-33 dual meet decision at Fosston.

It was the head coaching debut of the Prowlers' Scott Hetherington and the first meet ever for the Fosston girls, who have been part of the Greyhounds' boys program in the past.

"We did really well," said Hetherington. "We had some really good efforts. It was a fun way to start the season."

Freshman Nicole Kopari turned in Section 8-qualifying times in both the 50 and 100 freestyle to lead the Prowlers.

Plans set for Ron-D-Voo, Black Powder Challenge

Shooters and spectators are welcome to attend the second annual Ron-D-Voo and Black Powder Challenge Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10, in Newfolden.

The event will be hosted by the Agassiz Rod and Gun Club.

Black powder and tomahawk competition begins at 11 a.m. both days. Primitive and novelty targets will be used. Prizes will be awarded.

Entry fee is $1 per event, not to exceed $10 per family.

To encourage demonstrations and displays, a $50 cash prize will be offered to the most interesting camp, display or demonstration.

Free primitive camping, along with firewood and water, is available. Modern campgrounds are located one block from the Ron-D-Voo area.

Shooters from expert to beginner class are urged to take part in the event. First-time black powder shooters will have the opportunity to give the sport a try.

For additional information contact Devere Chapman at 218-874-4763 or Steve Broten at 218-437-8331.

Blue Devils rebuilding their offensive line-up

There are just two starters back on offense, and number-wise it's a down year for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke. However, there is still enough talent on hand to supply veteran coach Darwin Hagen with a bit of optimism heading into the 1995 high school football season.

"Graduation took a toll," acknowledged Hagen. "Our numbers are down, and depth is a concern. But we've got some good, quick kids, and a bunch of hard-workers. If we can stay away from injuries, I think we'll be competitive."

The Blue Devils, after slumping to 2-6 in 1993, rebounded to 5-4 last fall. "We hope to do better this year," said Hagen.

Junior wingback Shaun Verbout and senior runningback Trevor Kiesow are the only starters back on offense. Returning defensive starters include senior Jamie Lunsetter at safety, junior Aaron Holthusen and Kiesow at linebacker, and Verbout at an end.

Lunsetter will switch from tight end to quarterback to run the Blue Devils' offense this fall. Holthusen will likely share ball-carrying duties with Kiesow.

Mustangs lose first football game 20-13

Red Lake County Central scored on its first possession, but wound up with a 20-13 loss Thursday in a season-opening high school football match-up against Fosston at Oklee.

"We knew we would be in for a tough battle," said Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "Fosston has a big, experienced team, and we have a number of new kids, especially on offense. But in certain areas of the game we did all right. There are some things we certainly have to work on, though, especially our running game."

The Mustangs netted only 60 yards on 21 running plays. They fared better in the air, where quarterback Bryce Huotari was 7-for-12 for 148 yards and two touchdowns. He was intercepted twice.

Down 14-7 at halftime, Red Lake County Central took advantage of a fumbled Fosston punt snap to put together a short third quarter scoring drive that made it 14-13 on a 5-yard Huotari scoring toss to Aaron Chaput.

However, the Greyhounds responded with a length-of-the-field march that led to a 1-yard Adam Maruska touchdown with six minutes left to wrap it up.

Scott Woldal finished with 124 yards on 4 pass receptions for the Mustangs, and Chaput added 3 catches for 24 yards.

On the other side of the ball, Woldal, a defensive end, and Dusty Paquin, a defensive back, led the Mustangs with 11 tackles each. Brett Bishop, Nate Lundeen and Brian Lundeen were in on 9 tackles.

Red Lake County Central will be on the road Friday against Ada-Borup, a 28-0 opening night loser vs. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

Johnson wins title game

Former Thief River Falls baseball and softball player Bruce Johnson of Cottage Grove was the winning pitcher in the Aug. 27 state senior amateur baseball tournament championship game – a 5-4 win for the Cottage Grove Parkers over the J-Thomas A's of St. Paul, a team featuring several former Minnesota Gophers, minor league players and Minnesota Moose coach Frank Serratore.

Johnson finished the year with a 5-0 record, giving up 13 runs in 47 innings over 11 games.

TRF sophomores lose to Crookston

Thief River Falls sophomores lost to Crookston 22-6 Wednesday in season-opening high school football action.

Lone score for the visitors came on a 6-yard Chris Mumm touchdown pass to Athony Hendricks.

Thief River Falls sophomores will be at East Grand Forks Tuesday for a 5 p.m. game.

Volleyball leagues to meet on Wednesday

Thief River Falls women's Tuesday and Thursday night volleyball league organizational meetings will be held Wednesday, Sept. 6, at 7 p.m. in the basement of the city auditorium.

Team captains or representatives should be on hand.

For additional information, contact Sandy Peterson at 681-7086 or Kristie Huseth at 681-8861.

Football equipment is ready for FMS players

Franklin Middle School sixth and seventh graders planning to play football this fall should pick up their equipment Wednesday or Thursday, Sept. 6 or 7.

The equipment will be issued from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. those days in the Franklin gym.

Linda Hanson recognized for work on farm

"I guess I've always loved the cattle," said Linda. "I had a lot of good experiences as a kid and met such terrific people."

Although Linda doesn't know if her children will follow in the footsteps of their parents, she says that they show an interest in farming now. She said David tells his folks that he'll do field work and Matthew and his parents will do the milking.

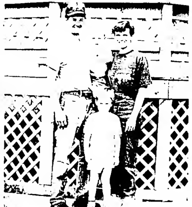
"No," said four-year-old David. "Matthew will help me."

When asked what it's like to live on a farm, Matthew replied, "Well I got the hay in, but I haven't got the straw."

He went on to explain that his brother keeps messing up the hay.

"The corn crop came in, too," he said. Aside from raising registered Ayrshire cows, David's parents also farm 1,800 acres of spring wheat, barely, oats and canola.

Linda is treasurer of the local chapter of Agri-women. This year's 13th annual Harvest of Knowledge will be held October 27 at the Ramada Inn in Grand Forks. There she and 13 other agribusiness women will be honored. One will be selected Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year 1995.



Mika and Linda Hanson farm 1,800 acres of land near Goodridge and raise registered Ayrshire cows. Here they take a minute out of their busy day to stand with their children Matthew, 20 months, and David, who just turned four.

of 1986 before he earned his PRCA card in August. At the end of the 1986 season he gave up bull riding.

Concentrating on announcing, he picked up jobs at high school, amateur and kids' rodeos. His knowledge and sincerity in addition to his announcing acumen became evident.

First Of All A Cowboy

"I'm a cowboy first and an announcer second," he said. "I know what it's like to sleep in the back of a car and eat day-old pizza because that's all you have. I've been there more than once."

While traveling on the bull riding circuit, he was saved from starvation by the odd jobs that his father found for him in the highway department from time to time. He remembers one job as a flagman on a section of Colorado highway in January.

"The traffic wasn't exactly heavy," he said with a smile at his understatement, "so I spent the time doing mock rodeo interviews, only I was playing the part of a National Finals Rodeo announcer interviewing me as winner of the bull riding competition." He hopes—make that expects—to be an NFR announcer some day. The National Finals is the Super Bowl, World Series and Stanley Cup of rodeo and a good announcer does have a chance to work his way to that pinnacle.

Getting the announcing job at other major rodeos is tougher. "The announcers at those rodeos," he said, "have been there since God was a very small child.

"If I have to out-live them all, I'm ready to do that," he said. "I'm only 32 years old....I've got the time. I've been at this for nine years and I don't think I'm blowing smoke when I say I'm as good an announcer as any of 'em right now.

Bull Rider Mentality

"That's my bull rider mentality again. I wish there was some way PRCA announcers could be in a contest to prove who is the best."

It doesn't work quite that way. You do your job, you grow and learn, you put in your time, you hope enough people who can make a difference hear you and you wait for a break. If all goes well it will come your way. If not, well....

"....I guess I really don't have it all that bad," he reflected. "I get paid for doing what I love to do nine months out of the year. When it gets a little lean in the winter I go to a company that makes covered padding for high jump and pole vault pits and baseball fences and sew up a storm."

Wise says that he will have about 65 PRCA rodeo performances this year with his present schedule. He could use more, but there are a lot of announcers who are doing a lot less. And his abilities are being recognized. He has worked the Mountain States Circuit Finals three times and the Wyoming State Fair Rodeo in Douglas among his prestige jobs.

Wayne Loves Every Rodeo

"But there's no such thing as a bad rodeo," he said. "I love every one that I do."

When Wise is back home in Colorado he spends as much time as possible with his two-year-old son Phillip, his "pride and joy" who lives with Wayne's ex-wife. He built a rocking bull for the youngster and Wayne says Phillip already has the riding style down pat. When Phillip goes with Wayne in the van, the bull goes along.

Phillip is named after one of Wayne's close friends, Phillip Whiteman of Lame Deer, MT, the 1985 world champion Indian rodeo saddle bronc rider. They met in Paris, France, three years ago and Whiteman was standing by when Wise called home and learned for sure that his wife was pregnant.

"I wasn't real thrilled about it at the time, to be honest about it," Wise admits, "but Phillip said it was a blessing and he wanted to be the first to congratulate me. I told him that if the baby was a boy I would name it after him. He said if I did he would give him an Indian name and buy him a pony.

"When Phillip was five months old they had an Indian naming ceremony and he was given the name 'Heyo Viekus,' which means 'Yellow Bird.' And I'll be very surprised if the pony doesn't come along when he gets a little older."

Rodeo fans should be aware that when they enjoy the Stampede this weekend, the voice they hear will be as good as any in professional rodeo—and it comes from a real live person who really wants this rodeo to be their best one ever.

Bemidji man needs a lung transplant

Gary Torfin of Bemidji, who has a number of relatives living in the Northern Watch area, is in immediate need of a lung transplant due to a hereditary condition known as idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis, which causes a scarring of the lungs.

There is no known cause of the disease which appears to be inherited from the mother's side of the family. Torfin, 53, was diagnosed with the disease in February of 1994. He and his wife Joanne have taken on an appeal for people to let their families know that they want to donate their organs upon death.

Gary is on the lung transplant list at the University of Minnesota. He has moved to Minneapolis where his daughter and son live to be within two or three hours of surgery if a lung becomes available. And he has opted for bed rest to conserve his energy.

As of this month, according to the LifeSource organization which promotes organ donation, there are 1,112 people regionally in need of a kidney, liver, pancreas, heart, lung or intestines. Last year there were 18,000 transplants nationally, including 10,000 involving kidneys and 720 involving lungs.

In 1994 there was a 68 per cent survival rate in the first year following lung transplants. The success rate might not seem high, but about a third of those on a waiting list die before an organ is received.

A new name is added to a national waiting list every 20 minutes. About nine people die each day while waiting for a transplant, and one donor can save the lives of up to eight people.

"You can help us," states a poster which Torfin has had circulated to explain his need and that of others similarly waiting for donor organs. "Get the facts about organ donation. Tell your loved ones your wishes. If you have the opportunity to donate your loved one's organs, please think of me and people like me who need your Gift of Life...and say "Yes.""

For more information about organ donations, call LifeSource at 1-800 247-4273.

Month's unemployment rate in Minnesota reaches a new low

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 3.7 per cent in July, down from a revised 3.9 per cent in June and 4.0 per cent a year ago, according to Commissioner R. Jane Brown of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security.

The state's unadjusted unemployment rate decreased to 3.4 per cent in July from a revised 4.2 per cent in June. This is well below the July 1994 rate of 3.7 per cent.

Both the unadjusted and seasonally adjusted rates are at the lowest level for July since 1978 when the rates were, respectively, 3.6 per cent and 3.8 per cent.

"Minnesota continues to outperform the nation in its unemployment rate and in terms of most other economic indicators," Commissioner Brown said. "We recognize that Minnesota has maintained a relatively diversified and robust economy that is doing very well, both in absolute terms and relative to neighboring states and the nation as a whole."

Kukowski wins 3rd

Badger — Photophygous That's a word Sylvia Kukowski will never forget how to spell. It was also one of the words she was given at the State Senior Spelling Bee where she took third place.

On August 16 and 17 Sylvia competed against 23 other contestants in the spelling bee held in Hibbing.

She said each person has their own tricks for learning and remembering how to spell words correctly. She usually tries to sound out the word. She stresses the importance of learning the correct pronunciation of a word, too.

The definition can be helpful because it sometimes helps trigger a memory. Kukowski says she may be a good speller because she studied Latin, the language from which many English word derived. — The Tribune

Brothers compete

Red Lake Falls — The seven sons of Alice and the late Lloyd Demarais, Bob, Lloyd, Jack, Curt, Richard, Mike and Bernard, returned to their home town to golf and see their mother, Alice Christianson. The Demarais brothers, calling themselves Brothers 7, Inc., organize a golf tournament each year. For seven days they leave their wives behind and golf at different courses.

Each year a different brother hosts the tournament. This year's host is Curt, of Pelican Rapids who said the brothers decided to include their hometown golf course, Oak Knolls, in the tour so they could visit their mother.

Next year, the seventh annual tournament will include the brothers' wives. It will also correspond with a reunion in Red Lake Falls and a celebration of Alice's 90th birthday. — The Gazette

More hungry bears

Hallock — Sue Hilman, who lives 13 miles east of Hallock, thinks her barbecue grill is what attracted a bear to her deck.

She was inside the house when she heard furniture moving on her deck. Her dog started barking, so Hilman decided to take a look outside.

"The minute I opened the door the dog came closer to me and the bear started snorting and stomping towards the dog," she said.

"I've lived here 25 years and never seen a bear and now I've seen two in two days."

Hilman also said that her neighbors have all seen bears, some with a cub and one with twin cubs.

What did he miss?

Fosston — September means the same thing to every kid: Summer's over, it's time to go back to school. It's important to make the most of those last few days before school begins.

Daryl Larson of Lengby knew what to do. He biked to Spring Lake for one last summer fishing trip. "I'm going for northerns," he explained. "I mostly caught bass and walleyes this summer, but in the mornings, I get northerns."

Young Larson is anxious for school to start. He didn't miss his friends, sports, art or the play ground, though. "Nope," he said. "I missed writing and math."

It wasn't easy, but Sharon was able to gather her family for a group picture. Starting from the top are: Mike, Jeremy, Wes, Jeff, Jason, Sharon and Tiffany. With seven people going in all different directions, it's not often one finds the entire Bring family home at the same time.

Sharon Bring named Marshall County Farm Woman of the Year

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

"I do like farming and I do like driving tractor. The worst part is coming home to a lot of clothes to wash," said Sharon Bring as she summed up her thoughts on being a farmer and a mother.

Sharon was recently named Marshall County Farm Woman of the Year. She and her husband Wesley live in rural Strandquist where they grow small grain, sunflowers and alfalfa on over 600 acres of land. They also raise dairy cattle and a small herd of beef cattle. On top of all that, their children raise horses, ducks, geese, chickens and rabbits as 4-H projects.

Growing up on a farm

Sharon has been farming since she was a little girl. She grew up on a farm between Newfolden and Thief River Falls. She has four sisters, Sue, Barb, Janet and Karen, and one brother, Steve. As the oldest child of the late Ray Holmstrom and Irene Holmstrom, Sharon helped with the farm work. She began driving tractor when she was seven and drove in the field when she was eight. On weekends and after school, Sharon and Steve cleaned the barn. They also helped feed the sheep. In addition to sheep, the family had beef and dairy cattle. Their father sold the dairy cattle when he went into carpentry, but kept the other animals.

Sharon also had to help with the house as well. Two of her sisters are much younger than she, and Sharon remembers helping take care of them. She also remembers getting up early to cook breakfast for her father while her mother was in the hospital with the babies.

Coming from a big family had its share of struggles. Sharon and her sisters had to share a room, and they often fought over clothes. But having a big family had some advantages, too. There were plenty of kids around with which to play. She recalls they played ball a lot, because between her family and their friends there were always enough kids for a game.

4-H was an important part of Sharon's childhood. She always though that her mother should write a book about trying to get six kids ready for the fair. Sewing was Sharon's specialty. She always earned a blue ribbon for sewing.

Enrollment is steady at most area schools

School children returned to many area schools this week. According to school officials, enrollment figures remained about the same at many of the schools.

Grygla School District 447 there were a total of 239 students enrolled on the first day. The following enrollment figures were reported on opening day: 19 in kindergarten, 11 in first, 14 in second, 19 in third, 15 in fourth, 15 in fifth and 18 in sixth. In seventh grade there were 17 enrolled, 15 in eighth, 28 in ninth, 22 in 10th, 23 in 11th, and 23 in 12th.

Goodridge School District 561 reported 14 fewer students on opening day. A total of 232 students were enrolled on the first day of school. The following enrollment figures were recorded on the first day: 9 in kindergarten, 18 in first, 14 in second, 16 in third, 16 in fourth, 18 in fifth, 16 in sixth, 18 in seventh, 19 in eighth, 21 in ninth, 27 in 10th, 18 in 11th, and 20 in 12th.

New teachers in the school district include: Kari Walton, first grade teacher, and John Wilebski, physical education/health, and assistant coach for boy's basketball, and he helps with football.

The Middle River and Greenbush school districts were officially consolidated this year. The new school district number is 2683. There were 587 students enrolled in the school district on opening day. Middle River schools reported the following enrollment figures: 18 in kindergarten, 10 in first, 22 in second, 20 in third, 12 in fourth, 27 in fifth, 17 in sixth, 51 in seventh, and 52 in eighth. Greenbush schools reported the following enrollment figures: 27 in kindergarten, 17 in first grade, 20 in second, 27 in third, 23 in fourth, 20 in fifth, 23 in sixth, 53 in ninth, 55 in 10th, 48 in 11th, and 45 in 12th grade.

There were a large number of new teachers introduced to students. Debra Anne, art teacher in both schools, Kathy Berger, fourth grade at Middle River; Kent Christian, social studies and physical education in Greenbush; John Fisher, physical education and health in both schools; Ken Janicke, physical education and health at Middle River, Mary Tenas, science at Greenbush, Deana Pink, math and science in Middle River, Dunell

TRF school enrollment up 29 for opening day

Total enrollment at Thief River Falls public schools on opening day Tuesday, September 5, increased by 29 from opening day a year ago to 2,361, according to information provided by the office of Supt. Mark Hinckley.

The total includes 959 through grade five at Challenger Elementary and Preschool (including 10 in Early Childhood Special Education), 597 in grades six through eight at Franklin middle school and 747 in grades nine through 12 at Lincoln high school—plus 58 full time equivalent students in the Area Learning Center.

Elementary and preschool enrollment is down 32 from last year, middle school enrollment is up 37 and high school enrollment is up 24 from opening day in 1994.

Total enrollment is up 44 from 1994-95 year-end enrollment of 2,317 and up 22 from the projection school officials had made prior to the start of the school year. Officials had projected 20 more elementary and preschool students, 30 fewer middle school and 12 fewer high school students than the number that showed up on opening day.

This year's increase does not make up for the decline of 77 students last year but halts a three-year slide from an enrollment of 2,441 in 1991.

Record enrollment in School District 564 schools was set in 1974 when 3,295 students were enrolled on opening day. Decreases were recorded annually after that record until 1990 when enrollment increased to 2,328 from 2,278 the previous year. That 2,278 figure is the lowest enrollment mark since the record high was set in 1974. Largest annual decreases in enrollment were 176 in 1982 and 99 in 1983.

Largest grade in the district this year is the sixth grade with 202 students. Eighth grade with 200 students is the only other grade with 200 or more. Smallest class is kindergarten with only 139 students enrolled—10 fewer than the 149 who attended kindergarten on opening day last year. Largest elementary class is grade two with 179 pupils.

High school classes are remarkably even in size with enrollment ranging from 179 in grade 12 to 189 in grades nine and 11 and 190 in grade 10. Every middle school grade is larger than any high school grade with 195 in grade seven the smallest middle school class.

Shane Anderson takes bullfighting seriously

Ft. Pierre, SD, rookie already making his mark in PRCA

"Barrel hop" is the term applied to this move executed by Shane Anderson, bullfighter at the fourth annual TRF Stampede held Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The move involves cutting between the bull and the barrel to provoke a charge, then hopping on the barrel and being propelled off when the bull hits it. Split second timing is of the essence.

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Imagine spending an eight-second eternity on the back of a ton of bucking bull trying to send you into orbit...and then have someone tell you to wait to get off! It doesn't sound too realistic, does it?

Bullfighter Shane Anderson gives that advice to bull riders quite often and, not surprisingly, most of them listen. There's half a dozen good reasons for being attentive—four hooves and two horns.

"If the guy has made the ride and is in control, I holler for him to wait 'til I get there," Anderson said. "If I can get in close and have the bull's attention on me, it's a whole lot safer for that cowboy to hit the ground."

Reasoning Makes Sense

The reasoning makes sense in a sport where it seems anyone with much sense wouldn't be in the sport. As long as a person is going to try to ride bulls—either for a living or the adrenaline rush it seems to provide—he might as well do it as safely as he can. And more often than not his safety is dependent on the courage and skill of the bullfighter.

Anderson fought bulls for three performances during the fourth annual Thief River Falls Stampede September 1, 2 and 3 and seemed to be in a bit of trouble only once. That was on opening night when he tried—and succeeded—to put a little extra excitement into the rodeo action.

"I'm really not into fighting bulls for entertainment," the 22-year-old from Ft. Pierre, SD, said in a Sunday morning interview. "I don't go to the Wrangler bullfights and some of those things. I'll take a horn to

Volunteers team up to improve Camp Norris

Williams — Volunteers from near and far worked together to spruce things up at Norris Camp.

September 2 was the first Norris Camp Work Day. About 15 volunteers from Warroad, Roosevelt, Wannaska, Williams, Thief River Falls, and even St. Joseph and White Bear Lake showed up to work.

And work they did. The old power house was painted, the kitchen walls and ceiling were cleaned and patched and windows were repaired.

Professional painters Mike Bay and Greg McDonald of St. Joseph, lent their expertise and equipment to the project. Expert carpenters Will Heppner and Clarence Bue helped out too. Plenty of non-experts did cleaning and patching.

Money was donated by the Friends of Norris Camp, and paint and lumber supplies were bought at a special rate from Hardware Hank and Marvin Hardware and Lumber of Warroad.

Camp manager Gretchen Mehmel showed volunteers some areas that will need work in the future.

Sentencing to Service benefits community

Roseau — People in the Roseau County Jail don't just sit around and do nothing. They spend their days outside of the jail working as part of the Sentencing to Service (STS) program.

The program takes prisoners out of local jails, who are of no risk, and work them on projects that benefit the community. STS crews on Roseau county have worked on many projects including, planting trees for the Roseau School and at the Roseau City Park, cleaning the Gardens ice arena in Warroad, painting the Poplar Grove Town Hall and the curbs in Greenbush, and cleaning brush on Bemis Hill, Pelan Park and on Skagen township roads.

STS gives judges an alternative when sentencing, helps accomplish projects that might not otherwise get done and it makes prisoners easier to handle while they are in jail.

"When they come home (to the jail), they're tired," said Jail Administrator Gracia Nelson.

Crew Chief Steven Borrough says his crews work a regular eight-hour shift with lunch and water breaks.

Can you believe this collection?

Karlstad — Robert Petterson of Karlstad doesn't throw away old beer cans. Nor does he recycle them. He collects them.

Petterson isn't much of a beer drinker, but he is quite a collector. He has 72,000 cans in his collection. Most of them haven't been opened from the top. Instead a hole is punched in the bottom, making the can a collector's item.

Petterson trades with other collectors from around the world. He is also a member of a collector's club and reads about other collectors in trade magazines. He has a reference book on cans, but it is not complete. He is eagerly awaiting the 1995 version of the collector's book.

Classical music showcase in Fosston

The monthly meeting of the Classical Music Showcase of Talent for and by area young people and children will be held on Sunday, September 10 at 3 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center at 3rd and North Eaton Avenue in Fosston.

Purposes of the showcase are:
1. To increase the awareness of classical music in the Fosston area.
2. To allow area young people and children the opportunity to learn the skills needed to apear in public in a non-threatening environment.
3. to allow young musicians, their parents, teachers and the public the opportunity to inter-act on an informal basis following the showcase performances.

The day's emcee will be R.C. Koehler.

Each showcase includes a biographical sketch of a classical composer which will be done this month by Doris Krogstad of Winger.

Each showcase also includes an icebreaker activity for the young people which also serves as a learning activity. This month's activity will be conducted by Nancy Pearson of Fosston.

An attendance gift for spectators this month will be furnished by Doris Krogstad while participants will be elegible for a $5 cash gift from the showcase.

Refreshments will end the afternoon's activities allowing all an informal time together. This month's servers are Irene Ferden and Doris Krogstad.

Any child, parent or teacher who wishes to participate should contact the Classical Music Showcase at Embassy Center, Fosston, MN 56542. No pre-registration is needed, just arrive a bit early on the day of the showcase.

Everyone is welcome.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Here are a few more recipes for after-school (or any time) snacking.

Serve these sinfully rich bars for a special dessert too:

TURTLE COOKIES

Crust

2 cups flour
1/2 cup softened butter
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup whole pecan halves

Combine all ingredients and mix with mixer until particles are fine. Pat into ungreased 9x13 inch pan. Sprinkle pecans evenly over crust.

Caramel

2/3 cup butter
1/2 cup packed brown sugar

Combine sugar and butter in saucepan and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until surface of mixture begins to boil. Boil 1/2 to 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Pour evenly over crust. Bake near center of 350 degree oven for 18-22 minutes, until entire caramel layer is bubbly and crust is light golden brown.

Marble Layer

1 cup milk chocolate chips

Remove bars from oven and sprinkle with chips. Allow chips to melt slightly and then slightly swirl them for a marbelized effect. Do not spread chips.

Cool completely before cutting.

These cookies would also be great for Halloween treats:

CARROT COOKIES

1 cup shortening
3/4 cup sugar
1 cup cooked, mashed carrots
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Mix in order given. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for about 15 minutes.

Frosting

Add enough orange juice to 2 cups powdered sugar to make of spreading consistency. Also add the grated rind from one orange.

A breakfast cookie treat:

BREAKFAST COOKIES

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup coconut
2 cups quick cooking oatmeal

Mix ingredients together. Drop from teaspoon on cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes.

I remember my grandmother making these mouth-watering cookies:

DATE FILLED COOKIES

Cookie Dough

1 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 1/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup hot water

Filling

2 cups cut up dates
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour

Mix ingredients for filling and boil in saucepan until thick. Add a dash of lemon juice and then set aside to cool.

Mix dough ingredients together.

Drop a small spoonful of dough on greased cookie sheet, flattening somewhat with the finger. Top with a small amount of filling and then place another dab of dough on top of filling (this does not have to cover filling completely, as it will spread during baking).

Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes or until medium brown.

Town officers meet Sept. 19 in Newfolden

Township officials in District 13 of the Minnesota Association of Townships will meet Tuesday, September 19, in the Newfolden community center with registration at 7:30 and the meeting starting at 7:45 p.m.

District 13 includes the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau. Marville Magnusson of rural Argyle, District 13 director, will give the welcome and preside at the meeting.

Legislative update will be given by David Fricke, executive director of the Minnesota Association of Townships (MAT). Jean Woorster, MAT administrative assistant, will review MAT and townships issues and Rose Lynch, MAT insurance agency manager, will discuss insurance.

Legal issues will be discussed by John Dooley, MAT attorney. Legislators present will be introduced. Scheduled speaker is Mrs. Mildred Klamar of Gatzke, secretary of the Minnesota Land Owners Rights Association.

Refreshments will be provided by PKM Electric Cooperative.

Pilot project seeks affordable homes in Red Lake county

With grant funds provided by the McKnight Foundation, a pilot project is underway in Red Lake county to use HUD code manufactured homes with the addition of site-built features to provide affordable single family housing on sites in Red Lake county.

First phase of the project involves using the three bedroom #902 Royal American home manufactured by Homark in Red Lake Falls at two sites in Red Lake Falls and two sites in Plummer. A standard "stick-built" unit will be built in Oklee for a cost and quality comparison.

The manufactured homes will be placed on permanent foundations and will have customized site-built features such as porches, garages and landscape amenities. The homes are expected to be in the $45,000 to $55,000 total purchase price range.

Sites for locating the homes are being provided by the municipalities and the units are being constructed for the Red Lake County Economic Development Corporation with construction financing provided by the McKnight Foundation grant.

Design of the site, landscaping, site-built features and integration with the selected manufactured units are being provided by a team from the University of Minnesota's College of Architecture and Landscape Architecture with funds from the Minnesota Extension Service and the McKnight Foundation.

Ripken's 2,131st Game A Baseball Milestone

How many people do you know, in any area of employment, who hasn't missed a day of work in 14 years? Not many people are able to stay free of illness or injury or avoid some emergency for that length of time.

When Cal Ripken, venerable shortstop for the Baltimore Orioles, set a new major league record Wednesday night for playing in 2,131 consecutive baseball games it was certainly a milestone in professional sports history. He hasn't missed playing in a major league game since May 30, 1982.

Because of the media attention devoted to the record-setting feat, scarcely anyone in America who is aware of the world around them can be unaware of Ripken's record, even if they know nothing about baseball and care less. As a worldwide event it may not compare with the Titanic, Pearl Harbor, the Berlin wall or any number of earthquakes, hurricanes or volcanic eruptions. For the here and now, however, it is an accomplishment worthy of note.

Ripken achieved the record previously held by Lou Gehrig as a full participant in the sport. He is a full game player at shortstop, one of the most exposed positions in the game. He chases pop flies into the face of charging outfielders, dives for elusive ground balls, makes off balance throws, turns double plays around and over the spikes of sliding baserunners, takes extra bases on hits to the outfield. In short, he does everything at his position and in the game to risk injury.

One would have to wonder how many times over that span of 2,131 games that Ripken played the game when he wasn't completely healthy or well; what pain or discomfort he endured on the field. Just getting out of bed when a person has the flu, for example, is a major effort, much less getting out of bed and playing major league shortstop.

To Ripken's credit, although he must have coveted the record as it became attainable, he never reduced his effort on the field. He continued to be a player that every major league team would love to have on its roster, a productive player who hits with power (he hit his 14th home run of the season in his record-tying 1,130th game and his 15th in the record-setting 1,131st) and with runners on base, runs out every batted ball, fields his position well and leads by example.

Of all baseball records, Gehrig's 2,130 consecutive games had been considered the one that would never be broken. Ripken's feat in no way diminishes the record that had been held by the "Iron Horse." It does show that extraordinary effort is still being made by extraordinary players.

As Ripken approached Gehrig's record there were some who offered the opinion that he should tie the revered mark and then retire. That opinion was obviously expressed by those who had not endured what Ripken has in achieving the mark. It also lacks consideration for a player who, records aside, is still productive, makes his living playing baseball and loves the game.

Each time Ripken takes the field he now sets a new record that will be even more difficult to break than Gehrig's mark was. To say that it will never be broken, however, is to assume limits on human ability. Ripken has shown such assumptions are flawed.

We join a nation of baseball fans who, if disenchanted with the politics and posturing in the professional game today, still appreciate the dedication and commitment which Cal Ripken has displayed in the time honored tradition of the national pastime. We hope he continues to build his record until the day he chooses to retire from the game and that that day will be a long time from now.

Midnight Basketball And The General Welfare

"....During the entire debate over the controversial 1994 Crime Bill not a single Republican rose up on the House or Senate floor and attacked the $10 billion in social spending on the grounds, not that it was wasteful, but that most, if not all, of it is simply not the proper responsibility of the federal government," writes Stephen Moore of the Cato Institute in Policy Review.

"Conservatives," he insists, "should have been asking the question: Where is the authority under the Constitution for Congress to spend money on midnight basketball, modern-dance classes, self-esteem training and the construction of swimming pools?

"....Fiscal conservatives need to go beyond making the case that government wastes money—which it certainly does—and start making the case that most federal spending today is illegitimate because it lies outside Congress' spending powers under the Constitution," he adds.

The Constitution empowers the federal government to perform certain specific duties, he points out, and does not give Congress any authority to "pay money to farmers, run the health care industry; impose wage and price controls, give welfare to the poor and unemployed, provide job training, subsidize electricity and telephone service, lend money to businesses or foreign governments or build parking garages, tennis courts and swimming pools."

Moore recalls that, in earlier times, Congress understood and respected the principle of limited government. "Even expenditures for the most charitable of purposes were routinely spurned as illegitimate," he reports. "Legislators back then were not uncharitable scrooges. They simply felt honor-bound to uphold the Constitution."

According to Moore's article, the passage of the 16th Amendment in 1913 was the first of many steps leading to "the reversal of this ethic of extremely judicious use of the government's power to spend and tax. Prior to that, Congress' power to spend was held in check by its limited power to tax."

Since the 1930's, Moore notes, the courts have interpreted the "general welfare" clause of the Constitution to mean that Congress may spend money for any purpose, whether an enumerated power of government or not, as long as legislators deem it to be in the general welfare of the United States.

"This deliberate misconstruction is exactly the opposite of what the drafters of the Constitution intended," Moore says.

Reversing this practice which is now woven into the fabric of American economic and political life may well be impossible, but it certainly is not without question.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively, letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Mary Lundquist to enter ministry Sun.

Mary Lundquist

Mary Lundquist, a graduate of Middle River high school and Northland Community College in Thief River Falls, will be ordained into the ministry Sunday at 4 p.m. in First Lutheran Church in Middle River.

Mary is the daughter of Gladys (Lundquist) Sorter of Middle River and the late Milton Lundquist. She is a recent graduate of Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul and has accepted a call to serve Christ Lutheran Church in Evansville, IN.

Bishop Arlen Hermodson, recently installed as Bishop of the Northwestern Minnesota District of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, will conduct the service and Rev. Trueman Daniels will be the guest speaker.

After completing her Associate in Arts degree at Northland, Mary attended Bemidji State University where she graduated with a bachelor of science degree in art education. She taught school at Middle River and Le Roy.

For two years she taught English at Tanzania Lutheran Seminary in Tanzania, Africa. She was involved in campus ministry at Mason City, IA, before entering Luther Seminary four years ago.

Pancake breakfast at Embassy Center

The Embassy Community Center of Fosston will serve a Pancake Breakfast on Sunday, September 10 from 8 to 11 a.m. The breakfast is in conjuction with Fosston's Heritage Days and National Granparent's Day.

The menu will consist of the usual "home made from scratch buttermilk pancakes," sausages, juice, coffee and milk. All grandparents attending and supporting the breakfast, which is a benefit for the senior center building addition, will be eligible for a special drawing for gift items. The breakfast is on a free will offering basis.

Decor and music for the day is in keeping with the Heritage Day "Western Theme."

Veterans Service office to close

Office of Pennington county veterans service officer John Ellison will be closed September 11-20 while he attends the annual state convention of county veterans service officers, fall conference of the Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the North Dakota -Northwest Minnesota county veterans service officer fall training conference.

Susan Maijala to speak at ELCW

Susan Maijala, of Grand Marais, will speak at the ELCW meeting on September 11 at 7 p.m. at the First Lutheran Church in Middle River. Susan is a supervisor at the Grand Portage Bay Travel Information Center, Grand Portage. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Monday evening meal at Center

The Monday evening meal at the Heritage Center on September 11 will be a Swiss steak dinner at 5:30 p.m.

Participants will also be celebrating Grandparents Day, and all are encouraged to bring their grandchildren. There will also be door prizes awarded.

Lakeside Twirlers square dance

The Lakeside Twirlers Square Dance Club invites all area dancers to their dance on Saturday, September 16 at 8 p.m. at the Erskine Community Center. Jerome Polucek will be calling the tips. Bring a friend! A lunch will be served after the dance.

Swenson grows large tomato

Doris Swenson of Greendale Manor had a bountiful tomato crop on her 12 plants this year, with one of the tomatoes almost a crop in itself. Doris said that one of her Celebrity variety vines produced a nicely shaped tomato which was 12 1/4 inches in circumference.

Game 1 rally leads to TRF win

■ Prowlers beat Pirates in volleyball opener

A momentum-building first game comeback sparked Thief River Falls to a 15-13, 15-6, 15-2 season-opening high school volleyball win over visiting Crookston Tuesday.

The Pirates had leads of 9-3, 10-5 and 11-7 in Game 1 before the Prowlers gained an 11-11 tie on an ace serve by junior Michelle Mathson.

Crookston was back on top 13-12 following an ace by sophomore Tracy Westrom, but junior Kim Hook came up with back-to-back service points for a 14-13 Thief River Falls lead.

It was several minutes, however, before Thief River Falls picked up the final point as a series of five game-extending side outs came to an end when the officials over ruled an apparent Crookston service-breaker at the net.

Rest of the match was a blow-out. Senior Kendra Dimich served Thief River Falls to a 6-0 head start in Game 2, and five straight mid-game service points by senior Maren Thorson highlighted Game 3 efforts.

"I was really pleased with the way they played," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "It's always fun to get that first win, especially when it's on the first day of school and Parent's Night."

Thorson led the Prowlers with six kills. Dimich finished with 11 last-touch points and 14 assists.

"The first game, even with the experience we have coming back, you could see they were all nervous," noted Anderson. "There's a lot of pressure; they all want to do well. It came together – slowly."

Thief River Falls swept the junior varsity match 15-8, 15-5.

TRF Scoring

■ Last touch points - Kandra Dimich 11, Maren Thorson 9, Michelle Mathson 8

■ Kills - Thorson 6, Dimich 3, Mathson 3, Katie Kraemer 3

■ Ace serves - Mathson 2, Carrie Rud 2

■ Assists - Dimich 14

Kevin Jenkins wins trap title

Kevin Jenkins came out of the Class A ranks to win top honors in the 1995 Thief River Falls Trap League City Championship Shoot.

Jenkins' 49 on rounds of 25-24 was the highest score in the 50-bird event, earning him individual City Champion recognition.

Steinhauer, Fran Johnson, Dennis Zulawski and Dick Seulthorp all turned in a 48 to lead the Class AA shooters, forcing a title-deciding 25-bird shoot-off in which Steinhauer had a 24, while Johnson and Dennis Zulawski both hit 23 and Seulthorp recorded a 20.

There was also a first place tie in Class C, where Mike Lane and Keith Moen both shot 45. Lane won the shoot-off 20-16.

EGF shuts out TRF sophomore squad

East Grand Forks was a 12-0 winner over Thief River Falls Tuesday in a match-up of sophomore high school football teams.

Thief River Falls sophomores, off to an 0-2 start on the road, will be at Bemidji Monday for a 5 p.m. game.

Mustangs, Nordics open '95 volleyball schedule with wins

Red Lake County Central served 100 percent in Game 1 and overcame an 11-5 deficit in Game 2 Tuesday en route to a season-opening 15-7, 7-15, 16-14, 15-3 high school volleyball win over host Kittson County North.

"For the first match, it went well at times," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray.

Junior Tara Bachand closed out the match with a string of 10 straight service points.

Nordics vs. Wolverines

Marshall County Central swept visiting Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 15-10, 15-2, 15-12 Tuesday in the 1995 season opener for both teams.

"I think the girls were really nervous," explained Wolverines coach Tina Rode. "They weren't working well together and weren't communicating like they have been in practice."

Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club members will be admitted free of charge to selected fall sports events at Lincoln High School and Northland Community and Technical College.

Sports Boosters membership cards will gain admittance to the Pioneers' football season opener today (Saturday) vs. Worthington; the Pioneers' volleyball match against Itasca Wednesday, Sept. 13; the Prowlers' volleyball match vs. East Grand Forks Tuesday, Sept. 19; and the Prowlers' swimming meet against Detroit Lakes/Frazee/Perham on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Representatives from the Sports Boosters Club will be on hand at each of the events to answer questions about the organization.

Sports Boosters membership fee is $5. The group meets each Thursday at 12-noon at the Elks.

Prowlers start strong in 3-0 win over Tigers

Thief River Falls started strong Thursday in a 15-0, 15-13, 15-11 high school volleyball win over host Stephen.

"Everything seemed to go right for us in that first game," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "We had great serve reception, our serving was good and we did a nice job communicating at the net."

Things weren't quite as easy the rest of the night, but the Prowlers nevertheless finished with their second 3-0 win in as many starts.

"Overall, it was a good night," noted Anderson.

Thief River Falls added a 16-14, 15-10 win in the junior varsity match and an 11-15, 18-16, 8-0 victory in the C squad encounter that ended on a time limit rule.

The Prowlers are at the Roseau Invitational today (Saturday), where they are grouped with Roseau, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, and Tri-County in Pool A. Warroad, Kittson County North, Roseau II, and Blackduck are in Pool B. Round-robin play start at 10 a.m. Finals begin at 3 p.m.

Agassiz Refuge to have duck banding outing on Sept. 19

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is having an evening of duck banding with the public on Tuesday, Sept. 19.

Individuals or groups of people interested in attending should call the refuge at 218-449-4115 to make reservations. The first 35 people signed up will be allowed to participate in the banding activities.

Participants will need to be at refuge headquarters at 5:30 p.m. Banding will be completed by dark. Participants can either help handle ducks, or they may come to observe.

Those participants who want to handle ducks should wear proper clothes or rain gear. If it is raining, or ground conditions are too wet for that evening, banding will be rescheduled for Thursday, Sept. 21.

Participants will learn banding techniques, including baiting, rocket and net set up, caging, handling, and sexing and aging of mallard ducks. Usually several other species of ducks are caught, providing an opportunity to compare duck species – a good hands-on experience for participants to learn about waterfowl.

Schedule Changes

Recently-announced changes in the Lincoln High School athletic schedule:

■ Saturday, Sept. 9 - Roseau Invitational volleyball tournament starts at 10 a.m., not 9 a.m.

■ Monday, Sept. 11 - Franklin Middle School girls tennis vs. Crookston moved to 3:45 p.m.

TRF freshmen win 44-8 football game

Thief River Falls freshmen went to 2-0 Thursday with a 44-8 high school football win over Grand Forks Red.

Wade Chiodo scored on runs of 53, 26 and 45 yards; quarterback Treavor Peterson scored on a 1-yard run and passed 11 yards to Jeff Rislov for another score; and Aaron Hendricks added a 33-yard touchdown run for the winners, who had a 16-0 first quarter lead, a 32-0 halftime cushion and a 38-0 third quarter gap.

Darrin Bjerknes scored on a pair of two-point conversion runs, Chiodo had one, and Rislov wound up with a two-pointer on a fumble recovery in the end zone.

Area Thursday volleyball results...

Nordics lose marathon

Depth is not a Marshall County Central strong point. And when you play a five-game match that stretches on for 2-hours, 45-minutes like the Nordics did Thursday at Warroad, depth becomes a major factor. The result was a 15-12, 15-11, 16-18, 10-15, 15-8 high school volleyball win for Warroad.

"We got tired," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "We didn't play real well. We played desperate volleyball. We kept the ball alive, but we did not play positions well. Instead of attacking them, they kept us on our heels."

The loss gave the Nordics a first-week 1-1 season start.

Tricia Pederson led Marshall County Central with 15 service points, and Jorgenson said Amanda Mylirer turned in the Nordics' top defensive effort.

Wolverines vs. Gators

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke outlasted Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 15-10, 15-9, 15-17, 7-15, 15-9 Thursday at Grygla.

It was the season opener for the Gators and the head coaching debut of Christi Anderson, who saw a 10-3 first-game lead slip away. "I started to substitute, and we lost our momentum," she explained. "I was really proud of the way they came back. They're going to jell this year, I can tell."

Poor serving, said Anderson, hurt the Gators.

The Wolverines evened their record at 1-1.

Mustangs vs. Greyhounds

Red Lake County Central fell short in a strong first-game bid, and wound up losing a 3-0 match to Fosston Thursday in Oklee.

The Greyhounds won 15-13, 15-10, 15-5.

"The first game was a good one," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "If we could have won that one, it might have been a lot closer match."

Angie Chervestad had 14 kills to lead the 1-1 Mustangs.

TRF freshmen win in volleyball debut

Two Thursday wins over Crookston marked the start of the 1995 season for the Thief River Falls freshman high school volleyball program.

Thief River Falls swept the A match 15-3, 15-12 and took the B match 15-10, 15-10.

36 give blood during Best Western drive

Forty-five people volunteered to donate blood and 36 were able to give during the blood collection drive conducted August 30 at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Four of the donors gave blood for the first time. Providing assistance in conducting the drive were Deb Holmgren, McDonald's and Jubilee Foods.

"Providing blood for this agricultural region during this time of the year is very difficult because of pressing seasonal work," states Bev Willits, community relations representative for United Blood Services of Fargo, ND. "Our organization is appreciative of the support shown by the people of Thief River Falls."

United Blood Services meets the blood needs of patients in 46 area hospitals through blood collection drives such as the one at the Best Western.

Fall carnival at Challenger Tuesday

Fall carnival night for all preschool children and their parents in School District 564 will take place Tuesday, September 12, from 5 to 7 p.m. at Challenger elementary school.

Children participating can experience a carnival theme, have their face painted, make a hat, enjoy a snack and take part in other activities. This is a free event, sponsored by Challenger preschool programs including Challenger Launch, Early Childhood Family Education, Early Childhood Special Education and Head Start.

For more information about the carnival or preschool programs, call 681-8670.

Community band begins rehearsals

Northland Community Band, now entering its 24th season and one of the longest standing community bands in the state, will begin rehearsals Monday, September 11, at 7 p.m. in the music room at Northland Community and Technical College.

Directed by Les Torgerson, music instructor at Northland Community and Technical College, the band is co-sponsored by the City of Thief River Falls and the college.

Band members are college students, music directors and other musicians from throughout northwestern Minnesota who enjoy performing. High school students are accepted upon the recommendation of their directors and the instrumental balance of the band.

Many larger instruments are available for rental at NCTC and college credit or continuing education credit is available.

First performance by the band this year will be Monday, November 6, at 7:30 p.m. Guest conductor for this fall's event is Dr. Tim Lautzenheiser, internationally-known author, motivational speaker, clinician and conductor, Torgerson said.

TAYLOR® Outdoor Woodstove
TAYLOR® did not become the largest manufacturer of outdoor woodstoves by deceiving the public to make sales. Rather, we built our reputation by producing the most thermal efficient, best designed and longest lasting woodstove on the market. One of our competitors chose to use our name in their advertising as one of their attempts to mislead customers. They claim to be the cleanest burning stove with a 92.5% combustion efficiency. To clarify what this figure of combustion efficiency actually means is that 92.5% of the wood you put in their firebox will burn up; that's it. A good bonfire could achieve this meaningless number. Thermal efficiency is the percent of heat energy or BTU's that is successfully transferred from the wood to the water. TAYLOR® stoves have always had the highest proven thermal efficiency of all woodstoves tested, 81%. This is due to the double pass flue design and separate secondary burn chamber that reburns gases all other stoves put up in the clouds. Please check out TAYLOR® and you will see we clearly have a superior outdoor wood heating system.

Enrollment steady at area schools

Schmidt, social studies and physical education in Middle River; Dawn Lloyd, library at both schools; Randy Moe, wide area network manager for both schools; Heather Olson, English in Middle River; and Nels Onstad, math in Greenbush and wrestling coach.

Newfolden School District 441 is up about seven students. On opening day, the following enrollment figures were reported: 26 in kindergarten, 26 in first, 29 in second, 28 in third, 26 in fourth, 27 in fifth, 38 in sixth, 38 in seventh, 32 in eighth, 36 in ninth, 37 in 10th, 42 in 11th, and 39 in 12th grade. There were a total of 424 students enrolled. There were no new instructors.

Oklee School District 627 reported 294 students enrolled on opening day, which is a few below last year's figures. The following figures for opening day were released: 14 in kindergarten, 16 in first, 20 in second, 12 in third, 21 in fourth, 19 in fifth, 28 in sixth, 24 in seventh, 23 in eighth, 21 in ninth, 35 in 10th, 35 in 11th, and 26 in 12th.

The following teachers were introduced to students this year: Mrs. Ventura, math teacher for kindergarten through grade 12; Susan Lee, math; Bruce Nelson, high school social studies; Jodi Lee, special education. New administrators were introduced as well: William Reusch, kindergarten through grade 12 principal; and Galen Clow is the new superintendent.

Plummer School District 628 reported a few more students than last year. First day enrollment figures totaled 215: 14 in kindergarten, 11 in first, 12 in second, 16 in third, 16 in fourth, 18 in fifth, 15 in sixth, 20 in seventh, 22 in eighth, 17 in ninth, 19 in 10th, 17 in 11th, and 18 in 12th.

New teachers introduced to students this year included: Laurie Duden, kindergarten teacher; Joy Ann Dahl, music teacher; Gene Lunsetter, music teacher; Mike Brunsberg, English teacher; and Dave Johnson, special education instructor.

Warren schools consolidated with Alvarado and Oslo schools last year. The total number of students enrolled on first day was 825, down from 835 from last year.

Opening day enrollment figures for Warren elementary school were as follows: 44 in kindergarten, 39 in first, 40 in second, 45 in third, 52 in fourth, 48 in fifth, and 59 in sixth.

Opening day enrollment figures for Alvarado elementary school were: 24 in kindergarten, 14 in first, 13 in second grade, 17 in third, 14 in fourth, and 14 in fifth.

In grades seven through 12 there were 57 in grade 7, 66 in grade 8, 68 in grade 9, 66 in grade 10, 76 in grade 11, and 62 in grade 12.

In Red Lake Falls School District 630, enrollment was down from about 516 to 506. International students, however, are still enrolling.

The following enrollment figures for the first day of school were recorded: 23 in kindergarten, 17 in grade 1, 39 in grade 2, 30 in grade 3, 24 in grade 4, 39 in grade 5, 25 in grade 6, 60 in grade 7, 42 in grade 8, 61 in grade 9, 54 in grade 10, 47 in grade 11, and 45 in grade 12.

New teachers for the school year include: Kay Edberg, Spanish teacher; Pete Hogl, physical education; Beth Archie, English; Dorothy Flaherty, French and ESL; Kathy Thygeson, fifth grade; and Tammy Conn, food occupations.

RECD FARMS FOR SALE

The RECD, USDA Will Be Accepting Sealed Bids On The Following tracts Of Land:

TRACT #1: Is a 252 acre farm/investment tract located in Espelie Township of Marshall County, Minnesota. The property is described as Lots 1, 2, and 3, and the SE1/4NW1/4, NE1/4SW1/4, and the S1/2SE1/4 all in Section 30-155-39. The farm includes a 40' x 80' machine shed and 40,000 bushels of grain storage with a drying system. There is approximately 196 tillable acres on this tract. There is 169.6 acres enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program with an annual payment of $7,445.00 through 1997.

TRACT #2: Is a 330 acre farm/hunting tract located in Highlanding and Star Township of Pennington County, Minnesota. The property is described as the E1/2SW1/4, W1/2E1/2 of Lot 4, SE1/4NW1/4, and Lot 1 all in Section 31-15339 and the NE1/4 of Section 36-153-40. This is a bareland tract that contains approximately 145 acres of crop land and 183 acres of meadow/woodland.

Terms will be cash at closing. Closing will occur within 30 days of RECD, USDA accepting the offer of the successful bidder. All bids must be submitted on Form FmHA 1955-46 (available at any RECD Office). All bids must be accompanied by a deposit of 10% in the form of a cashier's check, certified check or money order. All bids must be submitted in a sealed envelope and marked "SEALED BID OFFER - TRACT 1 OR TRACT 2," as appropriate, and in separate envelopes.

Sale is subject to conservation deed restrictions, which will restrict the purchaser's use of the wetlands, floodplains, highly erodible land and other special areas of the property.

The purchaser of Tract I will be required to assume the CRP Contract.

The purchaser will be required to comply with the conditions of a Natural Resource Conservation Service conservation plan.

Bids will be accepted until 1:00 p.m., Thursday, September 21, 1995 at the Thief River Falls RECD Office, 1305 North Dale Street, P.O. Box 486, Thief River Falls, Minnesota 56701, telephone 218-681-2843. Bidding information and packets are available at the above office. Bid opening will be held Thursday, September 21, 1995 at 1:30 p.m. at the Thief River Falls RECD Office.

The Government reserves the right to cancel the sale at any time and the right to reject any or all offers.

The property is sold as is.

Rookie bullfighter takes his business seriously

save a cowboy. I don't mind doing that, but I don't see any reason to get hurt if you don't have to."

Despite his devotion to the most important aspect of his job—keeping angry bulls away from fallen cowboys—and his reluctance to take unnecessary chances, he did put his abilities to work in showmanship at the end of each bull ride performance at the Stampede.

Tries To Excite Crowd

On opening night Friday, September 1, he attempted a stunt that had the crowd—and probably himself—gasping for breath. The stunt is called "jumping the bull," probably because that is exactly what is involved. As Anderson explains it, the procedure is quite simple.

"What you want to do," he said, "is get the bull to attack the barrel you are standing on. When he hits it and knocks it out from under you, you land on his shoulders, run down his back and jump off. It looks real good if it's done right."

Friday night someone forgot to tell the bull how its part went. Shane rolled the barrel at the bull and it responded by giving it a few solid butts with its head and horns. Then Anderson set the barrel on end, stood upright on top of it and poised for the bull's attack. So far, so good.

Bull Calls Off Attack

As Shane committed himself to jump, the bull stopped its charge and the barrel began to tip forward. Instead of landing on the bull's shoulders, Shane's leap carried him only as far as its head, which the bull instinctively thrust upward and easily tossed the bullfighter aside. Fortunately, it didn't immediately follow up its advantage and Shane scrambled away with only a few bumps and bruises.

Saturday night and Sunday, Anderson executed "barrel hops" which involved cutting between the bull and the barrel, enticing a charge, then leaping onto the barrel as the bull hit it and propelled him off. He had planned to try the jump again Sunday, but again the bull refused to come to the barrel.

Anderson's willingness to bring extra excitement into the rodeo despite his general aversion to bullfighting showmanship attests to his professionalism. In only his first year as a professional, he exhibits a maturity far beyond his youth, both in his philosophy and his performance.

Maturity From Experience

That maturity comes from a confidence gained through five years of work as an amateur and a family background in the field. His father, Gale Anderson, has been a PRCA card holder as a barrelman and clown since 1970. Shane worked with him in his act for several years.

Experience working with his Dad stands him in good stead as he works with different barrelmen and clowns. Although he had never met Steve Tomac before the Stampede, he fit into the barrelman's acts as if they had been doing them together for months.

To get his PRCA bullfighter card, Anderson had to have two other PRCA bullfighters and a PRCA stock contractor attest to his abilities. Signing for Shane were bullfighters Ben Ehy of Hiawatha, IA and Tim Rodgers of Sikeston, MO and contractor John Walters of Mid-States Rodeo Company in Kirksville, MO.

Works For John Walters

Walters hired Shane as a bullfighter at a bull ride in Missouri and Shane has worked a number of Walters' rodeos this year, keeping busy all summer. He expects to also have a contract with Walters for the 1996 season.

An athlete in basketball and track (he has run a 50.5 in the 400 meters) in high school, he uses his athleticism and quickness to stay healthy in the rodeo arena. He helps the cowboys while they are on the bulls as well as after they come off.

"Part of my job is to make the bulls turn back," he said. "I try to take the bull to the rider's free hand. I don't believe in taking any unnecessary chances. If a rider gets bucked off, I try to get in the face of the bull as quick as I can, draw him away from the cowboy and get out as quick as I can."

His quickness and speed have saved him a number of times. He suffered a cracked leg in rodeo school but has broken no bones as a professional bullfighter. He said he intends to stay in the business as long as his health permits.

Learns Stunts At Rodeo School

Anderson said he learned a lot of his technique and stunts at rodeo schools put on by Alan Olson at White River, SD and the Korkow Rodeo School put on by the Jim Korkow Rodeo Company in Pierre, SD.

Shane said his father more or less discouraged him from getting into bullfighting at first, but now is supportive of his choice. He has three older brothers, including one, Carl, who was an outstanding bareback rider until being injured. Another brother trains quarter horses in Mississippi.

"Shane is one heck of a good bullfighter," commented Randy Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions, who hired him for the TRF Stampede. "He did an outstanding job for us at the Park Rapids rodeo as well as here in Thief River Falls and there is no doubt in my mind he has what it takes for a great future as a PRCA bullfighter."

If Anderson doesn't make it to the top in his profession, it won't be for a lack of knowledge, dedication, courage or hard work.

But it could be the result of another short jump.

Farm woman has busy schedule

"I worked so hard — ripping (seams) and sewing," she says as she describes the process of trying to make a perfect dress.

With all the kids active in 4-H, there were times when three girls were trying to sew at once.

"I don't know how we did it," she says in amazement.

"I always felt I was fortunate"

Sharon and Wesley have been married for 25 years — 26 in October. They have five children, Jeffrey, 23, Michael, 21, Jason, 17, Jeremy, 15, and Tiffany, 13. Since Tiffany is the youngest and the only girl, one might think that she gets special treatment. That is not the case, however.

"They (Tiffany's brothers) are making sure she's not spoiled," says Sharon.

With all the kids in the house, their home is usually full of "extra" kids, much like Sharon's home when she was a girl. In fact, it is not unusual to have an overnight guest now and then.

Sharon didn't work off of the farm when the kids were younger. She quit her job at the bank when Jeff was born. Sharon thought it would be hard to raise a family without the extra income of working off the farm.

"I can't say I ever missed it (the extra money)," Sharon says in retrospect. "I always felt fortunate I could stay with the kids."

The kids help with the chores, much like Sharon did when she was a girl. Although, they can't believe the "conveniences" she didn't have. They use a barn washer. Sharon used a pitch fork. The kids use the automatic hay baler. Sharon remembers doing everything by hand. Everyone takes turns and shares the work load. Jeff, who is also a farmer, helps his parents in the field. Michael works in construction, but helps on the weekends. The others help with the work between school and sports and music and 4-H. The kids either pick a job, or one gets assigned to them. Who ever isn't in the field, feeds the animals or cooks dinner.

"Some would rather do one than another...whoever's around gets the job," explains Sharon. "If they don't want a job, they make sure they're doing something else."

Another similarity between the two generations is 4-H. Sharon and Wes's kids have taken baked goods, rabbits, chickens, dairy cows, ducks, geese and horses to the fair. Tiffany says she would like to try pigs or sheep. Sharon and Wesley didn't seem quite so sure.

During the last few weeks, the Bring farm has been busy. Jeremy, Jason and Tiffany won trips to the State Fair. Jeremy took his chicken and Tiffany took her rabbit. Something was wrong with Jason's calf, so he stayed home and worked on the farm.

Wes and Sharon agree that people don't realize how much work goes into preparing for the fair. Working with the animals takes time. Teaching an animal to lead is Sharon's favorite part of fair preparation.

"That is the most fun," she says with a grin.

This year Sharon was working at the post office as postmaster relief while the kids were preparing for the State Fair. She said it was nice to be away from the home while the preparations were taking place. Sharon didn't have to make sure the kids were getting things done and the kids didn't have to feel pushed.

"The kids had a chance to prove their responsibly," Sharon commented.

The kids that stayed home proved their responsibility as well, by taking care of the farm while their folks were away.

"There were many years when we couldn't take off because we were taking care of the kids, now they're taking care of us."

Doing the paper work

Sharon has another job besides, wife, mother, farmer, and postmaster relief. She prepares people's income tax returns. She never meant to turn her interest into a business, but it was a natural progression.

She first learned how to file taxes when she was in high school and started doing her father's taxes. She has always loved working with business machines and numbers so the Monday after she graduated, from high school, she started technical school in Thief River Falls. The Monday after she graduated from technical school, she started working at a bank. After six years there, Sharon quit her job to raise her family, but she took tax classes and has kept up with the changes in tax law to help her with the farm bookkeeping. She enjoys doing the bookkeeping for the family and doing taxes for others.

She has not only kept up with the laws, but the technology effecting tax filing. Sharon does electronic filing for people. With the help of phones and computers she has even filed taxes for people she never met.

"If you don't keep up, get out," is Sharon's philosophy on technology. Most of all, she loves the opportunity to work with people.

"I do enjoy the people I work with. That's what makes it special," she says.

The bookkeeping often gets put off for a rainy day when Sharon can't be in the field. Sharon gets pretty busy around tax season.

"That's when Wesley does more clothes washing," she says with a smile.

Believe it or not this energetic woman still has time for hobbies and fun. She loves to read, ride bike, and even in-line skate. Sharon love to fish. She used to fish with her father when she was little, but she doesn't get to do much fishing these days.

"Marry a dairy farmer, and it (fishing) gets to be few and far between."

One of the next things on Sharon Bring's agenda is American Agri-Women's Conference on October 27 where she will be a nominee for the Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year. In the meantime, she'll be busy with harvesting, caring for the animals, and taking kids to volleyball, football, piano, and 4-H. In between the running, she hopes for a rainy day now and then so she can do some bookkeeping and catch up on the laundry.

ABATE holds food and toy run today

Northwest chapter of American Bikers for Awareness Training and Education (ABATE) is conducting its seventh annual food and toy run today (Saturday, September 9) with registration beginning at 12 noon at the Sno-Sled Inn at Gentilly. The ride was scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. sharp.

ABATE members are making a cycle ride to collection points including Lakeview at Maple Lake, Joe DiMaggio's in Erskine, Third Base at Brooks, The Lantern in Thief River Falls, Municipal Liquor Store in St. Hilaire and The Spot in Red Lake Falls.

At each of the above collection points the riders and an accompanying vehicle are picking up donated food, toys and money which are being collected this year for distribution in Red Lake county.

On July 8 the ABATE chapter conducted its Buddy Bear run and delivered 34 teddy bears to law enforcement and other agencies. The bears are carried in emergency vehicles and given to children as a sense of security in situations which may be frightening to them.

During the July 8 run which started at the North Side in Red Lake Falls, the chapter members made deliveries to the Red Lake county sheriff's department in Red Lake Falls, Polk county ambulance service, Polk county sheriff's office and Minnesota State Patrol office in Crookston, fire department in East Grand Forks and Midwest Ambulance Systems in Thief River Falls.

Special levy referendum to spark fall elections

But for an issue to increase general education revenue in School District 564, turnout at the November 7 election might have been expected to be very low. Only incumbents filed as official candidates for election in the City of Thief River Falls and in School District 564 this year, but the special levy referendum effort to raise additional revenue in School District 564 is expected to increase voter attendance at the polls.

The notice of special election reads: "The Board of Independent School District 564, Thief River Falls, has proposed to increase its general education revenue by $281.24 per actual pupil unit. The additional revenue will be used to finance school operations and the property tax portion thereof will require an estimated referendum tax rate of approximately 0.0546 per cent of the referendum market value of all taxable property in the district for taxes payable in 1996, the first year it is to be levied. The referendum revenue authorization would be applicable for 10 years unless otherwise revoked or reduced as provided by law."

The issue presented to voters will include boxes for yes and no, and will simply read, "Shall the increase in the revenue proposed by the board of independent school district 564 be approved?" "By voting 'yes' on this ballot question, you are voting for a property tax increase."

School District 564 business manager Harry Nelson said the special levy is projected to provide a total of $701,714.23 with about an 80-20 per cent split between state aid and local levy. Of the $701,714 in total additional income to the district, $564,118.06 would be from state aid and $137,596.17 from local levy.

Nelson said that a mailing to all residents of the district will be made in October as required by the state law covering special levy referendums. That mailing will include information on local property tax impact if the levy is approved.

In Thief River Falls, there will be five positions on the ballot, including Mayor, first ward alderman, third ward alderman, fifth ward alderman, and one alderman at large position. All positions will be for four year terms, except the Mayor's term, which is for two years.

Individuals currently holding those positions include: Robert Reeve as Mayor, Milt Burstad as the first ward alderman, Dale Wennberg as the third ward alderman, Frank Hamerlinck as the fifth ward alderman, and Jean Heinrichs in the alderman at large position.

Three positions on the board for School District 564 will be on the ballot. Each term will be for three years each. The positions are currently held by Darla Twomey, Carl Clark, and Dennis Kiesow.

Thief River Falls city council set polling times at its last meeting of the city council. Because there will be no opposition to incumbents, hours were trimmed back. The polls will be open from noon to 8 p.m.

The polling place for fourth ward has changed due to the demolition of Knox elementary school. Fourth ward residents will be able to cast their votes at a polling place located at Seventh-day Adventist church. All polling places will be identified with signs. Other polling places in the city include: First ward at Heritage Community Center, Second ward at Zion Lutheran church, Third ward at Skylite apartments, Fourth ward at Seventh-day Adventist Church, and Fifth ward at Redeemer Lutheran church.

Polling times for the school district 564 school board election will be the same, except for the polling places and times for rural districts. Rural voters can vote in St. Hilaire and at Franklin Middle school from 5 to 8 p.m.

Pat Gaffaney, district camping chairman and unit commissioner and Scouting coordinator for Troop 57 in Thief River Falls, received an award from Josh Behl, Boy Scouts of American district representative from Voyageurs Trails. The print awarded to Gaffaney was in recognition of his efforts to raise money for Camp Wilderness. Over the years Gaffaney has raised around $10,000 for the camp.

Tri County changes from half-day to full-day kindergarten

Karlstad — Tri County school board met to correct problems concerning the kindergarten and first grade. The plan was to have Elaine Ruud teach first grade in Strandquist in the morning, then teach kindergarten in the afternoon.

The students were only supposed to be on the bus for an hour or less, but the drivers cannot pick up every student in less than an hour and 20 minutes. First graders felt disrupted when they had to go from a small class in the morning to a large class in the afternoon.

The board decided the most workable situation would be to hire a first grade teacher and change kindergarten to full days, three days a week. Mrs. Ruud will teach kindergarten and will be on "special assignments," such as volunteer coordination.

Century farm couple are king and queen of Heritage Days

Fosston — Agnes and Harry Watnemos were named king and queen of Heritage Days in Fosston. The couple lives on the family's 105 year old farm in, appropriately, Queen township.

"I think they chose us because we lived the pioneer way of life," said Agnes. Harry was born in 1914, Agnes in 1916.

The couple met when Agnes moved to Queen township in the early 1930's. They were married in 1941, and raised three children.

The couple has seen a lot of changes over the years and a lot of advancements in technology. Agnes remembers using a wash board and wringer to do laundry. Harry remembers cutting grain with a horse-drawn sickle. Neighbors worked together to get the work done both inside the house and in the field.

"It's tremendous to see all the changes in our lifetime," said Harry.

Looking for a power line route in the Roseau area

Roseau — The city of Roseau, Minnkota Power officials and Polaris all agree that they need to review all possible options for a power line route to the new substation the Minnkota is installing. The new station is being installed near the new water tower on the east side of Roseau.

A 69,000 volt power line must also be run from the substation to Polaris. However, some citizens of Roseau have said they don't want the power line running through their yard.

If the line is not installed, Minnkota Power may pull out of the deal, leaving the city without enough power to support growth of the city.

Residents along the proposed route understand the importance of the substation, but feel the power line should not run near existing homes.

New Gatzke business "just sort of happened"

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

Tom Morrissey says he never meant to become a machinist with his own shop. It just sort of happened. He said he was a trucker who liked to make his own toys. Mostly he liked making snow planes and repairing antique horse equipment.

"Someone noticed I was pretty handy at it and paid me to do it," explains Tom, who has had no formal training as a machinist. Tom was always fixing things on the farm where he grew up. He says he learned by "trial and error."

"I wrecked a lot of stuff," he states bluntly.

Now the truck driver turned machinist is a business owner. He recently started Scribe-Rite Steel, Inc. in Gatzke.

A new business in town

Before becoming a business owner, Tom worked in the warehouse at Polaris for a couple of years. Prior to that, he worked as a machinist at Machine Well in Grygla.

He quit his job at Polaris to manufacture trailers and cabs for all terrain vehicles and snowmobiles. He found he could make more money making tools and fixtures for Polaris. He hired Bob Stotts, currently the only other full-time employee at Scribe-Rite, to help him.

A lot of the apparatuses they design are used to get partially assembled Polaris products from one part of the plant to another. Often the pieces are delicate or oddly shaped and cannot simply be placed in a bin or on a cart for transportation. Tom and Bob's job is to dream up a practicle way to transport these odd pieces and parts without damaging them. Often they have nothing more to work with then an idea, no blue prints or directions.

"Bob is pretty good at making something out of nothing," says Tom. "It's always a 100 times harder than you thought it would be at the start. But you never get bored."

Tom also has a product line of his own. He invented a trailer for all terrain vehicles that can also be used as a ramp to load an ATV into a pickup truck. He made a swing away mail box, and he is working on other ideas. Moorhead State University is doing a product feasibility study on yet another idea of his.

When asked how he comes up with ideas for new inventions he laughs and replies, "I'm lazy."

Tom goes on to explain that he is always looking for an easier or more simple way to do things. That process must inspire great ideas, because Tom seems to have invented some pretty neat stuff.

The company also has a full-time contract with Polaris repairing bins and baskets. Tom and Bob are so busy keeping up with the needs of Polaris that they are usually booked with projects two months in advance.

"We're surprised at how well it's going," said Tom. "You gotta be pretty optimistic to start something like this because there may come a point when it slows down."

When things slow down, Tom will have time to work on other projects.

"I have all kinds of ideas on the fire. I just haven't had time to work on them."

Bob Stotts and Tom Morrissoy work on a project for Polaris in the shop at Scribe-Rite Steel, Inc. in Gatzke. They are the only full-time employees at the company. Linda Engolstad is the part-time bookkeeper. The company operates out of the old Gatzke school.

Hospice to train volunteers

Northland Community Hospice will conduct volunteer training on four consecutive Fridays beginning October 6 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The training will qualify participants to become certified hospice volunteers.

"Volunteers, the heart and soul of hospice care, are continuously needed to care for those who are dying and their families," notes Martha Wissmann, director of the Northland Community Hospice in Thief River Falls.

"Anyone who has ever experienced the death of a loved one understands the many needs a family may have, but many people do not know exactly what to do. Caring for our neighbors by running errands, going to the pharmacy, shoveling snow, reading a story, saying a prayer, going for a walk or just holding a comforting hand means so much during this time in a family's life," Wissmann said.

"If you feel you might want to serve your community in this way, I would encourage you to become a certified hospice care volunteer. This program will include specialized training by qualified professionals to help the volunteers know how to be of assistance."

Northland Community Hospice is a not for profit agency, is licensed by the State of Minnesota and is a Medicare-certified hospice as a result of its merger with the Hospice of the Red River Valley in April of 1995. It continues to provide service in Red Lake, Marshall and Pennington counties.

To obtain more information or to register call Wissmann at 681-6189.

Operation Round-Up has funds available

Organizations involved in community projects and charities are encouraged to apply for funds from Operation Round Up, a program of Red Lake Electric Cooperative in Red lake Falls.

Customers choosing to "round up" their monthly electric bill to the next highest dollar provide funds for this effort. Nearly 3,300 Red Lake Electric Cooperative members are choosing to contribute these pennies each month to assist their communities.

Funds will be donated primarily to non-profit organizations to help fund their specific projects or program. In 1994 a total of $20,775 was contributed to various organizations. The Red Lake Electric Trust board of directors determines contributions and the money will be allocated for betterment of the community within the outside service area boundaries of the cooperative.

Organizations wishing to apply for funds should contact the Red Lake Electric Cooperative office in Red lake Falls at 218-253-2168 or 1-800-245-6068. An application form must be completed and submitted along with an organization finance statement. The next semi-annual meeting to determine contributions will be held in October and grant applications are due October 15.

Kittson county okays land sale to Minn. DNR

At their regular meeting September 5, Kittson county commissioners approved sale of 5,663.3 acres of land owned by The Nature Conservancy in McKinley and Cannon townships to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

The Nature Conservancy had purchased the property from Gabriele Grunig for $137.50 per acre and said its sale to the DNR would be for no more than that. It lies within an existing Wildlife Management Area and is considered "Aspen Parkland," a unique status considered suitable for preservation.

Payments in lieu of taxes by the DNR at $3 per acre would amount to $16,989.90 per year, according to Marilyn Gustafson, Kittson county auditor. In private ownership the land would be assessed $13,966.41. The Nature Conservancy, however, has the option of obtaining tax exempt status, leaving the county with no revenue at all.

A loser would be the Lancaster school district which can expect a net loss of $6,500 per year. The county would gain more than $9,000 a year over what it would have received in tax revenue if the land had been in private hands. It had been offered for public sale and there were no private buyers, board chairman Joe Bouvette said at the meeting.

It is expected that the land will continue to have public access and be open for hunting and other uses.

Red Lake Electric workers aid co-ops with storm repairs

Six lineworkers from Red Lake Electric Cooperative in Red Lake Falls were among more than 100 lineworkers who assisted rural electric cooperatives and municipal electric operations of the Minnkota Power Systems following the wind storms of July 12 and 13, according to Ron Kennedy, manager of Red Lake Electric.

The winds uprooted and broke off hundreds of thousands of trees in north central and western Minnesota. An estimated $1.75 million in damages to lines and poles in the Minnkota system left more than 15,000 rural cooperative and municipal customers out of power for varying lengths of time.

Red Lake Electric employees LeRoy Marcotte, Tim Carriere, Doug Hagl, Dave DelHaut, Ira Cota and Dick Gervais worked as many as nine straight days, mostly in the territory of Wild Rice Electric Cooperative based in Mahnomen. RLE lineworkers Mike Wavra and Roger Valley assisted in the Itasca Mantrap Electrical Power association service area around Park Rapids.

The six lineworkers at first expected to be gone for just the day, but a second storm that night added to the damage. Dick Gervais said he had worked late in the Halstad area, then washed his clothes in the shower at a Moorhead motel and hung them up to dry. The call came for another day's help and his clothes were still wet when he and Tim Carriere left for work the next morning.

After two days in the Red River Valley, Gervais and Carriere transferred to the Wild Rice area where the other four workers were already on the job. Red Lake Electric was one of more than half a dozen cooperatives which sent workers to answer the calls for assistance.

Hardest hit was the Wild Rice service area which received about $650,000 in damage. At one point 66 lineworkers were assembled to work on restoring electricity for 7,600 of the 11,200 Wild Rice customers.

Beltrami Electric Power, based at Bemidji, had 3,600 of its 14,276 customers out of power with initial damage estimated near $300,000. In the Clearwater-Polk Electric Cooperative area at Bagley, 1,100

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK

IT'S FARM SAFETY WEEK

Make it a habit to practice safe farming methods 365 days a year. Reviewing these important safety tips with your farm workers and family members is a good way to start.

PROTECT YOURSELF ON THE FARM

1. Equip tractors with rollover protection and keep machinery guards in place.
2. Fence in farm ponds and manure pits.
3. Wear proper clothing plus ear and eye protection when operating machinery.
4. Shut off all machinery when not in use.
5. Keep all chemicals and pesticides away from children and animals.
6. Instruct all farm and family members in first-aid emergency procedures.
7. Do not allow children as extra riders on equipment.
8. Place warning decals on all grain bins, wagons, and trucks.
9. Always have a tractor's PTO in neutral.
10. Leave any equipment that might fall - such as front end loaders - in the down position.
11. Do not allow children to play with idle machinery.
12. Place fixed ladders out of reach, or fit with a special barrier; store portable ladders away from danger areas.
13. Maintain lights and reflectors for all equipment used on roads.
14. When self-propelled machinery is parked, brakes should be locked and keys removed from the ignition.
15. Pull over whenever possible to let traffic pass safely.
16. Two safety chains should be used.
17. If mud is on the road, it is your responsibility to clean it up.
18. Lights are required between sunset and sunrise.
    - A. At least two white head lights on the towing unit.
    - B. Two red tail lights.
    - C. At least one rotating or flashing amber light visible to the rear.

Shooting preserve improves the odds

Skime — For those who like to hunt, but don't like coming home empty handed, there is now a new place to hunt, Golden Valley Pheasant Run shooting reserve. The reserve is located between Skime and Hayes Lake State Park.

Hunters need no license to hunt on the range. Chicks are bought in the spring and raised on a protein mixture of corn, soybeans, vitamins and other feed. If a hunter doesn't shoot his or her own bird, he or she can purchase a butchered bird from the reserve.

The reserve also features a trap shooting range, and a three dimensional archery range located throughout its forest and grasslands. Most hunters have a guide dog, but dogs can also be rented at the preserve.

Sheriff's office destroys 700 marijuana plants

Red Lake Falls — A resident from the Red Lake Falls area reported on September 1 that he had noticed an unusual crop growing about two miles north of Red Lake Falls.

After an investigation by the Red Lake County sheriff's office, the department determined that the crop was about 700 marijuana plants. The plants would have been ready for harvest in a few weeks, but the sheriff's office cut down the plants and burned them at the city landfill.

No one was arrested or charged in conjunction with crop. The department decided surveying the area around the clock would be too costly because of the location. The sheriff's department thought it was better to make sure no one was able to use the marijuana.

Two injured in accidents

Erskine — Two men were injured in one separate one vehicle accidents last weekend.

Lyle Olson of rural Erskine was driving eastbound on Polk county road 41 when he failed to negotiate a curve. The pick up rolled into McIntosh City Park and he was thrown from the vehicle. He is listed in critical condition at the Surgical Critical Care Unit of United Hospital, Grand Forks.

In an unrelated accident, Chad Alan Klinkhammer was traveling southbound on Polk county road 4 in Lengby when his Ford pickup hit a tree. He had apparently fallen asleep and his truck left the road and hit a tree, according to the Polk County Sheriff's Department. He remains in guarded condition at Dakota Hospital.

Local man wins fifth place at tournament

Baudette — Brian Ney of Baudette made a pretty big comeback during the Professional Walleye Trail (PWT) championship. He went from being skunked on the first day of the tournament to placing fifth out of 42 anglers who competed at Saginaw Bay on Lake Huron.

He earned $4,200 for his efforts, more than he has ever won in his three years as a professional angler.

Earlier this year, he finished 13th overall among 135 professional anglers after four qualifying tournaments in the NAWA circuit.

New home with a history

Newfolden — Hannah Johnson of Warroad decided to do some research on her family's "new" house for a history project last year. The results of her research and several photos pertaining to the house are currently on display in the Marshall County Bank in Newfolden.

The house was originally a hotel built by Ole B. and Martha Johnson in 1904. It was one of only two hotels in Newfolden in 1905. The Johnson's and their 11 children lived in the hotel and had one sleeping room with two double beds. After Ole and Martha died, their daughter Evelyn and her husband Ray Elseth moved into the house and remodeled it. Hannah interviewed Evelyn for her history report.

Ironically, 13-year-old Hannah's grandmother, also named Hannah Larson, once worked in the hotel.

County CFSA elections to be held this fall

Normally held in December, elections of county committee members for the Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA) were postponed in 1994 due to reorganization of the former Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service into the CFSA.

Plans are to hold elections this fall in three local administrative areas, similar to the community committee boundaries of the past. No date has yet been announced for the elections.

Local administrative areas which have approximately equal voting populations include the following townships:

Area 1—Numedal, Norden, North, Bray, Sanders, Polk Centre and Black River.

Area 2—Silverton, Rocksbury, Smiley, River Falls, Wyandotte and Mayfield.

Area 3—Cloverleaf, Goodridge, Reiner, Kratka, Highlanding, Star, Deer Park and Hickory.

Before the election this year, lots will be drawn to determine which county committeemen will serve three, two and one year terms. In succeeding elections, all committeemen will be elected for three year terms, according to Phil Bergland, director of the county CFSA office.

Farmers in the county will receive mailed notice of the elections when they have been set. At the present time the county committee including Orlan Stulaas as chairman, Keith Christensen as vice chairman and Lenord Swanson as member is serving on a continuing basis until the new elections are held.

ECFE takes applications

Registrations in the Early Childhood Family Education (ECFE) program are now being taken for fall quarter at Challenger Elementary and Preschool in Thief River Falls. The quarter begins September 18 and more information is available by calling 681-8670.

ECFE offers new play ideas for parents of young children, a chance to talk with other parents about parenting, new parenting ideas and an opportunity for children to play with others their age.

9th Hamfest in Warroad September 23

Ninth annual "Hamfest" for operators and others interested in the hobby of amateur radio will take place Saturday, September 23, at the Warroad area community center.

Testing for a new amateur license or to upgrade an existing license will begin at 11 a.m. and doors for the conference open at 1 p.m. Chief activity is the display of radio equipment for sale by dealers and a large flea market of used gear and parts where operators buy from and sell to one another. At 5:30 p.m. the Hamfest banquet will be held.

Lake of the Woods Repeater Association, Inc., is sponsor of the event and has more than 200 members in Minnesota, North Dakota, Manitoba and Ontario. They participate regularly in "Skywarn" in cooperation with the U.S. Weather Bureau and have aided in many search and rescue missions.

Most amateur operators use their radio equipment daily as a hobby, thereby assuring that it is ready when an emergency arises. Lake of the Woods Repeater Association has received a commendation from the Governor of Minnesota for its past performance in Skywarn, search and rescue and organized state of readiness for future community service.

Bob Whaley of Swift is president of the association with Jon Hagen of Roseau as secretary-treasurer. William Landhy of Warroad chairs the Hamfest committee.

TRF man dies from injuries

Bradley Louis Anderson of Thief River Falls, has died as a result of injuries suffered in a fall from a fire escape behind the Wetch Hotel in Thief River Falls.

Anderson, 31, was allegedly on a balcony behind the Wetch hotel Saturday, September 9, when he fell. Police, who received a report of the incident at 11:23 a.m., say that he was with a friend on the balcony when he accidentally fell.

Anderson was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls and then transferred to United Hospital in Grand Forks. He died September 12 at United Hospital. Anderson is formerly of Grafton, ND.

Police in Thief River Falls report that the incident is still under investigation.

Franklin parents to meet

Franklin middle school parent advisory group will meet Tuesday, September 19, at 7 p.m. in the Franklin media center for its first session of the 1995-96 school year.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Here are three old favorite recipes that are so easy that I sometimes forget about them. Maybe you have too.

This sweet treat is so easy to make for a tasty dessert or snack:

RUSSIAN APPLE DESSERT

Apple Layer

1/2 cup sugar
Apples

Fill a buttered 11x7 pan two-thirds full of sliced apples mixed with the sugar.

Topping

1 cup brown sugar
1 cup flour
1/3 cup butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Walnuts, if desired

Mix together into crumbly mixture. Sprinkle over apples.

Bake about 30 minutes at 350 degrees. (Can also use microwave — bake until mixture bubbles all over and apples test soft with a fork.)

This is a delicious dessert cake that you can make in a hurry:

FRUIT COCKTAIL CAKE

2 cups flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons soda
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
1 can fruit cocktail with juice

Topping

1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup walnuts
Cinnamon

Beat flour, sugar, soda, butter, eggs and fruit cocktail for 2 minutes. Pour into greased 9x13 inch pan.

Sprinkle mixture of brown sugar, walnuts and cinnamon over top and bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until done.

You can make this cake in a minute too, ready to serve to unexpected guests:

OATMEAL CAKE

1 cup quick cooking oatmeal
1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Stir oats in water and let stand 20 minutes.

Cream shortening, sugar and eggs. Add mixed dry ingredients and then oatmeal mixture. Place in greased 9x13 inch pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes.

Topping

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup cream
1 cup nuts, chopped
1 cup coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine ingredients and spread over hot cake. Place under broiler until brown and bubbly.

Prostate cancer screening set for September 19-20 at TRF

In cooperation with the National Prostate Cancer Education Council, Dakota Clinic will offer screening tests for prostate cancer September 19 and 20 from 6 to 8 p.m. in Thief River Falls.

As recommended by the American Cancer Society, the screening will include both a digital rectal exam and a simple prostate specific antigen (PSA) blood test. A fee of $15 will include both of these tests.

Preregistration is necessary. To register, call 218-681-4747.

To The Editor:

My neighbor has a small garden in his back yard. All summer I have been watching his flowers grow.

One day I noticed a big vine coming out along the side of his flowers and, yes, it was pumpkin starting to grow. We have watched this little ball grow and grow. Last week it weighed 70 pounds.

I was beginning to be very proud of this pumpkin because I had watched it grow. It wasn't mine, but I felt like it was. I felt happy for my neighbor because he also was watching it grow.

This morning I looked out the window and there was this beautiful 70-pound golden ball all smashed in the street.

I don't think I have to say any more, because it's just like losing a good friend. I hope whoever did this has a very good day...

Sincerely,
Elayne Sandahl
Thief River Falls

To The Editor:

Congratulations to Al Sollom for being selected for the 1995 State of Minnesota Senior of the Year award. Al is most deserving of this honor as he spends many volunteer hours defending and promoting senior citizens' rights on the state and national levels.

It was a good report (Community Focus in the September 6 issue of The Times), however, I have to differ with Heritage Center director Shannon Olson when she writes that this is the first time that someone from outside the metro area ever won this award.

In 1985, Otto Bakken of Oklee was the senior citizen chosen for the state honor. Otto was 90 years of age at the time, but he was still an active senior citizen with a history of many years working for senior citizens as well as for community projects and promotions.

Otto is no longer with us but his memory lingers on as well as his portrait in the State Fair senior citizen building.

Sincerely,
Marvin Bronken
Oklee, Minnesota

To The Editor:

What is the difference between speech and action? Speech is words spoken or uttered; action is deeds performed. Burning the flag is an act of destruction.

In many places in this nation everyone, even little children, are prohibited from talking about Jesus. That is censorship and prohibiting freedom of speech.

What does destruction of things by people who are out of control teach our young people? If I don't like it, I will destroy it. That also includes other human beings. Where will it end?

How many people have laid down their lives so we can have the freedom we enjoy? Let's work with elected officials within decent perspectives and also at election polls to change things. If people don't like what the flag stands for, go and live under another flag but leave the Stars and Stripes alone.

Sure it is true there are things going on in government that we don't agree with, but don't take it out on the precious symbol of what we all wish things would be.

How many people in other nations would do anything for the privilege of living under the Stars and Stripes?

I know one way to change people's way of thinking. Turn to Jesus and let God change your hearts. Then one will have a different outlook on things. Instead of hate, love will come in if we are truly sincere.

I hope everyone reading this letter will find a copy of the First Amendment and really study it. Don't go by what someone else says it says.

Sincerely,
Lillie Asp

Teaching The Golden Rule Makes Sense

Everyone seems to agree that there is a rampant increase in violence in the United States and that young people are becoming involved in violent and lawless behavior at earlier ages and in more severe fashion. Many are willing to lay blame in a number of places, but few seem to have any workable suggestions or ideas that can reverse the trend.

One of the few is The Way To Happiness Foundation, a non-profit organization based in Los Angeles, CA, which has distributed over 50 million copies of a booklet entitled "The Way To Happiness" in 17 languages in 42 countries. It also sponsors an essay contest on "Making America Safe."

The booklet contains 21 common sense rules for living, but the basis of the entire system is summed up in what has long been known as the Golden Rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Failure to teach that concept at home leads to lawlessness and violence on the streets and in the schools.

National grand prize winner in the "Making America Safe" essay contest was a 15-year-old male from Idyllwild, CA. The following excerpts from his essay provide food for thought:

"There is a place where violence is commonplace and expected much as unpleasant weather. Where nothing is thought of armed robbery. Where narcotics and hallucinogens are sold like newspapers. Where the only 'safe' haven can be found in alliance with a group of armed and hardened people who are forever defending and conspiring against other affiliations. Where brutal crimes are punished by temporary confinement measured in hours or black marks on one's record or not at all.

"What is this place you ask? A mining town in the Industrial Revolution? An Arabian concentration camp? An insane asylum after the guards have been killed?

"No. This fence and metal-detector encircled institution is commonly called a 'high school.' Or even a grammar school.

"In this environment the individual student, harried by gangs who extort money and conflict with one another and having illegitimate 'pleasures' pressed on him, is liable to fall back to very primitive philosophies to survive in place of morals that were never taught.

"Perhaps these philosophies were even instilled in them by parents who underwent the same conditions and had nothing better. 'Make it through the day,' 'don't let yourself be noticed,' 'steal enough to survive' or even 'subjugate (bring under control; subdue) anyone else so they can't hurt you' are fine morals for those whose general philosophy is survival of the fittest but the 'fittest' usually continue their career of institutionalization by graduating from school and entering the jails. Indeed, this moralless establishment, a hybrid of insane asylum and penitentiary, is a wonderful training for career criminals.

"If you questioned these troubled students you would find they were never taught 'Try to treat others as you would want them to treat you' or even 'Try not to do things to others that you would not want them to do to you.' They had to develop their own morals which are often perverted by the harshness of their surroundings.

"I think the teaching of The Way to Happiness ... particularly the above two morals, would bring about a massive change for the better. The government's solution is to build vandal-proof drinking fountains. We must bring them these morals. We must bring them today, for without them the future is dark.

"But there is another future with these. And it is a very, very bright and different one."

This 15-year-old essayist may be exceptionally perceptive, or perhaps is simply adept at expressing what many young people already recognize. Respect for others is a learned trait and if it is not taught in the home it must be taught elsewhere. If it is not learned, chaos can be expected to continue.

Sometimes we tend to forget the limited perspective which young people have. The world is limited to their small circle of experience. We recently read an essay by a participant in a Summer Intern Program for Urban Youth. She wrote: "When I first learned that I would be working in Wayzata, I was shocked. It was so far from my Minneapolis home. Still I was determined that I could do it. I made calls, studied maps and figured out the best way that I could take the bus there...."

Wayzata is not a new nation in Africa. It is a Twin Cities suburb, yet to this high school student it was a far-away place. We may wonder at the limited viewpoint, but it is not unique and it illustrates the importance of individual experience. If a youth's life in his or her school or neighborhood isn't based on a learned respect for others, there are plenty of alternatives to be learned and none of them are good.

What To Do When Skunk Squirts "Sport"

Few are the outdoor persons who have owned a dog for any length of time and never experienced having the animal come in contact with a skunk. For many years we carried a couple of large cans of stewed tomatoes on hunting trips to use in rubbing down skunk-scented dogs. The acid in tomatoes seemed to help neutralize the skunk smell.

But we're always open to new ideas, and we recently came across one from the Ruffed Grouse Society to remove skunk odor from hunting dogs. The formula was reportedly developed by oil refinery chemists to get rid of odors in their clothes and they say it really works.

Procedure: Mix one quart of 3% hydrogen peroxide (standard solution you can find in bottles at the drug store), one-fourth cup of baking soda and one tablespoon of liquid dish soap in a bucket and scrub down the dog.

A handy kit can be prepared by placing a quart bottle of the hydrogen peroxide, pre-measured baking soda in a zippered plastic bag and pre-measured liquid soap in a small plastic container in a plastic bucket along with a towel and rubber gloves and carrying it in your hunting vehicle.

Although we wish no one the need to use the formula, we would appreciate finding out from someone who tries it how well it works. It makes more sense than canned tomatoes.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 foot or 200 foot in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew - saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

TAYLOR®
Outdoor Woodstove

TAYLOR® did not become the largest manufacturer of outdoor woodstoves by deceiving the public to make sales. Rather, we built our reputation by producing the most thermal efficient, best designed and longest lasting woodstove on the market. One of our competitors chose to use our name in their advertising as one of their attempts to mislead customers. They claim to be the cleanest burning stove with a 92.5% combustion efficiency. To clarify what this figure of combustion efficiency actually means is that 92.5% of the wood you put in their firebox will burn up; that's it. A good bonfire could achieve this meaningless number. Thermal efficiency is the percent of heat energy or BTU's that is successfully transferred from the wood to the water. TAYLOR® stoves have always had the highest proven thermal efficiency of all woodstoves tested, 81%. This is due to the double pass flue design and separate secondary burn chamber that reburns gases all other stoves put up in the clouds. Please check out TAYLOR® and you will see we clearly have a superior outdoor wood heating system.

Early Childhood screening clinic

Next Thief River Falls early childhood screening clinic will be held September 19 from 2 to 6 p.m. in Redeemer Lutheran Church at 1300 East Nora Street. The screening is offered free of charge.

The September screening is intended for children who have their fourth birthday prior to this coming November. Other screening clinics will be held later for the rest of the 1997 kindergarten students. Parents whose child qualifies for this screening and have not received an informational letter are asked to call 681-8679 for an appointment or information as soon as possible.

If parents have even the slightest concern about any area of their child's development, however, screening will be provided for any child between the ages of three and five.

Minnesota now requires all children to be screened prior to entering public school and preferably around age three and one-half to four. The screening includes a family interview, health and immunization review and a check for vision, hearing, speech, language and general development. Early detection of a child's health and developmental problems can reduce the need for costly care at a later time and such difficulties can be addressed before kindergarten.

The screening is conducted by trained professionals from the public school system and is provided at no cost. A child does not need to go through the screening process if he or she has had a comparable screening by a doctor, by the Head Start program or EPS (through Pennington County Nursing Service) or if the child will be home schooled or will attend a private school. If any of these exceptions apply, parents are asked to call the number listed above and provide that information.

Greenbush Circle Eight to hold square dance

The Greenbush Circle Eight will dance at 8 p.m. Saturday, September 16 at the community center. Roger Lueth will call the tips.

Star Homemakers to meet Monday

The Star Homemakers will have a meeting at the Eklund Dining Hall at 1:30 on Monday, September 18.

Jeanette Hoffman and Elva Fiedler will present the program on "Revitalizing you meetings."

All members are urged to attend and new members are welcome. Hazel Huot and Elva Fiedler are the new officers. Lunch will be served. Please bring something for the market basket and crafts.

Foot care clinic at the Grygla Community Center

Appointments are now necessary for foot care. To make your appointment call Mrs. Juel Aune at 459-3315. The Foot Care Clinic is scheduled for Wednesday, September 27 at 9:30 a.m. at the Grygla Community Center. Nurses from the Marshal County Nursing Service will soak feet and trim nails only. There is a $6 charge per person.

Tennis team loses pair

A double dual resulted in a pair of losses for the Thief River Falls girls high school tennis team Tuesday at Crookston, where the Prowlers lost to the Pirates 5-2 and fell to Moorhead 4-3.

Thief River Falls wins against Crookston came from Beth Goddard and Stephanie Leach at No. 3 and 4 singles, respectively.

Posting wins against Moorhead were Bobbi Dahlstrom, No. 1 singles; Anne Padilla-Kamie Twomey, No. 1 doubles; and Kate Ihle-Elizabeth Odette, No. 2 doubles.

The losses dropped the Prowlers' dual meet record to 3-2.

Crookston 5, TRF 2

■ Singles - 1. Leah Olson (Crookston) def. Bobbi Dahlstrom 6-1, 6-0. 2. Katie Kiel (Crookston) def. Shari Evenson 6-1, 6-1. 3. Beth Goddard (TRF) def. Katie Hunt 2-6, 7-6, 10-4. Stephanie Leach (TRF) def. Jessica Dwyer 6-1, 6-1.

■ Doubles - 1. Jenny Braun-Carrie Kildahl (Crookston) def. Anne Padilla-Kamie Twomey 6-2, 6-2. 2. Liz Ames-Kristen Olson (Crookston) def. Kate Ihle-Elizabeth Odette 6-1, 6-0. 3. Marcia Schisano-Robin Trostad (Crookston) def. Kiki Goddard-Vicki Bitzegaio 6-2, 6-2.

■ Exhibition - Katie Harbott-Lesley Ihle (TRF) def. Tangeline Olsen-Kari Freeberg 10-2.

Moorhead 4, TRF 3

■ Singles - 1. Bobbi Dahlstrom (TRF) def. Sylvia Sternell 6-3, 6-3. 2. Jenny Smith (Moorhead) def. Shari Evenson 6-4, 6-2. 3. Angie Krabbenhoft (Moorhead) def. Beth Goddard 6-2, 6-1. 4. Lauren Redike (Moorhead) def. Stephanie Leach 6-3, 6-3.

Gators fall to Rams 3-0

Roseau's early-season success in area high school volleyball added Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to its list of victims Tuesday as the Rams beat the Gators 15-10, 15-8, 15-6 in Greenbush.

"Roseau has a very good team," noted Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Christi Anderson. "We played with them, but six seemed to be the magic number that we would get stuck on. We had a lot of problems on defense. We weren't moving and covering like we should have."

Kara Reese led the Gators' efforts, according to Anderson. "Kara came in and did a great job for us," she said.

Wulverines vs. Warroad

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke started strong, but wasn't able to maintain that level of play Tuesday in a 3-1 loss to Warroad at Grygla.

Warroad won 13-15, 15-7, 15-0, 15-13.

"The girls really played well in the first game," noted Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Tina Rode. "They were really fired up. Then I don't know what happed. Our serving wasn't the best, were weren't communicating, and we weren't moving. But they hung in there and played tough that fourth game."

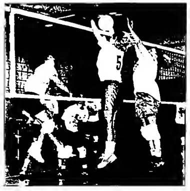
Mustangs vs. Falcons

Red Lake County Central took charge at the end to close out a 15-6, 13-15, 15-13, 12-15, 15-2 Thursday win over Fertile-Beltrami in Oklee.

Sophomore Angie Chervestad finished with 24 kills for the winners, while senior Meckenzie Malwitz had 10.

"First and last games went pretty well, but it was kind of tough going in between," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray.

The Mustangs, who lost a 3-0 match to Thief River Falls Monday, went 3-1-1 at the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational Saturday (Sept. 9) with wins over Norman County West, Fertile-Beltrami and East Grand Forks in the fifth place match. They lost to Lake of the Woods and wound up with a 1-1 pool play tie vs. East Grand Forks.



Northland hitter Stacy Stenwick drove the ball past Itasca defenders Janny Brune (5) and Alicia Vigness during Wednesday's college volleyball match in Thief River Falls. The Pioneers won the Northern Division encounter 3-0.

Northland wins 3-0

Shan Olson was a happy camper Wednesday. The rookie Northland Community and Technical College volleyball coach had the opportunity to not only celebrate a win, but also welcome the addition of two players, boosting a previously thin nine-member squad into the double-figure category.

The Pioneers, who opened the 1995 season the previous Friday with a split in Northland's Pepsi Triangular, began their Minnesota Community College Conference schedule with a 15-3, 15-5, 15-9 Northern Division sweep over visiting Itasca.

The Vikings had an early 3-2 lead in Game 1, but Stacy Stanwick closed out a long service run with back-to-back aces to put the Pioneers in control at 11-3.

Northland missed four serves in Game 2 and fell behind 4-0. But the Pioneers came back for a 4-4 tie and Erika Spilde served them to a 14-4 lead – a stretch that included two aces and Itasca's allotment of timeouts.

A 10-4 Northland lead in Game 3 shrank to 11-9 following an ace block by the Vikings' Connie Gehrke, but the Pioneers answered with a service ace by Jenny Smith, a kill by LaVonne Nelson and another ace by Smith to win going away.

"It was a really nice team effort," said Olson. "Everybody got to be part of it. We mixed it up and let people play positions they normally wouldn't play."

The Pioneers' depth got a major boost when 5-9 Carrie Lawrence (Thief River Falls) and 5-2 Tara Sugden (Hallock) became recent additions to the team. Lawrence played against Itasca; Sugden was expected to make her debut this weekend during a trip that featured matches at Vermilion Friday and Mesabi Saturday.

Thief River Falls wins freshman outing 42-0

Thief River Falls freshmen are 3-0 following a 42-0 football win over Grand Forks White Thursday.

Wade Chiodo scored on runs of 35, 25 and 40 yards; Aaron Hendricks scored from 1 yard out; Tom Fogarty had a 3-yard touchdown run; and Jeff Rislov caught a 55-yard touchdown pass from Wade Havlland.

Pioneers hosting Fergus Falls

Week No. 2 will feature another round of nonconference games today (Saturday) for Minnesota Community College Conference football teams. Most match ups feature MCCC Northern Division teams playing MCCC Southern Division foes.

One of those cross-division games will be played in Thief River Falls as Northland Community and Technical College takes on Fergus Falls in a 1:30 p.m. contest at Prowler Field.

The Pioneers lost a 7-0 decision to Worthington last week in their season and home opener.

Other second-week match-ups today will all be played at Northern Division sites – Central Lakes vs. Worthington, Hibbing vs. Willmar, Itasca vs. Rochester, Vermilion vs. North Hennepin, and Mesabi vs. the Concordia College junior varsity.

Johnson Quick Set trap league champ

Johnson Quick Set was a tie-breaking shoot-off winner in the 1995 Thief River Falls Trap League finals – an 11-team event featuring regular season qualifiers from First and Second Half point standings.

Divers lead TRF swimmers

Jennifer Olin and Becky Mattson combined on a first place effort in diving to lead the Thief River Falls girls high school swim team at the Sept. 9 Bemidji Relays.

Team-wise, the host Lumberjacks collected 128 points, Park Rapids Area 100, Detroit Lakes/Frazee/Perham 92, Moorhead 86, Crookston 82, Thief River Falls 62, and Staples-Motley 20.

Other Thief River Falls place finishes in all-relay meet included a fourth in the 400 individual medley; fifth place showings in the 200 backstroke, 200 breaststroke, 400 medley, and 200 butterfly; along with sixths in the 200 freestyle, 500 crescendo and 200 medley.

Detroit Lakes/Frazee/Perham won the junior varsity portion of the meet with 126 points, followed by Bemidji with 102, Crookston 100, Moorhead 78, Thief River Falls 48, Park Rapids Area 42, and Staples-Motley 18.

Thief River Falls junior varsity efforts featured a second place in diving by Ayla Donlin and Erika Hudson.

Thief River Falls volleyball squad winner vs. Jacks

There was a strong start and a strong finish, but some of the stuff in between was a little rocky Thursday as Thief River Falls outlasted Bemidji 3-2 in North Sub-Section 8AA high school volleyball.

The visiting Prowlers won 15-5, 9-15, 15-6, 7-15, 15-1 to go 6-2 for the year.

"We'll definitely take the win, but what an up and down night," said Thief River Falls Helen Anderson. "We made a lot of mental mistakes and struggled at serve reception by just about everyone."

After breaking away from a 4-4 tie, the Prowlers breezed to the Game 1 win. "We found the holes," explained Anderson. "We played well together."

But inability to receive serves produced a 7-0 second-game deficit, and the Prowlers never recovered.

Carrie Rud, Maren Thorson and Desirae Alberg controlled play at the net as Thief River Falls took a 2-1 lead with a third game rout.

However, errors in serve receiving once again became a major headache for the Prowlers as the Lumberjacks extended the match to a full five games.

Thief River Falls dominated down the stretch, running off 13 unanswered points, and finishing it with an ace by Alberg, a sophomore who led the Prowlers with 13 kills. Thorson, a senior, her in double figures with 10.

"Carrie Rud, Maren Thorson and Desirae Alberg all had a good night at the net," said Anderson.

Thief River Falls junior varsity improved to 4-0 with a 15-3, 15-6 win. The Prowlers completed the sweep with two C squad wins – 15-8, 15-3 and 15-7, 15-7.

TRF Scoring

■ Last touch points - Desirae Alberg 17, Maren Thorson 6, Carrie Rud 6, Michelle Mathson 6, Kendra Dimich 6, Sarah Koland 6, Kelle Kraemer 4, Kim Hook 4, Heather Holthusen 1

■ Kills - Alberg 13, Thorson 10, Rud 6, Mathson 7, Koland 3

■ Ace serves - Alberg 2, Koland 1, Thorson 1

■ Assists - Dimich 34, Kraemer 2

Nordics vs. Gators

Twice on the brink of defeat, Marshall County Central came back to win a 3-2 high school volleyball match Thursday against Badger/Greenbush-Middle River. The match was played in Greenbush.

The Nordics won 7-15, 12-15, 15-13, 15-6, 15-13.

After climbing out of that 0-2 hole to start the match, the Nordics found themselves facing 8-0 and 13-6 deficits in Game 5 before finding a way to win and put their season record at 3-1. The Gators fell to 3-5.

"It was not a pretty night of volleyball for us," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "They (Gators) played well. We came out flat, and they kept attacking. But the comeback was nice."

Jorgenson said the Nordics got some solid contributions off the bench, led by sophomore Miki Winterworth, who collected nine service points in the pivotal Game 3 win.

Walverines vs. Bears

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke ran out of gas in the fifth game as Lake of the Woods beat the visiting Wolverines 15-9, 11-15, 9-15, 16-14, 15-3.

"They played really well in games 2-3-4, but we fell apart in the last one," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Tina Rode.

Back problems that forced Rachel Rychlock out of the line-up in Game 5 hurt the Wolverines' attack, pointed out Rode.

Rychlock and Jaclyn Haack led the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke hitters. Sophomore setters Jenny Nelson made her varsity debut with a strong performance, noted Rode.

The Wolverines are 1-3.

Prowler cross country team will be hosting a fun run for students in grades 3-through-5 Monday near Challenger Elementary School. Promoting the event are, left to right, Ryan Hendrickson and Chris Pribula, captains of the Prowler boys cross country team; Caare Holmstrom, Thief River Falls cross country head coach, who is holding one of the participation certificates that will be presented to each runner; and Lisa Swenson, captain of the Prowler girls cross country team.

Grade school fun run planned

Members of the Thief River Falls boys and girls cross country teams will offer a fun run Monday for students in grades 3-through-5 at Challenger Elementary School.

The event will begin at 3:30 p.m. in the open field west of Challenger.

Students will compete against their own age group in both boys and girls categories. Third graders will run 800 meters; fourth and fifth graders will run 1600 meters.

Participation certificates will be presented to all runners, with ribbons going to the top ten finishers in each division.

Head coach Caara Holmstrom and her Thief River Falls boys and girls cross country team members will be on hand when school is dismissed Monday to direct the young runners.

Crookston title is won by TRF girls

This time they earned it. The Thief River Falls girls won their second straight title Thursday at the Crookston Invitational high school cross country meet. But Monday they won by default as the only complete squad at the Warroad Invitational. At Crookston, the Prowlers beat a five-team field.

And first-year Thief River Falls coach Caara Holmstrom was elated with the results. "We won! First team victory for the girls in a long time," she said, discounting the Warroad handout. "We're all very excited about it. It took all five (runners) to do it, but they ran like a team instead of five individuals."

The five included sophomore Becky Mooney, fourth; senior Lisa Swanson, fifth; junior Kate Ihle, sixth; eighth grader Emily Mugaas, 20th; and senior Angie Klinker, 35th.

Park Rapids Area boys claimed the other varsity title. Thief River Falls trailed the nine-team field. Ronnie Lund was the top Thief River Falls runner, finishing 32nd. Holmstrom praised the effort by Brandon Gerardy, who placed 53rd.

TRF sophomores rally, top Bemidji

Thief River Falls sophomores overcame a 12-0 first quarter deficit and broke into the win column for the first time in three tries Monday with a 24-20 high school football victory at Bemidji.

Anthony Hendricks added two-point conversion runs following all three Thief River Falls touchdowns – an 8-yard run by Andy Harbott, a 5-yard run by Trevor Lee and a 52-yard pass from Chris Mumm to Jeremy Burns.

Community ed at Plummer to offer classes

Several classes have been tentatively scheduled for this fall by the community education department of School District 628 at Plummer, according to Richard Lorenson, superintendent and principal.

Tentatively scheduled are classes in archery for beginners, assembling photo albums, jewelry making, general woodworking, computer awareness, access to Internet and elementary Spanish for grades 1-6.

Persons interested in enrolling in any of the classes listed are asked to call the school at 465-4222 and register. Dates and times will be arranged when sufficient numbers have registered for any of the classes.

Lorenson said that a latch key program from 3 to 6 p.m. has been suggested and anyone interested in this type of program also is asked to call the school. If enough people are interested in making use of such a program Monday through Friday, he said, the district will certainly consider making the service available.

Members of the community education advisory committee also encourage residents of the district to call the school with other class suggestions or group trips to various points of interest.

A WORD ABOUT THIS SALE:
The Newhouse family homesteaded this farm in the early 1900's and many of the antiques and collectibles up for bids date from that time period. Prior to that, the elder Mr. Newhouse had a little near Spring Grove, MN and a few items from that store will be found also. Elmer and Leonard have sold the family farm, Leonard will be moving to town. Auctions of this type are becoming more rare every year. This is not only an auction but actually an historical event as well. BE ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN YOU DO NOT MISS IT!

ANTIQUES & COLLECTIBLES Since 1917!

New business in old Gatzke school

Setting up shop

Scribe Rite Steel recently moved to its new location in the old Gatzke school. The building has been closed since the late 1980s. It was purchased by a group called Gatzke Development Corporation. The group hoped to use the building for 4-H activities and other community functions. However the group didn't have enough money to keep the building in shape. Tom says it was just luck that at the time when he was looking for a new shop, the group was looking to sell the building.

The school needed a lot of work. The roof over the main entrance leaked, leaving both the ceiling and the floor severely water damaged. The roof had to be patched, and the floor in the front area had to be completely replaced. The water also rusted the steel doors. Parts of the doors had to be cut off and patched with new steel and auto putty. Tom said that if he had that to do over again, he would have bought wooden replacement doors. The water also contributed to mold problems. Tom said there were about two inches of mold on the walls which had to be scrubbed off. As if that wasn't enough, all the plumbing was ruined and had to be replaced, and the electrical wiring had to be brought up to code for handling all the shop equipment.

"The painting and the plumbing were two horrific problems," said Tom. "We were here 12 to 16 hours a day for 2 months. So when we slept good — when we slept."

Helping Tom with the incredible clean-up project were Tom's uncle, who is a contractor from California, Bob, and Tom's girlfriend. Tom estimates that his girlfriend has put 40 gallons of paint on the interior of the building.

The clean-up also included some re-modeling as well. The wall dividing the first and second grade room and the pricipal's office was knocked down, and the wall between the principal's office and the third, fourth and fifth grade room was knocked down. The three rooms were combined to make one big shop. The business is already out growing their current shop, and it may eventually extend the shop into the sixth, seventh and eigth grade room.

Tom wants to leave the gym as it is for as long as possible. He has moved into the school and may use the gym as an apartment. (Imagine being able to shoot hoops in the living room.) Any remodeling will have to wait. First, the building's five furnaces need to be repaired.

Tom grew up in Gatzke and attended school in the building where he now lives and works. Ironically, his office is where the principal's office was, a place that seems to figure prominently in Tom's memories of elementary school.

Working with other companies

He enjoys living in Gatzke and hopes the town can continue to survive. He credits the big manufactures in the region for creating jobs that allow people to make a decent wage. By farming out work to smaller local companies, the small communities can keep their cafes, stores and restaurants open and keep people in the town, explains Tom. In turn, the small towns provide a population based from which to hire people. In short, the big companies and small towns know they need each other and they work together to benefit everyone.

Tom says his company also works with other machine shops and fabricating companies in the area. He says he has farmed work out to places in Stephen, Grygla and other area towns.

"We have to (work together), we're in the same business," Tom says.

Tom hopes his business will grow and he can create jobs which will bring people to his hometown.

"I like Gatzke. We have our store and cafe. Now if we can just find enough people to work here we can keep them."

RLE workers helped co-ops with repair on storm damaged lines of its 3,450 customers were affected. Almost all outages were directly related to trees landing on power lines or power poles.

Hagl and Cota were the first Red Lake lineworkers asked to help. They left the afternoon of July 12 and worked into the night, leaving for home about 3 a.m. Then about 5 a.m., as Hagl and Cota were near Erskine, the second storm hit the Wild Rice area. That was the big storm.

Marcotte and DeHaan left for Wild Rice later that morning and were immediately assigned to the Tulaby and Twin Lakes area. The next day they went to Lake Park and the Cormorant Lake group. Joining them on Saturday, after being released by Red River, were Carriere and Gervais. Hagl and Cota arrived the following Tuesday.

"They had all six of us from Red Lake working in the same area along with two men from Wild Rice," Marcotte said. "That way we could use our radios to communicate and we had the two Wild Rice people who were familiar with the area. It worked out well that way; it was well organized. We didn't get home until the next Friday. We were gone for nine days."

While the days were long, the workers said the experience was satisfying. One of the happiest customers when the crew arrived to restore power was a family that was planning an outdoor wedding.

"They had a big tent set up and everything in place," DeHaan said. "We worked late into the night to get power back on for them. The wedding went off without a hitch."

Workers said they never heard a complaint—even from a person who had gone for nine days without electricity—and that people were friendly and helpful. They provided rides on four-wheelers and pick-ups, cleared brush and even welded equipment on a truck. A cafe in Mahnomen stayed open until 2 a.m. and the wife of a Wild Rice lineworker did laundry in her home.

After things had settled down, each of the lineworkers receive a thank-you letter from the Wild Rice manager, along with a hat and a $25 check. The Red Lake employees said they put the lines back up the way they should be, noting that it is easier to do it right the first time.

Kennedy said that Red Lake Electric was short-handed with its lineworkers gone, "but it would have been tough to keep our people here to fix a vapor light when other people were out of power. Our customers were patient and understanding, and we really appreciate that."

Polaris Telcom offers Minnesota so much more...

We've got a lot of great reasons to take another look at Polaris Telcom.
Polaris Telcom long distance service starts with the basics - top-quality long distance, operator assistance - plus special services like automatic volume discounts, and the convenience of having your long distance calls appear right on your local telephone bill. Polaris Telcom just announced new, lower long distance rates, too. Our typical customer is now saving more than 20% on long distance calls! And from now until September 30, 1995, Polaris Telcom will reimburse you for charges to switch your long distance service.

But that's not all...
Polaris Telcom provides a state-wide fully interactive videoconference network, prepaid calling cards, enhanced voice and fax services, and offers Internet service through a partnership with Independent Minnesota telephone companies. It's all part of our commitment to bringing technology to Minnesota communities. It's time to take another look at Polaris Telcom!

Wetlands Task Force hears testimony

Rep. Tim Finseth of Angus makes notes during a meeting of the Minnesota Legislature Wetlands Task Force Thursday evening at Northland Community and Technical College. Finseth chairs the task force. At his left is Rep. Jim Girerd of Lynd.

Under the chairmanship of Rep. Tim Finseth of Angus, the Minnesota Legislature Wetlands Task Force conducted a hearing attended by about 60 people Thursday evening at Northland Community and Technical College cafeteria in Thief River Falls.

The task force is composed of 14 Independent Republican state legislators interested in wetland and property rights questions. It held one previous meeting in Isanti September 16 and is scheduled for hearings in Gaylord September 28 and Luverne October 26.

Members who attended the Thief River Falls session were Rep. Finseth; Rep. Jim Gerard, Lynd; Rep. Howard Swenson, Nicollet; Rep. Bruce Anderson, Buffalo; Rep. Jim Rostberg, Isanti; and Rep. Carol Molnau, Chaska. Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy also attended at the invitation of Rep. Finseth.

Testimony presented at the session was presented by officials of local government, landowners and representatives of organizations seeking improvement of wetland regulations.

Additional photos and a story on the hearing will be published in the Wednesday, September 27 Times.

Presenting testimony to the Minnesota Legislature Wetlands Task Force in Thief River Falls Thursday evening is Russ Larson, Roseau county highway engineer. Larson cited some of the problems he sees with the state Wetlands Conservation Act.

Alzheimer's affects patient and family

by Elizabeth Reishus
Northern Watch Reporter

(Writer's note: To protect the privacy of the family, the names of the Alzheimer's patient and his wife have been changed.)

It is estimated that 4 million Americans today have Alzheimer's disease. The cause of the disease is unknown and so is the cure.

It is a progressive degenerative disease of the brian in which brain cells die and are not replaced. It results in impaired memory, thinking and behavior. It is the most common form of dementing illness. It is not a normal part of the aging process, and it is not considered to be a mental illness.

Diagnosing Alzheimer's disease is called "diagnosis of exclusion" because other conditions with symptoms similar to Alzheimer's disease must be tested for and excluded. With other causes of symptoms excluded, a working diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease may be made. The only way to confirm a diagnosis of Alzheimer's is to examine brain tissue under a microscope. This is usually done during an autopsy.

Caring for someone

Living with a loved one with Alzheimer's can be overwhelming. The disease affects everyone differently. Some patients become quiet and docile. Others become angry and argumentative.

The first few signs of Alzheimer's may not be obvious to friends and family members of people with the disease. Often the patient knows there is a problem before anyone else realizes it. Alzheimer's patients realize that they can't think straight and are forgetting things. In the earliest stage of the disease, though, the patients can usually cover up their forgetfulness.

"When you look back, you see it," said Kathy, the widow of an Alzheimer's patient. Her husband George died last winter from Alzheimer's.

In retrospect, it is easier for Kathy to see the early signs of this disease. She remembers when he could no longer balance the checkbook or do simple math. He would also forget words or sentences. He would blame her for things that were missing or things he forgot. At the time, Kathy did not think George had Alzheimer's.

Kathy first realized something was wrong when George was in the hospital with heart problems. That is when he first started to get disoriented. Even though George seemed out of touch with reality at times, he was always aware of others' reactions to him. For example, when George was in the hospital, he made a comment that made no sense to Kathy and her daughter. When the ladies exchanged questioning glances, George noticed the strange looks and asked what they were planning. He wasn't aware that he made no sense, but he was aware of others' reaction to his statement.

As the disease progressed, his personality changed. He went from being an amiable person to being angry and stubborn for no apparent reason. Kathy said there was no use fighting her husband when he got angry or stubborn. She had to just wait until he stopped being angry. It was hard to tell how her husband would act from one minute to the next.

"You just don't know when things will flare up," she said.

Even taking her husband shopping was difficult for Kathy. She had to watch him constantly or he would wander off. It was like having a child again.

George would often go for a walk and get lost or confused. He once took a walk downtown and drove someone else's car home. When Kathy arrived home she asked whose car was in the driveway. Only then did her husband

Homecoming at Goodridge, Grygla

"Say Goodbye, Don't Follow" is the theme for homecoming celebrations at Goodridge and Grygla high schools during the coming week. Some events will be conducted jointly by the two schools while others will be held individually.

Grygla will have its king and queen coronation Wednesday, September 27, at 7 p.m. in the new school gymnasium.

King candidates are seniors Brian Haugen, son of Drvis and Debra Haugen; Jamie Lunsetter, son of Bruce and Diane Lunsetter; and Derek Ruud, son of DelRay and Vickie Ruud.

Queen candidates are seniors Melissa Bernstein, daughter of Tim and Sandy Bernstein; Rachel Rychlock, daughter of Jerry and Holly Rychlock; and Keri Stratton, daughter of Chester Jr. and Kathy Stratton.

Junior attendants are Erica Holte and Jesse Lunsetter, sophomore attendants are Lynn Woods and Philip Brateng and first grade attendants are Justyne Larson, Betsy Roen, Tyler Cornelusen and Brady Olson. Last year's king and queen, Jim Verbout and Brandi Stratton, will crown the new royalty.

Monday will be Dress Up Day at the school, followed by Retro Wear Day Tuesday, Class Colors Day Wednesday, 184th Annual Hat, Cap and Sunglasses Day Thursday and Blue, Gold and White Day on Friday.

Goodridge coronation will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday, September 29, in the school gym with public attendance welcome.

King candidates are seniors Arlen Eidelbes, son of Darwin and Carol Eidelbes; John Gallagher Jr., son of John and Esther Gallagher; and David Jones, son of Ray and Judy Jones.

Queen candidates are seniors Jamie Berndt, daughter of Allen and Jean Berndt; Mandy Brandt, daughter of Doug and Linda Brandt; and Deanna Kotrba, daughter of Ron and Gail Kotrba.

Attendants are Danelle Hyland, junior; Crystelle Johnsrud, sophomore; Christa Boutain, Jenna Wellman, Michael Swanson and Tyler Johnsrud, first graders. Ushers are juniors Jared Sunsdahl and Benji Marquis.

Desi Kotrba and Trevor Kiesow will be masters of ceremonies. Mrs. Kristin Buckley and Joanna Johnson will be pianists and vocalists will include Penny Frederick, Alissa Hoffman, Carrie Irelan, Jessica Johnson, Jessica Vettleson and Tiara Kotrba.

Monday will be Pajama Day, Tuesday, is Double Day, Wednesday is Wild West Day, Thursday is Hippie Day and Friday is School Colors Day.

Homecoming football game will be between the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke Blue Devils and Kittson County Central on Friday at 7 p.m. at the Goodridge field. Homecoming Dance will follow with music by Chapter 11.

Water level raised after pump breaks

Failure of a pump used to move water from the Thief River Falls reservoir to the water treatment plant has resulted in water levels being raised in the reservoir.

Water level in the reservoir was raised from the low drawdown stage Wednesday. The low level of the water prevented water from being pumped through the intake to the water treatment plant. The problem was anticipated during planning for the drawdown and a pump was leased to pump water from the reservoir to the treatment plant. Failure of that pump Wednesday has required officials to raise the level of the water so that water can be pumped through the intake.

Though the water level has been raised three to four feet, it has not been raised to its pre-drawdown and final level.

The drawdown is expected to be concluded in October and it was not immediately known whether water levels will be lowered when and if the pump is fixed or replaced.

Lincoln homecoming celebration next week

"Prowler Style—Wild & Wild" is the theme for the annual Lincoln high school homecoming week which begins Monday, September 25, with Dress Up Day during the school day and coronation of the king and queen at 7:30 p.m. ceremonies in the school auditorium. Public attendance at the coronation ceremonies is welcome.

Special activities will continue throughout the week with the final events being the football game between the Prowlers and Park Rapids Panthers at 6 p.m. Friday, September 29, on Prowler Field and the homecoming dance from 9 p.m. to midnight in the new gymnasium at Lincoln.

Candidates for homecoming queen are seniors Kendra Dimich, daughter of Tom and Judy Dimich; Jill Dekkers, daughter of Will Dekkers and Beverly Dekkers; and Jennifer Olin, daughter of David and Muriel Olin.

Homecoming king candidates are seniors Keith Anderson, son of Rory and Helen Anderson; Aaron Ehrenstrom, son of Kent and Janet Ehrenstrom; and Chane Keefe, son of Mike and Rosalind Keefe.

The homecoming king and queen candidates will be introduced at the varsity volleyball matches against Roseau on Tuesday and Fosston on Thursday in the Lincoln gymnasium.

Attendants to the homecoming royalty are juniors Erika Altepeter, Caryn Omdahl, Luke Davis and Alex Mucken; sophomores Breann Englebery, Heather Torstveit, Andy Harbott and Cody Huschle; and freshmen Tiffany Hermanson, Michelle Peterick, Eric Bjornstad and Wade Haviland. Junior attendants are Chelsey Daley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Daley and Thomas Loe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Loe.

In addition to Dress Up Day on Monday, other special attire days for homecoming week include Pajama Day on Tuesday, Blast from the Past Day on Wednesday, Clash Day on Thursday and Spirit Day on Friday.

Construction continues on county courthouse

Roseau — The foundation of the new Roseau county courthouse is almost finished and soon the concrete for the floors will be poured. The parking lot is also under construction. The soil has been removed and fabric and gravel have been laid.

County auditor Anne Grantiz reported that contracts and architectural fees totaled $75,839 under the $2.9 million cap set by the county board last December. By December 1995, Grantiz estimates the county will need $2.2 million for payments to contractors.

She added that another $1.2 million needs to be transferred from the undesignated cash portion of the county's revenue fund to handle construction costs.

Cows live in former turkey barn

Karlstad — After losing their barn and 51 cows in a fire, Paul and Twilla Wollin have been able to make a bad situation better. They turned a former turkey barn into a new and improved dairy barn.

The 200 foot barn was cut into three sections and moved to the Wollin farm. The barn was pushed back together and sealed with aluminum.

Early last spring, Paul replaced his herd and milked them in a temporary stall. The new barn has a special milking parlor where eight cows are milked at one time. When the barn is complete it will also include an computerized feeding system.

Men shoots 300 pound bear

Middle River — Calvin Rybakowski made the most of opening day of bear season. Less than 20 minutes after climbing into his tree stand Calvin shot and killed a 300 pound bear.

Rybakowski plans to mount the the bear's head, but he says he is not a trophy hunter. He plans to use as much of the bear as possible. He stresses responsible hunting.

He said no one should shoot a sow with cubs. Rybakowski says cubs have a 57 percent survival rate when left alone. He tries to help motherless cubs by leaving food for them.

He said there are not a lot of bears in the area. Hunters were fortunate that a lack of food caused bears from Manitoba to move out of their habitat and into the area.

New Beptist minister

Clearbrook — The Baptist church in Clearbrook has a new minister. Pastor Verlyn Strenge along with his wife Merry and their daughter Linda are the new residents at the Baptist parsonage.

For the past six years, the family has lived in northwestern South Dakota in a small town called Camp Crook.

Pastor Verlyn enjoys hunting and fishing and sports. Merry enjoys quilting and sewing. They also have two children who attend Huron University in South Dakota.

Freak accident

Warroad — A Warroad woman was killed in a "freak train accident" on Tuesday, September 12. Doris Olson, 38, was walking across a train trestle when she was struck by a Canadian National train. According to witnesses, Olson was wearing headphones and could not hear the train behind her. Witnesses tried to signal the woman, but could not get her attention. Police Chief Laurence Wright said that the train blew its whistle and locked the brakes, but was unable to stop in time. Wright emphasized the the trestle is posted with no trespassing signs on both ends.

Play opens

Kennedy — The Kennedy 42nd Street Song and Dance Company has been busy rehearsing for their fall production of "Dogsbreath Devereaux, The Dastardly Doctor, or Nurses! Foiled Again". Like all good melodramas it has a cast of characters with funny names, villain, villainess and a heroine. The audience will be invited to boo and cheer accordingly. The play opened Friday, September 22 and will show September 23 at 7 p.m. and September 24 at 2 p.m.
— Kittson County Enterprise

Railroad repair

Warren — Burlington Northern is replacing its bolted rail near Warren. The current rail weighs about 90 pounds per yard. The new continuous welded rail weighs about 136 pounds per yard. The new rail will be able to handle more traffic and requires less maintenance. The new rail also reduces noise, as it is the bolts that causes the clicking noise that is heard when trains roll over tracks. Last week 1,600-foot track sections were unloaded in Warren. Traffic had to be halted while the track was cut and moved. Crews will also replace track between Stephen and Crookston. The new rail should be in place by November 1.
— Warren Sheaf

Taking advantage

Red Lake Falls — Art teacher Ann Piersol and her students are taking an unusual approach to learning about clay. They are mining and refining it themselves. When Piersol learned that there used to be brick factories in Red Lake Falls, she decided to use the local clay for her art class. Piersol met with other community members to discuss possible uses of the clay. One idea being considered is using the clay to make mugs of platters for the Red Lake county centennial celebration next year.

Soupçon

By Sherry LaCoursiere

Since last week's quick and simple recipes met with such raves, I will try to give you a few more this week.

How about making these spicy favorites to make the house smell good.

RAISIN SPICE BARS

1 1/4 cups flour
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup shortening
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup buttermilk or sour milk
1 egg
1/2 cup raisins

Place all ingredients in mixing bowl and beat at medium speed for 2 minutes. Place in greased and floured 9x13 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Frost, if desired.

Browned Butter Icing

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons milk
2 cups powdered sugar
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Brown butter in saucepan (stir constantly, being careful not to burn). Stir in milk, sugar and vanilla and beat. Thin with additional milk, if necessary.

Everybody remembers this favorite cake:

MOIST CHOCOLATE CAKE (Also Called Crazy Cake)

3 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda
1/3 to 1/2 cup cocoa
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
2 tablespoons vinegar
3/4 to 1 cup oil
2 cups cold water

Mix dry ingredients in large mixing bowl. Make a hole in center of ingredients and add other ingredients that have been mixed together. Stir with a fork.

Bake in 9x13 inch pan at 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes.

Frosting

1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, cocoa and water and boil 2 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and beat. Add more powdered sugar if too thin.

This is another old favorite that makes a meal in a hurry:

SHIPWRECK HOT DISH

1 pound hamburger
1 onion, diced
Salt and pepper
1 can cream of chicken soup
3 or 4 medium potatoes, diced
1 can tomato soup

Brown hamburger and onion and season with salt and pepper to taste. Mix hamburger mixture with remaining ingredients and place in greased casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for about 1 hour, until potatoes are tender.

sponsors the homecoming celebration, is offering a $5 gift certificate for pizza or a free ticket to the homecoming dance to the best-dressed male and female student and staff member on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Winners will be announced at the pep fest at 1 p.m. Friday in the old gymnasium at Lincoln, along with the Spirit Day winners who must be at the pep fest and properly attired to win the prize.

At 2 p.m. Friday the homecoming parade will be held. Any group or organization interested in entering a float in the homecoming parade is asked to contact Jane Mattson, community education director, at the school district service center. A $50 prize will be given to the class with the first place float. No candy is to be thrown from any float.

SLV Entertainment Systems, which provides a giant video screen and spectacular light show, will provide music for the homecoming dance. Tickets are $5 per person and those attending are reminded that dancers may be in stocking feet or slippers only.

Doors to the dance will close at 10:30 p.m. Students who will be attending with someone who is not a Lincoln student—including students from other districts who are taking classes at Lincoln—must register the name of that person in the student affairs office prior to the dance.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

As a State Representative one of my duties is to educate my constituents with factual information. Unfortunately not all elected officials respect this principle and the result is a deliberate attempt to mislead the public.

Recently, a House Republican leader tried to tell the citizens of northwestern Minnesota that their tax dollars were being spent by young women to attend a worldwide conference in China. This is simply not true.

The legislature approved a $5.7 billion K-12 omnibus education funding bill in the 1995 session. The bill includes a $20,000 appropriation to the Department of Education. The Commissioner, in consultation with the Council on the Economic Status of Women, may grant the funds to "an organization for girls" to develop a curriculum on the role of women and children in the world including the educational opportunities, family customs and health and safety issues facing women and children around the world. Any organization for girls can submit a grant proposal to meet the curriculum development guidelines. The grant is available in Fiscal Year 1996, but has not yet been awarded.

"New Moon Girls" is a publication for young girls written by young girls. It is a 48 page ad-free bi-monthly magazine which is written by 25 Minnesota girls ranging in ages from eight to 17. The magazine focuses on aiding girls and young women in dealing with issues such as self-esteem. It differs from other mainstream publications whose images tell young girls what they should be and instead allows them to tell the world who they really are.

While some girls associated with "New Moon" magazine did attend the conference in China, they provided for their own expenses. It is a separate issue from the state grant.

Even though the Republicans introduced an amendment to eliminate the grant, intended to help girls develop their own voice in today's society, I voted instead to make an investment in the future of Minnesota's young women.

Sincerely,
Jim Tunheim
State Representative
Kennedy, MN

To The Editor:

I very much enjoyed my visit to Thief River Falls on August 30. The people of northwestern Minnesota should be immensely proud of Northland Community and Technical College. Even a quick visit made it readily apparent that this area has eager students, dedicated staff and a supportive community.

Northland is a microcosm of the higher education merger enacted by the Minnesota Legislature. While "Minnesota State Colleges and Universities" is the family name of the large, new system, it is not meant in any way to detract from the identity of individual colleges and universities.

Rather than imposing itself on individual colleges, the merger has freed faculty, administrators and staff to look at innovative ways to serve students. As a statewide system it is our role to provide new and better opportunities to serve Minnesotans throughout their lives.

Education is not a one-time experience; rather it is both preparation for life and a part of life. I am delighted to be part of that and I am delighted to be associated with Northland Community and Technical College.

Sincerely,
Judith S. Eaton, Chancellor
Minnesota State Colleges and Universities

Rural leadership plan conference

Annual alumni leadership conference for all past participants in the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund's Rural Leadership Program and the Blandin Foundation's Community Leadership Program is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, November 6 and 7, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

The conference will begin with an evening session on Monday, followed by a full day of activities on Tuesday. There is no registration fee and lodging will be provided Monday evening for those living outside a 45-mile radius of Thief River Falls.

This year's conference will focus on communications and include sessions on negotiation skills, the role of the media, telecommunications and a Meyers-Briggs update.

Alumni of the programs are urged to mark their calendars and watch for conference registration materials in the mail.

Property Rights Issue Resurfaces In Our Own Back Yard

Thief River Falls and other northwestern Minnesota area residents are no strangers to the property rights furor that seems to be sweeping the country. In fact, people from this part of the state and nation have been instrumental in initiating action and showing a determination to bring about a change in direction of government actions.

Thursday evening State Rep. Tim Finseth of Angus, who chairs a House of Representatives Wetlands Task Force, conducted a hearing at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC). He and other members of the task force invited the public to talk about problems they have faced because of the current wetlands law and what changes could be made to improve the situation.

On Tuesday, October 3, Sen. Joe Bertram will bring members of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Development Committee which he chairs to a 7 p.m. hearing in the cafeteria at NCTC. He also hopes to receive area input and additional direction on which legislative road to travel.

Rep. Finseth's talk force also planned meetings in Isanti, Gaylord and Luverne while Sen. Bertram's committee is conducting sessions in Crookston, Detroit Lakes, Morris and St. Cloud.

The concept of property rights should not be difficult to understand. It is the right, within reason, of a person who owns property to utilize that property as he or she sees fit so long as it does not unduly harm his or her neighbors. In the event that the government must use all or a part of that property for the public good, the owner of the property must be fairly compensated for that "taking" or loss of control.

In a recent issue of The Farmer's Voice, published by the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner was emphatic in setting forth the views of his organization.

"Despite a sea-change shift in Congress, there is no let-up in bureaucratic land-grabbing, judging by the number of letters I receive from abused and confused landowners," Kleckner writes. "People across the county still believe that when they buy tangible real estate, they also obtain intangible rights that go along with ownership.

"Occasionally the public welfare requires the government to infringe upon an individual's rights. When property rights are restricted, owners believe they merit compensation. The Fifth Amendment to our Constitution clearly spells this out and is the basis for eminent domain activities.

"Yet, all three arms of the federal government are working to expand regulatory control over how you can farm your land. I haven't heard from too many farmers about being unable to build subdivisions, or start quarries or build dams. The people I hear from are upset because they have been told they cannot grow a crop where one has grown for decades, or they are prohibited from repairing drain tiles or maintaining ditches.

"Farm Bureau opposes these and all other forms of federal land use planning," Kleckner continues, "believing such decisions should be made by those closest to the situation. And our opinions are shared by many in this nation."

Kleckner notes that "proponents of this 'What's mine is mine and what's yours is negotiable' philosophy have come up with a new argument to further confound the debate. Instead of talking about 'takings,' they talk about 'givings.' The idea is that some government actions increase the value of assets, the opposite of the charge against regulatory takings.

"This government 'givings' concept has no Constitutional basis. Any givings from government are a result of legislative action to transfer income or assets from one group to another, to pursue a public goal or establish a government activity," Kleckner adds.

"The writers of our Constitution feared that special interest groups would gain undue powers and use the federal government for their special purposes. The one brake on any such activity would be to require the federal government to pay for any property taken from individuals.

"Not anticipating deficit budgeting, early leaders wanted to use the economic factor of costs to contain the politicians and bureaucrats. But the debate then, and now, is over rights, not value. Take a road; if it is built near your land, the per-acre value might increase. But you have not gained additional property rights. You have no legal right to stop a later decision to relocate that road."

In the explanation of Bruce Yandle, an economics and legal studies professor at Clemson University, if a regulatory decision is made to close the road due to congestion or flooding, and the neighboring property values fall, it is not a taking and no compensation is due. Payment is required only when rights are transferred, not when luck of the draw affects values.

Kleckner says the givings issue surfaces most frequently in discussions about legislation dealing with clean water, endangered species and other measures that curtail ability to manage the land. "Even if government activity does increase the value of land, it has nothing to do with rights of property owners to be compensated if property is taken for public use.

"Without question, there are many cases where property owners gain value in their land through the actions of the federal government," Kleckner concludes. "But nowhere are those rights granted in the Constitution. Among the rights that are enshrined in that document, the right to own and use property is being taken by our government. Farm Bureau is working to change that."

So are many of the people who were involved in Rep. Finseth's hearing Thursday and who will participate in Sen. Bertram's hearing on October 3.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Medical Center airs issues on aging

New perspectives on dementia, depression and other issues concerning older adults will be presented at Northwest Medical Center's second annual conference on aging issues Tuesday, September 26, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Goals of the workshop— which is designed to offer information to families and professional caregivers —are to increase participants' understanding of mental health problems facing older adults and to explore effective solutions to these problems.

The workshop has been designed to meet the requirements of the Minnesota Board of Nursing and will provide seven contact hours (CEUs). Application for CEU approval has been made to both social work and psychology licensing boards.

By conclusion of the workshop, participants will be able to:

(1) Recognize symptoms of depression and dementia and implement behavioral approaches to assist in their management;

(2) Feel more knowledgeable about legal and financial concerns;

(3) Discuss the use of music as a therapeutic tool;

(4) Identify the role of drug use for mental health problems; and

(5) Understand a family's perspective regarding treatment.

Keynote speaker at 2 p.m. will be Todd A. Johnson, R.Ph., Pharm.D., clinical pharmacist/consultant and assistant professor in the College of Pharmacy at the University of Minnesota. His topic will be "Overview of Psychotropic Drug Use in the Elderly."

Other presenters at the workshop will include:

Jayne and Jerry Clark, family members; Darlene Weber, regional long-term care ombudsman; Vicki Carraway, registered music therapist at Ah-Gwah-Ching Center; Karen Pietras, Ph.D., L.P., supervisor of the geriatric behavioral health program at Northwest Medical Center; Mary McEnelly, R.N. and Beth Blankenfeld, L.P.N. mental health division staff nurses at Northwest Medical Center.

Sponsors of the workshop are Northwest Medical Center, Roerig Pfizer Pharmaceuticals, McIntosh Manor Nursing Home, Northwest Area Agency on Aging, Ah-Gwah-Ching Center and West Central Minnesota Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association.

For more information contact Julie Osmondson at 218-681-4240 or 1-800-587-4240, extension 339.

LHS Class of 1940 to hold annual reunion

Lincoln high school Class of 1940 will hold its 55-year reunion Friday through Sunday, September 29-October 1, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Friday events will begin with registration and social from 1 to 4:30 p.m. A group picture will be taken at 4:30 p.m. and the reunion banquet will be served at 5:30 p.m.

Art Buringrud will be master of ceremonies. Rodney Brodin will give the invocation and Leonard Furuseth will give the welcome. Clifford Vigness will lead the memorial service and Frances (Stenberg) Stromberg will read correspondence from classmates. Speaker will be from the Thief River Falls Education Foundation.

Saturday events include a luncheon buffet at 11:30 a.m. at the Best Western, followed by tours of local education facilities, Heritage Community Center and Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village at 1:30 p.m. At 5 p.m. shuttle service will be provided from the Best Western to the River Road Casino.

Final event will be an 11:15 a.m. breakfast buffet at the Best Western Inn.

There were 127 members in the class of 1940, and 26 are now deceased. Classmates meet on the last Tuesday of each month for noon lunch at The Lantern Restaurant and Lounge. The last Friday in September is designated for the annual banquet.

Hegland church harvest festival is September 24

Hegland Lutheran Church of Strandquist will hold its annual harvest festival celebration Sunday, September 24, at 3 p.m. with Rev. Phillip Rokke as speaker for the program.

Musical selections will be provided by the Heritage Christian School Men's Quartet of Karlstad, Mrs. Phillip Rokke and children of Newfolden and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lorenson of Roseau. A supper will follow the program.

Hospice benefit spaghetti supper set for Oct. 2

Fifth Annual Northland Community Hospice Benefit spaghetti supper will be held Monday, October 2, from 5 to 7 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran church.

The benefit will support local efforts by Northland Community Hospice. Free-will offerings will be accepted. The event is also co-sponsored by Redeemer/Black River parish AAL Branch 9813/7092.

Juvenile arrested for TRF thefts

Law enforcement officials in Thief River Falls have arrested a 16-year-old male in connection with three thefts from storage lockers behind the Family Bowl. During the booking, law enforcement learned that the 16-year-old boy was wanted on a felony warrant in Florida for grand theft with a $5,000 bond set on the charge. They learned that the youth had been certified as an adult in Florida. The youth has been working in Thief River Falls.

Officials have recovered some of the items taken in the theft, including a compound bow, but not all of the items. The youth was expected to make an appearance before a Ninth District judge on Friday.

Man charged with sexual assault

Bond has been set at $250,000 for 30-year-old Scott Joseph Mirkovich of Thief River Falls, who is accused of raping a young female.

Mirkovich was arrested September 19 following an investigation by the Pennington County sheriff's department into a complaint filed by a young girl.

Mirkovich appeared in front of a Ninth District court Judge Wednesday and was formally charged with first degree criminal sexual conduct and assault in the second degree. Bond was set at $250,000. His next appearance in court is scheduled for Monday.

Mirkovich's last known address was Fridley and before that, the Duluth area.

Alzheimer's patient

realize that he had taken the wrong car. He notified the police of the situation, and they returned the car to its rightful owner. (Fortunately, the owner of the car had not noticed the vehicle was missing.)

Kathy notes that living in a small town has its advantages when someone has Alzheimer's. People knew her husband and would bring him home when he wandered away. The fire department said she should give them a call if George ever got lost, and they would organize a search team to find him.

Besides George's wandering off, there were other problems. For a while, George became obsessed with making appointments to see a lawyer. Once he made the appointments, George forgot to keep them. He also would turn on the water faucet and forget to turn it off. When he washed the dishes, sometimes he would forget to rinse them.

Driving was another difficult issue. George liked to drive, but he would forget to stop at stop signs and forget to watch for people. When the doctor found out George was driving, he asked for George's license. At first, George did not seem upset about giving up his license. However, he later blamed Kathy for taking his license because he couldn't remember the visit to the doctor.

Kathy bore the brunt of a lot of George's misplaced anger. She realized that her patience was beginning to wear thin.

Getting help

Kathy decided she needed help dealing with George. She called the Area Agency on Aging who referred her to Lutheran Social Services. LSS helped her get respite care and organize a support group.

One of the most important things for caregivers to remember is to care for themselves. However, Kathy was starting to neglect her own health because of all the time she spent caring for her husband. Finally, she began to accept help from others.

A respite care worker started helping take care of George. She and George would sit and talk or go for walks together, which gave Kathy some time for herself. Friends and family members helped too. They would stay with George or take him for drives. He liked to sit and look at pictures with visitors. He also liked to listen to music with friends, but he would get frustrated when he couldn't remember how to work the stereo.

At first Kathy was reluctant to call for respite care because she was not sure the respite caregivers would be able to take care of her husband. She soon learned that respite care can benefit both the patient and the caregiver.

"Sometimes they (the patients) act better with a respite caregiver," she explained.

Nursing home

Most patients are not willing to go into a nursing home, but early last year George decided it was time to enter a home. Kathy was fortunate that it was not a battle to get George into the home. Still, it was not easy for her to do.

"It was hard to put him in the nursing home," she said softly. "It was the hardest thing to do."

The disease continued to take its toll on George. In the nursing home, George visited with people and showed them pictures of his grandchildren. However, when the grandchildren visited him, he didn't always recognize them.

He liked to do simple tasks such as sweeping or wiping tables at the nursing home. He would do a task for hours at a time.

As the disease progressed further, George had to be fed by others, and eventually, he could not eat. His mind and body simply shut down. George passed away last December, 10 months after entering the nursing home.

George's respite caregiver pointed out that there was one thing he seemed to be able to do until he died. He was able to pray. It was one of his earliest memories, and one of the last to go.

Life goes on

Kathy is now helping others deal with Alzheimer's and other issues of aging. She still attends the support group she helped get started and she is a trained respite care volunteer with Lutheran Social Services. She continues to stress the importance of getting support while caring for an Alzheimer's patient.

She recommends reading the book "The Thirty-Six Hour Day" by Nancy L. Mace, M.A. and Peter V. Rabins, M.D., M.P.H. She also says the support group really helped her. There are many resources for those caring for Alzheimer's patients. Kathy suggests calling Lutheran Social Services at 1-800-371-4845. There will also be a workshop dealing with issues surrounding dementia and aging on Tuesday, September 26 from 8:30 to 4:30 at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls. The Second Annual Conference on Aging Issues is called "Leave No Stone Unturned: New perspectives on dementia, depression and other issues concerning older adults." For more information on the conference call Julie Osmondson at 1-800-587-4240 or 218-681-4240 extension 339.

It is important that those caring for people with Alzheimer's disease take advantage of the support and information available to them. Many people agree that Alzheimer's disease affects the families of patients as much as it affects the patients. Thanks to the many support agencies, those caring for Alzheimer's patients don't have to struggle alone.

Sanders 4-H to clean

An open letter to clients and friends of Regan Rohl:

Dear Clients and Friends:

I am writing to all of you to inform you of an exciting move that I have made in my professional career as an Investment Executive. Effective September 1, 1995, I, along with my wife, Julie and my assistant Judy Reger, have joined the firm of John G. Kinnard & Co., a full service brokerage firm based in Minneapolis, Minnesota. My new location here in Thief River Falls is at 213 N. LaBree Avenue, Suite 203. My phone numbers are: 681-3983 or 1-800-768-1869.

I feel that John G. Kinnard & Co. has many benefits to offer. John G. Kinnard & Co. offers competitive stock commissions and margin rates. In addition to lower costs, Kinnard also has more products available, especially in the areas of tax-free municipals bonds. As a firm, John G. Kinnard and Company is committed to serving clients, based on individual investment objectives. They believe, as I do, in customizing each client's investment plan, based on personal goals and needs.

I also feel that Kinnard is taking a long-term approach in their commitment to the Thief River Falls area. What I mean by that is they will give me the support that I need to take care of my clients, keep me up-to-date by providing me with current technology in the communication of transactions and ideas, yet allow me to operate in an entrepreneurial fashion so that I can make decisions that fit the needs of the clients in our area. Equally important, my alliance with Kinnard allows me to own my own business and allows other members of my family the opportunity to work along side me. My wife and I greatly enjoy living in Thief River Falls, and this business opportunity firmly ties us to the area where we want to live.

John G. Kinnard and Company has been in business since 1944. Corporate headquarters are located in the Kinnard Financial Center, downtown Minneapolis. A regional firm, John G. Kinnard & Co. specializes in regional growth stocks and makes markets in the shares of many companies you may be familiar with, such as ARCTCO, Inc., Polaris Industries, Inc. ... In addition to market-making, Kinnard has a top-notch research department specializing in regional growth stocks. Their research analysts are continually asked by the press to comment on Kinnard's research universe. Some of you may also be familiar with one of these analysts, Bob Evans. Bob is from Thief River Falls, himself, and is very excited that Kinnard is opening an office in his home town.

Complementing the regional expertise in growth stocks, Kinnard also has a full range of investment products. These include listed securities, over-the-counter securities, mutual funds, insurance products and annuities, and a full line of fixed income products such as municipal and corporate bonds, government securities, certificates of deposit, unit investment trusts, and a variety of money markets. They also offer a complete retirement planning menu for personal and business needs, from IRA's to 401(k)s and pension plans.

I believe that honesty and integrity is of utmost importance to the managers and employees of John G. Kinnard and Company, and I'm excited to be part of it. I thank all of you for your patronage and look forward to continue serving you in your investment needs for many years to come.

EGF maintains edge over TRF

■ Green Wave 3-1 volleyball winner vs. Prowlers

East Grand Forks continued its mastery over Thief River Falls in high school volleyball Tuesday with a 15-3, 5-15, 15-11, 15-9 win.

The Prowlers haven't beaten the Green Wave in five years, pointed out frustrated Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson, who wasn't happy with her team's effort. "I was disappointed with the loss," she said. "I felt we were the better team, but you need six people playing on the court, and we didn't have that."

East Grand Forks scored the first seven points of the night en route to the first game blow-out.

But Thief River Falls turned around with a lopsided win of its own, and had an 11-9 lead in Game 3 following a Maren Thorson kill.

The Green Wave responded, however, tying it 11-11 on an ace serve by Carrie Berg, and taking the lead when the Prowlers couldn't handle a hit by Nicole Benson. Berg also served aces for points No. 13 and 15 to complete the come-from-behind effort and a 2-1 match lead.

Game 4 featured a 4-0 East Grand Forks start, a 6-4 Thief River Falls comeback and a 9-9 tie before the Green Wave closed it out with six unanswered points. The winners took the lead for good on an ace by Jill Hageman and finished with scoring from three different players – a kill by Alecia Amundson, a tip by DeeDee Egeland and a kill by Shari Rolandson.

Most of the Prowlers' attack came from Thorson, a senior who had 20 kills and 17 last-touch points.

"Maren had an excellent night at the net," said Anderson, whose team fell to 6-3 in its second home appearance of the 1995 season.

Thief River Falls junior varsity improved to 7-2 with a 15-6, 15-5 sweep. East Grand Forks won the C squad match 10-15, 15-10, 15-1.

After competing in the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational today (Saturday), the Prowlers will be at home for seven straight outings, including their annual Northern Lights Invitational Sept. 30.

Player of the Week honors (Sept. 11-15), selected by the coaching staff went to Carrie Rud, varsity; Erica McGeary, junior varsity; and Kelly Clark, C squad.

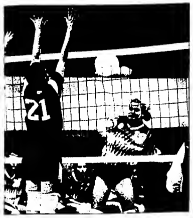
TRF Scoring

■ Last touch points - Maren Thorson 17, Michelle Mathson 8, Kendra Dimich 7, Carrie Rud 4, Katie Kraemer 3

■ Kills - Thorson 20, Mathson 8, Kraemer 3, Rud 3, Desirae Alberg 2

■ Ace serves - Mathson 2, Kendra Dimich 1, Thorson 1

■ Assists - Dimich 28, Kraemer 1



Maren Thorson of Thief River Falls hit the ball at East Grand Forks blocker DeeDee Egeland during Tuesday's high school volleyball match. Thorson led the Prowlers with 20 kills and 17 last-touch points, but they still wound up losing a 3-1 match.

Mooney, Swanson pace TRF runners

Deer River/Hill City/Northland was a one-point winner in the girls portion of the race, while the Park Rapids Area boys ran away from the competition Tuesday at the Bagley/Fosston Invitational cross country meet.

Thief River Falls boys and girls finished well behind the winners team-wise, but the Prowlers' Becky Mooney and Lisa Swanson finished 3-4 in the girls individual standings.

The Thief River Falls girls ran without Kate Ihle, who was playing tennis as part of her two-sport fall.

Thief River Falls coach Caara Holmstrom cited the effort by Emily Mugaas, the No. 3 runner for the girls. "It was a strong finish for Emily," she said. "We are pleased to see that she is becoming stronger with each race."

Tuesday volleyball...

Nordics run into Taylor, Roseau, lose 3-0 contest

Roseau, led by Megan Taylor, swept Marshall County Central 15-8, 15-2, 15-10 in high school volleyball at Newfolden Tuesday.

The Nordics were 6-1 and coming off a championship effort in their own invitational Saturday, but couldn't match up against the Rams.

"We came back to reality," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Mork Jorgenson. "Megan Taylor really did a number on us, and we were self-destructive. We were intimated early by some of their spikes and blocks."

Mustangs - Ponies

Red Lake County Central lost the first two games but came back to beat Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 13-15, 7-15, 15-5, 16-14, 15-6 Tuesday in Warren.

"We were fighting from behind all night," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "Our passing was not very good. We struggled all night."

Angie Chervestad finished with 9 kills and Maria Austad had 6 aces to lead the Mustangs, and Bray praised the efforts of Marci DuChamp and Catherine Rosten off the bench.

Prowlers out-score Grand Forks teams in triangular...

Kopari leads TRF swimmers

Freshman Nicole Kopari won two individual races and was part of two first place relay teams Tuesday to lead the Thief River Falls girls to a triangular high school swim meet win over Grand Forks Red River and Grand Forks Central at the Franklin Middle School pool.

The Prowlers finished with 135 points, Roughriders 127 and Knights 52.

Kopari won the 50 and 100-yard freestyle races, swam the lead leg on the Prowlers' first place 400-yard freestyle relay team that also included Sunny Carlson, Andi Sorvig and Becky Harger, and anchored the Prowlers' 200-yard freestyle relay team that also featured Carlson, Harger and Cami Sorenson.

Other Thief River Falls winners included Harger, winning 200-yard individual medley; Robin Bollesen 100-yard breaststroke, and Jennifer Olin, diving.

Red River won the junior varsity competition with 124 points, followed by Thief River Falls with 92 and Red River 5.

Tennis team loses two

Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls handed Thief River Falls a pair of losses Tuesday in a double-dual girls high school tennis outing at Detroit Lakes.

The Prowlers lost to the Lakers 5-2 and fell to the Otters 6-1.

Results left the Prowlers 3-4 in dual meet competition heading into a Friday match at Bemidji on their way to the Brainerd Individual today (Saturday).

The Prowlers, who will be back in Bemidji Tuesday for the annual Northwest Quadrangular, will make their third and final home appearance of the 1995 season Thursday in their own quadrangular. The meet, scheduled to start at 12-noon, will include the Prowlers, East Grand Forks, Roseau, and Park Rapids Area.

Nordics, Wolverines, Mustangs fall

Warroad lost Game 1 and trailed in both Game 3 and Game 4 Thursday, but still came out a 13-15, 15-8, 15-13, 15-13 high school volleyball winner over host Marshall County Central.

The Nordics started with a 7-0 lead in Game 3 and had a 13-9 edge in Game 4.

"We played better than we did Tuesday," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson, who wasn't happy with the Nordics' play in a 3-0 loss to Roseau earlier in the week. "The kids played pretty well. We just couldn't finish."

Marshall County Central, 6-3 for the year, played without the services of senior Darlene Nelson, sidelined by a back problem. Tricia Pederson carried the Nordics' play at the net, and Amanda Mahler was a key contributor at the service line, pointed out Jorgenson.

Wolverines vs. Rams

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke turned in a strong effort, but still wound up losing a 3-0 Thursday match to Roseau in Goodridge.

The Rams won 15-7, 15-12, 15-11 to drop the Wolverines to 3-5 for the year.

"We played our best volleyball of the season," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Tina Rode. "The girls were moving and doing a great job, but Roseau has some really strong hitters, and we just couldn't get to some of them."

Setter Jenny Nelson turned in a strong effort, noted Rode, while Melissa Bernstein, Rachel Rychlock and Jaclyn Haack led the hitters. "All of the girls did a good job," she said.

Mustangs vs. Green Wave

Red Lake County Central had two opportunities to finish off East Grand Forks, but failed as the host Green Wave rallied for a 12-15, 2-15, 15-4, 15-13, 15-12 Thursday win.

The Mustangs led 11-5 in Game 4 and were up 12-2 in Game 5 before missing three serves down the stretch.

"We came out strong," reported Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "They were really

TRF freshmen shut out Crookston 24-0

Thief River Falls freshmen improved their record to 4-0 Thursday with a 24-0 high school football win at Crookston.

Wade Chiodo scored on runs of 20 and 10 yards and Jeff Rislov caught a 20-yard touchdown pass from Treavor Peterson as Thief River Falls took an 8-0 halftime lead and went ahead 16-0 in the third quarter. Jeff Beste added a pair of two-point conversions, and Chiodo had one.

Concordia JV 3-0 volleyball winner against Pioneers

Concordia College junior varsity swept Northland Community and Technical College 15-3, 15-10, 15-12 in a Wednesday volleyball match-up at Moorhead.

"Our serve reception was bad," reported Northland coach Shari Olson. "That's the first time we've really had trouble receiving serves this year."

Concordia also exploited the middle of the Northland defense. "We need to find a strong middle blocker," mentioned Olson, who did find a highlight in the Pioneers' serving – a 38-for-39 figure over the final two games.

Ali Hietala led Northland with four service aces.

Northland took a 3-3 record into a weekend matches at home vs. Hibbing Friday night and Rainy River today (Saturday) at 12-noon.

Freshmen win two volleyball matches

Thief River Falls beat East Grand Forks Tuesday and defeated Bemidji Thursday in freshman high school volleyball.

The Thief River Falls A team swept East Grand Forks 15-13, 15-3 and got by Bemidji 15-12, 12-15, 15-4.

Thief River Falls B team was a 15-11, 15-11 winner over East Grand Forks and a 15-7, 15-7 victor over Bemidji.

Tanja Lundmark

Miss Middle River to be crowned Sunday night

Twenty first annual Miss Middle River pageant will be conducted Sunday, September 24, at 7 p.m. in the Middle River school gymnasium. Pageant theme this year is "Something To Talk About."

Candidates this year are Tanja Lundmark, Krissi Super and Marisa Toren who will be judged in the categories of personal interview, swimsuit, talent and on-stage personality/evening gown. Talent presentations include a dance routine, dramatic comedy presentation and a piano solo.

Reigning Miss Middle River, Heather Anderson, will crown her successor who will become Middle River's entry in the Miss Marshall County pageant. Public attendance is encouraged at the pageant which serves as the official kick-off for the Middle River Goose Festival.

Several former holders of the Miss Middle River title will be in attendance along with visiting royalty. Special entertainment will be provided by "Straight From The Heart," Ocland Elseth, Mathias Neumann, a foreign exchange student and Howard Hodne and the Hee Haw Band.

A review of the candidates includes the following:

Tanja Lundmark

Tanja, 19, is the daughter of Roland and Karen Lundmark and a student at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. Her talent presentation will be a dramatic reading and her sponsor is the Wagon Wheel Cafe of Middle River.

Her high school activities included choir, one-act play, school musical, Odyssey of the Mind, football manager, teacher's assistant, German club, letterman's club and boys' basketball mascot. She lettered in drama, football and cheerleading, made a trip to Washington, DC for the Close-Up program and also took a trip to Austria, Germany and Switzerland.

Tanja was a summer youth worker and performed or assisted in several of the Children's Summer Theatre plays. Her hobbies include writing poetry, sleeping and being with friend and family. She has two sisters, Barbara and Dana and two brothers, Ethan and Devon. Her career goal is to become a physical therapist.

Krissi Super

Krissi, 18, is the daughter of Thomas and KayDell Super and has a sister Kara and brother T. J. A senior at Greenbush-Middle River high school, she will present a piano solo as her talent number and is sponsored by Grand Central Graphics of Middle River.

In high school basketball she was voted most valuable player and all-conference and won awards for best defensive, best offensive and free throw leader. In volleyball she was voted best spiker and blocker and named to all-conference honors. She broke the school record for the discus throw on the track team.

She participated in jazz band, won district and state star awards and received a perfect score on a solo last year. Selected to the UND honor band last year, she has also participated in pops choir and ensemble. Active in FLA since seventh grade, she has won silver and gold awards on star events. She was also active in speech, drama, student council and National Honor Society.

Community activities for Krissi include community theater, church reader, church pianist and Sunday school teacher. Her hobbies include inline skating, weight lifting, running, listening to music and playing piano and clarinet.

Her future plans include attending the University of North Dakota on a basketball scholarship and majoring in communications with a view toward becoming a sports broadcaster.

Marisa Toren

Marisa, 17, is the daughter of Gary and Marg Toren of Middle River and has one older sister, Alison. Her pageant talent number will be an original dance routine and her sponsor is Middle River Co-operative Oil Association.

Marisa has been a student at Northern Expressions School of the Arts in Thief River Falls and has participated in danceline, cheerleading, drama, band, choir and FLA/FHA. She has been a waitress for school banquets, volunteer in the Adopt-a-Highway program and a dance teacher during Franklin Middle School activities day and during summer classes for elementary students.

For two years she was a captain and voted most valuable dancer with the Fineline Dancers in Thief River Falls. She also lettered in choir, band, track, cheerleading and danceline as well as receiving gold and silver medals in star events in FLA/FHA.

Marisa has also received excellent and superior ratings in vocal and instrumental solos and ensembles and dances with the Minnesota Vikings cheerleaders during halftime of two professional football games.

A Girls State delegate, she was also a class vice president and is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students." Her hobbies include dancing, cheerleading, choreography, traveling, spending time with friends, photography and inline skating.

Marisa plans to major in dance at the University of Minnesota's Minneapolis campus, then to go into a career in dance and choreography.

Veterans Service office closed

Office of John Ellison, veterans service officer in Thief River Falls, will be closed September 25-27 due to a change in the NO/MN county veterans service officers training conference schedule. It had been previously set for September 18-20.

MR Community Theatre sets dates for play 'Cemetery Club'

Six performances of "The Cemetery Club" have been scheduled by the Middle River Community Theatre as its 1995 Goose Festival production September 27-October 1 in Ye Olde Depot Theatre in Middle River.

Performances have been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. all five days with an additional 2 p.m. performance Sunday, October 1. Admission will be $5 for adults and $3 for students and children. Tickets are available in advance at Young's Store in Middle River and KTRF radio station in Thief River Falls.

Mike Coppock of Thief River Falls is director of the production. Cast members include Melissa Nelson as Lucille, Ramona Sjovall as Ida, April Sjovall as Doris, Paul Tandberg as Sam and Renae Ness as Mildred.

"The Cemetery Club" is said to be "an emotional roller coaster ride through the ups and downs of dealing with the loss of a husband, the realization of perhaps dating again and keeping control of the friendship that makes Ida, Lucille and Doris so special to one another."

Set in New York, the play revolves around the challenges of being "available" versus the loyalty to the three friends' deceased husbands. Throw in a "playboy butcher" and a homewrecker along with late nights and a trip or two to the cemetery and the plot provides ample opportunity for both laughter and tears.

Originally produced by the Yale Repertory Theatre in 1987, the play has been performed at the Cleveland Playhouse and the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, as well as by countless production companies.

Flu, pneumonia shots available to military vets

Flu and pneumonia vaccines, recommended for persons 65 or older or having chronic illnesses such as heart or lung disease or a weak immune system, will be given to eligible military veterans Wednesday, October 11, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms in Thief River Falls.

There is no charge to the veterans and no appointments are necessary. The immunization program is sponsored by the Department of Veterans Affairs Medical and Regional Office Center in Fargo, ND.

Wedul receives Quality Award

Kay Wedul-Steiger of Thief River Falls recently earned the National Quality Award from the National Association of Life Underwriters. The award honors those in the insurance business who write a minimum of 25 policies and who achieve 90 per cent persistency for a minimum of 13 months. Persistency refers to the number of policies that remain in force during a specified time period.

School buses need attention

"Motorists need to remember that not only do they need to be careful watching for children walking to and from school, but also children walking to and from school buses," notes Lt. John D. Nagel of the Minnesota State Patrol headquarters in Thief River Falls.

Nagel said that motorists also need to be aware of what actions they need to take when they're following or approaching a school bus. School bus riders killed or injured are casualties more often when they are off the bus than when they are inside it. Motorists who fail to stop for the flashing red lights and extended stop arm are often at fault.

"This area around the school bus is often called the danger zone," Lt. Nagel said. "Many people aren't sure of what hazard lights mean on school buses." He listed the following summary of what motorists should watch for and how they should react.

The school bus driver activates the pre-warning amber lights (those found on the very top of the bus in both front and rear) at least 100 feet before stopping—or at least 300 feet if the stop is in an area where the speed limit is more than 35 miles per hour. When the amber lights flash, the driver should immediately begin slowing down and preparing to stop.

When the red lights come on—those near the top on both the front and back of the bus—drivers must come to a complete stop at least 20 feet from the bus and stay stopped until the red lights are extinguished and stop arm retracted. The red lights and extended stop arm indicate that children are getting on or off the bus. They may be crossing in front of the bus to the other side of the roadway.

"Motorists need to pay special attention as the bus is pulling away from the stop," Lt. Nagel advised, "because this is when children arriving late may dart out into the street in an effort to catch the bus and won't be watching for traffic."

Motorists waiting to make a turn onto a roadway where a school bus is stopped with flashing red lights and stop arm extended may make a turn only if it does not interfere with any pedestrian activity.

When approaching a school bus with flashing red lights and extended stop arm from behind, it is illegal to pass on either side.

Failure to stop for a school bus with red lights flashing and stop arm extended is a gross misdemeanor, punishable by a $3,000 fine and/or one year in jail and the possibility of losing one's driver's license.

"More importantly," Lt. Nagel said, "failure to stop could cost the life of a child."

To assist motorists in understanding the rules and procedures around school buses, Norwest Banks are distributing bus safety pamphlets at their drive-up windows, Lt. Nagel said. The pamphlets are also available at the State Patrol District Office in Thief River Falls.

Drug prices are topic in legislature

One of the most controversial health care issues during the past legislative session was the cost of prescription drugs for senior citizens, according to Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls.

Several bills were introduced with a goal of cutting drug prices for seniors with varying degrees of support or opposition. Debate centered on a proposal to set up a statewide drug purchasing system.

"Proponents said it would help to provide lower cost drugs," Sen. Stumpf said. "Opponents said it would have the opposite effect."

A compromise was finally reached and a program approved for Minnesotans over age 65 who have incomes of less than 200 per cent of the federal poverty guideline ($14,720 for individuals, $19,680 for couples).

"Because there was a lot of resistance to a mandatory discount plan, the program is voluntary for seniors, pharmacies and drug manufacturers," Sen. Stumpf said. "Seniors would have to pay a $5 fee to enroll.

"The discount system is not up and running yet. Planners hope to have it in place by late this year or early 1996."

Sen. Stumpf said other changes may be ahead for the prescription drug business. Minnesota is also working on establishing a Medicare drug discount program. If the details can be worked out with the federal government, he said, Minnesota could set up a plan to help low-income Medicare recipients.

Area students earn degrees from NDSU

Several area students were among 187 receiving degrees at the annual commencement August 8 at North Dakota State University in Fargo, ND. Students, their home town and degree received include the following:

Stephanie Pulkrabek, Angus, BS; Timothy Olson, McIntosh, BS; Deborah Schindele, Stephen, BS; Larry Liden, Thief River Falls, BSN; Shan Olson, Trail, BS; and Janice Mortimer, Warren, BS.

Regional LMC meeting Oct. 3 at Greenbush

Regional meeting of the League of Minnesota Cities (LMC) has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 3, in Greenbush, to bring city officials up to date on pending legislative matters and other issues pertinent to local government.

The afternoon program at 2 p.m. will follow a guided tour of local industries from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m.

Evening program will begin with a dinner at 6 p.m. Mayor Hector Reese of Greenbush will welcome the group and introduce LMC president Karen Anderson, Mayor of Minnetonka, who will outline the league's goals for the coming year.

The meeting will conclude with a video on dealing with difficult personnel situations, followed by a discussion on personnel issues.

IMPORTANT NOTICE OF PROPOSED SETTLEMENT OF CLASS ACTION AND FAIRNESS HEARING

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF ALABAMA SOUTHERN DIVISION

Jack H. Woodward, et al. vs. NOR-AM Chemical Company
No. 94-1780-CB-C

U.S. WORKERS WITH ON-THE-JOB EXPOSURE TO FUNDAL®

and Their Spouses, Children, Other Relatives and Legal Representatives and PRICE v. CIBA-GEIGY, Ch. No. 94-0647-CB-S (S.D. Ala. 1995), SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS

FUNDAL® WAS A COMMERCIAL AGRICULTURAL PESTICIDE WHICH WAS MARKETED IN THE U.S. BY NOR-AM CHEMICAL COMPANY. FUNDAL® WAS NOT MARKETED FOR RESIDENTIAL OR HOME GARDENING USE.

U.S. WORKERS WITH ON-THE-JOB EXPOSURE TO FUNDAL® MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR FREE MEDICAL MONITORING AND/OR CASH PAYMENTS UNDER THIS PROPOSED LEGAL SETTLEMENT.

PRICE SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS ARE ALL U.S. WORKERS WITH ON-THE-JOB EXPOSURE TO GALECRON® (INCLUDING GALECRON® AND FUNDAL®) WHO DID NOT EXCLUDE THEMSELVES FROM THE PRICE SETTLEMENT. PRICE SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR CASH SUPPLEMENTS UNDER THIS PROPOSED LEGAL SETTLEMENT.

PLEASE READ THIS NOTICE CAREFULLY. YOU MAY BELONG TO A CLASS OF PEOPLE COVERED BY A PROPOSED SETTLEMENT OF A LEGAL ACTION ("WOODWARD SETTLEMENT"). THE WOODWARD SETTLEMENT MAY AFFECT YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS. FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL 1-800-211-6913.

By Order of the Court, a class action has been conditionally certified for settlement purposes. On January 9, 1996 a fairness hearing will be held at the Courthouse, United States District Court, Southern District of Alabama, 113 St. Joseph Street, Mobile, Alabama, 36602, at 9 a.m. Central Time, so the Court can determine if the class action should be finally certified and if the Woodward Settlement, as summarized in this Notice, should be approved as fair, reasonable and adequate. Although participation in this settlement is voluntary, all Woodward Settlement Class Members who do not timely exclude themselves from the lawsuit will be bound by the Woodward Settlement if it is approved.

I. DEFINITION OF CLASS

Under the Woodward Settlement, Fundal® is defined as chlordimeform or any chlordimeform-containing product, either manufactured, formulated, packaged, distributed or sold by or on behalf of NOR-AM Chemical Company ("NOR-AM") or related parties, regardless of the trade name of the product, or any metabolite of Fundal®, including the substances known as 4-COT or 5-CAT. Galecron® has the same meaning as it did in the Price v. Ciba-Geigy Corp., Civ. No. 94-0647-CB-S (S.D. Ala. 1995) Settlement ("Price Settlement") and is thus defined as chlordimeform or any chlordimeform containing product, either manufactured, formulated, packaged, distributed or sold by or on behalf of Ciba-Geigy Corporation or related parties, regardless of the trade name of the product, or any metabolite of Galecron®, including the substances known as 4-COT or 5-CAT.

The Woodward Settlement Class is defined as:

(1) All persons who fall into one of the following categories and who reside in the United States as of the date of filing of the Class Action Complaint, who have been exposed in the United States to Fundal® only, but not to Fundal® and Galecron® or to Galecron® only ("NOR-AM Exposed Persons"):
  a. Formulators. An individual (whether or not employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company) who in the course of his or her employment was exposed to Fundal® while at a plant or site which was involved in mixing, blending, packaging, handling or otherwise formulating pesticides which contained, in whole or in part, Fundal®;
  b. Applicators. An individual (whether or not employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company) who in the course of his or her employment, was exposed to Fundal® while involved in the application of pesticides which contained, in whole or in part, Fundal®, including without limitation, aerial and land applicators, flagmen, mixers, blenders, loaders and other individuals who handled such pesticide prior to or during the application process; or
  c. Other Covered Workers. (i) An individual employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company who, in the course of his or her employment, was exposed to Fundal®, (ii) an individual who worked at Empak, Inc. in Deer Park, Texas and/or Micro Chemical in Louisiana and who was exposed to Fundal® in the course of his or her employment, (iii) or an individual who worked in a testing or research laboratory and who was exposed to Fundal® in the course of his or her employment; or

(2) The spouses, parents, children, other relatives, or legal representatives of the NOR-AM Exposed Persons described above.

(3) All members of the Price Settlement Class. The Price Settlement Class means all members of the settlement class certified by the court in Price v. Ciba-Geigy Corp., Civ. No. 94-0647-CB-S (S.D. Ala. 1995) excluding persons determined by the court to be opt-outs of that class. That settlement class thus includes persons residing in the United States who in the course of their employment were exposed to Galecron® or to Galecron® and Fundal® ("Ciba Exposed Persons"), and the spouses, parents, children, other relatives, or legal representatives of the Ciba Exposed Persons described above.

(Collectively "Woodward Settlement Class Members"). Note: If you are an NOR-AM Exposed Person or a Ciba Exposed Person, you are a Woodward Settlement Class Member whether or not you have been diagnosed with an illness. Spouses, parents, children, other relatives and legal representatives are Woodward Settlement Class Members but the claims they are settling are limited to those arising from a NOR-AM Exposed or Ciba Exposed Person's exposure.

> II. IMPORTANT MEDICAL NOTICE
> To NOR-AM Exposed Persons and Ciba Exposed Persons (as defined above):
> You may have an increased risk of developing bladder cancer if you had on-the-job exposure to Fundal® and/or Galecron®. Workers exposed to Fundal® and/or Galecron® should participate in a medical monitoring program because early detection of bladder cancer can result in more effective treatment.
> If you had on-the-job exposure to Fundal® and/or Galecron®, it is recommended that you or your doctor call 1-800-211-6913 to learn how you can obtain further medical information or enroll in medical monitoring.

III. PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

The Woodward Settlement provides for the establishment by NOR-AM of two funds to provide medical benefits and compensation to eligible Woodward Settlement Class Members or their legal representatives. This settlement is intended, where applicable, to work as a complement to the Price Settlement.

> The total package of benefits potentially available to a NOR-AM Exposed Person is the same as the total package of benefits potentially available to a Ciba Exposed Person. Thus Woodward Settlement Class Members may be eligible for the same benefits whether they were occupationally exposed to Fundal® only, or to Fundal® and Galecron®, or to Galecron® only.

(1) The NOR-AM Medical Monitoring and Treatment Fund ("The NOR-AM MMT Fund"). If the Woodward Settlement is approved, NOR-AM will make an initial deposit of $3,500,000 into the NOR-AM MMT Fund, and will thereafter make additional deposits on an as needed basis. There is no limit to the amount of money NOR-AM can be required to contribute over the life of the NOR-AM MMT Fund, which will last a minimum of 20 years.

NOR-AM Exposed Persons will be entitled to participate in the NOR-AM medical monitoring and treatment program. Ciba Exposed Persons may receive medical monitoring and treatment benefits only through the Price Settlement. The NOR-AM medical monitoring and treatment program and the medical monitoring and treatment program provided through the Price Settlement are identical. The NOR-AM MMT Fund will pay for a medical monitoring program designed to detect at an early stage the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with exposure to Fundal®, specifically primary urothelial carcinoma of the urinary collecting system, i.e., renal pelvis, ureter, bladder and urethra. The NOR-AM MMT Fund also will pay for all medically necessary treatment for NOR-AM Exposed Persons.

(2) The NOR-AM Disease Compensation and Administration Fund ("The NOR-AM DCA Fund"). If the Woodward Settlement is approved, NOR-AM will also make an initial deposit of $21,000,000 into the NOR-AM DCA Fund up to a required maximum of $30,000,000. The NOR-AM DCA Fund will make cash payments of up to $626,500 on behalf of a NOR-AM Exposed Person who, after exposure to Fundal® only, has developed or in the future develops the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with Fundal®. In addition, the NOR-AM DCA Fund will make cash supplements amounting to 40% of the amounts scheduled for and paid as compensatory payments pursuant to the Price settlement, up to $179,000 on behalf of a Ciba Exposed Person who, after exposure to Fundal® and Galecron® or to Galecron® only, has developed or in the future develops the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with Fundal® and Galecron®. The NOR-AM DCA Fund will also pay for administrative costs and class counsel's and administrative class counsel's attorney fees, costs and expenses as determined by the Court. The total attorney fee award to be requested will not exceed 20% of the benefit conferred upon the class. The benefits of the NOR-AM DCA Fund will continue so long as the NOR-AM MMT Fund continues or until the NOR-AM DCA Fund is exhausted. If the NOR-AM DCA Fund is exhausted, NOR-AM may continue paying for compensable claims. If NOR-AM does not continue to pay for these compensable claims, Woodward Settlement Class Members will be able to opt out of the NOR-AM DCA Fund and pursue any legal claims they may have, except for claims for medical monitoring, medical treatment, fear of illness or cancer or increased risk of illness or cancer.

(3) Other Conditions. The Stipulation of Settlement presently provides for medical monitoring, treatment and compensation payments for certain medical conditions set forth in this Notice. In the event, however, that a Court appointed Epidemiology Panel determines to a reasonable medical certainty that any other medical condition is caused by Fundal® or Galecron® exposure, that condition will be deemed a compensable claim, and will be eligible for medical monitoring (if feasible), medical treatment, and cash payments.

(4) Release. Woodward Settlement Class Members who do not exclude themselves from the Woodward Settlement Class release all past, present and future claims (i) relating to the covered medical conditions listed above, and (ii) relating to a Woodward Settlement Class Member's exposure to Fundal® or Galecron®, including all claims alleging that any other cancers, personal injuries or risks are caused by exposure to Fundal® or Galecron®.

IV. CLASS REPRESENTATIVES AND CLASS COUNSEL

The Court has designated the following Woodward Settlement Class Members, Jack H. Woodward, Alta Woodward, Tom Lofton, Cindy Lofton and Rita Snow, as class representatives to represent all Woodward Settlement Class Members. The Court has also designated as Class Counsel the following individuals: Timothy F. Eble, S.C. Middlebrooks III, and David R. Donaldson.

V. RIGHTS AND OPTIONS OF WOODWARD SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS

If you are a Woodward Settlement Class Member, you have the following options:

(1) You may do nothing and remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member. If you choose to take no action, your interests as a member of the Woodward Settlement Class will be represented by the Class Representatives and Class Counsel at no cost to you.

(2) You may remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member and either represent yourself or hire your own attorney to represent you at your own cost.

(3) You may remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member and object to the settlement.

(4) If you choose to remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member (under options 1, 2 or 3 above) you may receive the benefits afforded by this settlement within six months of the Court's Order directing this Notice.

(5) You may request exclusion from this settlement.

DEADLINES FOR ABOVE OPTIONS. The deadline for filing an Entry of Appearance if you choose to represent yourself or retain an attorney, for filing objections to this settlement, for filing a Notice of Intent to Appear at the fairness hearing or for filing a request to be excluded from the Woodward Settlement Class is DECEMBER 1, 1995. TO LEARN MORE INFORMATION ABOUT HOW TO FILE ANY OF THE ABOVE ITEMS, PLEASE CALL 1-800-211-6913 or WRITE TO: Woodward Class Action, P.O. Box 974, Charleston, SC 29402.

VI. PROOF OF CLAIM PROCEDURE

In order for any Woodward Settlement Class Member to receive any of the benefits of this settlement, he or she must comply with the proof of claim procedure. To learn how you may receive benefits under this settlement or to obtain a Proof of Claim Form for medical monitoring, medical treatment or disease compensation, call 1-800-211-6913 or write to Woodward Class Action, Post Office Box 974, Charleston, SC 29402.

VII. FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

THIS NOTICE IS ONLY A SUMMARY. If you believe you are a Woodward Settlement Class Member you are urged to call 1-800-211-6913 or write to Woodward Class Action, Post Office Box 974, Charleston, SC 29402 to obtain further information regarding this settlement, how to exclude yourself from the class, and how to obtain benefits. DO NOT CALL THE CLERK OF COURT with questions about this Notice or this settlement.

WHEN IT COMES TO DESCRIBING AMERICA'S CO-OPS, THE SKY'S THE LIMIT!

The nation's 47,000 cooperatives are big and small. They serve 120 million people in all 50 states. And, they're located everywhere — cities, towns, suburbs and throughout rural America.

Providing goods and services as economically and efficiently as possible is their first order of business. And as locally owned and controlled businesses, co-ops are unique because of their commitment not only to the people they serve but also to their communities.

You'll find co-ops for credit and financing, electric and telephone service, insurance, housing, day care, health care, food, farm marketing and supply, news services, florists and much more.

For years co-ops have been expanding horizons for the people they serve. In their own words: "It's just good business, and it works for the benefit of our neighbors, our communities and for our country too."

COOPERATIVES EXPANDING PEOPLE'S HORIZONS

Property rights/wetland hearing here October 3

Thief River Falls will be the site of one of five hearings on property rights and wetlands planned by the Senate Agriculture and Rural Development Committee during October. The public event is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, October 3, in the Northland Community and Technical College cafeteria.

Sen. Joe Bertram, chairman of the committee, said the hearings at Thief River Falls, Crookston, Detroit Lakes, Morris and St. Cloud are being held "in response to the state's current regulatory policy which takes away private property under the Wetlands Conservation Act and other similar state policies."

Since the state's Wetlands Conservation Act was passed in 1991, many landowners and officials, especially in northern counties, have complained that the rules are too restrictive and have taken too much control of land away from ordinary citizens.

"Before the wetlands act was in place, the state controlled 750,000 acres of wetland," Sen. Bertram said. "Following passage of the law and rule, that number ballooned 10 times to over 7.5 million acres. These millions of acres were taken from landowners in the name of wetlands protection."

Five counties in Minnesota—Pennington, Marshall, Beltrami, Koochiching and Lake—never signed the Wetlands Conservation Act agreement. Since the end of the last legislative session, county boards in Itasca, Clearwater, Roseau, Pope, Kittson, Stevens, Big Stone and Lake of the Woods have rescinded their signing. Boards in Lac Qui Parle, Grant and Swift counties were considering similar action at meetings last Tuesday.

During the last session, Sen. Bertram assisted in formulating a bill which he says would ensure preservation of some wetlands while being user-friendly for landowners. He said the bill provided greater leeway in the size of wetlands which could be filled or drained without written analysis of possible alternatives and more flexibility in the size of wetlands projects which don't require replacement.

The bill also allowed local units of government to develop their own wetland protection plans as an alternative to state rules and provided local, rather than state, enforcement of wetlands protection and preservation plans.

"But this is not enough," Sen. Bertram said. "We must call for a review by the Attorney General of any legislation that could take land away from ordinary citizens. Additionally, we must pass legislation next session that contains a compensation clause that would pay landowners for property taken by an action of government.

"Think of how you would feel if somebody told you that everything you had worked for all your life was gone...that the state took away a large chunk of your property under the Wetlands Conservation Act or similar legislation," he continued. "It is my hope these hearings will shed light on these unfair policies and will cause government officials—elected and non-elected—to take notice and do what's right."

TAYLOR® Outdoor Woodstove

TAYLOR® did not become the largest manufacturer of outdoor woodstoves by deceiving the public to make sales. Rather, we built our reputation by producing the most thermal efficient, best designed and longest lasting woodstove on the market. One of our competitors chose to use our name in their advertising as one of their attempts to mislead customers. They claim to be the cleanest burning stove with a 92.5% combustion efficiency. To clarify what this figure of combustion efficiency actually means is that 92.5% of the wood you put in their firebox will burn up; that's it. A good bonfire could achieve this meaningless number. Thermal efficiency is the percent of heat energy or BTU's that is successfully transferred from the wood to the water. TAYLOR® stoves have always had the highest proven thermal efficiency of all woodstoves tested, 81%. This is due to the double pass flue design and separate secondary burn chamber that reburns gases all other stoves put up in the clouds. Please check out TAYLOR® and you will see we clearly have a superior outdoor wood heating system.

Vandalism is source of concern for farmers

McIntosh — A combine, parked about two miles west of McIntosh was vandalized on Sunday, September 24.

Some time between midnight and 6 a.m. Sunday morning the combine was started and was left unattended. The combine crossed the road and proceeded down a steep embankment. It crashed in the woods on the north side of County Road #41.

Damage was estimated at $10,000 to $15,000. The accident is under investigation. There is speculation that the incident may be related to recent vandalism to road equipment just north of McIntosh.

Improvaments should help protect others

Warroad— Sometimes a tragedy can turn into something positive. Such is the case with the new railroad crossing arms which are being installed near the Warroad Estates.

Over two years ago, on May 15, 1993, three people died when their car was hit by a train on the tracks near Warroad Estates. Since then, the community has been working to prevent a similar accident from ever occurring.

The cross arm installation is just about complete on the south entrance to the estates, but no action has been taken on the north entrance to the development.

Group of sports enthusiasts look to improve arena

Roseau — Several hockey fans are working on improving the city's ice arena by adding a second Olympic-sized ice sheet.

Roseau Hockey Reunion coordinator Mike Adams recently presented the city with a $20,000 check. The money is to go toward replacing the dome with a permanent ice sheet. The city council approved sending for a grant application from the Minnesota Amateur Sports Commission (MASC).

The grants are based on a cost-share basis. One-half of the arena construction would have to come from the city

Students learn about wood duck banding

Erskine — DNR officers Terry Wolfe and Ross Heier were at the Rydell National Wildlife Refuge located south west of Erskine on Tuesday morning to teach students from UMC about duck banding.

During the past six years officers at the refuge have banded approximately 1,662 wood ducks. They have only had information on 63 returns, or 3.8 per cent. Banding gives the conservation officers information on the hunting effects of wood ducks.
